Include on the note any influence cards you are using. The value of the cards is added to the ITS you bid. All bids must be paid, even if you lose.

Break ties by rolling high on 1D6. Players must write on their bid what they are bidding for. Used Influence cards are discarded.

Turn Sequence

Each round is composed of 6 phases.

1. Production Phase
2. Draw Phase
3. Initiative Phase
4. Peace Phase
5. War Phase
6. Conflict Phase

Production Phase

Gain 1D6 Influence tokens (ITS). Also gain ITS equal to the influence of all of your regions. ITS may be saved from round to round.

Draw Phase

Each player draws 1 card. A player may draw extra cards for 3 ITS each. A player may have a maximum of 7 cards in his hand.

Excess cards are discarded.

Initiative Phase

All players bid to determine turn order in all the other phases for The rest of the round. The winner gets to choose whether he wants to go first or last in each phase.

Peace Phase

A player may target 1 opponent and play one of the following peace cards: Treaty or Trade Agreements. If a peace card is played, neither player may play military conflict cards against each other, or Bid in military conflicts against each other for 1D6 rounds.

War Phase

A player that controls a Major Region may target 1 opponent that also controls a Major Region and play one of the following war cards: World War, Cold War. The player that started the war is the leader of the axis side. The target opponent is the leader of the allies side. The 2 players resolve the War by bidding.

Other players may bid to help one of the two sides. The losing side has 1D6 of their controlled regions become neutral. The winner picks which regions.

Conflict Phase

Players, in turn order, may play conflict cards other than war and peace cards. To target a Major country with a conflict card costs 3 ITS. (It costs nothing to target a Minor country) The player that plays the card is the active player.

Each conflict is resolved in turn by bidding. Other players may bid for or against the outcome of the card. For example: John the Fascist plays Diplomacy against Neutral India.

If he wins he gains control of India. If he loses nothing happens. John plays Military Coup on South America controlled by Ray the Socialist. If John wins, S. America becomes neutral. If he loses nothing happens.

Controlled regions that become neutral lose a control marker. Regions that come under control gain a control marker. A player may play more than one conflict on his turn.

Game Designers Notes

Remember you are an Ideology, not a nation. Don't get too attached to any particular country. Russia was a Tsarist Empire, then communist, now a democracy.

Even the USA could have switched governments several times this Century: the Great Depression, McCarthyism, The 60's. A humanists wish: May objective truth triumph over all doctrines.

Questions by Michael Andre-Driussi...

Q: About writing out the bids, it seems like you intended it to be verbose "Police State in South America, Against, 2 ITS." But we tended to just write Y for yes or N for no and the number of coins, if any. (Less a question than a statement—but here's the question: was there a reason for a verbose bid?) A: The simpler you can make it the better. I'll take the short version over the doctoral thesis.

Q: The "die roll of 1 to 3 means target a minor country" thing. I took this to mean that first a player would select a card, playing it down (perhaps face down?); then roll; then apply the card accordingly. One player thought that it went another way—first one rolls, then if the die forces an action against a minor country the player selects the most appropriate card and plays it. I still think I'm right but I wanted to alert you to this. A: The 1-3 rule was an inelegant fudge rule to prevent the big guys from directly duking it out. More problems than its worth. New rule: To target a Major country with a conflict card costs 3 ITS.

I think that might work better.

Q: Bidding for initiative. If no bids, then we resolved with dice. But we didn't do a complete scramble, we simplified it and said whoever wins gets the choice of first or last to move, and play moves clockwise from that player. (Another statement.) A: Works for me.

Mankind

Introduction

Civilization game for 2-6 players. Each player controls one Civilization.

Outline

The Game has 4 Eras:
1. Ancient (10,000 BC - 500 AD)
2. Medieval (500 AD - 1600 AD)
3. Revolution (1600 AD - 1900 AD)
4. Modern (1900AD +)
Each Era has 6 Event Sub-Tables and a Build List.

Victory

The player with the most Victory Points at the end of the game wins.

The Build Table

1D10	Result:
1-2	Infrastructure
3-4	Military Unit
5	Leader
6	Wonder
7-8	Technology
9	Government
10	Pick One of Above or gain 1D6 IP or RP or VP.

Builds

Every Build increases (or decreases) a civilizations levels in one or more traits. To put into play, Builds usually cost a number of Resource Points and/or Idea Points. When you gain a Build, pick one off the Available list and record it on your Personal list.
If you cannot afford to do the build it, or just don't want to, you may skip it.

Infrastructure Builds

These include a system of buildings and natural and technological resources. They increase Trait Levels. Infrastructure builds are not unique.

Military Unit Builds

These increase your Warfare level. They are sacrificed as payment for conquests or as punishment for engaging in wars. Military Units are not unique.

Dice

6, 8, and 10 sided Dice are used.

Traits

Each Civilization is described by levels in 9 Traits:
1. Food
2. Materials
3. Research
4. Government
5. Culture
6. Stability
7. Warfare
8. Trade
9. Health

Wonder Builds

These have high Point costs, but do not count against food or Stability Limits. Upon Building a Wonder immediately gain 3X Victory Points where X is equal to the current Era (Ancient = 1, etc.) Wonders are Unique. If you go to build a Wonder and none are left, the Era ends.

Leader Builds

These have no costs. When you play a leader gain 2X Victory Points where X is equal to the current Era (Ancient = 1, Medieval = 2, etc.) All Leaders are Unique. If you gain a Leader and none are left, the Era ends.
Leaders do not count against food or Stability Limits. All your Leaders die at the start of the next Era.

Government Builds

Each player starts out with a King (Chieftain, or Tyrant) Government for free. You can only have one Government in play at a time. The new one replaces the old one.

They are costly in Ideas, but one of the few ways to gain points in the Government Trait. When you play a new Government gain 2X Victory Points where X is equal to the current Era (Ancient = 1, etc.) Governments are not unique.

Anarchy

If somehow, you ever lose your current Government, it is 'replaced' by Anarchy, which provides a Government Level = 2 and a Stability & Culture Levels of -1 each.

Technology Builds

These have slightly higher costs, but do not count against Food or Stability Limits. Technologies are not unique.

Personal Civilization Build List

A players written record of all his builds for his own civilization. Players also record all of their levels in their 9 Traits: Food, Materials, Research, Government, Culture, Stability, Warfare, Trade, and Health. Players also use these to keep track of their Victory Points, Idea points, and Resource Points, as well as Food and Stability Limits.

Events are recorded as well. These are kept face up in front of you visible to all players.

1D10	Result:
1	Conquest
2	Raids
3	War
4	Boon

Next roll on the Event sub-table for that Era. Each Event will specify whom is effected by the Event: –One or more random Players –All Players –All players except one specific player. –Current Player Only –The current player and one player of his choice.

–Target Players(s) as chosen by the current player. –Player with lowest/highest Warfare Level. –Player with Least/Most Victory Tokens.

(As you can see, there are many possibilities) In all cases of ties, break them by rolling high on 1D6.

Conquest Events

The player with the highest current Warfare Level wins the conquest. He records it among his card spread. The Conquest awards the indicated benefit, usually the increase in a trait, but sometimes a one time benefit of points. To claim the Conquest, the player must eliminate one of his Military Units or a Military or Religious Leader. If the player does not have a build to sacrifice or he does not want to sacrifice one, he may pass the conquest option on to the player with

Spread

This refers to all a players Builds.

Setup

Have List, Tables, and rules for all Eras available for all players. Use the Event and Build Decks of the Ancient Era first. Each player starts with 2 each of Victory, Resource, and Idea points.

Each player starts with a Basic List of Tribal Builds. Note these builds do have build costs, but these only apply if they need to be rebuilt. Players roll high on 1D10 to see who goes first.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 5 Phases:

1. Gains Phase
2. Event Phase
3. Build Phase
4. Trade Phase
5. Limit Phase

Gains Phase

Gain Idea Points equal to your Research Level. Gain Resource Points equal to your Materials Level.

Event Phase

Skip the Event Phase on each players very first turn of the game. Roll 1D10 on the Event Table:

1D10	Result:
5	Disaster
6	Incursion
7+	Nothing

the next highest level of warfare, and so on. If no one wants it, it is ignored. A non-leader Unit "sacrificed" for a conquest may immediately be rebuilt for half cost rounding up.

Raid Events

The current player if he has a military unit may target any other player of his choice. The Raider rolls 1D6 (Raid roll) and steals that many Resource Points from the defender. The target player MAY retaliate in kind.

This continues until one player chooses not to raid or cannot raid due to lack of Units. An individual Unit may only raid once per turn. Note: the role of "Defender" will flop back and forth with each exchange.

War Events

Both involved players roll 1D6. This is called a War roll. The player with the higher Warfare Level (WL) adds 1 to his roll. (Reroll ties) The player with the lower roll loses 1 Military Unit. This repeats until both players call a ceasefire or one player is reduced to zero Military Units, at which time the other player is crowned the victor.

The victor steals 1D6 Victory Points and 1D6 Resource Points from the Loser. Note: With each unit loss you have to recalculate your WL. Note: Both players in a War get to use their DEF bonuses if they have any.

Incursion Events

Targeted player is attacked 1D6 times by an uncivilized non-player Horde with a WL = 2D6. The Target player rolls 1D6 (Defense Roll) and the Horde rolls 1D6 (Incursion Roll). Higher WL gets +1 to his roll. (Barbarians win automatically if the player has no Military units).

Higher Roll wins. Player wins ties. If the Horde wins the player must lose a military unit and then go on to the next Incursion Roll. (If units are gone, discard 1 Infrastructure or Conquest from your Spread instead) If the player wins a roll, gain 1 Victory Point and go onto the next Incursion Roll.

Boon Events

These provide positive benefits such as one time Point gains, or Builds.

Disaster Events

These have negative effects: Loss of builds from your Spread, or Permanent Negative Trait Modifiers.

Build Phase

Roll on the Build Table to see what one thing you may Build this Phase.

RP Resource Points

IP Idea Points

X is equal to the current Era (Ancient = 1, Medieval = 2, etc.) Infrastructure builds cost 2X RP. Military Units cost RP = their WL bonus (You may Discard an older unit and pay the difference). Leaders cost 1X IP.

Wonders cost 4X RP. Technologies cost 2X IP. Governments cost 4X IP (and you cannot buy anything else during the turn).

You may make additional rolls on the Build Table at the cost of 3 IP each.

Tribal Build List

Name:	Type	Notes:
King	G	GL +3
Farms	I	FL +2
Hunting	I	FL +2
Warriors	M	WL +1

Trade Phase

For every 2 Levels of Trade you have, you may gain 1 IP or 1 RP or 1 VP.

Limit Phase

—Food Limit: The maximum number of builds you can have in your Civilization is equal to 7 plus your Food Level. If you exceed it, lose 1D6 Resource Points and 1 Food consuming Build or a Conquest of your choice due to starvation.

—Stability Limit: The maximum number of builds you can have in your Civ is equal to 10 plus 2X your Stability Level. If you exceed it, lose 2D6 VP and lose 1 Infrastructure or MU or a Conquest of your choice due to social unrest.

—Health Limit: If your Resource Level is greater than 10x your Health level you lose 1D6 VP due to pollution.

—Governance Limit: The maximum number of builds you can have in your Civ is equal to 4X your Government Level. If you exceed it, lose 1D6 RP due to corruption.

End Of An Era

If you gain a Leader or Wonder (both unique) and none are left, the Era ends.

March On Rome

Introduction

Players take the role of Roman senators trying to acquire control of provinces, tribute, and fame.

Victory

At the end of the tenth turn, the player with the most accumulated Fame points wins. If a player loses his last province, he loses the game.

Pieces

Use black counters to represent Roman Legions. Each player gets a set of counters of a different color. These are control markers.

6, 10, and 20 sided Dice are needed

The Map

Before playing, players will have to draw a map. The map encompasses the 10 provinces of the Roman empire:

- Britain, Spain, Gaul, North Italy, Rome, Baltics, Greece, Byzantium, Middle East, and Egypt.
- Britain is connected by sea to Spain to the east.
- Spain is bordered by Gaul to the east.
- Gaul is bordered by North Italy to the east.
- North Italy is bordered by the Baltics to the east.
- North Italy is bordered by Rome to the south.
- The Baltics are bordered by Greece to the east.
- Greece is connected by sea to Byzantium to the east.
- Byzantium is bordered by the Middle East to the south.
- The Middle East is bordered by Egypt to the south.
- Rome is connected to Byzantium and Egypt by sea.
- In addition to the Imperial provinces there are also several Barbarian regions:
- The Picts are north of Britain.
- The Celts border Spain & Gaul to the north.

PROVINCE	TRIBUTE
Britain	4
Spain	6
Gaul	6
North Italy	6
Rome	10

- The Vikings are north of the Celts.
- The Franks and Saxons are north of Gaul.
- The Goths and Visigoths are north of North Italy.
- The Ostrogoths are north of the Baltics.
- The Huns are north of Greece.
- The Persians are east of Byzantium and the Middle East.
- The Nabateans are east of the Middle East.
- The Abyssinians are east of Egypt.
- Carthage is west of Egypt.

Setup

Each player starts with control of one random province. Indicate ownership by using control markers. No player may start in control of Rome.

All other provinces are neutral. Each province starts with 3 Legions.

Turn Sequence

- Draw phase
- Tribute Phase
- Bid for Rome Phase
- Pay Legions Phase
- Raise Legions Phase
- Initiative Phase
- Move Legions Phase
- Control Phase
- Diplomacy Phase
- Event Phase
- Fame Phase

Draw Phase

Each player may draw one card from the Republic deck.

Tribute Phase

The monetary unit is the 'tribute' Use change to represent tributes. Tributes not owned by players are kept in a pile called the treasury. Each player receives tribute from each province he controls.

PROVINCE	TRIBUTE
Baltics	6
Greece	6
Byzantium	6
Middle East	4
Egypt	6

Bid For Rome Phase

Skip this phase if Rome is a 'lost' province (Overrun by rebels or invaders) but not if it is neutral. All players secretly bid 0 or more tributes. Write bids on scraps of paper.

This represents money spent on bribes, assassins, and politicking. The player with the highest bid gains control of the province of Rome and becomes the new Caesar. The old Caesar wins all ties.

If two non-Caesars tie, the players roll D10. High roll wins. All bids go to the treasury.

Pay Legions Phase

Each player must pay one tribute to each legion in a province he controls. Any legion not paid disbands, and is removed from the map.

Raise Legions Phase

You may pay 2 tributes to recruit a legion into a province you control.

Initiative Phase

All players secretly bid 0 or more tributes. Write bids on scraps of paper. The player with the highest bid may choose to move his legions first or last in Move Legion Phase.

The player with the second highest bid may move legions second and so on. Ties are resolved by rolling high on the 1D10.

1D10	EVENT
1-4	Barbarians- Roll on Invasion Table.
5-6	Rebellion- One Random Province is attacked by 1D6 Enemy armies.
7	Natural Disaster- One Random Province produces no tribute next turn.
8	Epidemic- One Random Province loses 1 Legion.
9	Prosperity- One Random Province produces 1D6 tribute.
10	Opportunity- Draw an extra card.

If the last legion in a province is lost to epidemic or natural disaster, the player still retains control. Disasters include fires, floods, earthquakes, draught, pestilence, and volcanoes. Provinces hit by epidemics cannot raise Legions next turn.

Rebels include slaves, gladiators, religious zealots, nationalists, and subjugated barbarian tribes.

Random Province Table

1D10	PROVINCE
1	Britain
2	Spain
3	Gaul

Move Legion Phase

Players take turns as described in Initiative phase. Players may move a legion in a province they control to a connected province. If the province is a 'lost' province, one captured by rebels or invaders, there will be a fight.

The player must first move at least 3 legions into the lost province, then roll:

1D6	ENEMY ARMIES PRESENT
1-3	1D6
6	3D6

After the battle, if the player has any legions left, he gains control of the province. Place a control marker of your color in a province you control. If you move legions into an opponents province he gains control of them.

Diplomacy Phase

In order of initiative, players may take control of neutral provinces for 10 tributes each. Some cards are played during this phase.

Event Phase

Roll 2D6 times on the Event Table. Events are resolved immediately.

Battles

All Roman Legions and Enemy Armies present roll 1D6 each simultaneously.

- On a roll of 1-4 a Roman Legion destroys one Enemy Army.
- On a roll of 1-3 an Enemy army destroys one Roman Legion.
- On a roll of 1-4 an army of Hannibal destroys one Roman Legion. Continue rolling until one side is completely destroyed.

Martian Cloudships

Introduction

Board & card game for 2 players. Battle between a Band of Martian Cloudships and a British (Victorian) Expeditionary Force. Alternate Fantasy Universe circa late 1800's.

Abstract skirmish level aerial combat. Each figure represents a single Ship (unit). Note: Vessels achieve weightlessness by carrying Quantities of distilled Essence of Ether.

Victory

You win if you Destroy the opposing Flagship.

The Map

Use an 8x8 chessboard.

The Ships

Use chits or miniatures to represent Ships. Each Player has 3 types of Ships.

Victorian Fleet Table

#	Type	Hits	Notes
1	Frigate	3	Flagship
2	Monitor	2	-
5	Gunship	1	-

Number of that type of Ship you start the game with.

Hits Number of Hits that type of Ship has.

Martian Fleet Table

#	Type	Hits	Notes
1	Warbarge	3	Flagship
2	Galley	2	-
5	Cog	1	-

Number of that type of Ship you start the game with.

Hits Number of Hits that type of Ship has.

Setup

Each player places one Ship on each square of his back row. Ships may not stack.

The Cards

Each Player has their own unique deck.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 3 phases:

1. Orders Phase
2. Maneuver Phase
3. Fire Phase

Orders Phase

Draw 3 cards. Max hand size = 5 cards. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Discard excess cards.

Maneuver Phase

Play (discard) a Move card to move one of your Ships. The move card has a number. This is the number of spaces the Ship moves.

The Fleet Tables list what type of Move cards each unit can use. Moves can be diagonal or orthogonal. Instead of moving just one Ship in any direction, you have the option of moving one or more Ships forward the indicated number of spaces using a single move card.

Fire Phase

Play (discard) an Attack card to have a Ship attack. The attack card has a number. This is the range of the attack.

Attacks can be diagonal or orthogonal. "Knight" type attack cards produce an attack with a range like a knight in chess. Each attack does one point of damage.

Use Chits or coins to record damage. A ship reduced to 0 Hits is destroyed and removed from the board. Your opponent may play (discard) Defense cards to negate your attack.

Card List Notation

The Decks

There are 2 unique decks: the Martian deck, and the Human deck. Each deck has 52 cards containing 4 of each of the 13 cards in a list.

Object

Be the first to acquire 3 Victory Points.

Card Traits

All cards have a numerical force value of 0-9. All cards have one or more of the following traits:

- S Space
- A Air
- G Ground
- B Bonus
- X Special

Turn Sequence

Each turn has 7 phases:

1. Deploy Phase
2. Reserves Phase
3. Abduction Phase
4. Space Phase
5. Air Phase
6. Ground Phase
7. Regroup Phase

Deploy Phase

Each player fills their hand to 7 cards from their own deck.

Reserves Phase

Each player may discard and redraw up to 2 cards.

Abduction Phase

The Martian player may discard an abduction card to cause the Human player to discard one random card.

Space Phase

Each player may reveal none, some, or all of their cards with the Space trait. If the Martian player played at least one such card, he may also play Bonus cards. Bonus cards must be attached to other non-bonus cards. Players reveal all their cards simultaneously.

The Human player may discard an 'Ambush' card to cause one target Martian card and its bonus cards to be discarded. Both sides add up the forces of the remaining played cards to get Force Totals. The side with highest Force Total gains a Strategy Point.

If tied, the side with the most cards wins. If still tied, both sides gains a SP.

Air Phase

Each player may reveal none, some, or all of their cards with the Air trait. If the Martian player played at least one such card, he may also play Bonus cards. Bonus cards must be attached to other non-bonus cards. Players reveal all their cards simultaneously.

The Martian player may discard a 'Mind Control Devices' card to cause One target Human card to switch sides. The Human player may discard an 'Ambush' card to cause one target Martian card and its bonus cards to be discarded. Both sides add up the forces of the remaining played cards to get Force Totals.

The side with highest Force Total gains a Strategy Point. If tied, the side with the most cards wins. If still tied, both sides gains a SP.

Ground Phase

Each player may reveal none, some, or all of their cards with the Ground trait. If the Martian player played at least one such card, he may also play Bonus cards. Bonus cards must be attached to other non-bonus cards. Players reveal all their cards simultaneously.

The Martian player may discard a 'Mind Control Devices' card to cause One target Human card to switch sides. The Human player may discard an 'Ambush' card to cause one target Martian card and its bonus cards to be discarded. Both sides add up the forces of the remaining played cards to get Force Totals.

The side with highest Force Total gains a Strategy Point. If tied, the side with the most cards wins. If still tied, both sides gains a SP.

Regroup Phase

If a player gained 2 Strategy points this turn he gains one Victory Point. If a player gained 3 Strategy points this turn he gains two Victory Points. 0 or 1 SPs earn no VPs All players must discard down to 4 or less cards.

Cards remaining in a players hand are carried over to next turn.

Team Iron

- Iron Man
- Iron Patriot
- Black Widow
- Spiderman
- Vision
- Black Panther

Team Cap

- Captain America
- Bucky
- Falcon
- Scarlet Witch
- Hawkeye
- Ant Man

Victory

At the end of turn 12 if both Cap and Bucky are still in play, team Cap wins, Otherwise team Iron Wins.

Events

Ant Man arrives on turn 2. (Place him in any empty space) Vision arrives on turn 5. (Place him in any empty space) Betrayal: On turns 10-12 Team Cap takes control of Black Widow. Friendly Fire: On turn 11 Team Cap takes control of Vision.

The Board

Use an 8 X 8 chessboard.

Figurines

Use miniatures or small toys to represent the heroes. They need to easily fit on the board.

The Deck

Use a regular 52 card playing deck.

Hit Points

Each hero has 5 Hit Points (HP). Every time a hero gets attacked and does not defend, it loses 1 Hit point. If a Hero is reduced to zero HP that Hero is Knocked Out and Removed from play

Setup

Shuffle the Deck. Place your Heroes on your back rows. Team Iron goes first.

Turn Sequence

First, each player fills their hand to 6 cards. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it. Players take turns (Team Iron first) playing 1 card at a time to cause their heroes to: Move, Attack, and Defend.

Played cards are discarded. A Hero can only move and attack once in a turn. A Hero can defend multiple times in a turn.

If a player has no cards left, or nothing he wants to do, he may pass. A player who passes may play no other cards this turn except Defense cards. When both players have passed the turn ends.

Heroes may not end their turns in the same space as another hero. Heroes however, may move or attack through (past) other Heroes.

King Cards

A King card can be used to have a friendly Hero attack an adjacent enemy Hero.

Queen Cards

A Queen card can be used to move a friendly Hero 1 or 2 spaces.

Jack Cards

Black Jack cards can be used for Witty Repartee: A Friendly Hero and an enemy Hero Within 2 spaces of each other may neither move nor attack the rest of this turn. Red Jack cards can be used to Taunt: A Friendly Hero causes an enemy Hero Within 2 spaces to want to attack him or her. That Hero can attack no other Heroes the rest of this or next turn.

Ace Cards

These are considered to be number ones.

Number Cards

Each Hero has his own Action Table. A Number card can be used to cause a friendly Hero to take the action on his Table corresponding to the number of the card.

Action Tables

Each Hero has his own Action Table. Each table describes 10 numbered actions that Hero can take. Attack values indicate the range of the attack emanating from that Hero.

Movement values indicate how far the Hero will move. A Defense Action will negate an attack just made by an enemy Hero against this Hero Special actions are described in the notes.

Stun Attacks

Some attacks have the Stun Description. A Hero hit by one cannot perform any more actions for the rest of the turn.

The Map

Use a hex map. Assign each city a population value of 1-6. Write this in on the map. This maximum level does not change. Likewise, assign a value of 1-3 to all agricultural lands.

All mines & Oil fields have a level of one. Large cities are represented by several adjacent city hexes.

Setup

Each player should begin by controlling a corner of the map that contains several cities (Population of around 15) and enough agricultural land to feed them.

They should also have access to nearby mines & oil fields. Each player starts with reserves of 30 oil and 30 metal. Each side starts with 1 Factory and 5 Infantry units positioned adjacent to the city hexes.

Stacking

Only one unit per hex. The exceptions include planes, and units carrying other units.

Victory Conditions

Control all cities on the map.

Turn Sequence:

2. AIR STRIKE DECLARATIONS
3. FIGHTER DEFENSE
4. FLAK DEFENSE

14. FOOD PRODUCTION
15. METAL PRODUCTION
16. OIL PRODUCTION
17. UNIT PRODUCTION
18. CLAIM TERRITORY
19. BUILD BASES
20. REPAIR & REINFORCEMENTS

Initiative

Each player roll 1D6. High roll wins. The Initiative winner goes first in each of the following phases.

Air Strike Declarations

Bombers and fighters may declare sortie attacks against targets within range of their airfield or carrier. Planes can attack any ground or sea unit except subs. Planes can also attack infrastructure: Cities, mines, factories, oil fields, airfields, and ports. If a carrier or transport is destroyed all units on board are also destroyed.

Fuel Rule

Every time a noninfantry unit moves, it uses up one oil from your oil reserves. This is 1 oil per turn, not one oil per hex.

Attack Rule

The attacking unit rolls its Attack dice and the defending unit rolls its defense dice. If the attackers roll is higher than the defenders total, the defender is destroyed. Put a fire counter on any unit that was attacked but not destroyed. A unit gets -1 on its dice rolls for every fire counter on it. Terrain, fortification, and fire counter modifiers add pips not dice. For example: defending Infantry (2D6) in fortified (+1) mountains (+1) with one fire counter (-1) would have a roll of 2D6 +2 to defend.

Fighter Defense

If the target is in range of a fighter squad, the squads may scramble and attack. If the sortie units survive, they get to return fire with one attack die each.

Flak Defense

If an Anti-aircraft unit is the target, is in the same hex as the target, or is adjacent to the target, it may attack the plane. Warships and carriers function as Anti-aircraft units having one attack die.

Air Strike Resolutions

If the planes get past the fighter and flak defenses they may attack their targets. Infrastructures do not have Defense dice. Instead when the attacking plane rolls attack dice, the infrastructure receives one fire counter for every roll of 1-2 on D6. If an airbase receives a fire counter, all planes stationed there are destroyed.

Ground Return Fire

If a nonartillery ground unit survives an attack by a fighter, it may counterattack with small arms fire for one attack die.

Air Transfers

Planes that have not attacked may move to other airfields or carriers in range. An airbase may hold 10 planes. A carrier may hold 4 planes.

Sea Move

Transports can carry 2 ground units.

Sea Attack

Warships and subs may attack. Warships can attack subs with depth charges for one attack die if the sub is adjacent. No other units may attack subs.

Ground Move

A ground unit may use its move to board an adjacent transport or to disembark. Tanks & Mechanized infantry use up their move entering or leaving a forest, desert, fortification, mine, or city. Ground units cannot enter bridge spaces if the bridge has sustained fire counters.

Artillery Attacks

Artillery units get to attack. Attacks may target infrastructure inflicting 1D3 Fire counters. Artillery cannot attack if they moved this turn.

Ground Attack

Tanks, infantry, and mechanized infantry may attack. A ground unit may attack the infrastructure it occupies inflicting 1D6 Fire counters.

Free Advance

If a defender is destroyed the attacking nonartillery ground unit may enter the hex it occupied.

Food Production

Food is not saved from turn to turn. Compare the amount of food you produce to your city populations. The smaller number is your Unit Limit. Agricultural lands with fire counters do not produce anything. Cities with fire counters have their population score reduced by that amount to a minimum level of 0.

Metal Production

Extra metal is saved from turn to turn in your metal reserves. Each turn in this phase increase your metal reserves by the number of mines you control. Mines with fire counters do not produce anything.

Oil Production

Extra oil is saved from turn to turn in your oil reserves. Each turn in this phase increase your oil reserves by the number of mines you control. Oilfields with fire counters do not produce anything.

Unit Production

If you have more units than your Unit Limit (This value determined in food production phase) you may not build units this turn. Expend the required amount of metal from your metal reserves to build the unit. Place the unit in a production site space: A factory for ground units, a port for ships, or an airfield for planes. A production site can only build one unit per turn. Production sites with fire counters do not produce anything.

Claim Territory

Gain control of any terrain you have infantry or mechanized infantry in. Recieve production from this hex starting next turn.

Build Bases

These can be built on any barren hex occupied by an infantry unit you control not adjacent to an enemy unit.

Repair & Reinforcements

Each unit and infrastructure may remove one Fire counter. The maximum number of fire counters a unit or infrastructure can have is six. Bridges will only be repaired if a player has an adjacent infantry unit and says he is repairing it.

Master & Commander

Far Side of the World

Introduction

A strategic 2-player simulation of naval combat in the Napoleonic era.

Victory

The player with the most captured ships at the end of the game wins. If tied the player who sunk the most ships wins.

End Of Game

The game ends when there are no ships left to capture or sink.

Components

- 16 Ship Tiles* (2 sets of colored tiles indexed from 1 to 8)
• 4 Quarters
• 8 Dimes
• 12 Nickles
• 1 Roll of Pennies or 50 double-sided tokens
• 1 Ship Position & Engagement Log*
• 2 Ship Skill & Damage Logs*
• 2 Pending Damage Logs*
• 1 8x8 Chess Board (or 8x8.doc)
• 1 Red 6-sided die
• 1 White 6-sided die (more is better) GAME BOARD
SETUP Ships are represented by a numbered Ship Tile with a coin on top.

1q 2q 3d 4d 5n 6n 7n 8n
The numbers 1 to 8 are Ship Tiles.

- Q Quarter
D Dime
N Nickle
P Penny

Capital letters indicate heads (British) Lower-case letters indicate tails (French)

Ship Class

Ships are divided into (4) classes numbered 1 to 4. Ship Class determines how far the cannons fire. Ship Class determines the strength of the hull.

Ship Class determines the number of masts (limited to 3 per ship). Ship Class is represented by the color of the underlying Ship Tile.

YEL 1

Hull Strength

Hull Strength is a ship's primary attribute. Hull Strength can never be greater than the ship class. Hull Strength is represented by the type of the coin on top of the ship's tile.

- Quarter = 4
Nickle = 3
Dime = 2
Penny = 1

When Hull Strength is reduced replace the coin with one that represents the new value. Hull Strength is reduced by hull damage. Hull Strength never goes negative, excess hull damage is ignored.

Hull Strength of zero (0) indicates that a ship is taking on water.

Rigging (rig)

RIG tokens (pennies) represent broken masts. The RIG boxes on the damage log sheets are used to record broken masts. Broken masts can not exceed the number of masts, excess RIG damage is ignored.

Broken masts reduce the ship's movement. When broken masts equals the number of masts the ship can not sail.

Skill Table

Each ship has six (6) skill types. Use tokens (pennies) & ship log sheets to record changes in skill level. Heads = positive level, Tails = negative level.

- 1. (S)EA: Seamanship
2. (G)UN: Gunnery
3. (C)MD: Command Authority/Discipline
4. (M)OR: Morale/Courage/Health/Stamina
5. (A)IM: Marksmanship/Snipers/Muskets
6. (B)RD: Boarding/Swashbuckling/Hand-to-Hand Combat/Marines/Crew Size

All skills start at zero (0), skill boxes on log sheets are empty. Add or remove tokens as required so that tokens in a square are all heads or all tails. No Skill Level may go above 3 (excess levels are lost).

No Skill Level may go below -3 (further reductions are ignored).

Initiative

The youngest player goes first.

Skill Roll

Wind	Result
White=1	+1 Skill Level
Red=1	-1 Skill Level

Roll a die to determine which skill is affected (see SKILL TABLE)

Gusts & Shifting Winds

Repeat the following roll for every MOVE you expend during this turn. GUST starts at zero (0)

Wind	GUST
Red=3	+1

Roll a die for every GUST and add or subtract SEAMANSHIP.

Gust	MOVE
< 0:	-2
1,2:	-1
3,4:	0

Determine the result of each Gust roll and modify MOVE accordingly.

Repairs & Storm Damage

Wind	Result
Wht=5	+1 Hull Strength (limited to ship class)
Red=5	+1 DAMAGE (see DAMAGE DISTRIBUTION)

Kedge	Result
1-3	Failed
4+	Move to any unoccupied adjacent square (docking is not permitted)

Sail

You select any one (and only one) ship to sail. The MOVE determined by the wind dice indicates how many squares a ship must sail. Subtract 1 MOVE for every broken mast.

Add 1 MOVE for every positive level of SEAMANSHIP. Roll for Gusts & Shifting winds (if applicable) and adjust MOVE accordingly. The ship can not return to the last square from which it just sailed.

The ship can sail into any other unoccupied adjacent square (including diagonal).

Tow

If another of your ships is adjacent to your sailing ship you may elect to tow. Each time the ship sails the ship being towed follows. TOW equals the lead ship's class minus the towed ship's class.

Consult the table below and modify MOVE accordingly.

TOW	MOVE
-3,-2	-3
-1, 0	-2
1+	-1

If another of your ships is adjacent to the last ship in line being towed you may tow it. 1) Provided you have movement remaining. 2) Provided the ship's class is less than the class of the ship in front of it.

Consult the table again with the last ship being the towed ship.

Ram

If there is an adjacent enemy ship and you have movement left you may ram it. Ramming will absorb all remaining movement (remain in your current square). Ramming is treated like regular combat (simultaneous attacks).

See COMBAT CHARTS for Attack Dice & Damage Allocation.

Gust	MOVE
5,6:	+1
6+:	+2

4 Movement

Anchor

You may elect not to move any ships this turn.

Kedge/warp

You may forfeit the wind roll and elect to kedge. Roll a die and add any positive SEAMANSHIP & MORALE skill levels to the roll.

Dock

Once a ship docks it is out of the game and may not return (remove the ship tile from play) Docking requires that you have enough movement to sail off your side of the game board. You can NOT kedge into a dock. You can NOT dock while your ship is engaged.

5 Range In All Guns

Determine all targets within range of your guns. Range is the number of squares between a ship and its target (including diagonal). Short range is a range of zero (0) Long range is a range greater than zero, but less than or equal to the ship's class.

For multiple targets at multiple ranges decide whether to attack at short or long range. Once you commit to a range you can not alter it until next turn. If there are no targets within range of your sailing ship goto step 7.

6 Windward Position

If you did not sail this turn or there are engagement tokens currently in play goto step 7. Select a target even if you don't intend to attack. Windward Position equals White MOVE (wind table) minus Red MOVE (wind table) Subtract 1 point for each BROKEN MAST.

Add one point for each positive level of COMMAND AUTHORITY Add one point for each of the target ship's negative levels of SEAMANSHIP & COMMAND AUTHORITY. If Windward Position is greater than plus four (+4) the sailing ship has the weather gage. A ship with the weather gage gains 1 optional MOVE.

7 Repairs & Damage Control

Repair tokens are any coin except pennies in the skills section of the pending damage log. Repair tokens left over from the previous turn are removed. You may temporarily reduce one or more skills & allocate them to repair & damage control.

The only skills that can not be allocated are COMMAND AUTHORITY & MORALE. Record the temporary reduction in skill level(s) with the repair tokens. For each new repair token select one of the four (4) categories below:

Man The Pumps

For every repair & damage control point you designate for manning the pumps roll:

D6	Result
1,2	Ship is kept afloat.
3-6	Keep pumping, ship is still sinking.

Unfoul Spars & Rigging

For every repair & damage control point you designate to rigging roll:

D6	Result
1,2	Remove 1 broken mast.
3-6	Keep working at it, rigging is a mess.

D6	Result
1,2	Fire is extinguished, remove fire token.
2-4	Controlled fire is extinguished, uncontrolled fires is controlled (flip fire token)
5,6	Fire rages on, No Change.

8 Burn Damage

Controlled fires do not do any damage as long as you made an attempt to extinguish each one. Any con-

Transfer Command

Transfer tokens are any coins other than pennies in the CMD boxes of the damage log. If you have transfer tokens from the previous turn you may transfer command at this time. You may only transfer command authority skill levels to a single adjacent ship.

To transfer neither ship can have moved this turn & neither will be able to move next turn. One repair token is required for every level of command authority transferred. To indicate a pending transfer replace the CMD level tokens with transfer tokens.

The transfer will take place next turn.

Extinguish Fires

Fires are represented by fire tokens (pennies) in the fire box on the pending damage log. Heads-up fire tokens are uncontrolled fires and tails-up tokens are controlled fires. For every repair & damage control point you allocate to extinguishing fires roll:

trolled fires that were not allocated a damage control point become uncontrolled. Uncontrolled fires require a burn roll:

D6	Result
1	Fire spreads, add a token (penny) to the fire box on the pending damage log sheet.
2,3	Fire ignites powder keg or magazine, +1 DAMAGE (see DAMAGE DISTRIBUTION)
4-6	No fire damage sustained this turn.

9 Sinking Ships

Sinking ship tokens are pennies in the sinking boxes of the pending damage log. All ships with hull strength of zero (0) that did not successfully pump water:

D6	Result
1-3	Ship remains afloat (add a sinking ship token if it doesn't already have one)
4-6	Ship Sinks

10 Sunk Ships

Remove all of the ship's pending damage tokens from play. Remove all of the ship's negative skill level tokens from play. Remove all of the ship's broken mast tokens from play.

Place a token heads-up in the sunk/captured box on the position & engagement log. If no ships are adjacent (including diagonal) to the sunk ship remove the ship tile.

Rescue Operations

Each ship adjacent to the sunk ship may roll a rescue die for each remaining skill level.

D6	Result
1,2	Crew member rescued, transfer the skill level token to your ship.
3-6	Crew member drowned or captured, skill level token is removed from play

11 Raise The Ensign (rules Of Engagement)

Engagement tokens are pennies in the LONG, SHORT, or GRAPPLE boxes of the engagement log. Turn all engagement tokens heads-up to indicate that the ships have not fired this round. After a ship fires on a target the engagement token is flipped over to the tails side.

Any ship with an engagement token is fair game for any other ship in range (engaged or not). Any non-engaged ship that attacks becomes engaged (place a token on long or short) If an engaged ship begins turn out of range of all engaged enemy ships remove engagement token. No ship may ever attack more than one target in a single combat round.

12. WEATHER GAGE

A ship can only have the weather gage when there are no engagement tokens in play. Only a ship with weather gage can attack a ship that does not have an engagement token. A ship with weather gage attacks 1st & damage is assessed before the target returns fire.

After a ship with weather gage attacks, both attacker and target become engaged. Weather gage is only in effect in the 1st round of combat.

13. SIMULTANEOUS ATTACK

Other than weather gage all attacks are simultaneous. Each ship can only attack one target. Damage for simultaneous attacks is recorded on the pending damage log.

Damage on the pending damage log does not take

Roll a white die, the enemy rolls a red die. Adjust the roll either positive or negative by adding the following skill levels: Add or subtract your SEAMANSHIP & COMMAND AUTHORITY levels to the white die. Add or subtract the enemy's SEAMANSHIP & COMMAND AUTHORITY levels to the red die.

Subtract 1 for every broken mast from the white die. Subtract 1 for every enemy broken mast from the red die. To determine TACT subtract the resulting red die total from the resulting white die total.

Master Of Venice

Introduction

Card game for 2-4 players. Players take the roles of rival powerful Families in circa 15th century Venice.

The Deck

Players share a common deck.

Cardset

Click here for this amazing cardset by Zak.

Victory

The player with the most gold at the end of the game wins. The Game ends when players have gone through the deck twice.

Bits & Pieces

Use change to represent gold (zecchino or ducato d'oro). Six sided dice are needed.

1D6	Result:	Notes:
1	Unprofitable Trip	No Gold earned
2-3	Profitable Trip	Earn 1 Gold
4-5	Fine Profit	Earn 2 Gold

Cogs and caravans attached to Trade Routes get a bonus +1 or +2 to the Roll. (A Cog or caravan can only be attached to one trade route) If you control the Pope gain 5 gold per turn If you control the Doge gain 3 gold per turn If you control the Office of Council Head gain 2 gold per turn If you control the Office of General gain 2 gold per turn If you control the Office of Admiral gain 2 gold per turn If you control the Office of Construction gain 1 gold per turn Note: Trade routes do not generate gold, they increase the income of attached Cogs/Caravans. Gain one Gold for every Cog/caravan attached to one of your Trade routes, that is owned by another player.

Diplomacy Phase

Players may make (secret) deals, alliances, and trades in this phase. In the true Machiavellian spirit, nothing is binding.

Turn Sequence

Each turn is divided into 8 phases: Draw Phase Revenue Phase Diplomacy Phase Expansion Phase Event Phase War Phase Pope Phase Doge Phase

Cards In Play

A card "put into play" is placed face up in front of its owner and stays in play until some other card or rule causes it to be discarded. A player derives benefits every turn from the cards he has in play. Other cards (not put into play) produce an effect and are then discarded.

Note: Many cards have a cost in gold to be played or put into play.

Draw Phase

Each player draws 1 card. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Revenue Phase

Each player automatically gains 3 Gold. Players derive additional income (gold) from their possessions. Roll 1D6 for each Cog or Caravan:

1D6	Result:	Notes:
6	Worthy Profit	Earn 3 Gold
7	Great Profit	Earn 4 Gold
8+	Fabulous Wealth	Earn 5 Gold

Expansion Phase

Players may put Army, navy, cog, caravan, trade routes, and patronage cards into play. These cards remain in play. Popularity cards may be played. Popularity cards are discarded at the end of the turn.

A player may build a Villa if he doesn't already have one. A Villa costs 10 Gold to Build. (7 Gold if you hold the Office of Construction) Patronage, Pageant, Feast, Masquerade cards can only be played if you control a Villa. Note: Caravans and Cogs can be played with no trade route attached.

A Trade Route may have up to 3 Cogs/Caravans attached. You may attach Cogs/Caravans to Trade routes controlled by opponents. Some Trade Routes can only attach either Cogs or Caravans.

Event Phase

Players may play event and crime cards in this phase. If you negate a crime card with a caught card, the player who played the crime card loses 1D6 Gold and automatically loses the next election. You may discard (from play or hand) a Guard or Mercenary card to negate a Brigands card.

You may discard (from play or hand) a War Galley card to negate a Pirates card. Only the controller of the Pope can play Excommunicate or Call Crusade cards. Only the controller of the Office of Council Head can play accusation cards.

War Phase

Players may play War or Army cards in this phase. If you play a War card, the current controller the Office of General must pay 2D6 (minus the number of Armies he controls) gold or lose the game. If you play a War card, the current controller the Office of Admiral must pay 2D6 (minus the number of Navies he controls) gold or lose the game.

You may discard (from play or hand) a Mercenary or Condotierri card to take control of a target Caravan or Trade Route. Your opponent may discard (from play or hand) a Guard or Mercenary card to negate your play. You may discard (from play or hand) a War Galley card or privateer, to take control of a target Cog or Trade Route.

Your opponent may discard (from play or hand) a War Galley card to negate your play.

Pope Phase

(The highest Church Official is the Pope) Roll 1D6. On a roll of 6 the Pope dies and a new Pope must be elected. Players vote for the new Pope. To vote, you must control at least one Cardinal. Each player makes a secret bid. A bid consists of a number of Votes.

Gain 1 vote for each Cardinal you control. Gain 1 vote for each Gold you bid (Bribes). Gain votes for Popularity cards you have in play this turn.

Gain Votes for Intrigue cards you play. The player with the most votes wins the election and gains control of the Pope. If there is a tie, those players roll high on 1D6 to see who wins.

One cardinal of the winning player becomes the new Pope.

Action Phase

In Initiative Order Players take turns. Each player gets 1 Turn during this phase. During his turn a player may make 1 or more Melds.

A Meld must contain 1 Country Card, 1 Action Card, and 1 Number Card. The effect of the Meld is based on the Action Card: In all cases X = the value of the Number Card. Control Tokens = CT If you have the most CT on a Country you are said to control it.

If there is a tie for most, no one controls it. All Meld cards are discarded.

War Meld

Remove X enemy CT from that Country. Put X of your own CT onto that Country.

Marriage Meld

Add X CT onto that Country. It must be a Country you do not control. Immediately earn X Victory Chips.

Royalty Meld

A standard set of playing cards is also needed.

Victory

To win Eliminate all Opposing Agents

Agent Tokens

Each player has a set of Stackable Tokens of a Unique color. These Tokens are referred to as Agents.

Dice

Six sided dice are needed.

Special Abilities

Each Faction has its own Special Ability:

The Architect

Agent Drop

The Architect chooses the results of his Transport rolls in Mission Phase.

Control The Blueprints

The hand size of the Architect is 9 not 7.

Mister Smith

Insight

The Merovingian player at the end of every turn, may look at The cards in one of his opponent's hands.

Zion & The Oracle

Zion & the Oracle have the Special Abilities of: Escape & Prophecy

Escape

Individual Zion Agents are more concerned with Self preservation than those of the other Factions. If Zion Agents lose a Combat, roll 1D6 for each Agent. On a roll of 5 or 6 move the Agent to a friendly Stack.

Prophecy

Sacrifice (Discard) a Zion Agent to draw 1 card. Whenever drawing a card from the deck draw 2 cards: keep 1 & discard 1. The Oracle may discard a card to look at the next 7 cards in the deck.

Setup

Players claim opposite corners. Each player is dealt 1 card. Deal 5 cards into the discard pile.

Each player stacks 4 of his Agent Tokens in his own Corner. Players roll high on 1D6 to see who goes first.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 4 Phases: Recruit Phase Transport Phase Combat Phase Mission Phase

Recruit Phase

Gain 1 Agent. Place him on top of any other Agent you control.

Transport Phase

Roll 2 Dice. These are Transportation Rolls. Use each roll to move one of your Agents, a stack of Agents, or a Partial Stack of Agents that many Spaces orthogonally or diagonally. Your Agents may move through, and land on other Stacks of yours or other players Agents.

While moving a Stack, you may drop Agents into the spaces you move through. You may play (discard) a King card to get an extra transport roll. Kings used this way are placed on the bottom of the deck.

If your agents occupy the most spaces on the board at the beginning of this phase, you get one extra Transportation Roll.

Combat Phase

All Enemy Stacks in the Same Space will fight. Roll 2 Dice (Combat Dice) for each Agent in the Fight. The side that rolls the most 6's wins.

You may also play 6's and Queens from your hand to count as rolls of 6. Cards used for Sixes are put on the bottom of the discard pile. The losing side has all its Agents in the Space destroyed.

Mission Phase

Draw 1 card from the top of the deck or take the top card of the discard pile. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and make a new deck from it. Before drawing from the new deck, deal 5 cards into the discard.

If you are able to make a 5 card Straight Flush or Royal Flush from the cards in Your hand, you may play it immediately to create a Matrix Revolution Effect. Max hand size is 7 cards. Discard excess cards. You may discard 3 of a Kind to draw 3 new cards.

If you are the player with the most rows (or columns or diagonals) completely occupied with Agents (in all 8 spaces) you get to draw 1 extra card from the deck.

Matrix Revolution Effect

Automatically eliminate one player of your choice from the game. All their tokens and cards are discarded. The target player automatically loses.

Mayan Metropolis

Introduction

Tile Laying game for 2+ players. Mayan City Building Theme.

Victory

Score the most points by the end of the game. The game ends when all pieces (tiles) are placed or discarded.

Cards & Pieces

Players share a common deck of cards and set of pieces (tiles). For every card there is a corresponding piece. Pieces are placed on the board, cards are not.

The Board

Use an 8 x 8 grid (Chessboard)

Setup

Randomly determine who picks first.

Turn Sequence

The turn is divided into 3 phases: Draw Phase Place Phase

Draw Phase

Put the top 3X cards of the deck face up on the table. X is the number of players. Players take turns picking face up cards, one at a time.

(Each player will have picked 3 of the face up cards)
The player who picked second last turn picks first. Pick order goes clockwise. Players gather the pieces that correspond to the cards they picked.

Card/tile Set

Name:	#	Size & Shape of Tile:
Causeway	3	1 x 3 Linear
Acropolis	2	2 x 3 Rectangle
Reservoir	3	3 Space L-shape
Temple	4	1 x 2

The cards are then discarded.

Place Phase

Players take turns placing the pieces onto the board. Note that each piece will occupy 1 or more spaces. The player who picked last this turn places first.

Placing proceeds counterclockwise. If you are blocked from placing, you must discard a piece. The turn ends when all 3X pieces are placed or discarded.

Adjacency Defined

Spaces that share a border are adjacent. Spaces that touch only at the corners are not.

Placing Rules

Pieces may not overlap (share the same space). A piece may not be placed adjacent to another piece of the same type.

Zones

The center 4 spaces are referred to as Zone 1. The 12 spaces that surround Zone 1 are referred to as Zone 2. The 20 spaces that surround Zone 2 are referred to as Zone 3.

Scoring

Scoring is done during Place Phase. When you place a piece, you score points equal the number of Occupied spaces the piece is adjacent to. If you finish filling in Zone 2, you get 4 points.

If you finish filling in Zone 3, you get 6 points. Every Piece you place adjacent to a causeway gets 1 extra point. Every Piece you place adjacent to a plaza gets 1 extra point.

If you finish off completely surrounding another piece, get 1 extra point.

Medieval Keep

Introduction

Multiplayer card game or Solo rules. "Historical" version of Borderkeep. Each player controls a small town in a medieval setting.

Every turn players build structures and hire defenders to protect their town. Some cards are used to send invaders and disasters to destroy your opponent's towns.

The Deck

The deck has 1 of each of the cards listed. These will have to be constructed before play is possible.

Defenders

Defenders are not represented by cards. Use paper and pencil to record what type and how many defenders you control.

Setup

Six sided dice (D6) are needed. Roll high on 1D6 to determine turn order. Players start with a hand of 7 cards.

Each player starts with 30 gold. Each player starts with 2 guards. Each player's town starts with a castle with 4 walls, and an income = 3 gold.

Gold can be used to substitute for any other commodity on a one to one basis.

Object

Have the most defenders and structures at the end of the game. Each defender and structure is worth 1 victory point. The game ends when the last card is drawn from the deck.

In a multiplayer game, the game ends if all but one player's town is destroyed.

Defender List

Card Name:	Cost	Init	AD	Hits	Notes
Guards	5	1	2	2
Swordsmen	7	2	3	2
Shieldmen	6	1	2	3
Halberdiers	9	3	4	2
Archers	8	6	1	1	Missile
Crossbowmen	9	5	3	1	Missile

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 5 phases:

1. Draw Phase
2. Upkeep Phase
3. Production Phase
4. Build Phase
5. Attack Phase
6. Heal Phase

The Golden Rule

In all situations, Gold can be used to substitute for any other commodity on a one to one basis.

Draw Phase

Draw one card. Max hand size = 7. Discard excess cards.

Upkeep Phase

All defenders have an upkeep = 1 food or weapon. If the upkeep is not paid the defender deserts.

Revenue Phase

Collect revenue from all structures and defenders that produce revenue. Revenue comes in different forms: Gold, food, etc. Keep track of each form of revenue.

Build Phase

Put structures and defenders into play by paying their cost. Defenders must be paid for in food and/or weapons. Structures must be paid for in half wood and half stone.

All players can recruit guards. Other types of defenders require the appropriate structure type for them to be available for recruitment.

Card Name:	Cost	Init	AD	Hits	Notes
Handgunners	8	4	3	1	Missile
Longbowmen	10	7	2	1	Missile
Light Horsemen	7	3	2	2	Mounted
Medium Cavalry	9	3	3	3	Mounted
Knights	11	3	4	4	Mounted

Attack Phase

Players cannot play attack cards until turn 3. Attack cards include Disasters & Invaders. Play one Attack card on the opponent to your left.

If you have more than one attack card, you may play the additional card on the next player, and so on. Resolve disasters according to the card text. Resolution of battles with invaders may take several segments.

The invader and all defenders attack once during the segment. Attack order is determined by each cards initiative. Initiative = 10 attacks before Init = 9, and so on.

All cards of the same initiative level attack simultaneously. An attacking card rolls a number of six sided dice equal to its Attack Dice (AD). Each roll of 1 causes the other side to lose 1 hit.

The attacker decides where hits are inflicted. Each card has a number of hits. If this hit total is reduced to 0 the unit is destroyed.

The Invader will keep attacking until destroyed. If the Invader destroys all the defenders, the Invader is discarded and the defender must discard 1D6 structures. If there are no structures left, then castle walls are destroyed.

If all a players castle walls are destroyed, the player is eliminated.

Heal Phase

All surviving defenders recover all lost hits. Walls may be rebuilt for 3 stone or wood each. Structure cards destroyed this turn may be put back in your hand for 2 gold each.

Guards

Each player starts the game with one.

Medieval Manor

Introduction

Board game for 2-4+ players. Players are the inhabitants of a small European fiefdom in the middle ages. Players use their Peasants to gather goods and score Victory Tokens.

Victory

The game ends the end of the turn in which any player accumulates 15 or more Victory Tokens (VT). The winner is the player with the most VT at the end of the game. Note: Some cards do not score until the game ends.

If tied at the end, the player with the most Upgrades wins. If still tied, the player with the most Gold wins.

The Decks

There are 2 common decks: The Land Deck and the Play deck.

The Map

Use the Land cards to make a Map. As part of the Map, these cards are also referred to as Spaces. For a 2-3 player game use the 12 basic lands to make a 3x4 grid.

For 4+ players also use the extra lands to make a 4x4 grid. The Basic Lands: River, Fertile Fields, Good Fields, Poor Fields, Woods, Pasture, Hills, Road, Village, Market, Church, Castle The Extra Lands: Irrigated Fields, Hunting Grounds, Mountains, Forest. For purposes of play card placement treat the Irrigated Fields like other Fields, Treat the Mountains as Hills, and the Forest and Hunting Grounds as Woods.

The owner of the game decides how the map is set up.

The Play Deck

There are 3 types of cards: Bounty Cards, Upgrade Cards, and Hardship Cards.

Goods & Peasant Tokens

There are 6 Types of Tokens: Peasants = White = P
Victory = Purple = V (also VT or VP) Crops = Green = C Animals = Red = A

Gold Yellow = G

Resources = Blue = R Manor = 1 Pawn held by the current Lord Crops and Animals are collectively called Food. Gold and Resources are collectively called Money. Food and Money are collectively called Goods.

Setup

Shuffle the deck. Each player starts with: 2 Peasants, 4 Crops, and 3 randomly dealt Non-Hardship Cards. Pick one player to be the starting Lord of the Manor.

Turn Sequence

Each turn has 6 Phases:

1. Draw Phase
2. Trade Phase
3. Work Phase
4. Upgrade Phase
5. Feeding Phase
6. End Phase

Draw Phase

- Each player is dealt $X+1$ cards from the top of the deck. X = Number of Peasants they have. – Players may next pay 3 Goods to draw 3 cards AND immediately discard 2 (including Hardship cards) — Lastly, players may discard 2 cards to draw 1 replacement card. If the deck ever runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Hardship Cards

Hardship cards take effect immediately in Draw Phase as soon as they are dealt (except when discarded as a result of paying 3 goods) and are then REMOVED from the game.

Trade Phase

Players always keep their hands face up visible to all. Players may inspect each others hands. Players may freely make deals and trade Tokens and Cards with each other.

Work Phase

Each player gets a number of actions equal to the number of Peasants they control. Players take turns using 1 action at a time starting with the lord of the Manor and going clockwise. There are 2 things you can do with an action:

1. Take 1 of your hand cards and place it on the map on a Land card allowed by the card text. You cannot place a play card in a space that is already occupied by a card.
2. Discard 2 cards from your hand to gain 1 Good of any type.

Bounty Cards

As soon as you play a Bounty card in Work phase you reap its benefits: Gain the tokens described in its card text. Certain spaces will provide additional tokens if you are gaining tokens of the same type. For example: The Wheat card gives you 4 Crops.

If the wheat card was placed on a Fertile Field (+1C), you would gain a total of 5 Crops. If placed on a Poor Field (-1) you would get 3 Crops. Played Bounty cards are discarded at the end of Work Phase.

Some Bounty cards allow you to do a conversion where you may turn any Number of one kind of token into another type of token. This conversion can only be done exactly when the card is played. Any time a card is played on the Castle, that player becomes the New Lord of the Manor.

Upgrade Cards

To play an Upgrade card you must pay 3+X Money Tokens.

X The number of Upgrade cards you already own. At the End of Work phase remove upgrade cards you just purchased from the board and place them Face-up next to you in their own separate section where they remain in play. Upgrade cards provide a bonus every turn they are in play in Upgrade Phase.

Upgrade Phase

Each of you upgrade cards in play produces a Token (or card) and may be used to make a conversion

according to its text. For Example: The Cathedral Upgrade would give you 1 Victory Token. The Mine Upgrade would give you a simple gain of 1 Gold Token and would allow you to (multiple times if you want to and can) discard 1 card from your hand to gain 1 Gold Token.

When gaining a card as a result of a Conversion, draw the top card of the deck and add it to your hand. Note: The simple gain of an upgrade is automatic and occurs only once per turn, whereas Conversions are optional and can be done multiple times.

Feeding Phase

Discard one Food token for each Peasant you control minus 1. If you cannot feed all your peasants fully, discard one of them and lose 2 VT. You cannot lose your last remaining Peasant.

If all of your Peasants are fed, you may discard 5 Food Tokens to Gain 1 Peasant Token.

End Phase

Max hand size is 3 cards. Discard excess cards.

Manure & Fodder

Bounty Crop cards placed orthogonally adjacent to a Compost, Cultivar, Manure or Pollination card get +1C. Bounty Animal cards orthogonally adjacent to a Fodder card get +1A. These bonuses are not retroactive.

Faq

Q> Marriage/midwife - does the new peasant become available for placement once acquired? A – Peasants are not placed per say, rather they increase the number of cards you draw and the number of cards you can play per turn. The new peasant immediately improves your abilities in these areas.

Q> Brickmaker - Is he an automatic 3 subsidy to all future upgrades, or do you have to play the brickmaker to get the 3 subsidy to another upgrade that phase? Same with Printing Press/Warehouse. Once bought, do you have to play them to get the benefit of the increased hand size for just that phase? A – Brickmaker is 3 off for all upgrades you play for the rest of the game. The hand size increase of the PP & WH is also for the rest of the game. Note that all your upgrades are permanent acquisitions that provide you benefits every turn.

Q> Feudal Dues - Steal 1 card from another player. We assume this means a card from the hand, not an already purchased upgrade? A – Yes, from the hand.

Q> Peasant Rebellion - We assume this means there is a feeding phase but otherwise just an empty round? A – Actually there is still a Work Phase. You cannot place cards, but you can still take the option where you discard 2 cards from your hand to gain 1 Good of any type.

Q> Fortress - Though expensive, it seems unfair that one player could buy this upgrade, then place it on the castle every turn first thing and lock up the Lord of the Manor for the whole game (an an easy VP per turn). A – Upgrades are only placed once when they are first played, then they are kept next to their owner off board where they still have their effects but no longer interact directly with the map.

Variants

1. Remove some or all of the Hardship cards from the deck.
2. Increase/decrease the number of VP needed to win.
3. Players get more/less goodies in setup.
4. Increase/decrease max hand size.
5. Play without the map (all cards are always playable).
6. Players share a common hand (draw = number of peasants in play)
7. Keep out the Hardship cards as a seperate deck. At the beginning of each Draw phase roll 2D6: On a roll of 11 a random player draws 1 Hardship card.

Medieval Microcosm

Introduction

Card game for 2-4 players. General Medieval Historical Theme. Tit-for-Tat Card-combo mechanisms.

Victory

Have the most points at the end of the game. If tied, just argue about it. . . forever.

The Deck

Players share a common deck of 60 cards.

Card Types

There are 4 card types:

- C Character
- H Holding
- G Group
- E Event

Card Descriptions

The top left corner states the card type. The top right corner is the card's point value. The upper half is an illustration.

In the middle is the card name. At the bottom is the card combo/ability notes.

Card Abilities

Cards have 1 of 2 types of abilities: When played: These activate as soon as the card is played. Combo: These cards are worth more points if you have the indicated cards in your Fief at the end of the game.

Setup

Shuffle the deck. Each player draws 2 cards. The oldest person goes first.

Play proceeds clockwise.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. On your turn, draw 1 card from the deck and play 1 card from your hand. When you play a card place it face up in front of you on the table.

If the card has a non-combo ability this gets used immediately. All the cards in front of you are known as your Fief.

Hand Size

At the beginning and end of your turn, you will normally have just 2 cards in your hand. However several cards have as their ability: Draw 1 Card. (Do this immediately when played) This effectively increases your hand size by 1 for the rest of the game until the End game when you will play all the remaining cards in your hand.

End Game

When the last card is drawn shuffle the discard and draw from it. When there is no deck or discard left, players continue taking turns, playing one card at a time from their hands until all cards are played.

Discard Pile

Cards only ever go into the discard pile when another card sends them there. These cards eventually return to play in the end game.

Steal Ability

When played take the indicated type card from your opponent's Fief and put in your Fief. Important note: When you steal a card, you don't get to use its "when played" ability. You do however still get to make combos with it.

Discard Ability

When played take the indicated type card from your opponent's Fief and put in the discard.

Basic Combo Cards

These give a bonus if you have both cards in your Fief. Place them adjacent so you don't miss any in end game scoring. Note that all Basic combos give the card stating the combo a final score of five.

Super Combo Cards

These are the ones that give you 1 extra point for every 2 cards you have of an indicated type. Round up for this. The most points you can receive from one of these cards is 10.

Most Of Combo Cards

These require you to compare numbers of types of cards between you and your opponents. If you are tied for most, you get the bonus.

End Game Scoring

It is recommended you use tokens or markers to help tally for final scores. Final scores are based on all the cards in your Fief and the combos they make.

There are 8 Suites:

1. Prayer
2. Work
3. Study
4. Rules
5. Saints
6. Orders
7. Abbey
8. Monks

Each Suite has 9 cards ranked from 1 to 9.

Game Length

The game lasts 10 Turns.

Victory

Each player gains points in each of the 8 Suites. Your final score is equal to your lowest score out of all the Suites.

The Cross

Exactly one cross or crucifix is needed. The current possessor of the cross has the title of Abbot.

Score Keeping

Each player will need paper and pencil. Each player must keep track of their own scores in each of the 8 Suites.

Setup

Shuffle the deck. The oldest player is the Abbot. Give him or her the cross.

Turn Sequence

Each turn has 4 phases:

1. Ascetic Phase
2. Eremitical Phase
3. Cenobitic Phase
4. Salvation Phase

Ascetic Phase

Each player draws 10 cards. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Eremitical Phase

Starting with the Abbot and going clockwise, each player must play 1 card. The effect of the card depends on its Suite.

- Prayer Action: Draw 2 cards. Discard any 2 cards.
- Work Action: Discard your hand and draw 9 cards.
- Study Action: All players may trade cards. Limit 3 minutes.
- Rules Action: $X = \text{number of players}$. X cards are revealed from the deck, and are placed face-up, side by side in the middle of the table. Starting with you and going clockwise, each player selects one of these Cards and puts it into their hand.

- Saints Action: Each player draws a card. Draw 1 card and place it face-up in the center of the table. All Players bid on this card. Each player reveals simultaneously 1 card. The revealed card with the Highest rank is the winner. The winner takes the center card. All cards used for bid are discarded. If there is a tie, those tied must bid again.
- Orders Action: Each player must give 1 card to the player to their right.
- Abbey Action: Trade hands with target player.

Mega Tank

Introduction

Solo Science Fiction Card game with two decks. You control the Mega Tank trying to wipe out the defenders more conventional forces.

Victory & Defeat

If the Mega Tank Deck has no cards left then the Tank is destroyed and you lose. If all of the Command Post cards have been destroyed you win. If you reach the Target Zone you win (Have 15+ cards in the Transit Pile).

Armor Points

The Mega Tank starts with 40 Armor Points (AP).

Taking Damage

If the Mega Tank is ever reduced to zero AP then every additional point of damage done causes the top card of the Mega Tank deck to be removed from the game.

Notation

MTD Mega Tank Deck
DFD Defense Force Deck
DF Defense Force
MT Mega Tank
AP Armor Points

Dice

Six sided dice are needed.

Transit Pile

If you ever have 15 or more cards in the Transit pile, you have reached the Target Zone and you win.

Turn Sequence

Each turn has 6 phases:

1. Deploy Defenders Phase
2. Reload Phase
3. Attack Phase
4. Counter Attack Phase
5. Movement Phase
6. End Phase

Deploy Defenders Phase

Draw 1D6 Defender cards from the DFD and place them face up on the table. This is called the Deployment Roll. If the DFD is ever out of cards, shuffle the Defender Reserve Pile and draw from it.

If a command post is already out, draw and place an extra card. If a post is already out and you draw another discard it to the Defender Reserve pile.

Reload Phase

Draw 5 cards from the Megatank Deck. If there are no cards left in the deck shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Attack Phase

Discard Megatank cards from your hand to destroy deployed Defender cards of the appropriate type. Defender units roll saving throws in response: Roll 1D6: If this is equal to or less than the Units Save value it survives. (Saves are based on having protective armor and the ability to find shelter, evade attacks, and stay out of sight) Destroyed defender cards go to the Defender Casualty pile.

Counter Attack Phase

Remaining Deployed Defenders attack. Discard Armor cards and Anti-Missile System cards to negate attacks. Subtract the damage inflicted from the Mega Tank Armor Value.

Defender cards may remain in play unless the card description says to discard: Roll 1D6 for each such Unit: (This is called the Resupply Roll) On a roll of 1-3 the Unit stays in play and continues to fight. On a roll of 4-6+ the unit runs out of fuel or ammo and is forced to retreat: place it on the bottom of the DFD.

Movement Phase

Place one card from the Casualty pile into your Transit Pile. If there are no cards in the Casualty pile, use the top card of the DFD.

End Phase

Max hand size is 5 cards. Discard excess cards.

Radar Card Options

After you look at the next 10 cards in the DFD you may do one of the following:

1. Search the MTD for 1 card and put it in your hand. Shuffle the deck afterwards.
2. Draw 2 cards from the top of the MTD.
3. Cause any 2 of the DF cards you looked at to be placed on the bottom of the DFD.

Main Gun Card Options

Indirect Fire Option: You may discard a Main Gun card to cause 1D6-3 cards from the top of the DFD deck to be put in the Casualty pile. (If the result is zero or negative no defending cards are destroyed)

Missiles Card Options

These can be used against non-Air Defenders as well but roll 1D6: on 1-3 the missiles miss. On 4-6+ they hit.

Gun Battery Card Options

Rolling Barrage Option: Use to attack ALL Ground Defenders in play. Roll 1D6 for each: On a roll of 4 or better they are destroyed. Bombardment Option: Flip over the top card of the DFD. If it is a Ground unit it is destroyed.

Megazilla

Introduction

Megazilla attacks Tokyo!!!!!! One player is Megazilla, the other is the Japanese military trying to defend the city.

Victory

The JDF (Japanese Defense Force) wins if Megazilla is ever at 75 or more points of damage. Megazilla wins if he makes it to the opposite end of the map and reduces at least half of the city blocks to rubble.

The Map

The map of Tokyo is divided into spaces called blocks. There are 3 types of blocks: Water, City, & Rural. There should be around 50 city blocks.

The city is surrounded by water & rural blocks.

Counters

One counter or figure is used to represent Megazilla. The JDF has 80 counters to represent its various units available. A set of 12 Artillery Attack counters are needed.

A set of 50 Rubble counters are needed.

Cards

The deck contains 60 special cards used by the Megazilla player. The deck contains 5 of each of the 12 cards listed.

Setup

The JDF player draws 20 random counters from his pile. Police counters may be placed anywhere in the city. Navy ships & Coast guard boats may be placed in any water blocks.

Army units may be placed in any rural blocks. The player holds onto helicopters, jets, nukes, and cruise missiles. After the JDF sets up, Megazilla starts in any water block on the edge of the map.

Turn Sequence

The turn is divided into 9 phases:

1. Megazilla Orders Phase
2. JDF Move Phase
3. Artillery Declaration Phase
4. Missile Declaration Phase
5. Reveal Megazilla Phase
6. Damage Phase
7. Destroy Phase

8. JDF Recruit Phase

9. Megazilla Draw Phase

Megazilla Orders Phase

Take the Megazilla counter off of the map. The Megazilla player secretly writes down, on a piece of scrap paper, which block Megazilla is moving into, and which blocks he is moving through to get there. Megazilla can move up to 2 blocks per turn.

If Megazilla has taken 50+ points of damage, he can only move a base of 1 block/turn.

Jdf Move Phase

All non-missile units have a movement allowance. The JDF unit may move some, all, or none of these units. Water units can only move in water blocks.

Ground units can only move in ground blocks. Air units & hovercraft may move over any block. There is no limit to unit stacking.

Jets must move at least 4 blocks away from their starting position.

Artillery Declaration Phase

All long range units declare their attacks in this phase. Navy ships may attack. Ground artillery that did not move this turn may attack.

Place one Artillery attack counter on a block that is in range of the unit.

Missile Declaration Phase

The JDF player may place some, all, or none of his cruise missile counters and nuke counters directly onto map blocks.

Reveal Megazilla Phase

The secret message is revealed. Place the Megazilla counter back onto the map on the indicated block.

Damage Phase

If there are any artillery attack counters in the same block as Megazilla, then Megazilla suffers 3 points of damage per counter. If there are any cruise missile counters in the same block as Megazilla, then Megazilla suffers 5 points of damage per counter. If there are any Nuke counters in the same block as Megazilla, then Megazilla suffers 10 points of damage per counter.

If there are any Nuke counters in a block adjacent to Megazilla, then Megazilla suffers 5 points of damage per counter. If there are any non-missile unit counters in the same block, or a block adjacent to Megazilla, then Megazilla suffers damage equal to the damage rating of the unit as shown in the counter list. Place a rubble counter on all blocks that were hit by artillery and cruise missiles.

Place a rubble counter on all blocks that were hit by a Nuke or were adjacent to a block hit by a nuke. All missile units on the map are removed from play. All artillery attack counters are removed from the map to be used again.

If Megazilla has 100+ accumulated damage, he is killed. Megazilla may play certain cards to avoid damage.

Destroy Phase

All units in the same space as Megazilla are automatically destroyed. Megazilla may play certain cards to destroy specific types of adjacent units. Place a rubble counter on all blocks that Megazilla has moved into or through.

Megiddo 1918

Introduction

WWI card game for 2 players. Recreate the last great cavalry campaign in history. One player is the British.

The other player is the Turks.

The Decks

Each player has his own deck. Each player keeps two discard piles: The Reserve pile, and the Casualty pile.

Victory

The British win with 5 Victory points. This indicates that they have overrun the Turks, and that they have captured Damascus before their Arab allies led by Colonel Thomas Edward Lawrence, also known as Lawrence of Arabia. The Turks win with 3 Victory points.

This indicates that the Turks have made a successful fighting withdrawal and that they have retreated back to Turkey without being overrun.

Turn Sequence

1. Maneuver Phase
2. Reserve Phase
3. Order of Battle Phase
4. Air Strike Phase
5. Cavalry Exploitation Phase
6. Artillery Phase
7. Machine Gun Phase
8. Infantry Phase

Maneuver Phase

Players fill their hands to 10 cards. If a player's deck runs out, shuffle the reserve pile and draw from it.

Reserve Phase

Players may discard up to 5 cards to their reserve pile, and draw an equal number of replacement cards. If a player's deck runs out, shuffle the reserve pile and draw from it.

Order Of Battle Phase

Players place all cards they want to commit to the Battle face down in a stack. Players may play any number of Infantry, Cavalry, Artillery, And Supply cards. The Turkish player may play only one Terrain Card.

After both players have put down their stacks, Both turn their stacks face up. These stacks are referred to as the Orders of Battle.

Air Strike Phase

Starting with the British player, discard a Plane card to do one of the following:

1. Destroy a card with a Force less than the Plane's Force.
2. Disrupt a card with a Force equal to or greater than the Plane's Force.

Target cards in opponents Order of Battle. Leader cards cannot be targeted. Destroyed cards go to the owners Casualty pile.

Disrupted cards have half force in Infantry phase. Units disrupted twice are destroyed. The Plane card is discarded to its owners reserve pile.

Cavalry Exploitation Phase

Starting with the British player, discard a Cavalry card to: Destroy a card with a Force equal to or less than the Cavalry unit's Force. Target cards in opponents Order of Battle. Target Infantry get double Force.

The target card must be a Supply card if possible. Leader cards cannot be targeted. Destroyed cards go to the owners Casualty pile.

The Cavalry card is discarded to its owners reserve pile. The Lawrence of Arabia card may be used as a Force = 3 Cavalry card by the British this phase.

Artillery Phase

Starting with the Turkish player, discard an Artillery card to do one of the following:

1. Destroy a card with a Force less than the Artillery unit's Force.
2. Disrupt a card with a Force equal or greater than the Artillery unit's Force.

Target cards in opponents Order of Battle. Leader cards cannot be targeted. Destroyed cards go to the owners Casualty pile.

Disrupted cards have half force in Infantry phase. Units disrupted twice are destroyed. The Artillery card remains in the battle.

Machine Gun Phase

Starting with the Turkish player, discard a Machine gun card to do one of the following:

1. Destroy a card with a Force equal or less than the MG unit's Force.

2. Disrupt a card with a Force greater than the MG unit's Force.

Target cards in opponents Order of Battle. Leader, Artillery and Machine guns cannot be targeted. Destroyed cards go to the owners Casualty pile.

Disrupted cards have half force in Infantry phase. Units disrupted twice are destroyed. The MG card remains in the battle.

Infantry Phase

Each side adds up all the remaining Force in its Order of Battle (OB). This includes Artillery, MGs, Cavalry, Leaders, and Infantry cards. For each supply card in your OB all of your Non-Leader cards get Force +1.

Each non-Leader card of the Turks gets the Force bonus indicated on the Terrain card if the Turk played a terrain card. If the Turk did not play a terrain card, the battle is assumed to take place in the open desert.

Mek Leader

Introduction

Solo or Multiplayer card game. Each player is a mercenary commander leading a Squad of Meks.

Meks Giant robotic war machines with a human pilot. Some crossover with the Mekatac game.

Decks

There are 4 separate common decks (each with its own discard):

- Mission Deck
- Foe Deck
- Event Deck
- Build Deck

Players keep a Hand of Event cards.

Victory

Be the first player to accumulate 500 Megacredits (MC).

Squad Composition

At any given time, you may have up to 4 Meks, and 4 pilots in your squad max. You may not have more attachments than your meks can carry.

The Build Deck

The Build deck has 4 card types:

- Pilots
- Meks
- Weapons
- Equipment

Weapons and Equipment are referred to as Attachments. Weapons may be further classified as: Energy, Ballistic, Hand-to-Hand, or Missile.

Dice

Six and 10 sided dice are needed (D6/D10).

Setup

Each player starts with 100 MC and a hand of 4 Event cards. Players roll high on 1D10 to see who goes first.

Turn Sequence

- Players take turns.
- Each turn has 8 phases:
- Event Phase
- Subsidy Phase

- Build Phase
- Mission Phase
- Foe Phase
- Engagement Phase
- Debriefing Phase
- Repair Phase

Event Phase

Draw 1 Event card. If a deck runs out, shuffle the discard & draw from it.

Subsidy Phase

Gain 10 MC. Use coins to represent Megacredits (MC).

Build Phase

Flip face up the top 8 cards of the Build deck. You may purchase some, all, or none of these with your MC. You may also at this time sell Build cards from your Squad.

You get full price when selling to the discard. At the end of build phase discard all cards you did not purchase. Small Meks cost 10 MC Medium Meks cost 20 MC Large Meks cost 30 MC Small Attachments cost 5 MC Medium Attachments cost 10 MC Large Attachments cost 15 MC Pilots cost 5 MC plus 5 MC per skill they have.

Pilot skills are determined randomly and must be recorded.

Attachments Rules

Weapons, Armor, and Equipment are referred to as Attachments. Meks are small, medium, or large.

Attachments are small, medium, or large.

Small Meks can hold 2 small attachments.

Medium Meks can hold 4 small attachments.

Large Meks can hold 6 small attachments.

A medium sized attachment = 2 small attachments.

A large sized attachment = 3 small attachments.

Mission Phase

Flip face up the top 3 cards of the Mission deck. You may choose to go on one of these missions or Not go on any mission at all. Discard unused Missions.

If you go on a mission decide which of Meks are going and what Pilot & Attachments each Mek will have. Each Mek must have exactly one pilot. Green Pilots cannot pilot large Meks.

There are 3 types of Missions: Assault, Defense, and Patrol. Certain Event cards may affect certain Mission types.

Foe Phase

The Mission will have a Threat Level = X. Flip face up the top X cards of the Foe deck. These are the enemies your squad must defeat in battle.

Engagement Phase

The engagement ends when one side is destroyed, or you retreat your squad. The engagement is resolved after one or more Rounds. Each round has 4 Steps:

1. Long Range: Weapons/ Foes with LR capability may attack.
2. Medium Range: Weapons/ Foes with MR capability may attack.
3. Short Range: Weapons/ Foes with SR capability may attack.
4. Point Blank Range: Weapons/ Foes with PB capability may attack.

All attacks within a Step are simultaneous except for Indirect attacks which occur before other attacks. To make an attack, pick a target & roll 1D10 (The To-Hit roll): Each Foe will attack one of your Mek's at random. To hit, your roll must be equal to or greater than 5.

Certain conditions will modify the To hit Roll:

- Targets at LR are -1 To Hit
- Targets at SR are +1 To Hit
- Targets at PB are +2 To Hit
- Your Small Mek's are -1 To be Hit
- Your Large Mek's are +1 To be Hit

Each Foe will have an Evade value (+2 to -2) To be Hit Missiles are +1 To Hit Area Weapons are +1 To Hit Indirect Weapons are -1 To Hit Missiles vs Target with Jammer -2 To Hit If a target is hit, it will take 1D6 Damage (The Damage roll). Certain conditions will modify the Damage Roll:

- Small Weapon -1
- Large Weapon +1
- Missiles + 1D6
- Area Weapons -1
- Area Weapons are +2 vs Infantry
- PB (HTH) Weapons +2
- SR Weapons +1
- LR Weapons -1

Ballistic Weapon vs Target with Inertia Field -1 Energy Weapon vs Target with Absorption Field -1 Missiles are one shot weapons: They can only be used in the first round. A unit reduced to zero hits is destroyed (and cannot be repaired). Use dice to mark damage.

Debriefing Phase

If you destroyed all the Foes, you get paid for the Mission. If your Squad retreated, or was destroyed, you do not get paid. Payment in MC = 10 x Mission Threat Level.

Discard the Mission card. Roll 1D6 for each pilot that was on the (Successful) Mission: Green: roll 1D6 for each pilot: on a roll of 1-2 the pilot became Regular and the player can select a specific skill for the pilot Regular: roll 1D6 for each pilot: on a roll of 1 the pilot became Veteran and gains 1 random skill Veteran: roll 1D6 for each pilot: on a roll of 1 the pilot became Elite and gains 1 random skill Elite: roll 1D6 for each pilot: on a roll of 1 the player can select a specific skill for the pilot Use The Pilot Skill table for determining skills.

Repair Phase

You may fix your damaged Mek's. It costs 1 MC to repair 1 point of damage. Small Mek's have 10 Hits Medium Mek's have 20 Hits Large Mek's have 30 Hits Armor attachments add 5 Hits each.

Max Event hand card size = 8 cards. Discard excess cards.

Mekas move in order from lowest Initiative roll to highest.

MEKA	MOVE	SIZE	-	-
7	5	70	Medium	0
8	5	80	Medium	-1
9	4	90	Large	-1
10	4	100	Large	-2
11	3	110	Large	-3
12	3	120	Large	-4

The ranges listed are long range. Attacks at half this distance (rounded up) are +1 to hit. Attacks into adjacent hexes (HTH or point blank) are +2 to hit.

A Meka can attack with all of its ranged weapons, once per turn. Small Meks are -1 to be hit. LargeMek-sare +1 to be hit. Jumping & Flying Mechs are +1 to be hit.

25% Partial Cover: -1 to be hit 50% Partial Cover: -2 to be hit 75% Partial Cover: -3 to be hit

D12	System Damaged	Notes:
1	Leg Destroyed	Meka topples & cannot move or change facing but can still attack
2	Pilot Shaken	Pilot takes 1D6 hits
3	Leg Damaged	Move Rate -1 (or Wing blown off: No flying & Fall if flying)
4-5	Weapon	1 Random system destroyed
6	Reactor Core	Meka will explode 50% at the end of every turn as bomb
7	Computers	Meka is -1 to hit on all attacks
8	System Shock	Meka can do nothing on its next move
9	Topple	Meka spends next turn getting up. No move or attack
10	Electrical Fire	Take 1D4 Damage at the beginning of every turn
11-12	No Effect

Notes: Roll on the critical hit table whenever a hit does 10 or more points of damage. Pilots have 6 hits each. A Flying mech that falls loses 2D6 X 10% of its full Hits.

Optional Rules- Transformers

A Transformer has 2 modes. A transformation takes 1 turn to complete. The other mode has 1 or 2 systems that are different from the first mode. (For example: the medium mortar is 'replaced' by a pair of wings) Weapon Arcs can also be changed.

Systems that cannot "disappear" between modes include Armor & Missiles. (You cannot be a Transformer just to load up on Missiles)

Spaceship Variant

This suggestion was made by Matt R. at Wolfhvl@aol.com: "...some friends and I have combined Mekatac and Galax. We use the hull sizes and costs from Galax but the weapons and combat rules from Mekatac. Works pretty well..." We call it Starmageddon

- Tactical Zone combat (one zone at a time)
- Player 2 Zone Movement
- Tactical Zone combat (one zone at a time)
- Initiative Movement

Initiative

Players roll at the beginning of every turn for Tactical Initiative of the battlefield. The player who wins Initiative gains two advantages: 1) May choose to be the 1st or 2nd player to move for the turn 2) May choose to make a Second move phase at the end of the turn. This move may not be into enemy occupied zones. Meks suffer a penalty of 2 Heat for this second move.

Map

Each map is a 3 Zone by 3 Zone grid of 9 Zones total. The zones are numbers 1 through 9, left to right, top to bottom. The terrain of each Zone is determined by the Scenario. Meks and other ground vehicles may move one zone per turn, unless the zone is occupied by the enemy. Units must either defeat the enemy in combat or successfully break contact through maneuver, in order to continue to move out of a zone.

Terrain	Movement	To-Hit	Note
Wood	-1	-1
Urban	-2	-2
Highlands	-2	-1
Moors	-1	-1	(+1 Chassis Heat)

Tactical Zone Combat (t.z.c.)

All combat with a Zone is simultaneous, with both players making their respective roll at the same time during each phase.

Movement

Both sides roll movement dice, adjust based on Terrain modifiers. The player with the highest roll may adjust the range by one. Units at Long range may break contact if they win the roll.

Players with Movement rolls greater than twice that of the enemy's may adjust range by two OR double the To-Hit Terrain modifier.

Detection & Sensors

The Sensor systems carried by Meks determine the range at which they may fire on the enemy (Targeting), and the type of units they are fighting (ID). An enemy may not be attacked until they are in targeting range, which is dependant upon the class of sensors used and the masking characteristic of the enemy.

	Basic	Improved	Advanced
Targeting	Long	Long	Long
ID (detect Inf)	Medium (Inf 6)	Long (Inf5+)	1 Zone (Inf 3+)

Masking:

- Basic) Tgt-Med(4+), ID-Short(4+)
- Imp) Tgt-Long(4+), ID-Med(3+)
- Adv) Tgt-Long(2+), ID-Long(2+)

To-hit

Units may only fire on ONE enemy unit per turn. Each weapon may be fired once per turn. Player rolls equal-to or greater-than the To-Hit number. Target makes an Armor Save if they roll equal-to or greater-than AR number.

Failed Armor Save means the Target takes 1 Hit of damage. Target suffers a Critical Hit if 1d6 roll greater-than it's current Hits.

Critical Hits

1d6 System Damage

1. Pilot Wounded roll (5+) to do anything
2. Leg Damaged -1 to Movement roll
3. Weapon 1 Random Weapon destroyed
4. Reactor Core Mek will explode on roll of (1-3)
5. Computers Mek is -1 to hit on all attacks next turn
6. System Lost 1 non-Armor system destroyed

Heat

Every mek has a heat rating associated with its design. This is the highest number of heat units the mek can use in one turn without overheating. If a mek fires more weapons than its heat rating allows in one turn, there is an increasing risk of overheating. Each time you fire a weapon above your mek's heat rating, roll a die (the overheat roll); if it comes up less than or equal to the total excess heat units, then the weapon overheated. This must be repeated every time a mek fires a weapon above its heat rating, and the excessive heat units are cumulative. If a weapon overheats, it is automatically destroyed, and it will damage the mek as. Apply 2 Hits of damage for missile weapons, 1 Hit for all other weapons. Overheating automatically fades at the end of each turn; a mek starts each turn with zero heat against it.

Infantry Strongpoint

Does not move from Zone once emplaced. Infantry may roll 1d6 for maneuver once an enemy is in Zone. Is not automatically detected or targeted until units successfully make a detection roll, OR Infantry makes an attack. (-1 to detection at Medium range, -2 to detection at Long range) Infantry attacks do not roll To-Hit, but do roll 1d6 less-than enemy AR; will cause 1 Hit damage to the enemy. Range is Short. Infantry suffer Kills when attacked, with the amount of damage depending on the weapon: CIWS= (varies)d6, Cannon (3-4=1 kill, 5-6=2 kills), Missiles (4-6=1 kill). Terrain modifiers DO effect rolls vs Infantry.

Following losses, Infantry must make a morale check. Failure to roll greater-than their current Kills, means the Infantry morale breaks and the unit runs from the battlefield. Remove them from the game.

Mercs

Mercenary Pilots are as an integral part of modern warfare of Meks themselves. Mercs have four differing experience levels. Experience is gained by killing Meks in battle and surviving Campaigns. Experience modifies a Pilot's Movement, To-Hit, and Skill rolls. After every campaign, pilots may gain the opportunity for new skills. Pilots roll 1d6 equal to or greater than their current number of a skills, in order to gain an additional skill. A Pilot's first skill may be gained on a roll of (5+). All new Pilots start as Green, Regular Pilots maybe purchased for 5 Points.

Green	-1 Move & To-Hit , no skills may be purchased
Regular	n/a (1 or more campaign)
Veteran	+1 Move, +1 New Skill roll (5 Meks killed & 3 campaign)
Elite	+2 Move, +1 To-Hit, +2 New Skill roll (10 Meks & 10 campaign)

- Log Hero Gain additional Support roll once/campaign

Support Roll

Support is used once per Campaign, when and where is up to the players. The amount of support depends on the Campaign. Roll 1d6 for one of the three support tables. (1-2)

1. Ambush One Mek may make a free attack at the start of T.Z.C.

T.z.c. Example

A WASP moves into a zone (plains) with a DRAKEN, both sides begin at long range. Units roll for movement, WASP rolls 2d6+2 for (9) DRAKEN rolls 1d6+2 for (7). WASP shortens the range to Medium. WASP's weapons are not in range, but the DRAKEN's are; two to-hit rolls are made for the Rail-Cannons, with a -1 due to the WASP's jammer, (2 and 6), one hit is made. The WASP makes an armor roll, gets (4) and fails. WASP takes 1 hit, makes a critical roll (3), and suffers Leg Damage. Both Meks make movement rolls again, WASP (8 at -1) and DRAKEN (5), WASP drops range to short. Both Meks open up, WASP attacks with cannon (4) and hits, DRAKEN attacks with two rail-cannon (3, 4 with -1 from jammer) and a hammer-missile (6) for two hits total. The DRAKEN makes an armor save (4) and deflects the enemy hit. The WASP makes two armor saves (5 vs. rail-cannon and 4 at -1 vs. hammer-missile) and suffers one hit. That equals the WASP's original HIT total, and so the Mek is destroyed. Designer's Notes... I like Battle Mech games, all I had was a single six-sided die, and I wanted something simple to play but could be expanded later. I had no counters, no map, and no real free time to play-test. Feed back would be welcome.

Melee

Introduction

Card game for 2 or more players.

The Deck

Players share a common deck.

Cardset

Check out Zaks support site: Click Here

Victory

Any player who accumulates 20 or more Damage is knocked out of the game.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 4 phases:

1. Draw Phase
2. Attack Phase
3. Defend Phase
4. Damage Phase

Draw Phase

All players draw 3 cards. Max hand size is 7 cards. All players discard down to 7 cards.

If the deck runs out shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Attack Phase

To attack, the current player must play a Weapon card and a Basic Attack Card. The Attack card must be of a type that the weapon does damage. For example: a sword can use Smash or Thrust cards.

A Mace can only use a Smash attack card. The player declares which opponent is the target of the attack. Instead of a normal attack you may make a Shield Bash or Hilt Punch.

Card List

Card Name:	#	Type	Notes:
Smash	10	B	-
Thrust	10	B	-
Feint	2	B	Discard in Draw Phase to Draw 3 cards

Defend Phase

The defender may play a Defense card to negate the attack. Some defense cards require a second card to also be played. For example: To play a Block card you must also play a Shield card.

If you used a 2 handed weapon to attack on your last turn, you cannot use a shield until after your next turn. Attacks by Flails cannot be negated by parrying or shields.

Damage Phase

If the attack was not negated it does damage equal to the weapons rating for the indicated Attack card type. Players may play Armor or Damage Modifier cards to alter the Damage done. Armor cannot be used against attacks by War Hammers.

Record Damage sustained.

End Phase

If you attacked with a 1 Handed weapon this turn you may discard a "Flurry" card to get an extra Attack Sequence with that same weapon card. If you attacked with a 1 Handed weapon this turn you may get an extra Attack Sequence if you use a Dagger card. If you were attacked this turn you may play a "Counter" card to get an Attack Sequence on this players turn.

(Attack Sequence = Attack, Defend, Damage, and End Phases) All played cards are discarded.

Men In Black

Introduction

Card game for 2+ players. Players are Men in Black, protecting the Earth from the Scum of the Universe.

Disclaimer

MIB is a licensed, trademarked, copyrighted property. This is merely a fan site.

Victory

The first player to defeat 3 Major Aliens is the winner.

The Deck

Players share a common deck.

Card Types

There are 9 card types: Agents, Major Aliens, Lesser Aliens, Clues, Plot Twists, Helpers, Equipment, Weapons, Events

Dice

Six sided dice are needed to play. Use coins & tokens for markers.

Setup

Roll high on 1D6 to see who goes first. Each Player starts the game with 1 Agent card and 1 Major Alien card in Play. Each player starts with a hand of 5 cards.

1D6	Result:
1-2	Add 1 to your Investigation skill Level for this turn.
3-4	Add 1 to your Combat skill Level for this turn.
5+	Draw 1 card.

If the deck ever runs out, shuffle the discard & draw from it.

Plot Phase

If you have no Major Alien Card in play, you may put one into play from your hand. (Cards 'put into play' are placed face-up onto the table in front of you) You may play 1 plot twist card on an opponent's Major Alien Card. Plot Twist cards increase the Plot Level of a Major Alien Card.

Men In Black

Cards are used to represent Agents or MIB (Men in Black) A player can have a maximum of 2 agents (partners) in play at one time. Each agent has a name (one letter of the Alphabet) or is a Rookie. Each agent has 3 skills: Investigation, Combat, and Style.

Each skill has a point range from 1 to 3(4). Investigation Skill allows the agent to draw more cards in Investigation Phase. Combat Skill allows the agent to roll more dice in Confrontation Phase.

A player must have at least 1 agent in play to act in Investigation & Confrontation Phases.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 6 phases:

1. Briefing Phase
2. Plot Phase
3. Recruit Phase
4. Investigate Phase
5. Confrontation Phase
6. Debriefing Phase

Briefing Phase

Draw 2 cards. Style: For every level of Style you have roll 1D6:

Recruit Phase

You may put Agents, Weapons, Equipment, & Helper cards into play from your hand. You may only have 2 Agents in play at one time. (you may not normally replace one with another) Weapons, Equipment, & Helper cards must be 'attached' to an Agent.

Each Agent may have a maximum of one weapon attached. Only one Agent may have one vehicle.

Investigate Phase

1. Add up the Investigation skill levels of your Agents. This is your Clue Draw Total Certain Equipment, Event, & Helper cards may increase these levels.

2. Draw a number of cards equal to your Clue Draw Total.
3. Keep Clue cards and discard all other types of cards.
4. Put these Clue cards into play in front of you. (Your Clue Pile) Your Clue pile stays in play until your Major Alien is defeated. Every Clue card has a Clue Rating.
5. Add up the Clue Ratings of all of your Clue Cards in your Clue pile.
6. If your Total Clue Rating is equal to or greater than the Plot level of your Major Alien Card you have 'Solved the Mystery' of your Major Alien.

Confrontation Phase

Your Agents may attack your Major Alien. * In order to attack you must have Solved the Mystery of your Major Alien.

1. Add up the Combat skill levels of your Agents. This is your Combat Dice Total. Certain Equipment, Event, & Helper cards may increase these levels.
2. Roll a number of dice equal to your Combat Dice Total. Add up these rolls. This is your Combat Roll Total (CRT)
3. Roll a number of dice equal to the Combat Rating of the Major Alien. Add up these rolls. This is the Alien Roll Total (ART)
4. If the CRT exceeds the ART the Agents win. If the ART equals or exceeds the CRT the Alien wins and remains in play.

5. If your Agents did not attack your Major Alien this turn, your opponent may Play a Lesser Alien card. Your Agents must fight the Lesser Alien as described above.
6. After any combat, all your Weapons cards in play are discarded. If you lose a Combat, you automatically skip your next Investigate & Confrontation Phase and draw 2 cards instead. (Agents are recovering, rearming, and making new plans)

Debriefing Phase

If you defeated your Major Alien last phase, the mission is a success. (Remember, you must defeat 3 major Aliens to win) After a successful mission, you must discard all your cards in play except Agents (Weapons, equipment, Clue Pile) and draw 3 cards. (Those Agents get new assignments) Max hand size is 7 cards.

Discard excess cards.

Men Of Sumer

Introduction

Players a rival kings in the land of Sumeria. 2-4+ Players.

Victory

The first player to control six of the ten city-states is the winner.

Types:	Fertilty Value:
Fully Green with River	5
Partial Green with River	4
Fully Green w/o River	3
Partial Green w/o River	2
River with no Green	1

Counters

Each player gets a set of double sided counters of a unique color. about 100 counters per person should be sufficient. The front side of the counter represents an Army.

The back side is used as a control marker. Each Army represents about 1,000 men. In addition, each player gets one special Leader counter that is their Kingly personification.

War Deck

The War Deck has 6 types of cards: Phalanx, Javelins, Chariots, Morale, Strategy, Terrain. For each type of card there are 10 such cards in the deck numbered 1 through 10. The Harvest Deck is a seperate deck.

Setup

Shuffle the deck. Each player gets a counter set. Roll high on 1D6 to determine placement order.

Each player places his Leader counter on one of the City-states. Place a control marker on your city-state and all of the surrounding adjacent spaces. Neutral City states contain 3 Armies which must be defeated to gain control of the city.

Neutral city-states will retake adjacent unoccupied spaces in Planting Phase.

Stacking

Any number of armies may stack in one space.

Main Turn Sequence

Each turn consists of 6 phases:

The Map

Use a hex map to depict: The Fertile Crescent (The lands around and between the Tigris and Euphrates rivers). There are 10 City states: Kish, Larak, Nippur, Umma, Lagash, Uruk, Ur, Eshnunna, Khafaje, and Eridu. There are 9 Terrain:

Types:	Fertilty Value:
City in same hex as River	5
City in hex next to River	4
City not next to River	3
Desert	0

1. Order Phase
2. City Phase
3. Harvest Phase
4. Event Phase
5. War Phase
6. Planting Phase

Order Phase

Players roll high on 1D6 to determine turn order. Reroll ties.

City Phase

Each player gains armies for each City hex they control. Gain armies equal to the fertility value of the hex. If a player lost a Leader last turn, he gains a new one.

He places the new leader in one of his City-States.

Event Phase

Each Player is dealt 4 cards face up from the Harvest Deck and resolves them in turn order. Discard all harvest cards.

Harvest Phase

Each player gains armies for each Non-City hex they control. Gain armies equal to the fertility value of the hex. Always place new Armies into a City or Cites you control.

War Phase

This phase is divided into 10 segments. Each player gets one segment turn during each segment. Players take their segment turns in the order determined during Harvest Phase.

Each segment turn is divided into 3 sub-segments:

1. Movement Sub-segment
2. Fighting Sub-segment
3. Conquest Sub-segment

Movement Sub-segment

A player may move each of his armies 2 spaces. A Leader may move 4 spaces. In river spaces denote which side of the river the stack is on.

It costs 1 space to cross a river. Armies & Leaders may not enter Sea spaces. An army must stop upon entering a City-state, or a space occupied by enemy armies.

Fighting Sub-segment

If two stacks of opposing armies occupy the same space there will be a battle. Exception: The armies are on either side of the river and the moving player does not want to attack. Each player is dealt 7 cards from the War deck.

If the deck runs out shuffle the discard and draw from it. Players may then discard up to 6 cards and draw replacements. Each player may play up to one card of each of the six types of cards.

(For Example: a player could not play 2 chariot cards.) Each player calculates his battle total: Add the numeric value of all cards played + 1D6 per Army present and +2D6 if your Leader is Present. If the defending stack was in a City-state, the defender adds 2D6. If the attacking stack just crossed a river the defender may add 1D6.

The player with the higher Battle Total wins. Roll high on 1D6 to break ties. The losing stack is destroyed utterly. The winner takes no casualties.

If your leader is destroyed, all of your armies on the board disband. Discard all war cards.

Conquest Sub-segment

On any space you have an army add a control marker if you didn't already have one there. Replace enemy control markers with your own in any space you occupy.

Planting Phase

All players discard all their army counters! The men return home to plant their fields. Place your Leader counter into a City-state you control.

Miami Beach

Introduction

Card game for 2-4 players.

The Deck

Players share a common deck of 56 cards.

Card Attributes

Each card represents one Building. There are 48 building cards in the deck. Each building has 5 attributes: Color, Type, Size, Class, and Age There are 3 colors: Peach, Lemon, and Aquamarine There are 2 types: Hotels and Condos There are 2 Sizes: Tall and Short There are 2 Classes: Ritzy and Standard There are 2 Ages: New and Old 8 of the cards are 'Renovation' cards (not buildings).

The deck has one of each of the buildings in the card list.

Game End

The game ends when there are no cards left in the deck and all possible Cards have been played.

Winning

The player with the most points at the end of the game wins.

Round Sequence

The game is played in rounds. Each round has 2 phases:

- 1. Deal Phase
- 2. Action Phase

The round ends when no players have any cards left in their hands.

Deal Phase

Each player is dealt 4 cards face up.

Traits in Common:	Points Scored:
0	-5

Action Phase

Each Action phase is divided into turns. Players take turns. Have a different player take the first turn each round.

(For example: I go first this round, you go first next round.) Each turn has 2 segments:

- 1. Build Segment
- 2. Scoring Segment

Build Segment

Players are developers building (or buying) a row of buildings along Miami Beach. During a players Build segment he/she builds one building. The building must be one of the cards in the player's hand.

If this is the first building of the game just place it face up onto the table. Later buildings must be built (placed) adjacent to one of the other buildings. The buildings form a single row so a new building can only be placed on one of Two spots, the far left or the far right.

Color Rule

You cannot place a building next to a building of the same color. (For example: You cannot have two Lemon colored buildings next to each other.) If you are unable to place a building because of this rule you must discard a card from your hand and skip the rest of your turn.

Renovation Rule

If you have a renovation card in your draw, you may discard it to place one of your Buildings (in your hand) on top of any other building in play that is already built. (effectively replacing it) The building being renovated must be 'Old' and the one replacing it must be 'New'.

Scoring Segment

After you place (build) a building, you score with it. Each building has 4 scoring attributes (traits): Type, Size, Class, and Age You score X points for each attribute a building has in common with its immediate neighbor:

Traits in Common:	Points Scored:
4	16

Traits in Common:	Points Scored:

Normally when a building is placed it only has one neighbor, however when renovating, a Building may have 2 neighbors increasing the possible number of traits in common:

Traits in Common:	Points Scored:

7	49
8	64

Use paper and pencil to keep track of scoring.

Middle Earth Empires

Introduction

Lord of the Rings Theme. Module for the Warp Empires: Basic Rules System And Campains Warp Empires system. You must use the Warp Empires system to play this game.

Map

Middle Earth

Victory

Either side wins automatically if all opposing units are destroyed. At the end of 20 turns see who controls the most territories: If the Sauron player controls more, the ringbearer has been captured and Sauron regains the ring and wins automatically. If the Free Peoples player controls more of the map, the ringbearer has Made it to Mount Doom and has thrown the ring into the Crack, automatically Defeating Sauron.

Setup

The Good side starts with Gandalf in play and 10 random units. The Evil side starts with Sauron in play and 15 random units.

Action Deck

Players share a common Action deck.

Unit Deck Abbreviations

H Hero (Leader)

A Army
M Monster
FF Flyer

Revenue Phase

Each side draws 5 random units to recruit each turn. When recruited, units must start in the appropriate map space, which you must control. If you cannot recruit a unit because you do not control its space, discard it.

Heroes may be recruited in any space you control.

Upkeep Phase Rules

All units automatically receive upkeep.

Move Phase

Flyers can move up to 4 spaces. Flyers may jump over other units. Ships & Sea units can only move into coastal spaces or spaces with lakes or rivers. Ship units may carry one ground unit each.

Sauron never moves from his Lair in Mordor. Stacks must stop upon entering mountain spaces.

Battle Phase

Minor Fortifications give defending units +1 Force each. Major Fortifications give defending units +2 Force each. If defeated, Heroes are simply sent back to the unit chit pile.

Midway

Introduction

Historical simulation of the WWII battle of Midway. Two player set piece Dice game. One player is the Japanese, the other is the Americans.

Flowcharts are used instead of Maps.

Materials

Paper & writing implements. Six sided dice are required. Each player must have: 1 copy of the Flowchart 4 copies of the Carrier Box 1 set of chits representing his squads Chits & Charts are provided at the bottom of the page.

Turn Sequence

There are 2 Phases:

1. Move Phase
2. Attack Phase

Move Phase

The Americans go first, followed by the Japanese. A squad represents about 10 planes. Squads are represented by cardboard counters or chits.

Both Players have one copy of the Strike force flow chart in front of them. Players also have a drawing of the "Carrier Box" for each of their Carriers. Chits representing squads are placed in the boxes of the flowchart and can move to adjacent boxes connected by arrows.

Every squad can move once on the flowchart during his players turn. A squad must move to the next Box if it is not on a carrier or on patrol. A fighter squad can spend up to 4 turns on Patrol before having to refuel.

Turn squads upside down to indicate that they have moved. Turn all of your squads right side up at the beginning of your turn. Squads On Deck can be moved below decks to rearm and refuel.

A carrier can have a maximum of 4 squads in the "On Deck" Box at one time. A Japanese carrier can have a maximum of 3 squads in its "Rearm/Refuel" Box at one time. An American carrier can have a maximum of 4 squads in its "Rearm/Refuel" Box at one time.

Treat Midway Island like a carrier. Midway can have a maximum of 10 squads in its "Rearm/Refuel" Box at one time. Squads landing on the Carrier Box from the Return I, Takeoff, or Patrol Boxes must chose which carrier they are landing on. They are then moved to the On Deck box of that carrier.

Squads landing on the On Deck Box from the Return I, Takeoff, or Patrol Boxes are flipped face down to indicate that they are out of fuel and/or ammo. Face down squads can only be moved to the Rearm/Refuel Box. Squads that start their turn in the Rearm/Refuel Box are flipped face up.

Only Fighters may move into the Patrol Box. Squads in the Takeoff Box may form into stacks called strike groups. Squads in a Strike group move and search together.

You may have two or more strike groups in a Box. In order for a Strike Force to move into the Attack Box it must make a successful search roll. The Americans succeed on a roll of 1-4 on 1D6.

The Japanese succeed on a roll of 1-3 on 1D6. No search roll is necessary to locate Midway. If the Search roll is unsuccessful the Strike force may move to the Return I Box, or the 2nd Search Box. Fighters cannot enter the 2nd Search Box. They run low on fuel and must return.

You may allow fighters to proceed to the 2nd Search Box, but they must ditch after the attack. Squads moving from the Attack Box to the Return II Box are destroyed on a roll of 1 on 1D6. If a squad is moving out of the Patrol or Return I Boxes, and cannot land because all the carrier decks are full or gone, than that squad must "pancake" into the ocean, and is destroyed.

A squad may land on any friendly carrier.

Attack Phase

This occurs if you have any Strike Forces in the Attack Box. American squads may attack any combination of enemy carriers. A Japanese Strike force must attack either Midway Island, Task Force 16, or Task Force 17.

Task Force 16 was the Yorktown. Task Force 17 included the Enterprise and Hornet. The Americans go first, followed by the Japanese. This is divided into 4 Segments:

1. Interception Segment
2. Anti-aircraft Segment
3. Bombing Segment
4. Damage Segment

Interception Segment

All Fighters in the Attackers Attack box may make 1 Attack roll. All Fighters in the Defenders On Deck, Takeoff, and Patrol boxes may make 1 Attack roll. A Zero squad will destroy 1 enemy squad on a roll of 1-3 on 1D6.

A Wildcat squad will destroy 1 enemy squad on a roll of 1-3 on 1D6. A Buffalo squad will destroy 1 enemy squad on a roll of 1-2 on 1D6. All attack rolls are simultaneous.

A player decides which of his squads are destroyed. Destroyed squads are placed in a pile known as "The Drink."

Anti-aircraft Segment

The Japanese Fleet if attacked may make 4 AA Attack rolls. An AA attack will destroy 1 enemy squad on a roll of 1 on 1D6. The American Carriers (& Midway) if attacked may make 3 AA Attack rolls.

The Japanese carriers were accompanied by 2 Battleships, 3 cruisers, and 30 destroyers. The American carriers were escorted by 6 cruisers, and 9 destroyers.

Bombing Segment

All bombers and Torpedo squads surviving may attack the carriers. Attacks will hit a carrier on a roll of 1-X on 1D6, where X is equal to the AS(Anti-ship) value of the squad as given in the Squad Lists. A carrier can dodge a Torpedo attack on a roll of 1-2 on 1D6.

Damage Segment

Roll 1D6 on the Following table to determine the extent of the Damage by a Torpedo or Bomb hit.

D6	Result
1-4	Out of Action: Hull Breach, Fuel Fires, Munitions Explode
5-6	Immobilized: No search roll necessary, Cannot dodge torpedos

If a carrier is immobilized by a bomb attack, there will also be a Deck Fire: Reduce On Deck Box capacity by 2 Squads & Destroy 2 Squads on Carrier. An Out of Action (destroyed) carrier may take hours to sink or may even be salvagable. If a carrier is destroyed so are all squads onboard.

Midway Island is impervious to Torpedoes, however, every bomb hit will destroy one of its 4 Runways on a roll of 1-4 on 1D6. Like carriers, Midway has an On Deck capacity of 4 squads.

American Setup

The Americans have 3 carriers with the following squads:

Carrier	Wildcats	Devastators	Dauntlesses
Yorktown	2	2	2
Enterprise	1	1	4
Hornet	2	2	2

Japanese Setup

The Japanese have 4 carriers with the following squads:

Carrier	Zeros	Kates	Vals	Judys
Soryu	2	2	2	1
Hiryu	2	2	1	1
Kaga	2	2	2	1
Akagi	2	2	2	1

On Midway Island there is 1 squad of each of the following: Catalinas Avengers, Brewster Buffaloes, Marauders, Vindicators, and Flying Fortresses. There are also 2 Wildcat squads and 2 Dauntless squads.

Optional Historical Constraints

The Japanese must attack Midway immediately with at least 9 bombers & 4 Zeros. Midway must attack the Japanese immediately with everything except fighters. This must be followed by a second attack on the Island.

The American carriers must coincide the attacks of 4 Strike forces with the return of the second wave of planes to attack Midway. The Japanese may only send attackers after being attacked by carrier planes. Their first counter-attack must be against the Yorktown.

The Americans get a free torpedo attack on turn 17, made by the submarine USS Nautilus. The sub hits on a roll of 1-3 on 1D6.

Victory

Destroy all of your opponents carriers.

Counter Set

The following counter set and boards were created by Janne Thörne: <jan.thorne@mail.bip.net> Janne has also made counters for Cannonade.

Mighty Magics

Introduction

Fantasy Card Game for 2 or more players. Each player controls a Magical Kingdom at war with all the others.

Deck

Players share a common deck. The deck has 3 types of cards mixed in: Strongholds, Hordes, and Mighty Magics.

Stronghold Cards

These represent gains in territory. The card will have a Name, Force Value, Notes, and Recruitment Cost. Players can only defend with Strongholds.

Strongholds are used to secure victory.

Horde Cards

These represent creatures, armies, monsters, heroes, and mages at your disposal. The card will have a Name, Force Value, and Recruitment Cost. Players can attack and defend with Hordes.

Mighty Magics

These cards will have a Name, Recruitment Cost, and special instructions.

Victory Conditions

The first player to begin his turn with 15 or more Force worth of Strongholds wins.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn is divided into 4 phases:

1. Draw Phase
2. Resource Phase
3. Recruit Phase
4. Attack Phase

Draw Phase

The active player may discard any number of cards from his hand. The active player then fills his hand to 5 cards. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Resource Phase

The Active player draws 5 random counters from the Resource Pile. These represent resources gathered from the players Kingdom. The pile has 5 markers for each of the 12 resource types.

Resource Pile Counter List

- Stone
- Wood
- Metal
- Men
- Chaos
- Fire
- Water
- Death
- Law
- Magic
- Air
- Gold

Recruit Phase

Each card has a recruitment cost. These are paid for with the resources gathered in resource phase. Strongholds and Hordes are played face up on the Table.

Mighty Magics follow the directions on the card text. If the active player cannot use all of his resources, the remainder are passed to the player on his left. That player may recruit cards if he can. If he has any left, the resources are passed to the left again.

The Gold Resource can substitute for any other resource. Some Strongholds have the "convert" ability. This allows you to use some types of Resources as if they were other specific resources for purposes of recruitment.

Attack Phase

The active player may attack with some or all of his Hordes. Pick an opponent's Stronghold to be the target of the attack. The opponent may defend with some, all, or none of his Hordes.

The attacker adds up the Force of all of his attacking Hordes. The defender adds up the Force of all of his defending Hordes, and the target Stronghold. Both sides take casualties with a total force value equal to or greater than the opponent's total Force value.

The defender must lose his defending Hordes before his Stronghold. Destroyed cards are discarded.

Support Phase

Draw 1 card. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Recruit Phase

You may put unit & leader cards from your hand into play.

Conflict Phase

You may pass or attack with one or more your units. An unblocked unit does damage to the target population. Remove population tokens equal to the force of the attacking unit.

Defending units may block. Compare the Forces of the blocking & blocked units. The unit with the smaller force is destroyed (discard).

In case of a tie, both units are destroyed. Certain Event cards may be played to increase the Force of Units. A Unit can only receive a Force bonus from one Event card.

Discard Event cards as soon as they are played.

Leaders

If you have no leaders, you may not attack. A Leader may give one unit a Force +1 for the duration of the conflict Phase. A Unit may receive a bonus from only one leader.

Minions

Introduction

Fantasy miniatures tactical combat on a chessboard.

Miniatures

Also referred to as: Figures, figs, units, men, targets, creatures, pieces, attackers, defenders. They can be metal or plastic. Painted figs are aesthetically preferred.

Setup

Use a standard or enlarged 8 x 8 chessboard. Individual Miniatures (Figures) must fit within a single square on the board. Each player has an army of exactly 16 miniatures.

A player sets up his figures in his back 2 rows. The front row contains 10 figs from the Minor Minion List. The back row contains 4 figs from the Greater Minion List and 2 figs from the Leader Minion List.

Spell Deck

Players share a common spell deck. The deck contains two of each card. Each fig has none or one or more spells.

Draw spell cards for each of your figs that have spells during setup. Spells are kept in separate piles for each spell-casting fig. Spells are discarded when used.

Spells are not replenished during play. If a fig is killed, all of its spells are discarded. A fig can cast only one spell per turn.

Minor Minion List

Skirmisher	2	1	2	Skirmish
Berserker	1	3	1	Berserk
Archer	2	2	2
Crossbowman	1	3	2

Warrior	1	2	1	Martyr, Berserk
Fighter	1	3	1	Skill
Light Horse	3	1	1	Flank
Footman	2	2	1	March

Object

Destroy all of your opponents Leader figs.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. The better painted army has the choice of going first or second. Each turn has 2 Phases:

1. Move Phase
2. Attack Phase

Move Phase

Roll 1D6. This is the Move Roll. You may move that many of your figures this turn. A figure may move some or all of its movement allowance in one direction only.

The direction can be orthogonal or diagonal. Only figs with flying or knight abilities can jump over other figs.

Attack Phase

All of your figures may attack enemy figs in range. Both attacker and defender roll a six sided die and add their Force rating. The result is called the battle roll.

If the figs are adjacent the higher battle roll kills the lower roll. Ties indicate a standoff: neither unit is killed. If the figs are adjacent the combat is considered to be HTH (Hand-to-hand).

If the figures are not adjacent it is a ranged attack or a missile attack. In a ranged attack, the attacker kills the defender if the attacker's battle roll is higher, otherwise nothing happens. All ranged attacks are capable of indirect fire.

M Move Phase

* Either Phase: When appropriate

Chits can also substitute for miniatures if you're short.

Optional Rule: Chits

You may want to do the spells as chits instead of cards. Chits can be stacked in the square next to the minion. You may also want to use chits to keep track of spell effects.

Optional Rule: Terrain

Rough squares cause ground units to immediately stop when they enter. Impassable squares cannot be entered but may be flown over. High Ground & Fortifications gives units +1 Force vs units not on high ground.

Optional Rule: Recoil

When defeated in combat roll 1D6:

D6	Result
1-3	Unit Killed
4-6	Unit Recoils

A unit that recoils must move 1 space directly away from opponent. If the space is blocked the fig is destroyed.

Optional Rule: Free Advance

An attacker may move into the adjacent space of a defender just killed or recoiled in Hand to Hand combat.

Optional Rule: Larger Board

8 x 8 might not be enough for you, try 10 x 10 or larger. On a regular board the armies don't have to maneuver into position, the fighting starts immediately.

Optional Rule: Limit First Blood

The first "Move roll" of the game may not be greater than 3.

Optional Rule: Overwhelm

A unit gets +1 force if attacking a unit that has already been attacked this turn.

7. Contacts: Temporarily help agents overcome Missions and Obstacles
8. Events: Affect game play in a variety of ways.

Dice

Ten sided dice (D10s) are required for play.

Object

At the end of the game, the player with the most mission points wins.

Alignment

Each player decides whether their organization is good or bad. Players should name their organization or pick an existing one. In a two player game, players must be of opposite alignments.

Nemesis

Each player picks one opponent to be their nemesis. The nemesis must be of the opposite alignment.

Spy Table

1D10	Result
1	Nemesis gets to roll on this table.
2	Nothing happens.
3-5	Look at 1 face down card.

Setup

Randomly determine turn order. Choose Nemesis's. Each player draws 7 cards.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 9 phases: Support Phase Recruit Phase Assignment Phase Intercept Phase Spy Phase Mission Phase Objectives Phase Counter Phase Capture Phase

Support Phase

The active player draws 3 cards from the deck. Maximum hand size is 10 cards. Discard excess cards.

Recruit Phase

The active player may recruit one agent. Play an agent card from your hand to the table face up.

Assignment Phase

The active player may put one Experience or Equipment card into play. Experience or Equipment cards are collectively called Assets. The Asset must be attached to one of your agents in play.

Attached assets are placed face up partially under the agent. During this phase, your agents may trade Equipment cards. Experience cards may never be traded.

An agent may receive any number of Assets. Assets provide the agent with additional skills needed to complete Obstacles and Missions.

Intercept Phase

Certain Event cards are played in this Phase.

Spy Phase

If the active player did not play a card in intercept phase, he may roll once on the Spy Table.

1D10	Result
7-8	Look at the next 1D5 cards in the deck.
9	Look at all cards in opponents hand.
10	Discard one of opponents missions in play.

1D10	Result
6	Look at 2 face down cards.

Mission Phase

One of your agents may attempt to complete one of your mission cards. Wounded or captured agents may not go on missions. To complete or overcome a mission card, the agent must pass all of the skill checks listed on the Mission card.

For each skill listed on the mission card the nemesis rolls 1D10 and adds the modifier: This is the difficulty rating. The Agent rolls 1D10 and adds any modifiers from inherent skill bonuses and Asset cards. The active player may play Connection cards and Event cards from his hand to provide additional skills bonuses.

This modified roll is called the attempt rating. If the attempt rating is equal to or greater than the difficulty rating, the skill check is passed. If the agent fails a mission skill check, roll on the Mission Failure Table.

Equipment, Connection, and Event cards are discarded when used. The completed Mission card is set aside in that players Mission completion pile. Each mission has a number of Mission points associated with it.

The player with the highest number of total accumulated mission points at the end of the game wins. Obstacle cards and Location cards on a mission card must be overcome before the mission can be completed. Like mission cards, obstacle/location cards list skill checks that the agent must overcome.

Obstacle/location cards must be completed one at a time, top card first. Obstacle/location cards are flipped face up as they are attempted. Completed obstacle/location cards are discarded.

If the agent fails a Obstacle/location skill check, roll on the Mission Failure Table. At any time after an obstacle/location is overcome, the player may retreat the agent and end the mission attempt. Modifier cards are always played before a roll is made.

Mission Failure Table

1D10	Result:
1-2	Agent captured by Nemesis. Agent's Equipment is discarded.
3-4	Killed: Discard agent and all Assets.
5	Wounded: The agent is wounded for 1D5 turns. Agent's Equipment is discarded.

7	Agent's Equipment is discarded.
8	Nothing Happens.
9	Look at the next face down obstacle card. Agent's Equipment is discarded.
10	Look at the next face down obstacle card.

Objectives Phase

The active player may put one Mission card into play. The Mission card is placed face up in front of him. Only your agents may complete missions you put into play.

Mission cards stay in play until completed.

Mobsters

Introduction

Multiplayer card game. Each player is a Mob Boss trying to make money and rub out his rivals. As head of the Crime Syndicate you recruit underling gangsters to do the dirty work and then you take your cut.

Object

The Mob boss with the most money when the last card is drawn from the deck wins.

Money

One penny = $100. Place all the other money in the 'Bank.' At least one six-sided die will be needed. Before playing for the first time, players will have to make up a set of cards.

Players can have negative amounts of money (debt).

Card Types

There are 9 card types:

1. Mobsters
2. Armed Robberies
3. Major Crimes
4. Crime Operations
5. Law Enforcement
6. Escape Law
7. Destroy Operations
8. Costs of Doing Business
9. Hits

Mobsters

Each of your mobsters gets one action per turn. A Mobster may use his action to do one of the following seven things:

1. Draw an extra card in Draw phase for $1000.
2. Try to kill a Mobster (make a Hit) controlled by another player in Hit Phase.
3. Destroy an opponents operation by playing a Destroy operation card in Hit Phase.
4. Commit a petty crime, major crime, or armed robbery in the Crime Phase.
5. Double the income of one of his operations.
6. Start a new criminal operation in Recruit Phase.
7. Remove a Law Enforcement card on another mobster for $3000

Starting The Game

Shuffle the deck. Each player starts with $1000. Each player is dealt 7 cards from the Common deck. A player may discard and draw again if he was dealt no mobster cards.

Determine Turn order: Flip coins. Winner goes first.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. A single players turn includes the following six phases:

1. Draw Phase
2. Hit Phase
3. Crime Phase
4. Collection Phase
5. Recruit Phase
6. Law Phase

Draw Phase

Draw two cards from the Common deck. The game ends when the last card is drawn. A Mobster as an action may draw an extra card for $1000.

A player must discard down to 10 cards if he has more than 10 cards in his hand.

Hit Phase

As an action a gangster may attempt a Hit (Kill opponents mobster) by playing (discarding) a Hit card. Roll one six-sided dice. If the roll is 1-3 nothing happens (He got away).

If the roll is 4-6 the target mobster is killed (discarded). The controller of the killed mobster may reattach the criminal operations of the recently deceased to his other mobsters. If the player has no mobsters left, all the operations are discarded.

A mobster may as an action destroy a target opponents criminal operation by discarding a Destroy operation card.

Crime Phase

As an action a mobster you control may commit one major crime or armed robbery. Discard a major crime or armed robbery card from your hand and collect the money. Money is collected from the bank.

As an action a mobster with no attached crime operations may attempt to commit a petty crime. Roll 1D6 on the Petty Crime Table:

1D6	Crime	Earnings
1	Minor Extortion	200
2	Mugging	50
3	Burglary	50

1D6	Crime	Earnings
4	Con-Job	100
5	Auto-theft	100
6	Minor Hold-up	200

Collection Phase

Your mobsters collect income from all of their attached crime operation cards. This does not require an action. If you have a Cost of doing Business card play it on a target opponent.

The Cost of doing Business card is discarded and the target player loses the indicated amount of money. As an action a mobster may double the income of one of his operations.

Recruit Phase

Put any mobsters you have in your hand into play. To put a card in play place it face up in front of you. Coming into play counts as the mobsters action for the turn.

As an action a mobster may attach a crime operation card from his controllers hand or from another mobster the player controls. The operations card is placed face-up, partially underneath the mobster.

Law Phase

If you have a Law Enforcement card in your hand place it face up on top of an opponents mobster. While a mobster has one or more Law Enforcement cards on top of it, it gets no actions and it collects no income from its crime operations. During this phase you may play (discard) an Escape Law card from your hand to cause any one Law Enforcement card on one of your mobsters to be discarded.

A mobster as an action may pay $3000 to remove a Law enforcement card.

The Decks

There are 3 Decks:

1. Resource Deck

3. Event Deck

Resource Deck

Resource cards when put into play, provide a player with a steady stream of Resource Tokens of 1 or 2 types. This deck has 4 copies of each card described in the card list

Market Deck

Market cards provide One-Time Token gains. They are bid upon using Influence Tokens. This deck has 1 copy of each card described in the card list

Event Deck

These will variously reward or punish particular players. This deck has 1 copy of each card described in the card list

The Resource Tableau

The top ten cards of the resource deck are kept face up in a line. The card farthest from the deck has a purchase value of 1. The next has a value of 2 and so on up to 10.

The value is the price to purchase the card (in Action and Research Tokens). After purchasing 1 or more cards, the remaining cards slide over (Further out) to occupy the missing spaces. New cards from the deck are flipped over to fill the closest empty spaces on the Tableau.

Player Mats

1. Victory
2. Money
3. Materials
4. Influence
5. Action
6. Labor
7. Research

Victory Tokens

Event Phase

The Top card of the Event Deck is flipped over. Resolve it per the card instructions. If 2 or more players tie in Capacity, they roll low on 1D6 to break the tie.

Cards that do not say Permanent are immediately discarded. Permanent Event cards are placed face-up next to a players Mat.

Leader Phase

A Bid for Leader begins. Players bid using Influence Tokens. The Current Leader Bids first (or passes).

If you pass, you may still bid later. If no one bids, the Market card is discarded. Bids are verbal, and must be at least 1 higher than the previous bid.

The winner pays the Influence Tokens he bid (to the storage area). The losers keep their Influence Tokens. Winner of the bid gets possession of the Leader Marker.

Market Phase

Draw X-1 Cards from the Market deck and place them face-up on the center of the table.

X the number of players.

If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it. Bid on them in the order they were drawn. Players bid using Influence Tokens.

The Leader Bids first (or passes). If you pass, you may still bid later. If no one bids, the Market card is discarded.

Bids are verbal, and must be at least 1 higher than the previous bid. The winner pays the Influence Tokens he bid (to the storage area). The losers keep their Influence Tokens.

Winner of the bid gets the Market card and then discards it to get the stated Token reward.

Resource Phase

Going in Order each player may buy 1 or more Resource cards from the Resource Tableau. The top ten cards of the resource deck are kept face up in a line. The card farthest from the deck has a purchase value of 1.

The next has a value of 2 and so on up to 10. The value is the price to purchase the card (in Action and Research Tokens). After purchasing 1 or more cards, the remaining cards slide over (Further out) to occupy the missing spaces. New cards from the deck are flipped over to fill the closest empty spaces on the Tableau.

Spent Tokens are placed in the Storage Area. Purchased cards go into the players hand.

Investment Phase

You may discard one or more Resource cards from your hand (to the storage area) to gain Three times the Tokens listed on them as you would in Production Phase. Example: Discard a Military card to get 6 Influence Tokens or a Finance card to get 12 Money Tokens. Discard an Industry card to gain 3 Material Tokens and 3 Research Tokens.

Trade Phase

Players may trade resource cards and Tokens.

Build Phase

In order, players may put Resource cards into Play. The cost to Build a Resource is 5 Material Tokens and 5 Labor Tokens. If you already have one or more copies of the same resource in play the cost is 7 Material and 7 Labor Tokens.

Mogo

Introduction

Fantasy version of Go. (Mogo = Monster Go) For 2 (or more) players.

The Board

Use a 10 X 10 grid.

Victory

There are 3 main ways to win: Tactical Victory: You win if you get 7 counters in a row orthogonally or diagonally. Logistical Victory: You win if you Capture 20+ Enemy Counters. Strategic Victory: When the Board is filled up, whoever controls the most Counters.

Counter Set

Players share a Common Counter Set Keep the counters in a bowl (henceforth referred to as the Draw Pile). Have another bowl for the discards. There are 6 Types of Counters: Units (Creatures) Locales (Lands) Relics (Objects) Enchantments (Magic effects placed on the board) Sorceries (Magic effects that are discarded when played) Modifiers (Attach to Counters & enhance them)

Stones

Each player has a set of translucent colored stones of a unique color. These are used to mark ownership of Counters.

Dice

Six sided dice are used occasionally.

Setup

Each player draws 5 Random Counters from the Draw Pile to form their starting hand. Roll high on 1D6 to see who goes first.

Hands

Each player has a "Hand" of counters. These can be kept so that other players can see how many, but not what they are.

Adjacency Terminology

- Counters that share a border are said to be bordering one another.
- Counters that share a corner are said to be touching one another.

- Counters that share a border or a corner are said to be adjacent.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 5 Phases:

1. Fate Phase
2. Deployment Phase
3. Action Phase
4. Capture Phase
5. End Phase

Fate Phase

Draw 1 random Counter from the Draw Pile & add it to your hand.

Deployment Phase

Play one Non-Sorcery Counter onto the grid into an empty space. Put a Stone on the Counter you just placed to indicate you own (control) it. This action is referred to as a Deployment.

You may only do one Deployment unless your counters allow you to do extra Deployments. Some counters produce a special effect when they are deployed. Modifier counters are placed directly onto a target counter

Deployment Rules

You cannot deploy a Locale adjacent to another Locale. You cannot deploy an Enchantment adjacent to another Enchantment. You cannot deploy a Unit next to an enemy unit with a Higher Force Rating, unless The Unit can destroy that type or is immune to it.

(If Force Ratings change, the smaller units are not removed)

Action Phase

Certain Counters on the board can do actions such as Moving, etc. You may have one such Counter do one action. You may only do one Action unless your counters allow you to do extra Actions.

When moving, Units can only move Orthogonally. Flying Units can also Move Diagonally.

Capture Phase

If you completely encircle an area with Counters that Border the area, all Enemy Counters inside that area are Captured. This includes corners & the sides of the board in the same fashion as the game of Go.

Place counters you capture into a separate "Capture" pile.

Note: Destroyed or Sacrificed Counters are discarded not captured.

End Phase

Max hand size is 7 counters. Discard excess counters.

Sorceries

You may freely play Sorceries from your hand whenever appropriate. Sorceries have a wide variety of effects.

Action Tokens

Discard an Action Token to gain an Extra Action in Action Phase.

(X Number of Players)

Components

1 Map Board (8 x 8 grid) 64 Terrain Tiles 64 Structure Chits 4 Six sided Dice 1 Common Deck of Ally Cards 4 Player Unit Sets

Player Unit Sets

Each player gets a Unit set of a unique color. Each set contains: 33 Garrison Markers 5 Mage Figures 5 Hero Figures 5 Monster Figures 5 Army Figures The term "Units" refers to Garrisons and Figures.

The Map

The map is a standard Chess set 8x8 grid board. Squares are also called spaces. Each space will contain 1 Terrain Tile and 1 Structure Chit.

Stacking Rules

A players Figures may not stack. You may have a max of 1 Figure and 1 Garrison in a space. A Figure may not move through a space occupied by another figure you control unless the space is a Town.

Terrain Tiles

There are 4 Terrain Types: Plains, Forests, Mountains, and Badlands. Each Terrain Type has 16 Tiles for a total of 64 Tiles.

Structure Chits

There are 8 Structure Types: Villages, Towns, Cities, Castles, Ruins, Mines, Temples, and Towers. Each Structure has 8 Chits for a total of 64 Chits.

Villages

If you control 5 or more Villages you get +1 to your Recruit Roll.

Towns

Towns are crossroads. If you occupy a Town, your other units can move through it without using up a move point.

Cities

If you control 5 or more Cities you get to draw 1 extra card in Allies Phase.

Castles

Units occupying a Castle space get Force +2 in defense.

Ruins

If you control 5 or more Ruins your Monsters get +2 Force.

Mines

If you control 5 or more Mines your Heroes and Armies get +1 Force.

Temples

If you control 5 or more Temple Spaces at the beginning of your turn you win the Game.

Towers

Garrisons

Garrisons are inferior unit types. They cannot move and they have a base -2 Force.

Force

Force is a property of units and is improved by Ally cards. Force bonuses are added to combat die rolls. Figures have a base force of zero.

Garrisons have a base force of -2. Ally cards give force bonuses to certain figure types while under certain conditions.

Movement Points

Garrisons cannot Move. Figures (Mages, Monsters, Armies, and Heroes) have a base Move of 1. In movement phase a figure spends 1 Move Point (MP) to move 1 space.

Movement can be orthogonal or diagonal. Unused Moves are not saved. It costs nothing to move through a Town you control.

Certain Ally cards will give Certain Figure Types additional MP.

Ally Deck

This is a common Deck. The deck contains 1 copy of each card in the card list. These cards represent allies, abilities, weapons, magics, professions, and tactics that can aid players.

Permanent Cards

At the beginning of each game, each player draws 5 cards to be his permanent cards. These are displayed face up in front of the player. The bonuses/benefits of these cards last the whole game. Your Permanent cards only provide bonuses to your units and not your opponents.

Ally Hand

Each player keeps a Hand of Ally cards. These are not your Permanent cards and are not to be confused with them. Hand cards are drawn from the Ally deck in Allies Phase.

These cards are kept hidden from your opponents. You may play (discard) cards from hand at your discretion. The effect of Hand cards only last to the end of the current turn. Your Hand cards only provide bonuses to your units and not your opponents.

Setup

Place the Tiles randomly face-up onto the map, one per Space. Next, place the Chits randomly face-up onto the map, one per Tile. A Bowl for mixing is usefull for Tiles and Chits.

Each player picks a Unit set of a unique color. Shuffle the deck. Each player is dealt 5 cards from the Ally Deck. These 5 cards are that players Permanent Cards.

Each player picks a different corner of the board. Each player picks 1 Figure of his choice and places it on his garrison. Players roll high on 2D6 to see who goes first. Play proceeds clockwise.

Roll	Recruit:
1	Draw 1 Ally Card and add it to your hand
2	Gain 1 Army

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 6 Phases:

1. Declaration Phase
2. Garrison Phase
3. Movement Phase
4. Allies Phase
5. Recruitment Phase
6. End Phase

Declaration Phase

If you occupy 5 or more spaces of the same structure type, verbally declare that you control this structure type. Occupation can be by Garrisons or Figures. Each Structure Type provides a special benefit.

Declarations do not apply to Towns or Castles.

Garrison Phase

For each space you occupy with a Figure that does not also have a Garrison, place a Garrison Marker into it.

Movement Phase

You may move some, all, or none of your Figures. Figures are moved 1 at a time, 1 space at a time. Each Figure pays 1 Move Point to move 1 space.

You may move a Figure into a space occupied by an enemy unit. If opposing units occupy the same space, there will be Combat. Resolve Combats immediately.

Combat ends when one side is destroyed. The Moving Figure (current player) is the Attacker. The Defending units will be either a Figure, a Garrison or both.

If both, the defending Figure will fight first, then the Garrison. Attacker and Defender both roll 2D6 each. Force Bonuses from Permanent cards are applied.

Players may play (discard) hand cards to get Force bonuses from them. The side with the highest total force wins. The losing unit is destroyed (removed from the Board).

If tied, both units are destroyed. If the Attacking Figure destroys all defenders in a space and still has MP remaining, it may be moved again.

Allies Phase

Draw 1 card from the Ally Deck and put it in your hand. If you control 5 or more Cities you get to draw 1 extra card.

Recruitment Phase

Roll 1D6. This is your Recruit Roll. Refer to the Recruitment Chart:

Roll	Recruit:
4	Gain 1 Mage
5	Gain 1 Monster

Roll	Recruit:
3	Gain 1 Hero

If you control 5 or more Villages you get +1 to your Recruit Roll. The maximum number of Figures of a single type you can have on the map is 4. If you have 4 already in play, you get nothing.

Place the new Figure onto any garrison space you control that does not already have a Figure on it.

End Phase

Max hand size is 5 cards. Discard excess cards.

Roll	Recruit:
6+	Gain 1 Figure of your Choice

The Cards

Players share a common deck.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 3 phases:

1. Fate Phase

The Map

Use an 8x8 chessboard. This represents an underground chamber in the ruins of Moria.

Terrain

Discard excess cards.

Move Phase

Play (discard) a Move card to move one of your men. The move card has a number. This is the number of spaces the man moves.

Moves can be diagonal or orthogonal. "Knight" type move cards allow a man to move like a knight in chess. Instead of moving just one man in any direction, you have the option of moving one or more men forward the indicated number of spaces using a single move card.

Units cannot move through other units.

Fire Phase

Play (discard) an Attack card to have a man attack. The attack card has a number. This is the range of the attack.

Attacks can be diagonal or orthogonal. "Knight" type attack cards produce an attack with a range like a knight in chess. Attacks do 1 point of Damage.

Use Chits or coins to record damage. A man reduced to 0 Hits is killed or incapacitated and removed from the board. Your opponent may play Defense cards to negate your attack.

Units cannot attack through other units.

Mortal Kombat Arena

Introduction

2 player Card game based on the world of Mortal Kombat. It simulates a Tournament match between 2 characters.

Disclaimer

Mortal Kombat is a licensed, copyrighted property. This is merely a fan site.

Designer Notes

This uses the same system as the Street Fighter game. Both games are basically compatible. Characters from both games can fight each other.

As for differences, the Mortal Kombat Characters have Their own set of Fighting techniques including Auto-Kill Fatalities.

Victory

Reduce the opposing fighter to zero or less hits or Get an Auto Kill Effect.

Hits

Each character starts with 20 Hits.

The Deck

Players share a common deck. The Deck has 52 cards: 10 Punch cards (P) 10 Kick cards (K) 10 Grab cards (G) 10 Athletic cards (A) 6 Focus cards (F) 4 Link cards (L) 2 Warrior cards (W)

The Characters

20 Characters are available. Each player chooses one character at the beginning of the game. Each character has 2 Special Abilities.

Each character has a unique list of Fighting Techniques.

Techniques

Each technique has a name, a cost, and an effect. Some characters can use the same technique. The cost is in the number and type of cards that must be played to produce the effect.

The effects will be either offensive or defensive or otherwise. Offensive techniques, or Attacks, will cause Damage. Each point of Damage reduces the opposing character by 1 Hit.

A Defense will reduce the damage of an attack by an indicated amount.

Combo

Normally a Character can only make 1 attack on its turn. A combo effect will allow it to make an extra attack. The combo is prevented if the defender is able to negate or reduce the damage of the initial attack.

Stun

Some Attacks also produce a Stun effect. When a character is stunned, there is a 50% they will not be able to Attack until after their next turn.

Knock Down (kd)

Some Attacks also produce a Knockdown effect. When a character is Knocked Down, he must discard a Kick card on his next turn to get up (or 2 cards of any other type)

Injure

Some Attacks also produce an Injury. There is a 50% chance the targets Max Hand Size will be reduced by 1 for the rest of the Match.

Hold

Some Attacks also produce a Hold effect. When a character is Held, he must discard a Grab card on his next turn to break the hold (or 2 cards of any other type).

Setup

Some Attacks produce a Setup effect. This Character's next attack cannot be negated or defended against.

Unblockable

Some Attacks have the Unblockable effect. They cannot be negated or reduced.

Multi-strike

Some Attacks have the Multi-Strike effect. For every Grab card you discard the attack does an extra 2 points of Damage.

Distance

Some Techniques produce a Distance effect. If one is produced the combatants are too far away from each other except for ranged attacks. Either player on their turn may play 1 Athletic card on their turn to negate the distance effect.

Throw Down (td)

Some Techniques produce a Throw Down effect: This is a combination of both a KD effect and a Distance effect.

Sub For Jump

Some techniques have the sub for Jump Defensive Option: Instead of paying the usual cost for the Jump maneuver, you may pay the cost as listed for this Technique. You negate their attack and 50% immediately use this Attack against them. However this costs 1 extra Focus card to do so.

Counter Air

Some Techniques have the Counter Air Option: You can use this Technique during your opponent's turn if they use an Air Technique against you: You negate their attack and 50% immediately use this Attack against them. However this costs 1 extra Focus card to do so. Your Attack also gets the KD effect if it didn't already have it.

Dizzy Rule

If you make 2 or more combos in one turn you are stunned until the end of your next turn.

Some Techniques (Fatalities/Babalities) produce an Auto-Kill effect. If one is produced and your opponent is unable to reduce or negate it, You automatically win the match.

At this point, you may continue Visiting random Terrains or go back to the Final Terrain.

Dice

A variety of Dice are used. Six, Ten and Twenty sided are the most common.

Record Keeping

Pen and Paper are needed to keep track of Adventure and Quest Details.

The Hero Deck

Each Hero card describes the stats of one Hero. Each player starts with a party of 4 Heroes. Each party can have as many as 6 Heroes.

The Party

The Adventuring Party is the central unit of the Game. Each player controls exactly one Party. Party Members may come and go, but there is only one party.

The Magic Deck

Each Magic card describes either a Spell or a Blessing. Many Magic cards have the property of both Spell and Blessing. Mages can use Spells. Priests can use Blessings.

Some Heroes are both Mages and Priests.

The Relic Deck

Each Relic card describes a Magical Artifact. Relics are assigned to Heroes. Heroes can each have up to 3 Relics.

Gold

Use Coins to keep track of Gold. Treasures are Given a Gold Value. Gold can be used to buy Goods and Services.

Gold is owned by the Party Collectively. At Settlements 2 Food, Gear, Med, or Ammo Tokens can be traded for 1 Gold Token.

Terrain Types

There are 4 main Terrain types in the game: Wilderness, Settlement, Aquatic, and Dungeon. This is important because some Heroes will have traits for these Terrain Types that will give them a bonus for all tests in that terrain.

Encounter Tables

These will correspond to Terrain types, Settlement types, and Dungeons. Rare Locations will have their own Unique Encounter Tables with several Terrain types represented in different individual Encounters.

Traits

Heroes, Artifacts, Magics, and Encounters will have Traits. Traits are Descriptive. They also Give and Negate Bonuses. Most Heroes will have exactly 10 Traits.

Spells and Relics usually provide bonuses to 1 or 2 Traits. If the X in Trait+X is not Specified, assume X is 1.

Setup

Each player starts with 4 Heroes (Drawn Randomly). Each player rolls to see what their particular Adventure will entail: Six Random Terrains in order and their Major Foe found At the conclusion of the Final Terrain.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 4 Phases:

1. Magic Phase
2. Move Phase
3. Challenge Phase
4. End Phase

Magic Phase

You may discard 1 Magic Card. Max Magic Hand Size = Total Mage and Priest Levels of your Heroes. Fill your hand to its Max hand Size by drawing from the top of the Magic Deck.

Game Designers Notes

* After finishing up on Otherworldly Warlocks RPG, I wasn't really done with it. Deep down I wanted to turn it into a Board Game. I got to reuse the Encounter Tables and lots of the Ideas. I had two other main outside Influences in the Design of this game. The first is an old TSR Gem called "Knights of Camelot" One of my favorite designs ever. The other is "Talisman" in all its Glory. I was only familiar with the original, so I had to Research all the amazing Fourth Edition Expansion Material. It is indeed Epic. -I will sum up the main differences between Mortal Quest and Talisman:

1. Character Focus: You control a party of Six, not just One Hero.
2. Deck Reduction: Only 3 Decks. Tokens and Encounter Tables substitute.
3. Victory Condition: Defeat Major Foe only but there are over thirty of them.
4. Expansions: Every Encounter Table is effectively an expansion in MQ.
5. Combat: MQ is more complicated, but should be more satisfying.

6. Movement: Extremely Frustrating in Talisman, not so in MQ.
7. Challenges in MQ: Introduces a rudimentary Skill System.
8. Hero Stats change in Talisman, whereas the Heroes change in MQ.
9. Player Interaction: Admittedly more in Talisman, Opponents roll for Foes in MQ.
10. Randomness: Arguably things feel less so in MQ. A little more coherent.
11. Turn Length: Much Longer in MQ. As long as 15 Minutes if clearing a Dungeon.

* The Decision to separate Japan and China as variants was mostly for aesthetic reasons. Also they each have their own extensive Hero and Relic Decks which the player would have to make, otherwise it is the same ruleset. The Japan and China Encounter Tables are still accessible from the Rare Encounter Table. If you do have the Decks made up then you can recruit from them while playing the regular game. * The Regular game aesthetically is a Mix of Sword and Sorcery, High Fantasy, Arthurian Legend, with a smattering of Greek Mythology, Egyptian Mythology, Gothic, Ancient History, Arabian Adventures, and Steampunk. It seems to work ok, but I thought adding Japan and China might dilute everything too much.

Quest In Japan

Introduction

Japanese Version of Mortal Quest. Instead of rolling on the Random Terrain Table 5 Times, Players just use the Japan Encounter Table (Rare type Table). Note that the Trait Charge here is replaced by the term Kai.

Also the trait Settlement is replaced by the term Honor. Use the regular Spell Deck. The Terrain based Traits of Wild, Honor, Under, and Aquatic when applicable are noted by (—)

Moskito Coast

Introduction

Players are Drug Traffickers smuggling cocaine shipments from Columbia into the US.

Victory

The first player to accumulate $50,000,000 wins.

The Board

The Board is a single track 30 spaces long (Central America). The Start space is Columbia. The End space is USA.

Every other space is a "Safe Zone".

Pieces

Each player gets a set of pawns of a unique color. Each set has 2 of the following 3 types of Pawns: Trucks (Ground) Planes (Air) Boats (Sea)

Government Forces

There is also 2 sets of Government pawns: USA Pawns (Blue): 1 Ground, 1 Air, and 1 Sea. Central American (CA) Government Pawns (Red): 1 Ground, 1 Air, and 1 Sea. CA Pawns start on space #5 USA Pawns start on space #25 Government pawns cannot enter the start or end spaces.

Money

Use change Change. 1 Cent = $1,000,000.

Dice

Six sided dice are needed.

Setup

Each player picks 1 of their pieces & puts it on the start space. Players roll high on 1D6 to see who goes first. Players start with $10,000,000

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 5 Phases:

- Transport Phase
- Smugglers Phase
- Activity Phase
- Production Phase
- Interception Phase

Transport Phase

You move each of your pawns in play forward (towards US) 1D6 spaces. If a Pawn reaches the end space remove it from the board & get 3D6 x $1,000,000. Capture: If you move a smuggler pawn onto a Government pawn, the smuggler is captured and removed from the board.

Smugglers Phase

You may discard a Transport card to cause a pawn to move forward an additional 1D6 spaces. The Transport cards type (Land/Air/Sea) must match that of the Pawn. If you land on an opponent's Pawn, remove it from the board, and gain 1,000,000.

Activity Phase

Draw 1 card from the deck & put it in your hand. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard & draw from it. Max hand size is 7 cards. Discard excess cards.

Production Phase

You may pay $1,000,000 to put one of your pawns into play on the start space. You may discard a Narcotics Production card from your hand to play an additional pawn.

Interception Phase

You may play (discard) a Law Enforcement card to move a Government pawn of the indicated type. The Government pawn moves 1D6 spaces in either direction. A Government pawn that lands on a smuggler pawn captures it: the smuggler is captured and removed from the board.

Your opponent may play (discard) a Corruption card to negate a Law card.

Motala Strom

Turn-based 1D strategy by Marcus Salo

I think I have created the simplest strategy game. I call it Motala Strom (isn't that a really catching and commercial name), that is the river that flows through my beloved Norrköping, Sweden.

Well, the rules go like this:

The board:

Nine spaces connected with line. Space two is marked yellow for the yellow player and space eight blue for the blue player:

O - Y - O - O - O - O - O - B - O

The pieces:

Both players, the yellow and the blue, have four playing pieces of their color.

Phase one: Placing the Pieces.

Both players take turns placing the pieces on the board on any vacant space. Yellow player starts.

Phase two: Moving and Capturing.

Pieces move one space at the time. Enemy pieces are captured by jumping. Captures are mandatory. If after a capture jump a new capture jump can be made, the player must do it. In other words, capturing works like in checkers. If the player cannot move, the other player has a new turn.

However, you have to give your opponent a chance to move within three turns. If you don't, you lose.

Winning:

A player wins by capturing all the enemy pieces or by having his last piece on his own home space marked with his own color.

I have tested this game with Zillions thousands of time and to my surprise, it seems to work and actually be very challenging and have a lot of depth and strategy. :-)

Enjoy!

Super Duper Games

Motorcade

Introduction

Card Game for 2 players. One player is an armored caravan transporting a VIP. The other player is a group of Terrorists attacking the Motorcade.

Victory

The Terrorists win if the VIP (The Package) is killed. The Motorcade wins if it accumulates 20+ Travel Tokens (TT).

The Decks

Each player gets a unique Deck:

1. The Motorcade Deck
2. The Terrorist Deck

Travel Tokens

Use poker chips for Travel Tokens (TT). This represents how far the motorcade has to go to Outdistance the Terrorists.

Chokepoint Marker

If the Chokepoint Marker (CPM) is flipped up, the Motorcade is considered to be Stopped and cannot gain Travel Tokens. Chokepoint cards in the Terrorist Deck will flip up the CPM. Escape cards in the Motorcade Deck will flip down the CPM.

Dice

Ten sided dice are needed.

Discard Piles & Dead Piles

Players keep separate piles for discarded cards and killed (Dead) cards.

Setup

Each player is dealt a hand of 7 cards. The Motorcade player starts with "The Package" card in play.

Turn Sequence

Each turn has 7 Phases: Plan of Action Phase Chokepoint Phase Deployment Phase Attack Phase Counter Attack Phase Escape Phase Travel Phase

Plan Of Action Phase

Each player fills their hand to 7 cards. If a deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Chokepoint Phase

The Terrorist player may play a Chokepoint card to flip up the CPM. The Chokepoint card stays in play until the CPM is flipped down, at which Time the Chokepoint card is put in the Dead Pile. Note that some Chokepoint cards will give certain types of Terrorist cards various Bonuses while the card is in play.

Sweeper Phase

The Motorcade player may discard a Sweeper card to flip down the CPM if it is up.

Deployment Phase

The Terrorist player deploys (puts into play) up to 2 Attack cards from his hand. This is known as the Deployment Limit.

Attack Phase

Each Terrorist Attack card in play may make 1 Attack. On a roll of 10 or better the attack destroys 1 Motorcade Vehicle (or its occupants). The Motorcade player must put 1 Vehicle card from his hand, or 1 that is already in Play from a previous turn, into the Motorcade Dead Pile.

If there are no Vehicles available that can block then the Package Vehicle card is destroyed and the Terrorists win the game.

Counter Attack Phase

The Motorcade Player may put any number of Vehicle cards into play. Each Motorcade Vehicle in play may make 1 counterattack. On a roll of 10 or better the counterattack destroys 1 Terrorist Attack Card, which is Removed from play and put in the Terrorist Dead Pile.

Escape Phase

The Motorcade player may discard an Escape card to flip down the CPM if it is up.

Travel Phase

If the CPM is down, discard all cards in play If the CPM is down, the Motorcade player gains 1 Travel Token. Each player may discard down to 2 cards. Travel cards can be played in this phase if the CPM is down.

Special Rules

The Package can only make a Counter Attack Roll if there are no other Vehicles in play. Bombs are discarded as soon as they make an attack.

Mtg Tdo

Introduction

Variant Format for the Magic The Gathering Collectible Card Game. This format is essentially about using all the cards you own to make a large Collection of 40 card decks with a plethora of very tight themes. As opposed to many other formats this variant encourages Short games, Milling, Super over-powered combos, and Blowouts.

This format should offer a nice mix of quick (deck) drafting along with a variety of pre-constructed decks.

Format

1. All Decks require a theme (in the spirit of...). Each deck needs a name.
2. In a given playing session only one of the players (the Host) provides all the decks to be used by all the players. This is to reduce Questions of ownership or other foul play that may come up later. The Hosts collection of Decks to be used is known as the "Codex".
3. The codex should contain 5 - 12 Decks. At least as many as there are players. Just like a Deck, each Codex should have its own personality.
4. Decks are distributed/drafted per the rules of the particular Codex.
5. Decks are 40 cards. All cards are legal. Max 4 per deck. Most cards that are banned or restricted limit to 1 per deck. No Ante cards. The Host should endeavor to make all the decks at similar power levels.

Mughal

Introduction

Card game for 2-4+ players. Theme: The Mughal (Mogul, Moghul) Empire (India 1526 - 1712)

Victory

The player with the most VT (Victory Tokens) at the end of the game wins.

4	Jahangir	3 for Any	Middle
5	Jahan	7 for Building	Late
6	Alamgir	5 for Culture or Military	Late
7	Bahadur	3 for Any	Late

Middle And Late Cards

These types of cards are kept out of the deck at the beginning of the game. When turn 3 starts, shuffle the Middle cards into the deck along with the discard. When turn 5 starts, shuffle the Late cards into the deck along with the discard.

Victory

Players share a common set of Victory Tokens (VT).

Turn Sequence

Each turn has 5 Phases:

1. Destiny Phase
2. Fate Phase
3. Action Phase
4. Scoring Phase
5. End Phase

Destiny Phase

Each player is dealt 2 cards face up. All players can see them. If the deck ever runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Fate Phase

Each player is dealt a hand of 5 cards. These are "face-down", only the owning player can see them.

Game Length

The game lasts 7 Turns. Each turn represents the reign of one Emperor:

Action Phase

There are 2 Steps: Step 1 - Each player selects one card from their hand and places it face up on the table in front of them. Step 2 - Players then pass their hand to the next player. (on odd turns the next player is to the left, on even turns, to the right) Repeat steps 1 and 2 until all cards are played to the table. Each player should have 7 cards face up in front of them.

Scoring Phase

Each card has a Suite and a Level. The Suites are: Military, Building, Culture, and Wealth. For each suite each player adds up the levels of all their cards in that suite.

The player with the highest total level in a Suite gets 2 Victory Tokens. If 2 or more players tie for highest, each one gets 1 VT. If you have cards from all 4 Suites gain 2 VT.

End Phase

All cards played this turn go to the discard.

Disaster Cards

Getting stuck with disaster cards will hurt you in scoring phase because they provide no suite and no level bonuses.

3. Restricted Gifts
4. Government Funding
5. Memberships
6. Grants

Each Suite represents a source of Revenue. Each Suite has 10 cards numbered from 1 to 10. (This is a 60 card deck) These cards are used to bid on Collections in Bidding Phase.

The Collection Deck

This deck has 7 Suites: Each Suite is referred to as a Category. Each Card is referred to as a Collection.

1. Ancient
2. Classical
3. Early Western
4. Non-Western

Bidding Phase

A single revenue card cannot be divided; it must be used to bid on one collection. A player may use one or more Revenue cards to bid on a single collection. At the end of the Bid, players keep the Collections they Won.

Setup

For each row on the board roll the eight sided die twice. Reroll duplicates. These are the locations of 2 Random Landmarks drawn from a cup. (Example: You roll a 5 and a 2. Place Landmarks on the second and fifth spaces of that row) Each of the 8 rows will have 2 Landmarks.

Each player rolls a die. High roll goes first.

Dice

Eight sided dice are needed for setup.

Counters

There are 2 types of Counters: Landmark Counters and Zone Counters.

Landmark Counters

There are 16 Landmark counters as follows:

Landmark:	Prestige Point Value:
Fire Station	2
Police Station	2
Zoo	2
Aquarium	2
Stadium	1
Cathedral	1
Library	1
Museum	1

Zone Counters

Each player has a set of Zone counters of a unique color. Each Set has 24 counters as follows:

Zone:	Access Point Value:
Industrial	4
Industrial	3
Industrial	2
Industrial	1
Utilities	4
Utilities	3
Utilities	2
Utilities	1
Park	4
Park	3
Park	2
Park	1

Adjacency Rule

Squares that share a side (orthogonal) or a point (diagonals) are said to be adjacent. A square in the center of the board would have 8 adjacent squares.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. On your turn place one of your Zone counters onto an empty square of the board. (You may not place your counter on top of another counter)

The next player places one counter, and so on, going clockwise around the table.

If there are empty spaces, but you are unable to place a counter, skip your turn. The game ends when there are no empty spaces left on the board or no one is Able to place any more of their counters.

Zone Placement Rules

You may not place a Zone counter adjacent to another Zone of the same type.

End Of Game Scoring

Determine the controller for each landmark in turn. A landmark is controlled by the player with the most Access points adjacent to it. Players may tie for control of a landmark.

The controller of a Landmark gets the Prestige Points associated with it. (If tied, all controllers get the points. For example: If Jane and Jim both Control the Airport, they both get 4 points) Each player adds up all their Prestige Points. The highest score wins.

Variants

Some possible variants:

Alternate Countersets

Change the names and values of the landmarks and zones.

Landmark Types

Airport	Transportation
Seaport	Transportation
Train Station	Transportation
Subway Station	Transportation
City Hall	Civic
University	Civic
Cathedral	Civic
Library	Civic
Power Plant	Services

Landmark Type Scoring

If you control the most Landmarks of a given type, you get an extra 1 Prestige Point.

Parks Rule

Any empty spaces at the end of the game automatically become parks that are worth 1 Prestige point each.

Alternate Maps

Play on a hex map Play on a bigger map (requiring larger counter sets)

Random Zone Selection

Instead of picking any zone from your set, draw 2 random counters and Use 1 and throw back the other.

Reduced Adjacency

Only squares that share a side are considered adjacent.

Rezoning

Three times per game, as a move, you may replace one of your zones in Play with one from your cup.

City Dump

Add this to the Landmark counterset. It is worth -1 (negative one) Prestige Points.

Slums

Each zone counterset gets one Slum Zone Counter. A Slum is worth -1 Access points. All Zone counters adjacent to the Slum are worth -1 Access Points.

Airport	Transportation
Water Plant	Services
Fire Station	Services
Police Station	Services
Zoo	Recreation
Aquarium	Recreation
Stadium	Recreation
Museum	Recreation

Zone Scoring

Score 1 prestige point for making an orthogonal, unbroken line of Five or more Zones in a row.

My Name Is Tarzan

Introduction

Card game for 2-4+ players. Tarzan theme.

The Tarzantra

My name is Tarzan, (Title) I have great (Attribute)
And am skilled at (Ability) I like to wrestle (Animal) Me and my friend (Ally) Journeyed to (Locale) Where with (Object) We executed a daring (Action) And defeated

Victory

Have the most cards in your victory pile when 5
Tarzantras have been completed.

The Deck

Players share a Common Deck. The Deck has 9
Suites: Title, Attribute, Ability, Animal, Ally, Locale, Object, Action, and Foe.

Setup

Shuffle the Deck. The player who is the most built is the first Leader. The leader deals each player 5 random cards.

Next, spread the remaining cards out over the middle of the table face down.

Turn Sequence

In a sing-song fashion the leader says the first line of the Tarzantra. Play proceeds (clockwise) to the left.
The first player to his left gets to play a Title card from his hand if he has one.

If he does, the he keeps the card face up in front of him in his personal Victory pile and he draws a face down card and puts it into his hand. (He must also say the name of the card to complete the line of the poem) If he does not have a Title card, he must look at one face down card on the table. He may keep it, or leave it and put a different face down card into his hand.

If he had to draw a card, the next player to his left
(this could be the dealer) gets a Chance to play a Title card to complete the line. This continues until someone plays a Title card. Once someone does, the Leader speaks the second line of the Tarzantra. The player who played the Title card gets the first chance to finish the second line with an Attribute card. This continues line by line, until the full Tarzantra is completed.

When the Tarzantra is complete, the player to the Leader's right becomes the new Leader. The game ends when 5 Tarzantras have been completed. (Or 3 for a short game, or 7 for a long game) The player with the most Victory cards at the end of the game wins.

The Winner must let out a Loud chest-beating
Tarzan style Cry.

Mysterious Islands

Introduction

Quick easy War Game for 2-6 players. Unique Fantasy Setting.

Background

The Mysterious Islands are an archipelago in the Pacific with 11 main islands and several smaller ones.

There are 7 Factions currently vying for control of the Islands: The Pirates, Dr. Nemo, Dr. Moreau, The Rebels, The British East India Company, The Zombies, and The Natives.

The Pirates have been burying treasure on these Islands for over 100 years. They are not giving up their loot without a Fight. The Islands contain large amounts of radioactive ores. This is the Fuel source for the engine of Dr. Nemo's precious Submarine. These same ores are the animating spark for the flesh hungry Zombies that threaten to overrun the Islands.

The Secretive Dr. Moreau has been conducting his crossbreeding experiments on these Islands for 20 years. His Beastmen are formidable foes. The Native Tribesmen would prefer to be left alone, but they will fight to protect their Jungle Homes. The British East India Company has only just discovered the Islands.

They are sending the first of many ships filled with soldiers, explorers, and colonists to claim this new prize. Finally there are the Rebels, mostly escaped Beastmen, but also Slaves, Outcasts, Criminals, Mutineers, and others who have banded together to defend their newfound freedom.

Victory & Victory Tokens

The game ends at the end of 12 Rounds. In a Round each player gets 1 Turn. At the end of the game the player with the most Bases wins.

Company	White	Outposts	Clippers	Agents
Zombies	Black	Ruins	None	None
Natives	Yellow	Villages	Outriggers	Shamans

Turn Sequence

The Game lasts 12 Round. During a Round each Player gets 1 Turn. Each turn has 5 Phases:

Dice

Six Sided Dice are needed.

Setup

Each player picks 1 Faction. Each Faction starts with one Base adjacent to a water hex. Max 1 Base per Island.

Stack 4 Bands & 1 Boss (matching Faction) on each Base and 1 Adjacent Boat. Players roll high on 1D6 to see who goes first.

The Map

Use a Hex Map. There are 11 Large Islands: Each of these covers 6 + 1D6 Spaces. Include 2D6 smaller Islands (1D6 Spaces each).

There are 2 types of Terrain on Islands: Jungle and Volcano. Islands are Mostly Jungle. Include 0-2 Volcanoes on each of the larger Islands. Units cannot enter Volcano spaces.

Units

Each Faction gets its own set of Units There are 5 Types of Units: Bands, Bases, Boats, Bosses, and Bombards. Bases do not move, they are points for recruiting Bands and Boats. Bases are located on Islands. Max 1 Base per Hex.

A Base cannot be located adjacent to another Base. Bases aid in Defense: If attacked a Base gets +1 to the Battle Roll. Boats are often needed to transport Bands from one Island to Another.

Bands are small groups of Combatants. Bosses are Leaders or exceptionally Tough Individuals. Only Pirates and The British can Recruit Bombards.

Bombards are Land units with 1 Movement Point.

- Recruit Phase
- Movement Phase
- Bombardment Phase

- Action Phase
- Combat Phase

Recruit Phase

Gain 2D6 Recruit Points (RP).

Bands cost 1 RP each.

Bases, Bosses, Boats, and Bombards cost 2 RP each.

Bands, Bosses, and Bombards are placed on or adjacent to a Base.

Boats are placed in Water Hexes adjacent to a Base.

A Base can be placed in a space with a Band on land that is not on or adjacent to another Base.

Movement Phase

All you units may move once.

Bands have a Basic Movement Allowance of 2 Move Points.

Boats and Bosses have a Basic Movement Allowance of 4 Move Points.

Each Unit may be moved once up to its Movement Allowance.

Bombardment Phase

This Includes British Company Boats and Bombards and Pirate Boats and Bombards.

They can attack adjacent Units.

British hit on a roll of 4+ on 1D6. Pirates hit on 5+.

If successful one random unit in the target stack is killed.

If the target stack has only units with the Hide ability the attack roll is at -1.

Nemo subs have Torpedoes: They can target Adjacent Boats and hit on a roll of 5+

Combat Phase

If a Hex contains Units from 2 different Factions, they will fight: Each side rolls 3D6 (The Battle Roll) and adds Modifiers. The side with more units gets +1 to the Battle Roll (BR). If a side has 1 or more Bosses it gets +1 to the BR.

The higher roll is the winner.

If it is a tie both sides lose 1 unit. The loser loses a number of units equal to the difference between the Rolls. If units from both sides remain, players roll again: This continues until one side is eliminated.

Bosses

Treat Bosses like Bands for all purposes unless the rules state otherwise.

Boats

If a Boat goes down all aboard will be lost unless the boat is adjacent to a land hex that is empty or friendly in which case the carried units wash up on shore there on a roll of 4+ on 1D6. Natives on 3+.

Divers and Zombie Bands since they can swim remain in the sea space and continue fighting.

Pirate Faction

Pirates Bands and Boats are well Armed: They get +1 to all Battle Rolls. Pirate Bands are expert Raiders: They get +2 to the first Battle roll of a Combat if they are the attackers. Pirates sail the Seven Seas: When recruiting they may enter from the side of the map with at least 1 Ship.

Pirate ships can carry up to 4 Bands. If Pirates defeat a stack containing an enemy Boat they capture it and keep it on a roll of 5+ on 1D6. (Treat it as another Pirate Ship)

Nemo Faction

A Nemo stack with a Sub gets +2 to its Battle rolls when fighting stacks containing 1 or more other Boats. Nemo Subs have 6 Movement Points (MP). Nemo Bands and Bosses are Divers: They can move in water hexes.

Nemo Diver Bands are slow: They only have 1 MP. Nemo subs can hold 3 Bands in relative luxury. Nemo Subs, Bosses and Bands in water can Hide: If attacked they may move to an adjacent empty or friendly hex on a roll of 4+.

Nemo recruits his crews from India: When recruiting they may enter from the side of the map with at least 1 Sub.

Moreau Faction

Moreau Beastman Bands are Fast: They have 3 MP. Beastman Bands are masters of Lightning Attacks: They get +3 to the first Battle roll of a Combat if they are the attackers. Moreau Breeds them quickly in his Labs: The Moreau Faction gets +1 to Recruit Rolls.

Moreau's Beastmen are Fierce Hand-to-Hand Combatants: Even if they lose a Land Combat, the opposing side will lose 1 Band on a roll of 4+ on 1D6. Moreau Barges can hold 3 Bands.

Zombies Regenerate: At the end of Bombardment and Combat Phase roll 2D6 for each killed unit: on a roll of 10+ the unit comes back to life.

Zombies do not have Boats or Bosses. They cannot buy Ruins. If they defeat an enemy Base it becomes a Ruin. When Recruiting Zombie Bands Ruins are not required: New Bands may be placed on any empty or friendly space on any island you occupy (The Dead Rise).

Native Faction

Natives are expert at Hiding: If attacked they may move to an adjacent empty or friendly hex on a roll of 4+. Native are Swift: Native Bands have 3 MP. They know the land and are experts at camouflage: They always get +2 to the first Battle Roll of a Combat.

Encounter Phase

If you land on an enemy pawn, you may attack it. (If there is more than one pawn, pick one to attack.) You may also choose not to attack. There are two types of Attacks: Scams & Combat.

Resolving A Scam

Resolving A Combat

The attacker rolls 3D6 and adds his Fight Rating. The defender rolls 3D6 and adds his Fight Rating. Some Companions & Objects add to your Fight Ratings.

Both players may play Event or Spell cards to increase their Fight Rating. Higher score wins the contest. Defender wins ties. The winner of the contest gets all of his opponent's objects. The loser must discard all of his companions.

The winner gains 3 Reputation points.

Mission Phase

If you land on an empty non-bazaar space you may play a Mission card. A Mission card requires you to make a number of successful Fight or Scam Rolls. Succeeding at a mission gains you Reputation points.

Losing a Mission causes you to discard all your companions & objects.

First example: You draw the Mission: Stop Invasion Force: Fight = 8, Rolls = 3, Reputation = 9 You must win 3 successive Fight roll contests vs a Foe of Fight = 8. If you win, you get 9 Reputation points. If you lose, you must discard all your companions & objects.

Second example: You draw the Mission: Steal Trophy: Savvy = 5. Rolls = 4, Reputation = 8 You must win 4 successive Scam roll contests vs a Foe of Savvy = 5. If you win, you get 8 Reputation points. If you lose, you must discard all your companions & objects.

Some Missions are Jobs. If you fail a Job Mission (Interview), you do not lose your companions or items. Jobs provide a steady income. You can only have 1 Job at a time.

Example: You draw the Job Mission: Postillum Court Magician Interview: Savvy = 6. Rolls = 3, Reputation = 7, Income = 6 You must win 3 successive Scam roll contests vs a Foe of Savvy = 6. If you win, you get 7 Reputation points and an Income of 6 Gold per turn. If you lose you don't get the job.

Discard Mission cards at the end of the phase.

If a Mission has the (Bets) option you may Bet some or all of your gold that you will win. If you lose, you lose the money. If you win, you double your money.

If a card has instructions to "Restore" a Companion or Item then take a Card of the indicated type from the discard pile & put it in your hand.

If you fail a Mission and you are a court Magician roll 1D6. On a roll of 1-3 you lose your job!

Recruit Phase

Put companions, spells, & objects in your hand into play. You may have any number of companions & objects in play. Companions & objects are placed face up in front of you.

Pay 5 Gold for each Item put into play. You may have a number of Spells in play equal to your Main Characters Magic Rating. Spells are placed face down in front of you.

Scam The Locals Phase

If you did not have an encounter or go on a Mission and you are in a Non-Bazaar Space, you may Scam the Locals this turn. This is a Guile attack vs an opponent of Savvy = 1. If you win gain 1D6 Gold.

If you lose, you are attacked by an opponent of Fight = 3. If you loose the fight, you must discard all your Companions & objects.

Hostile Natives Phase

If you did not have an encounter or go on a Mission this turn, any opponent may play a Native Card on you. First attempt to avoid the Natives with a successful Guile Attack. If this fails the Natives will initiate a Fight attack against you.

If you loose the fight, you must discard all your Companions & objects. Discard Native cards at the end of the phase.

Deal With A Deveel Phase

If you are in a Bazaar space you encounter a Deveel Merchant. The Deveel attacks you with a Guile = 4 attack. If he wins, you lose all your money.

If you have no money, he takes one of your items at random. If you win nothing happens. If you win by 5+ put any 1 object or dragon Companion in the deck into your hand.

Napoleonic Empire

Introduction

Two player strategic war game set in the Napoleonic era. One player controls France & Napoleon. The other player controls the Allies.

The allies include England, Russia, Prussia, and Austria.

The Map

A map of Europe will be required showing the borders between the following countries, circa 1800 AD:

Country:	Connected to:
France	Spain, Holland, Rhineland, Switzerland, Italy
England	Controls the Seas. Access to all except Warsaw and Switzerland
Russia	Prussia, Warsaw, Sweden, Austria, Ottoman Empire
Austria	Rhineland, Prussia, Russia, Warsaw, Ottoman Empire
Prussia	Rhineland, Austria, Russia, Warsaw,
Holland	Denmark, Rhineland, France
Sweden	Denmark, Russia
Denmark	Holland, Rhineland
Spain	France, Portugal
Portugal	Spain
Confederation of the Rhine (Rhineland)	Switzerland, Italy, France, Holland, Denmark, Prussia, Austria
Kingdom of Italy (Italy)	Rhineland, Switzerland, Naples, Austria
Kingdom of Naples (Naples)	Italy, Egypt
Switzerland	Rhineland, Italy, France
Duchy of Warsaw (Warsaw)	Prussia, Russia, Austria
Egypt	Naples, Ottoman Empire
Ottoman Empire	Russia, Egypt (The Ottoman Empire may not be entered)

Armies

Armies are represented by counters. There are only two types of counters: French armies & Ally armies. Each side has 80 counters.

A country may have zero, one, or more armies in it.

- England
- Russia
- Austria
- Prussia

French Setup

The French Empire begins with 20 armies located in France. France begins with 4 armies in the Confederation of the Rhine (Rhineland) France begins with 2 armies in each of the following countries:

- Holland
- Denmark
- Spain
- Portugal
- Kingdom of Italy (Italy)
- Kingdom of Naples (Naples)
- Switzerland
- Egypt

Allies Setup

The Allies begin with 10 armies located in each of the following countries:

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. The French player goes first. Each turn is composed of 4 phases:

- Draw Phase
- Move Phase
- Attack Phase
- Reinforcements Phase

Draw Phase

Draw 2 cards from the Deck. You may have a maximum of 7 cards in your hand. Excess cards must be discarded face down into the discard pile.

If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard pile and continue drawing from it.

Move Phase

Armies may move from one country to any adjacent country. Armies may be moved into countries occupied by enemy armies. An army may move only once per turn.

Armies in England may be moved to any non-landlocked country. The French player may never move armies into England. The powerful English Navy made the possibility of a French attack impossible.

Allied Armies cannot be moved back to England.

Attack Phase

If enemy armies occupy the same country there will be a battle. Each army has a Force = 1. If a player has a card that influences a battle at that country, he may play it.

The card gives a Force bonus to either the French or the Allies. The defender has a Force bonus +1 Each side rolls 1D6 and adds this to their Force. The side with the higher modified force total wins.

The winning side takes casualties = $1D6 \times 10\%$. (Round Down) The winner cannot take more casualties

Country:	Reinforcements:
France	4
England	3
Russia	3
Austria	2

Sweden 1

Spain	1
Portugal	1
Rhineland	2
Italy	1
Naples	1

Ottoman Empire 0 France can never receive reinforcements from Prussia, Russia, or Austria.

Card List

Card Name:	Notes:
Toulon	France: French +4
Italian Campaign	Italy or Naples: French +2
Battle of the Nile	Egypt: Allies +3
Austerlitz	Austria: French +3
Jena	Prussia: French +4
Friedland	Russia: French +4
Balance of Power	Allies gain 2 rebel armies in Reinforcement phase
Louisiana Purchase	France gains 2 armies in Reinforcement phase
Trafalgar	France: Allies +2

than the loser had armies x2. The defeated side takes $2D6 \times 10\%$ casualties, and must retreat the surviving armies to an adjacent friendly territory, or they are destroyed.

Casualty Calculation Example

Lets say you won the battle and you had 10 armies to start with. Roll 1D6. Lets say you rolled a 4.

4 X 10% = 40%.

40% of 10 is 4 so you lose 4 armies. The loser had 6 armies. He rolls 2D6. He gets an 11. Thats 110% so all of his armies are destroyed.

Reinforcements Phase

If you have one or more armies in a country, and your opponent has none, you control it. During this phase place a number of your armies onto each country you control equal to the Reinforcement value of the country as given by the table below:

Country:	Reinforcements:
Prussia	2
Holland	1
Denmark	1

Spain	1
Switzerland	1
Warsaw	1
Egypt	1

Nationalist Movements

During Reinforcements phase the allies may place an additional 2 rebel armies in any one of the following countries: Spain, Portugal, Prussia, Russia, or Austria This may be done even if France occupies the country.

Card Name:	Notes:
Continental System	France & England receive 2 less reinforcements per turn for rest of game
Peninsular War	Spain or Portugal: Allies +2
General Winter	Russia: Allies +4
Battle of Nations	Rhineland: Allies +5
Battle of Waterloo	Holland: Allies +4
Admiral Horatio Nelson	Anywhere: Allies +2
Duke of Wellington	Anywhere: Allies +2
Czar Alexander I	The Allies may take an extra turn without reinforcements
King Frederick III	The Allies may take an extra turn without reinforcements
Prince Metternich	The Allies may take an extra turn without reinforcements
Son of the Revolution	The French may take an extra turn without reinforcements
Louis Berthier	The French may take an extra turn without reinforcements

When a card is played, it is discarded.

tal countries at the end of their turn.

Victory

The Allies win if they control France at the end of their turn. The French win if they control all continen-

Game Designers Notes

To make it a multiplayer game, the major countries of the Allies can be divvied up.

Players Take Turns Draw Phase Move Phase Combat Phase

Victory

The Narnian forces win if they either defeat the White Witch or her entire army. The White Witch wins if she defeats Aslan or the Army of Narnia.

Forces

Miniatures or counters may be used to represent each unit.

Draw Phase

Each player draws three cards. Maximum hand is 5 cards. Discard excess.

Move Phase

Players may play their MOVE CARDS to move a unit that many squares. Units may move in an orthogonal or diagonal direction. The number of moves on a given card may be divided among several units as well.

Combat Phase

For each ATTACK CARD a player has they may attack with one unit. The unit inflicts on its target is damage rating. If this reduces the defending unit's Hits to 0 or less, that unit is defeated. If the defending unit plays a defense card, they may ignore the damage inflicted by that assault. As long as Aslan is in play, MIRACLE CARDS may be played. As long as the White Witch is in play, SPELL CARDS may be played (MIRACLE and Spell Cards are the same cards; Aslan uses Miracles, and the Witch uses Magic).

The biggest Naruto fan present decides who gets to go first. Each player fills up his Stamina Pile.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 8 Phases: Event Phase Tactics Phase Chakra Phase Form Phase Attack Phase Defense Phase Resolution Phase Recovery Phase

Event Phase

Some cards are played in this Phase.

Tactics Phase

Draw X cards from the deck. X is equal to your Tactics Trait. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Chakra Phase

You may convert Stamina into Chakra. Move Energy Tokens (ET) from your Stamina Pile to your Chakra Pile. You cannot move more Tokens than your Convert Trait.

You also cannot reduce yourself to zero Stamina. If you don't do any converting this turn, you may Discard 1 Card & draw 1 Replacement.

Form Phase

Some Jutsu cards (per card text) are played in this Phase.

Attack Phase

You may decide not to attack and skip to Recovery Phase. Note: Some card effects prevent you from attacking. The current player is the attacker.

Your opponent is the defender. You may play up to X Jutsu Attack cards from your hand. X is equal the Characters Speed Stat.

To play a Jutsu card, you must pay its cost in Stamina or Chakra. Move Tokens from your Stamina or Chakra pile to your Fatigue Pile.

Defense Phase

Your opponent may play X Jutsu Defense cards from his hand. X is equal the Characters Skill Stat. To play a Jutsu card, the defender must pay its cost in Stamina or Chakra.

Resolution Phase

Compare your (attacker) Modified Attack Rating (MAR) to the Modified Defense Rating (DAR) of your opponent (Defender). If your rating is higher, he loses Stamina equal to the difference. He moves ET from his Stamina Pile to his Wound Pile.

If it is equal lower, he may counterattack. In a counterattack, if the defender has a higher MAR then your DAR, you Suffer wounds equal to the difference. Players may play additional Jutsu cards in the Counterattack.

Note: An opponent who cannot defend cannot play Defense Jutsu and has a Defense Rating of Zero

Recovery Phase

Nascards

Introduction

Card game based on NASCAR racing. Each player controls one Stock car.

Disclaimer

NASCAR is a licensed trademarked property. This is merely a Fan site.

Winning

The first player to reach 500 Miles is the First Place Winner. For a shorter race go 400 or 300 Miles.

Miles

Players will have to keep track with paper and pencil how many miles They have gone.

Place

Players will have to keep track of their current placement: First, Second, Third, etc. as the race progresses. The term Rank is also used to mean Place. (Decreasing Rank order: 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th. . .) First Place is also called the Lead car.

The player with the most miles will be in first place, and so on. Markers can be used to indicate place. Record order changes as soon as they happen, whether in Maneuver or Speed Phase.

Dice

Ten Sided Dice are needed (1D10).

The Decks

There are 2 common Decks: The Speed Deck The Maneuver Deck

The Speed Deck

The speed deck cards are numbered 1-10. There are 6 copies of each card in the deck. (You can increase this number if playing with a large number of people) When played during speed phase, this is the number of miles moved.

The Maneuver Deck

These include Events and driving styles that can help or hinder players. The deck contains 1 copy of each card described in the card list.

Hands

During play, each player keeps a hand of Speed cards. Maneuver cards are only used during Maneuver phase and are not part of a players hand.

Setup

Shuffle the decks. Each player is dealt 8 random Speed cards.

Turn Sequence

Each turn is divided into 5 Phases:

1. Pit Stop Phase
2. Maneuver Phase
3. Speed Phase
4. Drafting Phase
5. Crash Phase

Pit Stop Phase

Each player may decide to visit their Pit Stop. If they do, they discard their current hand and draw 8 new Speed cards. If a deck ever runs out of cards, shuffle its discard and draw from it.

If you visit your Pit Stop, you are off the track: You skip the rest of the Turn. You "lose" your place for the turn and cannot be affected by Maneuver cards played by your opponents. If a player has no Speed cards left in his hand, he must make a Pit Stop.

Maneuver Phase

Each player is dealt 3 Maneuver cards face down. Players then discard 2 of these cards and keep 1 card. Players then reveal (play) their cards in decreasing rank order.

(First Place plays first, then second, and so on) Some cards you may be prevented from playing due to your rank order, however, You must play at least 1 card if it is at all possible. Apply the effects of the cards as they are played and then discard them. The Terminology Speed + X is used on many cards. This modifier Affects your total Miles driven. For example: Lets say you have gone 250 Miles and you play a card that is Speed +5. This will increase your Total Miles to 255. Then another play plays a card with Speed -2 that Targets you, so your Total miles drops to 253.

Unless otherwise stated the effects of Maneuver cards only last the current turn.

Speed Phase

Players in decreasing rank order must each play (discard) exactly one Speed Card from their hand. Their car moves forward that many miles.

Drafting Phase

Each player in rank order must roll 1D10 on the Drafting Table This is called the Drafting Roll.

The Drafting Table

Roll	Result:
1-4	No Draft
5-7	Speed +1
8-9	Speed +2
10+	Speed +3

Crash Phase

Each player in rank order must roll 1D10. This is called the Mishap Roll. On a roll of 10 or greater they have been hit. Add 1 to the Mishap roll for each car ahead of them that has been hit.

A car that has been hit must roll 1D10 on the Crash Table. The roll for the Crash Table is called the Severity Roll. Subtract 2 from the Severity Roll if you played a speed card of 1-3 this turn.

Subtract 1 from the Severity Roll if you played a speed card of 4-5 this turn. Add 1 to the Severity Roll if you played a speed card of 9-10 this turn.

The Crash Table

Roll	Result:
0	Speed -1
1	Speed -3
2	Speed -5
3	Discard 1 random Card
4	Discard 2 random Cards
5	You car is Speed -1 in Speed Phase until you make a Pit Stop
6	You car is Speed -2 in Speed Phase until you make a Pit Stop
7	You must make a Pit Stop next Turn
8	You must make a Pit Stop on the next 2 Turns
9	You must make a Pit Stop on the next 3 Turns
10+	Your car is Totaled. You are out of the Race.

Nations At War

Introduction

2-5 player card game with WWII theme.

Victory

Reduce your opponents to zero Power Points.

Power Points

Each player starts with 25 Power Points.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn is divided into 3 phases:

1. Production Phase
2. Deployment Phase
3. Operations Phase

Production Phase

Draw 1 card. Max hand size is 7 cards. If your deck runs out, shuffle your discard and draw from it.

Discard excess cards at end of Operations phase.

Deployment Phase

Put any Permanent type cards into play from your hand. Permanents are placed face up on the table. A permanent remains in play until it is destroyed.

Modifier cards may be attached to appropriate Unit cards. Leaders are a type of permanent card.

German Card List

Card Name	#	Type	Notes
Blitzkrieg	3	A	Attack only. Force = 5
Junker Dive Bombers	2	P	Air Force = 2
Level Bombers	2	P	Air Force = 2
Luftwaffe	1	P	Air Force = 2
Panzerfausts	1	A	Destroy 1 Tank Unit
Panzer Tanks	3	P	Ground Force = 2
Panther Tanks	2	P	Ground Force = 3
Tiger Tanks	1	P	Ground Force = 4
Combined Arms Tactics	1	A	Force = 4

Operations Phase

Unit cards are Permanents with a Force value. Each of your units with a Force value may attack. Attacks may be against your opponents power base or enemy units.

Units do damage to each other equal to their Force value. Any unit reduced to zero Force is destroyed. An attack against the power base does damage equal to the Force of the attacking unit.

Keep track of Power Points with coins. The defender may block with his units to protect the target of the attack. Units may combine their Damage when attacking or defending.

Permanents with no Force value can never gain a Force value. Action cards are played when appropriate and then discarded. Instead of losing a Power Point, you may discard one of your Permanents from play.

Special Rules

In 2 on 1 or 3 on 1 games the outnumbered player gets to draw an extra card per extra opponent. Sea & Ground units cannot attack or block each other. Bombers may not block. Bombers may not attack Fighters.

Ground Forces may not attack Air Forces. Subs & U-Boats cannot be attacked. Leaders may not be attacked.

Ship Attributes

(For First class Ships of the Line)

- Each ship has a base Sails Rating = 6
- Each ship has a base Skill Rating = 0
- Each ship has a base Swiftiness Rating = -4
- Each ship has a base Hull rating = 6
- Each ship has a base Cannon Rating = 6
- Each ship has a base Gunnery Rating = 0
- Each ship has a base Crew Rating = 6
- Each Ship has a base Boarding Rating = 0
- Each Ship has a base Courage Rating = 0

Designing Fleets & Ships

In the Basic Scenario, each player starts with a fleet of 8 ships. Roll on the Admiral, National and Fleet Character Tables once. Every ship in your fleet gets the same National and Fleet bonuses.

Roll on the Ship, Captain, and Crew Tables for each ship individually. Pick one ship in your fleet to be the Flagship. The Flagship gets an extra roll on the Ship, Captain, and Crew Tables.

Broadside Table

Setup

Fleets start at opposite ends of the map.

Turn Sequence

Each turn has 5 Phases:

- Draw Phase
- Move Phase
- Broadside Phase
- Boarding Action Phase
- Morale Phase

Draw Phase

Each player draws 2 cards. If the deck runs out shuffle the discard and draw from it. Maximum hand size is 5 cards.

Discard excess cards.

Move Phase

Players take turns moving one ship at a time. The player with the ship with the highest movement rating chooses whether to go first or second. If tied in this respect, roll high on 1D6.

For each ship make a Movement roll: The Base Movement roll is $2D6 - 4$. To this, add the ships Sails, Skill & Swiftiness ratings. The final result is the maximum number of spaces the ship may move.

Moving Diagonally counts as 1.5 spaces. Any ship with a Sails rating of zero or less may not move unless pulled. Each face change counts as one-half space moved.

No stacking. Only one ship per space.

Broadsides Phase

Each ship can make one broadside attack per turn from each side. All attacks are considered to be simultaneous. Base attack Range for a Ship is $4 + \text{Gunnery Bonus}$.

When attacking first declare ammo type:

- Grapeshot has a range -2.
- Chainshot has no modification to range.
- Roundshot has a range +2.

Attacks are from the sides of the ship in a 45 degree angle cone. To determine the effect of the Broadside, roll on the Broadside table:

1D10	Result:
1-5	No Damage
6-9	The target loses one rating point in one random attribute
10-13	The target loses one rating point in two random attributes
14+	The target loses one rating point in three random attributes

Subtract one from the roll for each space over 2 the target is distant. Add the attacking ships Cannon and Gunnery Ratings to the roll. All losses due to Grapeshot are to Men.

All Hull losses due to Chainshot are ignored. Roundshot gets -1 to this roll.

- A ship reduced to zero hull cannot move and will sink in 1D6 turns.
- A ship reduced to zero crew cannot move or repel boarders.
- A ship reduced to zero cannon blows its hold and immediately sinks.
- A ship reduced to zero sails cannot move.

Random Damage Attribute Table

1D8	Attribute:
1-2	Sails Rating
3-4	Hull Rating

Modifiers: Flagship = +2 Per Bonus Point of Courage = +1 Small Ship = -1 (4th class or less) Ship has lost (from damage) 2 or more points in any 1 rating = -1 Ship is an Ally = -1 One or more ships of that fleet have already fled = -1 Flagship of that Fleet has fled = -1 If one Allied ship Flees, they all Flee. 1. Recruit cards
2. Movement cards
3. Special cards

Recruit cards are played in your Unit Phase. Movement cards are played in your Move Phase. Special cards are played according to the card text.

Setup

Each player places 4 of his units on his own Homeland. Each player is dealt a hand of 5 cards from the Empire Deck. All Colonies get Neutral Units placed on them up to their Capacity.

Yearly Sequence

Each year has 6 Phases:

1. Trade Phase
2. Event Phase
3. Player Turns Phase
4. Fight Phase
5. Draw Phase
6. Score Phase

Trade Phase

Players may trade cards, units, victory points, and promises. Limit this to 1 minute. A player may discard any cards from his hand he does not want in this turn.

Event Phase

Flip over the top card of the Event deck and resolve it.

Player Turns Phase

Each player gets 1 Player Turn phase per year. The player with the highest Victory Point Total (Score) goes first. The player with the second highest score goes second and so on.

If 2 or more players are tied, they go clockwise from the last player to go. Each Player turn phase has 4 Segments:

1. Strategy Segment
2. Special Segment
3. Unit Segment
4. Move Segment

Strategy Segment

You may do all of the Following actions once each:

1. Gain 1 Unit in your Homeland.
2. Move 1 Unit by sea up to 5 Spaces:

(land or Water → Water → Water → Water → land or Water)

3. Move 2 Units 1 Space each by land or Water.

Special Segment

You may play 1 Special card. Culture Bonus Option: you may discard up to 1 card from your hand to gain 1 VP.

Unit Segment

You may play up to 2 Recruit cards.

Move Segment

You may play up to 2 Move cards. A single unit may be targeted by multiple Move cards in succession. Note: You may not move a Unit through a Land space you do not already occupy (You would have to end its move there).

Note: East Indies, Caribbean, and Pacific Islands are considered to be both Sea Spaces and Colonies! Note: Switzerland is an Off Limits Region.

Empire Deck Card List

Fight Phase

Check for every Colony and Sea (and by Sea we also mean Ocean). If a Colony contains more Units (of all players & Neutrals) than its Capacity, take all of the Units and place them in a cup or pouch. Blindly remove a number of Units equal to the capacity of the Colony. Discard the units remaining in the Pouch. Note: All Seas have a Capacity of 4.

The North & South Atlantic & Indian Oceans have a Capacity of 5 each.

Draw Phase

All players Fill their hands to 5 Empire cards. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Score Phase

This occurs on turns 5, 10, 15, and 20. Skip it on all other turns. Check for each Colony and Sea. The player with the most Units in a Colony/Sea gets 5 VP.

The player with the second most Units in a Colony/Sea gets 3 VP. Each player with at least 1 unit in a Colony/Sea gets 1 VP. If tied each tied player gets the VP. For example, if 2 players tie for second, each gets 3 VP.

Important Rule: VP Limit Rule: You cannot get more VP than the number of Units you have in a Colony or Sea.

End Of Game Scoring

At the end of the game, each player gets 1 VP for each Unit they have in their Homeland.

New World Conquest

Introduction

Board and card game depicting the colonization of the Americas circa 1492-1760.

Game Turn Track

Each Turn is 10 Years. After each player has taken a Turn, move a pawn on the Turn Track ahead 1 Decade. The Game starts in 1490 and ends in 1760.

Victory

The player with the most VP at the end of the game wins. If one player conquers all other players the game ends automatically. A player may concede: His Territories remain occupied, but his turn is skipped.

Victory Points

Use Tokens to keep track of Victory Points (VP). It is possible to have negative VP. Negative VP are called Oppression Points (OP).

Gold

Use Coins to keep track of Gold.

Player Counter Sets & Terminology

Each player has a set of counters (Chits) of a unique color. To denote that a territory has been Explored place one of your Chits on it. To denote that a territory has a Settlement place 2 of your Chits on it.

To denote that a territory has a City place 3 of your Chits on it. A Territory containing no chits on it is called Unoccupied or Wild. A Territory containing 1 or more player Chits on it is said to be Occupied.

A Territory containing 1 or 2 of a players chits on it is called Rural. A Territory containing 2 or 3 of a players chits on it is called Civilized. Spanish Player Chits are Yellow Portuguese Player Chits are Green French Player Chits are Blue English Player Chits are Red Dutch Player Chits are Orange

The Board

The Board is a 8 x 5 Grid. It is 8 squares long on its North/South Axis and 5 squares long on its East/West Axis. All Tiles on the rightmost column are adjacent to the Atlantic Ocean.

All Tiles on the leftmost column are adjacent to the Pacific Ocean. Any Tile on the edge of the map is considered to be coastal. Any Tile adjacent to a Water Tile is considered to be coastal.

The Top 2 Rows and bottom 2 Rows are Cold Climate. The Middle 4 Rows are Warm Climate. Note: Grid can be square or hexagonal.

The Tiles

There are 50 Tiles. When fully explored, the map will only use 40 tiles. The VP value is a one time bonus to the first player to explore the Territory. The IP value is a continuous income bonus the Territory provides every turn when it is settled.

Warm Territory Tiles cannot be placed within the 2 most northern and southern rows. If such a Tile is drawn when exploring and cannot be placed, discard it and draw another. Cold Territory Tiles must be placed within the 2 most northern and southern rows.

If such a Tile is drawn when exploring and cannot be placed, discard it and draw another. Water Territory Tiles must be placed on the edge of the board or next to another Water Tile. If such a Tile is drawn when exploring and cannot be placed, discard it and draw another.

Faq

This game has a number of Abstractions as a result of not having a Map and in order to reduce record keeping. 1a) Each player has 10 territories in Europe, and starts with 2 fleets and 3 armies. How do they take territories away from each other? Battles are fought in 6 Regions. There are the 5 Colonial Regions. Each

Colonial Region has 8 Territories (per the deck). Europe is considered a Region by itself with 10 Territories per player.

1b) Is any and every territory in Europe adjacent to every other; Europe is one "Region"?  Europe is 1 Region. When attacking in Europe, you can pick any Territory in Europe to attack. 1c) If you want to attack another player's European territory do you have to have armies in a territory of the same type of terrain? Armies do not occupy individual Territories. They are present in The Region as a whole. Multiple players can have Armies in the same Region at the same time, and they don't have to fight. 1d) Do you use fleets the same as you do to attack territories in the colonies?  Yes 2a) Does a player go through all 12 phases before the next player?  Yes 2b) or does each player do each phase, then we all go on to the next and Each player does each phase, etc?  No 3a) Can you be in a colonial Region without having claimed a colony?  Yes, you may have armies in the Region.

3b)That is, if someone has acquired, say, the "Sugar Canadian" Territory, and you want to attack him: can you just use fleets to transport armies to "Canada" (presumably a box on your stat sheet) during Transport Phase then attack on War Phase?  Yes 3c) or do you have to have one of the "Canada" territory cards already in place in front of you from having acquired it in a Colonization Phase?  No 4a) Fleets and Armies always start in Europe?  Fleets are everywhere all the time. Armies start in Europe. 4b)All other resources are "everywhere"; they're just "spent" to buy fleets, armies, and Colony cards?  Yes, resources are considered to automatically be transported back to Your Old World Home Country.

New World Order

Introduction

Card game for 2-6 players. New World Order Conspiracy Theme. The World is controlled by a Secretive Elite of Blue Blooded Billionaires.

Their main goal is to create a single world government with which to enslave the rest of the Human Race. They hope to achieve this by first achieving total Economic Global Control. As a Sub-Goal they want to drastically reduce the Worlds Population.

(The fewer there are of us, the easier we are to control) Each player represents an unnamed faction of these Elites who are trying to gain the most power and influence for themselves while advancing the main goal. The hidden presence of Secret Societies, Aliens, Occult Powers, and super advanced Technologies further empowers and complicates these plans.

New York Skyline

Introduction

Card Game for 2-4+ players. Players represent Wealthy Investors building Skyscrapers in New York City circa 1900 to 1935.

Game Ends

The Game ends when all 17 Skyscrapers have been built. Players then individually add up the Victory Points of all the Skyscrapers they have personally built.

Victory

At the end of the game, the player with the most total Victory points wins.

The Decks

There are 2 Common Decks:

1. The Skyscraper Deck
2. The Construction Deck

The Skyscraper Deck

This contains 17 Cards that represent Skyscrapers the players will build. Each skyscraper has two numerical values:

1. Victory Points (VP)
2. Luxury Cost (LC)

Victory Points are added to the players final Score. The Luxury Costs are the number of Star Cards needed to build the Skyscraper

The Construction Deck

The Construction Deck contains 7 Suites of Cards:

1. Location
2. Money
3. Style
4. Spaces
5. Labor
6. Decor
7. Materials

Each Suite has 10 Cards. 5 of the 10 cards are marked as Star Cards. High value Buildings require more Star Cards in their construction.

The Key To The City

Use an actual key as a prop. The player in possession of the Key always goes first. Play proceeds clockwise.

Setup

Give one random player the Key to the City. Shuffle the Construction Deck. The cards in the Skyscraper deck are put in VP order from lowest to highest.

(Note: cards with the same VP are placed as a block in no particular order) Take the top 4 Skyscraper cards from the deck and place them face up in The middle of the table. (This will be the two 3VP buildings and two of the 4VP buildings). Skyscrapers so placed, are called Available Skyscrapers.

Turn Sequence

Each turn has 8 Phases:

1. Key Phase
2. Lot Phase
3. Draft Phase
4. Deal Phase
5. Surplus Phase
6. Build Phase
7. Real Estate Phase
8. End Phase

Key Phase

The player with the Key gives it to the player to his left.

Lot Phase

Place $X+1$ Lots onto the center of the Table.

X the number of players. (So 2 players would be 3 Lots).

A Lot consists of 3 cards drawn from the top of the Construction Deck. The 3 cards in a Lot are placed face up touching each other. (But separate from the other Lots).

If the Construction Deck ever runs out, Shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Draft Phase

Starting with the Key-holding player and going clockwise, each Player in turn takes 1 lot and adds it to his hand. The remaining unpicked Lot is discarded.

Deal Phase

Players may trade cards with each other. Limit this Phase to a couple of minutes if necessary.

Surplus Phase

If you have 3 cards of the same suit, you may discard them to draw 3 new cards. If your hand is all non-Star cards you may discard it and draw 7 new cards.

Build Phase

Starting with the Key-holding player and going clockwise, each Player in turn may build 1 Available Skyscraper. To build a Skyscraper you must play 1 card from each of the 7 Construction suites. Also, those cards must contain a number of Stars equal to the Luxury cost of the Available Skyscraper you want to build.

After you have built a Skyscraper, discard the Construction cards you played and Place the Skyscraper card you built in front of you.

Real Estate Phase

If any Skyscrapers have been built this turn, draw new ones from the top of the Deck to replace them. There should always be 4 Available Skyscrapers until the Skyscraper deck runs out.

End Phase

Max hand size is 9 Cards. Discard excess cards.

Ninja Clan Wars

Introduction

Each player controls a clan of Ninja in Feudal Japan.

Game End

The game ends when there are no cards left to draw in the deck, or When all players have been defeated except one.

Victory

A player is defeated if he has no Ninja in play and zero Shinobi Markers. If the game ends, and more than one player remains undefeated, the player with The highest ranking Ninja wins. If tied, compare number of Ninja. If still tied, compare number of Shinobi Markers.

Shinobi Markers

Use Tokens or coins to represent Shinobi Markers. Shinobi Markers represent the strength of your Clan.

Villages

Each player has a Village. This is where a players Shinobi Markers are kept. (Represent the village with a pile of Markers) Villages can be attacked. Villages cannot attack.

Villages have a base stealth and Fight rating of zero, which can be improved by use of Event cards. A successful attack on a village will cause Shinobi Markers to be lost.

The Ninjitsu Deck

Players share a common deck. There are 2 types of cards mixed together: Ninja and Event cards

Ninja Cards

Each Ninja has ratings in: Cost, Stealth, and Fight

Setup

Each player starts with 20 Shinobi Markers. Players cut the deck. Whoever cuts to the highest value Stealth card goes first. Each player is dealt a hand of 7 random cards.

Players may not attack on their first turn.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 6 phases:

1. Fate Phase
2. Recruit Phase
3. Spy Phase
4. Mission Phase
5. Fight Phase
6. Recovery Phase

Fate Phase

Draw 2 cards from the deck and put them in your hand.

Recruit Phase

You may put 1 or more Ninja into play. Each Ninja has a Cost. You must discard a number of Shinobi Counters equal to the Cost of the Ninja being recruited.

Recruited Ninja are placed face up in front of you.

Spy Phase

Certain actions and events take place at this time.

Mission Phase

You may pick one of your Ninja to attack an opponent's village, or a Target Ninja. The target opponent may block with any of his ninja. Compare the Stealth ratings of the Attacking ninja and the target or blocking Ninja.

An unblocked village has a base Stealth rating of zero. Each player may play Event cards to increase their Stealth ratings. Defender wins ties.

If the Attacker wins, he may attack his original target as intended and he gets Fight +3 in Fight Phase If the defender wins, and there was a blocker, the blocker must fight. If the target was the village, and there was no blocker, the Attacker may not attack this turn. (this uses up the Attack opportunity) If the originally targeted ninja wins, he may do one of 3 things:

1. Negate the attack (skip Fight phase)
2. Fight the attacker himself (with a +3 Fight Bonus)
3. Substitute another friendly ninja in his place (who gets the +3 Fight Bonus)

Fight Phase

Compare the Fight ratings of the Attacking ninja and the target or blocking Ninja. An unblocked village has a base Fight rating of zero. Each player may play Event cards to increase their Fight ratings.

Defender wins ties. The losing Ninja is killed. If the loser was a defending village, that player loses a number of Shinobi Markers Equal to the modified Fight rating of the attacking Ninja minus the Modified fight rating of the village.

Recovery Phase

Gain 1 Shinobi Marker. Max hand size is 7 cards. Discard excess cards.

If Rigging Strength is 0, the Boat can not be sailed. If you can't repair the boat, you float on open seas until you and your crew die of thirst. If Hull Strength is 0, the boat sinks with all hands.

The Pirates

You face a Pirate Ship with 1d6 Sailing and 1d6 Rowing Speed, 1d6 of Hull Strength, 1d6 of Rigging Strength. First roll weather roll with 1d6. If weather roll is 1-2, there is no wind and the battle is fought rowing. If weather roll is 3-6, the battle is fought sailing.

You may evade the Pirates. Roll 1d10 and add your ship speed and the sailing skills (rowing skills if the weather is calm) and navigation skills of your crew.

The total sum is your evade value. Then roll 2d6 and add the Pirate Ship speed. If your evade value is higher, you evade the Pirates.

If it is lower or equal, the Pirates are able to board your ship.

You may also attack the Pirates and board their ship.

In a case of boarding battle, you roll 1d10 and add the Fighting Skills to the total. Then roll 2d6 for the Pirates and add 1d6 Pirate Fighting Skills. If your total is higher, you win and destroy the Pirates, if your total is lower or equal, the Pirates win, kill your crew and take your ship.

The Land/River Table. Roll once on every land turn.

2	Traveling Knight	6	Army

1	Warband
5	Armed Monks

A Warband is a group of armed men raiding and looting. It has Battle Strength 1d10. To win the battle, roll 1d10 + the Fighting Skills of Your Group. If your roll is higher, you win the battle, if equal or lower, you lose the battle and lose one random group member. If you win the battle, a random group member gets one Fighting Skill.

A Traveling Knight will join you and add one Fighting Skill to your Group if your roll of 1d10 + number of Negotiating and Charisma Skills is higher than 2d6. If not, he wishes you the best.

Traders will Trade with you. If your roll of 1d10 + number of your Trading Skills is higher than 2d6, you get 20 gold pieces of profit, otherwise you get screwed and lose 10 golds. If you get profit, a random group member get one Trading Skill.

Monks will try to convert you. If your roll of 1d10 + number of your Charisma Skills is lower than 2d6 a random group member joins the monks.

Armed Monks will attack you. They have Battle Strength 2d6. To win the battle, roll 1d10 + the Fighting Skills of Your Group. If your roll is higher, you win the battle, if equal or lower, you lose the battle and lose one random group member. If you win the battle, two random group members get one Fighting Skill.

Army: The local king has collected an Army to deal with the Viking threat. The Army has a Battle Strength of 3d6. To evade the army, roll 1d10 + the Fighting Skills of your Group. If your roll is higher, you evade the army, if equal or lower, you have to fight and and lose three random group members. If you evade the army, two random group members get one Fighting Skill.

9-10	Reroll

Peasants will Trade with you. If your roll of 1d10 + number of your Trading Skills is higher than 2d6, you get 10 gold pieces for profit, otherwise you get screwed and lose 5 golds.

Vikings: You meet 1d6 fellow Norsemen. They will join your Group if your roll of 1d10 + number of Negotiating and Charisma Skills is higher than 2d6. Then create 1d6 new Vikings. If not, they wish you the best.

The Settlement When You come to a settlement, you can evade it, attack and loot it or trade with it. If you evade, nothing happens. If you trade with it, you roll 1d10 and add the Trading Skills of your group. If the result is higher than 2d6, you get the gold, if equal or lower, you get screwed and lose half of the amount. If you attack the settlement, determine first the number of defenders.

Then multiple the number by the battle strength of the unit. That's the defender value. Your attacking value is the number of your men + Fighting Skills + 1d10. If your attacking value is higher than the defender value, you conquer the settlement and collect the loot, if equal or lower, you lose 1d6 random group members.

If you win the battle, all you and five of your men get one Fighting Skill.

The Settlement Table

Note that in the East Region Territories, you cannot build Settlements. Note that in the North Region Territories, if no settlement is present, you do not make a Raid Roll upon landing, instead you place a Settlement there immediately. Note the Trade Regions are split up.

Dice

Six sided dice are needed.

Gold

Use coins (change) to represent Gold

The Board

The Board is a circular Track divided into 40 spaces:

Each player gets a set of Settlement Markers of a Unique color.

Setup

Each player places his Pawn in the Viking Start Space. Each player starts with 20 Gold. Roll high on 1D6 to see who goes first.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. First gain 1D6 Gold for each Settlement you control. Also gain 2D6 Gold for each Kingdom you control.

Next Roll 1D6. Move your Pawn that many spaces clockwise.

* If you land on a Territory without a Settlement or with an opponents Settlement on it roll 2D6 (This is called the Raid Roll). On a roll of 5 or more gain that much Gold (Plunder). If the Raid roll is a 4 or less your Fleet is Destroyed in the Raid: Lose 2D6 Gold, Return to start and miss your next turn.

If the Raid Roll is 9 or greater you capture the territory: Remove any Opponents Settlement and Put one of your Settlement Markers on the space.

* If you land on a Territory with one of your Settlements on it, gain 1D6 Gold.

* If you land on a "Sea" Space Roll 1D6:

- On a Roll of 1-5 Move that many spaces clockwise.
- On a Roll of 6 there is a Great Storm: Do not move at all.

* If you land on an "Exploration" Space, move to any Sea Space of your choice.

* If you land on the "Mercenary" Space, make 2 Raid Rolls. (Do not put Settlement Markers on Mercenary Spaces).

»> If you land on a "Lost" Space, Remove any 1 Settlement (Yours or an Opponents) from the Board.

* If you land on a "Raid Only" space make 1 Raid Roll. (Do not put Settlement Markers on Raid Only Spaces)

Ends Of The Earth Variant

The track is not circular. The two ends are not connected. Once you get to one end, you turn around and go to the other end.

Nose Goblins

Introduction

Card game, about, you guessed it, nose picking.

Victory

The first player with a collection of 100 Magic Nose Goblin Points (MNGP) wins.

The Deck

Players share a common deck.

Magic Nose Goblin Points

Use Change to keep track of MNGP.

Setup

Each player is dealt 5 cards. The player with the biggest Booger goes first.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 3 Phases:

- Pick Phase
- Stick Phase
- Flick Phase

Pick Phase

Draw 1 card from the deck. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Card List

Card Name:	Type	MNGP	Notes:

Stick Phase

Play a combo if you have one. A combo must contain exactly 1 Pick card and 1 Booger card. The combo may also contain a Modifier card.

Discard the played combo. Get MNGP equal to the smaller value card (Pick or Booger) in the combo plus The bonus of the Modifier card if there is one. Certain cards played by your opponents can negate the Pick card or the Booger card.

If a card is negated, you may play another card to take its place. If not replaced the combo earns no points.

Flick Phase

Discard cards from your hand in excess of 5.

Numeria

Introduction

Abstract Board Game for 2 Players.

The Board

Use a standard Chessboard.

The Pieces

Use a set of 36 Tiles numbered 1 to 36.

Winning

The first player to collect 3 Tropes is the winner.

Setup

Each player draws a random Tile: High Number goes first. Randomly place the 36 Tiles onto the middle 36 spaces of the Board. Each tile should fit comfortably within a single space on the Board.

Each tile should be number side up. Remove the 4 Tiles from the 4 middle spaces of the Board. Randomly place these 4 Tiles onto the 4 corner spaces of the Board.

Tropes

A Trope is a line of 4 Tiles that make a recognized mathematical pattern. A Trope can be orthogonal or diagonal. The Tiles within a Trope must form a connected line of adjacent tiles.

In an orthogonal Trope tiles will share a side. In a diagonal Trope tiles will share a corner.

Officially Recognized Trope

Patterns list: Consecutive Run— (Four Consecutive Numbers) Example: 1,2,3,4 or 8,9,10,11

Multiples Run— Example: 3,6,9,12 or 8,12,16,20

Irregular Repeating Run— Example: 4,7,10,13 or 13,17,21,25

Plus 1 Plus 2 Plus 3 Run— Example: 16,17,19,22

Prime Number Run— (Must be consecutive Primes) Example: 1,2,3,5, or 7,11,13,17 or 23,29,31,33

Power Run— Example: 1,2,4,8 or 4,8,16,32 or 1,3,9,27

Squares Run— Example: 1,4,9,16 or 9,16,25,36

Triangular Run— Example: 1,3,6,10 or 6,10,15,21 or 15,21,28,36

Fibonacci Run— Example: 1,2,3,5 or 3,5,8,13 or 8,13,21,34

Trope Order Rule

Important: The numbers within a Trope must be in line in ascending or descending Order so for instance you could have 1,2,3,4 or 4,3,2,1 but not 2,3,1,4 or 4,2,1,3

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. On your turn you may Move 1 Tile. A Tile may be moved like a queen in Chess.

A Tile may also jump other tiles like in Checkers. When Jumping, there may be any number of Jumps and they may be in any direction, forwards and backwards. (Remember the starting space of a Tile you are moving just in case you change your mind mid-move) No Take-backs once your hand leaves the Tile.

Making A Trope

If you make a Trope on your turn remove it from the board and place it in a pile next to you. If you collect 3 Tropes you win. Note: Yes, really the 4 Tiles of the collected Trope are removed from the board for the rest of the game and cannot be used to make new Tropes.

You just have to make do with what is left.

Last Tile Standing Rule

You cannot move, or use in a Trope, the tile your opponent just moved on his last turn.

Double Tropes Rule

If you make a pattern of 2 tropes that shares 1 or more Tiles, you can only remove 1 Trope, the other does not count.

Finding A Trope

If you find an already completed Trope on the board made earlier, you may not claim it. You can only claim a trope you make yourself on the turn you make it.

Designers Notes

Numeria was the Roman Goddess of Mathematics.

Numica

Introduction

Strategy Board Game for 2 players. Game of Displacement.

Victory

Capture Opponents pieces. Either: 2 Square pieces & 2 Round pieces or 3 Square pieces or 3 Round pieces.

The Board

Use a chess board: 8 X 8 square grid.

The Pieces

Each player has a set of pieces (Men) of a unique color. (A red player & a blue player) A Set consists of 8 Pieces, 4 of them square and 4 of them round.

Tiles

Make a set of 64 Tiles as described in the Tile Set List. Tiles are flat counters/chits. A Tile must fit within one square on the board and one playing Piece must be able to be put on top of it.

Each Tile has a Symbol inscribed on it.

Setup Board

Randomly place the Tiles on the squares of the board. Each of the 64 Squares should contain 1 Tile face up.

Basic Tile Set List

Tile Symbol	Copies in Set
1	12
3	10

Setup Play

Each player places his 8 pieces on the back row of his side of the Board in any order. Red player goes first.

Stacking

Pieces never stack.

Turn Sequence

On your turn you may move 1 of your pieces. How the piece moves is determined by the Tile it is on. If the Tile Symbol is a number, the piece moves exactly that many Spaces in a straight line, orthogonally or diagonally and

- It jumps over other pieces.
- If the Symbol is a K, the piece moves like a knight in chess.
- If the Symbol is a R, the piece moves like a rook in chess.
- If the Symbol is a B, the piece moves like a bishop in chess.
- If the symbol is an X, the piece may move to any empty

Space on the board. If your piece lands on an opposing piece, you capture it. You may never land on one of your own pieces.

If you are ever unable to move, you automatically lose.

First Move Capture Rule

A piece cannot capture on its first move an opposing piece that has not moved yet so far during the game.

Game Designers Notes

Other Tile Types are possible. Other types of pieces (& victory conditions) with special abilities are also possible.

Operation Blitzkrieg

Introduction

Board & card game for 2 players. World War II theme. Abstract platoon level combat. Each figure represents a company or unit of men.

Victory

You rout the enemy if you destroy 9+ of his units.

The Map

Use an 8x8 chessboard.

The Men

Use chits or miniatures to represent units. There are 3 types of units: Cavalry, Infantry & Artillery. Each player starts with: 4 Tanks 8 Infantry 4 Artillery

Setup

Each player places one unit on each square of his back two rows. Units may not stack.

The Cards

Players share a common deck. The deck contains 2 copies of each card in the Card list.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 3 phases:

1. Orders Phase
2. Move Phase
3. Fire Phase

Orders Phase

Draw 3 cards. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it. Max hand size = 5 cards.
Discard excess cards.

Bazooka	2	A	I	T

Move Phase

Play (discard) a Move card to move one of your units. The move card has a number. This is the number of spaces the unit moves.

Moves can be diagonal or orthogonal. "Knight" type move cards allow a man to move like a knight in chess. Instead of moving just one unit in any direction, you have the option of moving one or more units forward the indicated number of spaces using a single move card.

Fire Phase

Play (discard) an Attack card to have a unit attack. The attack card has a number. This is the range of the attack.

Attacks can be diagonal or orthogonal. "Knight" type attack cards produce an attack with a range like a knight in chess. The enemy unit that is the target of the attack is automatically destroyed and removed from the map.

Your opponent may play certain Defense cards to negate your attack.

Opus Magnum

The Philosophers Stone

Introduction

Card Game for 2 or more players. Players are 17th century alchemists, competing for the creation of the Philosophers Stone.

Victory

The first player who creates the “Resurrected Lapis Philosophorum” wins.

Deck

Players share a common deck. There are 3 types of cards: Elements, Procedures and Substances.

Setup

Shuffle the deck and deal 5 cards to each player.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. The player born at the most eastern location goes first. Each turn has the following phases:

- Draw Phase
- Trade Phase
- Procedure Phase
- Discard Phase

Draw Phase

Draw a card. If the deck runs out of cards, shuffle the discard pile and use it as new draw pile.

Trade Phase

The player can trade any number of cards from his hand or previously created substances lying in front of him (see below) for any number of opponents cards or previously created substances. When previously created substances are traded, they stay created (face up on the table) and only change possession.

Procedure Phase

Substances have to be “produced”, elements have not. The player can produce substances by playing a procedure card, the corresponding starting substances (the input of the procedure) and the substance to be created (the output). Each substance-card names the procedure and starting substances that have to be played to complete the production of this substance. You have to play all ingredients at once. After playing, the starting substances and the procedure-card are discarded, the output of the procedure stays in front of the player. Only previously created substances can be starting substances for later procedures, you may not play substances as input of a procedure from your hand. This is obviously not the case for elements, which are not produced.

Examples: To create the substance “Philosophical Mercury” you need in your hand the elements “Alchemists Soul”, “Alchemists Spirit”, the procedure “Unification” and the substance-card. You play all 4 cards, discard the elements (input) and the procedure. The output-substance stays face up on the table. You want to create “White Materia”. You own this card, the element “Fire” and the procedure “Burning” in your hand and the previously created substances “Azoth” and “Clean United Substance” lying in front of you. Cards are played from your hand, all but “White Materia” are discarded.

Discard Phase

Discard cards from your hand to have a maximum of 7 cards.

Cards

ELEMENTS (9 cards each)

- The Alchemists Spirit
- The Alchemists Soul

Orcland 12 Ac

By Stave, (Dave Stattler)

Introduction

Post-apocalyptic fantasy. Players are part of an Orc warband seeking to loot and pillage.

Background:

The once-mighty Empire of the humans lays in ruins. 12 years ago, the Orc warlord Gakhar Flamebringer slew the Emperor and razed the Imperial capital. However, he was himself killed in that very battle. Afterwards, the Orc warbands under his command split apart and ran amok, fighting with each other and raiding the remaining cities of the Empire. Now all that remains of the Empire are a few City-states, choked with refugees and unable to get along, and a few scattered farming and fishing villages that have held out against pillaging Orcs. Various Barbarian groups once relegated to the lands beyond the Empire have now crossed its borders and made their own homes within. Everywhere the land is infested with the Orkish warbands, ranging in size from a few individuals to mighty armies, roaming and pillaging at will. You remember the Flamebringer, for you fought alongside him. You are an Orc, and though the Great Slaughter may have ended with the Flamebringer's death, your saga continues. The world lies bare before you. The Golden Age of Man is over, and the Age of Chaos has begun. What will you make of it?

Player Races-

Orcs: big, muscular killing machines. Goblins: smaller, faster, and sneakier.

ORCS: Warlord, Warriors, Shamans, Tracker/Hunter, Artillerist (mans siege engines), Chuck (rock or spear-thrower), Charioteer (Orc cavalry ride in boar-drawn chariots).

GOBLINS: Dabbler/Hedge Wizard, Assassin, Archer/Slinger, Fighter, Engineer/Inventor, Scout/Spy.

Npc Races-

Humans:

Imperial Humans mostly live in the few remaining City-states, which are overcrowded with refugees. Some live in small villages, where they hunt, farm, and fish. They resist Orcs fiercely. Humans are not as strong as Orcs or as quick as Goblins, but they fight with resolve and determination, as well as clever tactics.

Some Human Cities have been taken over by warlords or evil wizards, necromancers, or cults. Others are ruled by local nobles or town councils. A few have been turned into permanent bases for powerful Orc warbands, instead of being looted. Human adventurers, mercenaries, and freebooters can often be found roaming the wilderness, and will usually attack small warbands if they think they can get away with it. Barbarian humans tend to live in remote villages, or often as wandering nomads. They are usually fierce warriors. Some are willing to deal with Orcs, though most will hate you as much as the Imperials do.

Elves-

Live in deepest parts of forests and jungles. Few in number. Survivors are suspicious and xenophobic.

Humans caught in their territory will be turned away, Orcs will be killed.

Dwarves-

Sworn enemies of Orcs. Live in mountain holds and fortresses. Will defend their homes to the death, but will rarely be found abroad.

Trolls-

Big, powerful, stupid. Will eat humans whenever possible. May sign on as mercenary for Orc Warband if the grub is good.

Others:

Undead (Plentiful in war-ravaged world) Lizardmen/Dragonmen Giants/Ogres Demons The Orkish invasion has left much of the Empire as unpopulated wilderness, meaning that there are lots of dangerous beasts and monsters wandering about as well.

Adventures:

Raiding/Extorting human settlements, fighting other warbands, gathering new Orcs to your warband, hunting for food/loot, exploring ruins, enslaving a city or village, re-uniting warbands under your banner.

Victory

The first player to accumulate 25 Fana (Fame) points and survive is the winner. You may use teeth, pebbles, or bone fragments to represent Fana.

Population

Use Metal or plastic figures to represent your Population. 1 Figure = 1 Ork. You can have a maximum of 1 Household (Orkum) Totem per 10 Orks rounding down

1D6	Result:
0 or less	1D6 Orks Starve & Birth Roll -3 & All Orks -1 Force this turn
1	2 Orks Starve & Birth Roll -2 & All Orks -1 Force this turn
2-3	1 Ork dies from hardships & Birth Roll -1
4-5	Just Enough Food
6	Good Hunting: Birth Roll +1
7 or more	Abundance: Birth Roll +2

A number of cards will modify the Hunting roll.

Birth Phase

Roll 1D6. This is the Birth Roll. Increase your Population by this number. A number of cards will modify the Birth roll.

Culture Phase

You may (play/attach) cards to your Tribe or individual Ork figures. This includes: Weapons, Armor, Items, Modifiers. (This includes modifiers attached to opposing players Orks) A single Ork may only have one Armor and one Weapon card attached.

Cards attached to a figure are placed under it. Tribal Items & Modifiers are placed face up in front of you.

Setup

You start the Game with 10 Orks and a hand of 6 cards. The ugliest player goes first (or roll high if it's a tie)

Fana Pile

Keep next to you a pile of Foe cards you defeated. These are worth Fana (Fame) = one-fifth their Force. (Example: Men with 20 Force = 4 Fana)

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 7 phases: Trouble Phase Hunting Phase Birth Phase Culture Phase Foe Phase Battle Phase Healing Phase

Trouble Phase

Draw 3 cards. Max hand size is 9 cards. Discard excess cards.

Hunting Phase

Roll 1D6. This is the Hunting Roll.

Foe Phase

Any opponent may play one Foe card on you. 2 or more cards of the same Foe may be played - They add their Force together. You must fight it in Battle Phase.

You may play a Foe card on yourself. (This is called looking for Trouble)

Battle Phase

1. Calculate the Force Total for your Orks.
Ork Force Total = # of Ork Figures + Modifier & Relic card Bonuses. You may play appropriate Event cards to increase your Orks Force Total.

2. Determine the Force Total for the Foe.

3. Each side adds 1D6x10 to their Total. These are the Battle Rolls.

4. Determine the winner. The side with the higher modified Total is the Winner.

5. Roll 1D6. This is the Casualty Roll. This many

Orks are killed.

Repeat the above 6 steps until the Foe loses or you choose to Flee the Battle. If the Foe loses, put the Foe card into your Fana Pile. A Foe card in a Fana pile is worth Fana = 1/5 of its Force.

Fleeing Battle

You may Flee the Battle, but you automatically take 1D6 casualties.

Ork Casualties During Battle

For every casualty, discard one of your Ork figures. Also Discard all cards attached to a discarded figure. If you are reduced to zero population, you lose the game.

Healing Phase

Roll 1D6 for every Ork (with an attached card or Blood Token) killed in battle this turn. These are Healing Rolls. On a roll of 6+ the Ork is not killed.

For every Ork killed in Battle put a Blood Token on a surviving Ork. (You don't get to do this if you Fled) The Ork with the blood Token has +1 Force. An Ork can only ever have 1 Blood Token.

Levels And Starting Skills

Player Characters start at First Level. A Starting Character has Skills/Spells according to his class description. Spell Casters may with the GM's approval switch which Spells they know.

Starting Spells

These are determined by the choice of Character Class.

Sources Of Magic

Every Spell Caster has a Source of Magic. There are many possible sources of Magic: Wizardry, Divine, Druidism, Mental, Elemental, Necromantic, Witchcraft, Fey, Illusions, Alchemy, Artifice, Technomancy, Shamanism, Diabolism, etc. A Character will usually get his magic from just one or a very few sources.

Each source will be limited as to which Spells they can use per the GM.

Power Points

A Spell Caster uses up Power Points (PP) to Cast Spells. One PP per Spell. Some Skills and Relics add to PP for Spell Casting Only.

Saves

Beings that are the target of Spells may make a Saving Throw to try to avoid its effects.

Spells And Levels

Knowing the Level of the Caster and the Targets is critical for many Spells. In the Monster Lists the Monster Level will be given as LV.

Alignment

The Characters Alignment will usually match that of his Gods. There are two Primary Axes:

- Law - Chaos
- Good - Evil

Alignment on any Axis can change depending on the Characters actions. Primary Axes are suitable for some purposes, however other Secondary Axes can Flesh out a Characters Personality.

There are multiple possible Secondary Axes:

- Realist - Imaginative (How you deal with Information)
- Rational - Passionate (How you make Decisions)
- Extravert - Introvert (How you are Focused)
- Judgmental - Flexible (How you Live your Life)
- Disciplined - Wild (Your Degree of Self-Control)
- Super Ego - Ego (Do you care more about yourself or Others)

Culture And Homeland

Cultures come in 5 types: Primitive, Nomad, Barbarian, Kingdom, Imperial. These will limit available

Professions and Skills. The player must also pick his starting Homeland according to the Campaign setting and what the GM allows. Homeland will also further limit available Professions, Skills, Languages, and Patrons.

Gods Worshipped

The Character may worship some, none, or all of the Gods. Players should check out the Gods and Patrons Section to make a Selection or go by what the GM offers. Worship may range from a token affinity to priestly devotion.

11	Cousin(s)

Family/clan

What Family and/or Clan you belong to. This will also determine other things like Social Class, Dependents, and Background Story. a powerful family can mean that in addition to wealth and other Resources, you have obligations and enemies as well. In real life you can't pick your family, but in RPG's you can, so have fun with it and be creative.

Class Table

1D6	Social Class:
1	Slave or Escaped Slave
2	Lower Class
3	Lower Class

Wealth And Possessions

Starting Characters get only what the GM gives them per their Class Description. Different worlds will have very different class systems and measures of wealth. In general most Adventurers can expect to start things off with only the clothes on their back, a couple of weapons, and a handful of Coins in a pouch.

The player may be a Landowner. His Estates will have value and will generate incomes. Only some of a Characters wealth may exist in liquid form: Gold Coins and equivalents. Servants and slaves have value.

Dependants

These are living Friends and Relatives you still see on a regular basis and Who depend on you in some way. You may be especially close. They may Need financial Support. They may need Supervision or Protection. They May be worried about you or expect you home for dinner. You are Wanted and needed. You have both support and obligations. Pick freely off this List and/or Roll 1D6 - 2 Times on the Table to determine what dependents you have:

1D30	Dependents
12	Girlfriend/Boyfriend
13	Childhood Friend(s)
14	Drinking Buddies

17	Substitute Family
18	Partner(s)
19	Pet or Monster Friend
20	Mentor
21-25	Small Family
26-30	Large Extended Family

Social Class

Every culture type will have its own set of Social Class Designations. The Profession a player has chosen will limit his choices. Once players start adventuring their social class will often change dramatically according to their fortunes.

Adventurers are often considered outsiders and will be rejected by parts of the existing social order. Players are with the GM's permission free to choose any starting Social class they like. The GM may have players pick a result or simply roll on the Class Table:

1D6	Social Class:
4	Middle Class
5	Minor Nobility
6	Greater Nobility

Magic Items are certainly of great rarity and value.

Reputation

This is highly variable. It will be limited to a time and place. It may be good or bad. It will incur a Charisma Bonus or Penalty. It is possible for a Character to have multiple Reputations in different locales. For some professions, like entertainers, reputation, or Fame, is extremely important. Many men spend a great deal of time, money, and effort cultivating their Reputation.

Higher Level Npc's

Assume a Character gains 1 skill or spell per Level. For an important NPC you may want to hand pick these. Or you may want to cut a few corners...

–For a Spell Caster assume half the Slots go to Spells and the other half go to +1 increases in Power Points.

–For a Combat Heavy NPC have a third go to Attack Bonus, another third go to Defense Bonus, and the last third non-critical skills such as carousing, gambling, cooking, gossip, haggling, and what-not.

–For a non-combat NPC use half the slots to bolster their specialty and the rest as non-critical skills.

Multi-classing

Not a major issue in this System since skill selection is not limited by Class. A Character, as he levels up, can always select Skills more appropriate for another Class, and assume the Trappings as well. A Ranger with an Axe can call himself a Woodsman or a Fighter or whatever he wants.

Note: The high bonus starting Skills of some classes would take many Levels to replicate 1 Skill slot at a time. Also, going from a Non-Spell-Caster to a Spell-Caster will take 2-5 years of Training.

BACKGROUND STORY

Rules Manual

General Rules

Skill Checks And Saving Throws

Whenever a Character goes to do something that may have a Chance of Either Failure or Success, The GM may deem it necessary to make a Skill Check or Saving Throw. This is done by rolling one 20 sided die (1D20) and adding any Modifiers. Bonuses give a positive Modifier. Penalties give a negative Modifier. The result is determined by consulting the Action Resolution Table. First the GM must determine the Difficulty of the Check. All Combat Attacks are considered Medium Difficulty. All Saving Throws are considered Hard Difficulty. If the modified roll is equal to or greater than the Target Number the action is a success. If it is lower, the action is a Failure.

Action Resolution Table

Difficulty:	Target#:	Notes:
Simple	4	-
Easy	6	-
Medium	10	Combat Attacks

Difficulty:	Target#:	Notes:
Hard	13	Magic Saving Throws
Very Hard	16	-
Heroic	20	-

Stat Modifiers

Add the appropriate Stat to the Roll if there is one.

Skill Modifiers

Presence or absence of a Specific Skill can modify the Roll. Having an applicable Skill can give a bonus of +1 or more. Not having an applicable skill may give a hefty penalty (-10) or make the attempt impossible. For example, reading Elven when no one in the Party can Speak Elven.

Conditions

Conditions modify Checks and Saves as well as Attack, Damage, and Death Rolls. Positive Conditions are called Boons. Negative Conditions are called Hinderances.

Conditions will also affect Attack and Damage Rolls made against the Character, not just the ones made by the Character. The GM will assign and Remove Conditions at his discretion.

Hinderances (harms)

Negative Conditions are called Hinderances (or Harms). Negative Conditions can include: Stunned, Cursed, Encumbered, Injured, Sickened, Blind, Deaf, Stressed, Dazed, Hungry, Thirsty, Angry, Confused, Fatigued, Dehydrated, Cold, Hot, Itchy, Demoralized, Insane, Hurting, Bleeding, Poisoned, Afraid, Spellburn, etc. Each Negative Condition gives a -1 to all Checks and Saves.

Note that Wounds are not considered Hinderances. Negative conditions can be assigned by the GM to turn a Failure into a Partial Success.

Boons

Positive Conditions are called Boons. Positive Conditions include: Inspired, Blessed, Refreshed, Energized, Luck, Good Morale, Manic, etc. Each Positive Condition gives a +1 to all Checks, Saves, and Rolls.

Combat

Treat Attack Rolls like Saves or Skill Checks. Attack rolls are always medium Difficulty. Add the Attacker's Attack (Agility) Modifier and Subtract the Defender's Defense (Reflexes) Modifier.

Note that Shields provide a Defense Bonus, not an Luck Boons will last 1D10 Hours or until a natural 1 or 20 is rolled. Good Morale will last 1D6 Hours or until a Morale check is Failed.

Saving Vs Magic

Important: All Saving Throws vs Magic are considered Hard. Characters may make Saving throws to avoid the detrimental effects of Spells and similar Magical Powers or Abilities. Modifiers (Defenders Stat Bonus) to the Saving Throw will depend on the type of Magic Used. If a Spell fits more than 1 of the below categories, the GM will have to decide which category is to be used.

Armor Bonus.

Damage Rolls

Roll 1D20 and add any Damage Modifiers. Subtract the Armor rating of the Defender. Note that this is a Sliding Scale, not a simple Target Number.

Damage Table

1D20	Result:
5 or Less	Stunned (Hinderance)
6-15	1 Wound
16-19	2 Wounds (Plus 1 Bleeding Hinderance)
20-22	3 Wounds (Plus 1 Injury and 1 Bleed Hinderance)
23-24	4 Wounds

1D20	Result:
25	5 Wounds
26	6 Wounds
27	7 Wounds
28	8 Wounds
29	9 Wounds
30+	10 Wounds

Unconsciousness/death

Foes will simply Die after receiving a number of Wounds equal to or in excess of their Wound Limit. (For an Orc or Goblin might be 1 wound, For an Ogre it might be 8 wounds) When a Hero or Major Villain reaches his Wound Limit and for every wound sustained thereafter, roll 1D6 on the Death Table. Apply Boons and Harms just like for a Skill Check.

If a Hero takes 4 or More Wounds in a Single Attack roll on the Death Table.

Death Table

1D20	Result:
3 or less	Outright Killed
4-6	Mortal Wound (Dies in 3D6 Turns unless at least 1 Wound Healed)
7-9	Unconscious (1D6 Hours: Wakes with Wounds = 1 less than Limit)
10+	Keep Going

Surprise

The GM may require a Surprise Check. Add the attackers Stealth and subtract the Defenders Perception from the Roll. The Attacker gets First attack at +4 to Hit.

Initiative

The GM will Rule on Initiative in all cases. Simply go clockwise around the Table. Resolve Character Actions. Foes attack as a result of complications or simply when the GM declares they do.
A Round is when every Character has had a Turn to act.

Action Resolution Chart

This can be used as a Worksheet to keep track of Multiple Modifiers. Use plastic pawns directly on a copy of the Chart.

- First the GM will place a Pawn in one of the Difficulty Circles to indicate the Target Number.
- If the roll is modified by a Stat place a Pawn on the Stat Column.

- Likewise if a Skill is appropriate place another Pawn.
- If any Weapons or Relics apply place another Pawn.
- Place a Pawn for the sum of Boons and Harms. Note that these negate each other.
- Place a Pawn on the Foe column to keep track of Mods used by a resisting Foe.
- Finally sum up all the previous columns to get a

Mod Total to be added to the D20.

Example: Attacking

Lets say the action is a PC attacking an Orc with a Sword.

- All attacks are Medium Difficulty so a Pawn is placed in the Target Circle.
- The PC has Agility+1 so place a Pawn on the +1 in the Stat Column.
- The PC has a Skill of Sword+1 so place a Pawn on the +1 in the Skill Column.
- The PC wields a Magic Sword+2 so place a Pawn on the +2 in the Relic Column.
- The PC was Blessed for +2 but also has a Bleed for -1 so place a Pawn on the +1 in the Boon/Harms Column.
- The Orc has a Shield so place a Pawn on the -1 in the Foe Column.
- Add up all the above: Place a Pawn on the +4 in the Total Column.
- The Player roll an 8. Modified by +4 the result is a 12. This exceeds the Target number of 10 for medium difficulty, so the attack succeeds. Next roll for Wounds.

Example: Damage

Determining the Damage done by the preceding Attack.

- No Target Circle needs to be chosen. Damage is a Sliding Scale.
- The PC has Strength+2 so place a Pawn on the +2 in the Stat Column.
- The PC has a Skill of Sword+1 so place a Pawn on the +1 in the Skill Column.
- The PC wields a Magic Sword+2 so place a Pawn on the +2 in the Relic Column.
- The PC was Blessed for +2 but also has a Bleed for -1 so place a Pawn on the +1 in the Boon/Harms Column.
- The Orc has Armor+1 so place a Pawn on the -1 in the Foe Column.
- Add up all the above: Place a Pawn on the +5 in the Total Column.
- The Player roll a 12. Modified by +5 the result is a 17. Looking at the Very Hard Target circle we see that Damage rolls of 16+ result in 2 Wounds and a Bleed. The Orc only had a Wound Limit of Two so he is automatically killed.

Example: Saving Throw

Our Intrepid PC is the Target of a Petrification Spell. If we look at the Saving vs Magic Stat List, we see Reflexes will modify the Save.

- The Target Circle is Automatically Hard. The Target number is 13.
- The PC has Reflexes+1 so place a Pawn on the +1 in the Stat Column.
- The PC has no Skills that will help.

- The PC wears a Ring of Magic Resistance+2 so place a Pawn on the +2 in the Relic Column.
 - The PC has no Conditions at this point so the Boons/Harms Column is empty.
 - The Foe Column does not apply in this case so it is also left empty.
 - Add up all the above: Place a Pawn on the +3 in the Total Column.
 - The Player roll a 6. Modified by +3 the result is a 9. The PC is now a solid Rock.
- Good thing his friend has a Dispel at the Ready.

Example: Skill Check

Our PC wants to jump across a 20 Foot Chasm. The GM determines that this is a Feat of Heroic Level Difficulty which has a Target number of 20. The GM determines that the Agility Stat is most appropriate.

- The PC has Agility+2 so place a Pawn on the +2 in the Stat Column.
- The PC has a Skill of Jump+1 so place a Pawn on the +1 in the Skill Column.
- The PC wears Boots of Speed. Because of this the GM decides to give the PC +2 in the Relic Column.
- The PC drank a Potion of Luck for 4 Boons so place a Pawn on the +4 space in the Boon/Harms Column.
- The Foe Column does not apply in this case so it is also left empty.
- Add up all the above: Place a Pawn on the +9 in the Total Column. The actual sheet only goes up to +6 so you could put a pawn on the +6 and another on the +3.
- The Player roll a 11. Modified by +9 the result is a 20. Perfect. The PC makes the Jump and saves the day!

Interpreting Skill Check Table Results

This is the Realm of the GM to assess the degree of Success or Failure. We will use a Pit Jumping Example:

- Fail by a large Amount: Down you go. Might be time to roll up a new Character
- Fail Narrowly: Not good. Make an Agility Check to grab onto the opposite Ledge. Then make Strength Check to pull yourself up.
- Narrow Success: No Problem. That's how it's done.
- Succeed by a Wide Margin: Inspiring. The Characters jumping after you get +1

Complications

These can occur according to GM whether the result is a success or a failure, or can be used as a penalty to turn a Failure into a Success. Something changes in the Narrative to the Character's detriment: Guards show up, An Item is dropped or lost, the enemy gets to attack, Ammo is used up, The Foe escapes, The rope breaks, The Fire Spreads, The Water Rises, A Mishap, A Fumble, etc.

Healing

The Stunned Condition will go away in 1D10 Turns. Healing a Wound will Remove all Bleeding Hinderances. By themselves, Wounds will heal at a rate of 1 per day. A Successful First Aid Check will Heal 1 Wound. If failed, First Aid will no longer Heal unless there is a newer Wound. However it can be used again to remove Bleeding Hinderances. Medical attention will heal an extra Wound per day. Complete Rest will also heal an extra Wound per day.

Injuries

A special type of Hinderance that do not heal or take a long time to heal without Magic. These are assigned at the GM's discretion. Examples include: Amputations, Broken Bones, Burns, Magical Wounds

Regeneration

A Creature with Regeneration heals 1 Wound per Turn or Minute. They cannot be killed unless be-headed, burned up, disintegrated, etc. They can reat-tach limbs quickly, but re-growing limbs usually takes longer. Some regenerating undead can reattach their head but cannot regenerate from Holy Water or Holy Magic. Make sure to not reattach the wrong limb to the wrong spot.

Casting Spells

A Spell you know normally takes a turn to cast and costs 1 Power Point. The caster must have his hands free and be able to speak. If written in a Book or on a Scroll you are reading from, you can cast a Spell that you don't know. This will take 1D6 turns and cost 2 PP.

Encumbrance Rules

Encumbrance is how weighed down you are by your possessions. It is measured in Encumbrance Points (EP). Your EP Limit is = 10 + (2 x Strength). The Porter Skill gives +3 to your EP limit. The Encumbrance Table lists items and their EP costs. The Overload Table gives penalties for being excessively Encumbered. For every Hinderance a character has their Move Rate is reduced by 10%.

Overload Table

Encumbrance:	%	Hinderances:
Lightly	50-100%	1
Moderately	101-150%	2

Poisons

When Poisoned, make a Save vs Death modified by Toughness. A Strong Poison will Kill in 1D6 x 10 Seconds. A Moderate Poison will Kill in 3D10 Minutes. A Weak Poison will kill in 1D20 Hours. Even if the Poison does not Kill, the victim will suffer 1D4 Hinderances for 1D4 Days.

Immobilized

Immobilized Characters can do nothing except possibly attempt to break free from their bonds. This could be a Will, Wits, Strength, or Agility check as determined by the GM.

Starting Makers

A Character with Artifice, Technomancy, or Fetishes will, as a starting character, begin play with 1 appropriate Minor Relic. A Character with Alchemy will start with 4 Minor Potions.

Game Master Rules

This list is for the GM only not the players. You control if a NPC has a Spell and if and when and how they use it. You may not want the PC's to have certain Spells. They may unbalance your campaign. A PC can only gain access to a Spell if you allow it. At level increases you tell them which Spells are available to be learned.

Just because a Player wants a Spell doesn't mean they get it.

Combo Spells

Advanced casters can combine two or more Spells into one producing a novel effect. This would be simultaneous casting. For example: A wizard might cast Fireball and Invisibility to create an invisible Fireball. The Word and Symbol Spells are designed to be used in Spell Combos.

The Term Elemental

A spell can have many variations depending on the manifestation of its power. The Typical Elements are Fire, Water, Air, and Earth. However many others are available: Steam, Lava, Stone, Iron, Crystal, Wind, Ice, Plants, Shadow, Void, Holy, Unholy, Chaos, Law, Magnetic, Diamond, Metal, Sun, Light, Darkness, Tar, Lightning, Energy, Force, Plasma, Flesh, Bone, Poison, Slime, Acid, Sand, Mud, Clay, etc. Practically any Substance can be substituted.

The GM will have to develop rules for any he wants to include. For example: What would the properties of a Wall of Flesh have (Regeneration) compared to a Wall of Iron (Armor+5)?

Character Progression

Leveling Up: Progression And Experience Points

Players gain 1-5 XP per Adventuring session. Players need 5 XP to advance to level 2. Players need 10 XP to advance to levels 3-5.

Players need 20 XP for every level 6 and above. XP Total resets to 0 after each Level gain. At each level advance the Character gains 1 Skill or 1 Spell.

The GM will tell the PC which Skills or Spells are Available. Note: It is possible to learn extra Skills/Spells without going up a level at the GM's discretion. The GM may also require the Character to achieve a Milestone to Advance in addition to the XP. Milestones can include:

- Defeating a Major Foe
- Completing a Quest
- Defeating a Monster Singlehandedly
- Winning a Duel
- Training under a Master
- Taking time to Train or Study
- Stealing a Relic
- Studying at a Dojo, Academy, or University
- Destroying a Place of Evil
- Building a Temple or Workshop
- Leading an Army in Battle

The GM can take away XP if necessary for bad behaviors such as cheating or blurting things out.

Multi-classing

If a Character has accumulated most of the Skills described in a class description, he can legitimately consider himself to be a member of that profession. However his Social Class, Culture, and Reputation might not warrant it. For example a Knight might eventually acquire most of the skills of a Noble and later those of a General. To learn Secondary Spellcasting requires at least 2 years with a Master. To learn Primary Spellcasting requires at least 5 years with a Master.

Status And Rulership

As Characters level up and become more powerful, their expectations and that of those around them change. Humans (and their ilk) are Social Animals. They progress from Adventurers to Rulers.

The path is different based on the Characters self Image and the perceptions of others. A Variety of Progression Tables and explanations are provided below.

Fighter Class Progression Path

This would primarily apply to Warriors, Cavaliers, Nobles, Paladins, Templars, Holy Warriors, Highlanders, Commanders, Champions, Avengers, Battle Masters, Samurai, and Soldiers. Also Rangers who want to settle down. Duelists and Martial artists can also go this Route.

Rogue types and even Merchants seeking Noble Prestige as well can occasionally buy their way in depending on the culture. By 7th level these Adventuring types usually have acquired enough Money to buy into the aristocracy. Or through their reputation Alone they may be granted A Knighthood. This includes a Manor House (Tiny Castle) overseeing a Village of around 300 people that is 6-9 Miles square. By 11th Level He should be able to buy or be rewarded the Title of Count. The Count controls a County which is roughly 1 Map Hex.

A Hex will be 30 Miles across (1 Days Travel) and will contain 200 Villages, 1 Castle, and 45% chance of a Town or 5% of a City. He will control The Villages and Castle, but not the bigger Settlements. They will have their Own Laws and Charters. Each Village (or Manor) will provide One Knight and Ten Fighting Men that can be mustered. A County Contains 60,000 Villagers.

By 14th Level the Character will have the Title of Duke and Control a Duchy. A Duchy is composed of 2 to 6 Counties. At 17th Level our Fighter will have battled and intrigued with The other Dukes enough to Grasp the Title of King, Supreme Ruler of the Land. A Small Kingdom will have from 5 to 33 Hexes.

Primarily for Barbarians, Vikings, Nomads, Amazons, and Tribal Warrior Types. Also works for Shamans and other primitive Casters. A more primitive social structure than that of the Feudal system the Fighter types are stuck with.

Title and power have to be fought for, either Combat between Leaders or Ritual Tribal Warfare. Otherwise the pattern is similar. Barbarian Empires are called Confederations.

Gods & Patrons

Introduction

This Section describes the Cosmological order of the Other Worldly Warlocks Universe and provides a list of Gods for which the Player Characters can seek Patronage.

Beings With God Like Powers.

Not every being with God Like powers is worshipped as a God. Not every Being worshipped as a God has God like powers. Such is the folly of Mortals.

Alignments

There are nine Universal Alignments. Each of these has an associated group of representative Creature Types that are the Incarnations and manifestations Of that Alignment:

Alignment:	Creature:	Leaders:
True Neutral	Archons	Absolute Archons
Pure Good	Angels	Seraph Angels
Pure Evil	Horrors	Ultimate Horrors
Pure Law	Singularities	Supreme Singularities
Pure Chaos	Abominations	Apex Abominations
Lawful Good	Devas	Devine Devas
Lawful Evil	Devils	Arch Devils
Chaotic Good	Cherubs	Exalted Cherubs
Chaotic Evil	Demons	Demon Princes

The Universal Balance

Some worlds may fall under the sway of one Alignment or Another, but in the great scheme of things, this always Evens out on a universal Scale, or at least, always has.

Other Things Of Great Power

- Not all Beings are Beholden to the Alignment based power Structures. Some are Older, Some Alien, Some are just funny shaped Pegs. These include the Following:
- Primordials: These Beings control Time, Space, Energy, Matter, and The Forces of Nature. They provide the Framework for everything else.
 - Elder Gods: These Guys have been around forever. They Sleep. They Dream. They have Nightmares. They Drool. They Cough And Sputter. They ooze Corruption and Divine Power. They Are the Senior Citizens of the Universe.
 - Outer Gods: Alien Gods from the far ends of the Multiverse. Their mere thoughts drive mortals insane.

- Their cruelty is without Limit and their power levels are incomprehensible.
- Djinn: A Race with Godlike Powers for Sure. Able to make every Wish come true. Mortals can do worse than seek patronage With them.
 - Sphinx: Strange Beings of Superior Intellect and Wisdom. The Terrible Secrets of the Universe and all Time are at their Disposal and Contemplation
 - Fey: Faerie Magic is by its Nature most Elusive. The Lords of the Fey can protect their own to the chagrin of those that want to Steal that Power.
 - Celestials: Zodiac Gods, Planetary Spirits, Solar Entities. These Are the Celestial Spheres themselves. The background upon Which we play out our short Lived Dramas.
 - Pantheons: The Offspring of the Gods and their Children. On Worlds where they are worshiped they play with men's lives as Men might play chess. Scores of these exist, hidden in pocket Universes across the Cosmos.
 - Gods of Creation: Paragons, Prime Movers, and the Godhead. The Creators of Worlds. The Creators of the Alignments. The Creator of the Universe.

-Gods of Magic: Strange, Changeable Beings able to break The Laws of Nature and change reality at will. They are manifestations of the Source of magic itself.

-Nature Bound Gods: Nature Gods bound to a Specific Planet. Some are Caretakers and Nurturers of Living Things. Others Lord over the Winds or the Waves or the very Earth itself.

-Elemental Lords: Powerful being that occupy the Elemental Planes. They can be cajoled into sharing their power by Those unafraid of getting Burned, or Crushed, or Drowned.

-Beast Lords: Lord of Cats, Lord of Wolves, Lord of Birds, and Many more. They make awesome allies to those who can Earn their fickle Trust.

-Great Spirits: Ghostly Forms of Kings and Mighty Spell Casters. These Roam the Ethereal Plane at Will.

They Go where they want and do what they want. Woe to those Who get in their Way.

-Ascended Immortals: Mortal Men who, through force of will, Great cunning, and the Strongest Magics have taken their place Amongst the Gods. An Inspiration to us All.

Patronage And Priesthood

A priest will have a dress code and can only carry weapons preferred by their Patron. The Priest will have additional responsibilities such as ministering to a flock, preaching the word, taking orders from higher level Priests, and fighting oppositional religions. Most Religions do allow time for adventuring, especially if it advances the Cause of the Deity.

Each God has one or more associated Magic Types and Priests will mostly know spells of this type.

Transmigration Of The Souls

All things, living and non-living, generate spirits (souls). When the physical thing is destroyed, the Spirit is set Free. In the case of humans, most fly off into the Ether headed to one of the Outer Planes. Some become stuck or trapped. These are Ghosts and all the variants of such. Some Wander freely.

Some are reborn, willing or not. Some are destroyed, consumed or enslaved by Wizards, More Powerful Spir- its, or beings from the outer planes. If the Soul was religious, it will eventually find its way to its Patron's abode, or be collected by its Patron's minions (Psy- chopomps). The Patron may then, as it wishes, reward or punish the soul. Souls found on the outer Planes are often referred to as Shades.

Astral Projecton

The Soul or Spirit leaves the unconscious body. The Spirit remains tethered to the Body by a Silver Cord. If the Cord is cut this is equivalent to Death.

Most Spirits may go anywhere, including other peo- ples Dreams. The Spirit world is also called the Astral Plane. A disembodied spirit can still interact with the physical world.

A Spirit can be visible or invisible, heard or unheard. A Spirit can open a door or simply walk through it. A Spirit can make "Physical" attacks.

Spirits can be attacked with magic spells and weapons. Some spirits are susceptible to Fire, Cold Iron, or Silver.

The Ethereal Plane

Similar to Astral projection but the Body and Soul remain Together. Ethereal Beings are invisible but not to other Ethereal beings. The Ethereal form is insubstantial and so cannot interact by touch.

You can walk through a Door but not open one. The Ethereal being can attack or be attacked with magic spells and weapons. Some Ethereal Monsters can make Physical Attacks.

The Ethereal Plane is contiguous with most other Planes.

WL Wound Limit

Giant Sizes

Anything bigger than normal can be called "Giant Size"

- When a Creature is Large Size it is 1-2 Levels bigger.
- When a Creature is Huge Size it is 3-4 Levels bigger.
- When a Creature is Monstrous Size it is 5-6 Levels bigger.
- When a Creature is Humongous Size it is 7-9 Levels bigger.
- When a Creature is Gargantuan Size it is 10-15 Levels bigger.
- A Tiny or Shrunk version will have a Size Level of 1D3.

Notes On Giant Size

Creatures of SL 9+ are immune to stun and most immobilization attacks. They are less affected by human size doses of poison. Grappling them is not terribly effective unless you get them around the neck possibly.

Creature Stats

Stats are given for Size and Level as general guidelines, however there are other Stats, especially combat related ones, that can be used to describe your Foes. The values can be whatever the GM desires. Stats of interest include: Wounds, Damage, Armor, Attack, Defense, Movement, Power Points and Magic Resistance.

Wound Limit

Size Level directly ties into WL. Recommendations are given in the above table. Creatures with Wounds in excess of their WL are killed.

Damage

Damage would be influenced by both Size and Level. You might want to give the Kobold a -1 and the Ogre a +6. A rule of thumb is to give +2 for each SL greater than 6.

Armor

For roughly man-size opponents use any actual Armor they are wearing. Larger Foes have thick hides and should get a bonus for that. The Delicate Fairy might get -1 while the Scaled Dragon has a +5. A rule of thumb is to give +1 for each SL greater than 6.

Other Worldly Physical Mutation Table

SL	Example:	WL	Others:
16	Kaiju	100	Godlings

Attack

Bonus for Monster to hit when it is Attacking. The Clumsy Troll might get a -1 whereas the skilled elf has a +3. A rule of thumb is to give +1 for every 2 Levels.

Defense

Bonus for Monster to avoid being hit when Attacked. The large purple Worm might have a -3 but the quick giant Spider has a +3. A rule of thumb is to give +1 for every 2 Levels.

Movement

Normal human speed is 30 Feet per combat turn. You might declare your Vampires can move 10 times as fast or 20 times faster if flying.

Power Points

For casting Spells if the Monster is a Spellcaster. Note that many Monsters have Spell like abilities that do not use PP but rather can be used a certain number of times a day or even without any real limits.

Magic Resistance

Larger and higher Level Monsters can often just Shrug off your Death Spells and Teleport (50 Feet into the Ground) Spells. However, If they fail a save the Spell might just cause a few wounds.

More Stats

Sometimes you will need to come up with other stats or modifiers as well, such as Grappling or Save vs Persuasion. Size and Level are good guidelines but the GM should always go with his gut instincts.

Clothing

This varies enormously depending on who the owner of the Closet or Trunk is. A Kings Wardrobe will be very different from that of the 4-Armed High Priestess. If anything is magical it will probably be just 1 or a few items such as a belt or a cloak.

Furnishings

Like clothing this will vary according to the (previous) owners, as well as what type of room it is. A Kitchen may have a pot that heats up and cooks by itself. The Throne in a Throne room may be enchanted to make whomever sits upon it Paranoid. The Tapestry in a Hallway may show a moving picture of a battle fought long ago.

A Cradle may bestow +1 Charisma once to any baby who sleeps the night in it.

Random Encounter Tables

Wayfarer System

Introduction

The Wayfarer System gives some tools and options to Game Masters who need to create an adventure on the Fly. Basically it is a series of Encounter Tables that allows the GM and Players to start playing with

1D6	Starting Location:
1	Wilderness
2	Village
3	Town

Minimal Preparation. It is intended that the GM roll secretly on these tables, and then have the players roleplay the results.

Steps In The Wayfarer System

Address the Following steps in order.

1. Character Readiness
2. Determine Adventure Type
3. Determine Distance to Adventure Site

I. Character Readiness

If the Characters do not have characters generate New ones. Or use already established experienced Characters. The GM may need to randomly determine their starting Point:

1D6	Starting Location:
4	City
5	Castle
6	Temple

Ii. Determine Adventure Type

1D10	Type:
1-2	Classic Dungeon
3-4	Major Foe
5-6	Other World

1D10	Type:
7-8	Quest
9-10	Geopolitical

Or pick one. For lower level characters, new players, or a quicker start pick the Classic Dungeon Option.

Iii. Determine Distance To Adventure Site

1D10	Distance
1	You're there already. How Convenient!
2	1 Wilderness Trek
3	2 Wilderness Treks
4	1 Sea Voyage then 1 Trek
5	1 Trek then 1 Portal

1D10	Distance
6	1 Trek 1 Portal 1 Trek
7	2 Treks 1 Portal 1 Trek
8	1 Trek 1 Sea Voyage 2 Treks
9	1 Sea Voyage 1 Trek 1 Portal 1 Trek
10	3 Treks

Classic Dungeons

Once you have navigated the wilderness Treks, Sea Voyages, and Portals, you can enter the Dungeon! To complete the Dungeon will require 3D6 consecutive encounters on the Basic Dungeon Encounter Table.

Other Worlds

You need magic or a Portal to get There. The GM picks or Roll on the Other Worlds Table to see where you are going. The GM will have to Make up encounter Tables suitable for these alien worlds. Other Worlds are listed on a separate Page.

Major Foes

Determine who the Major foe is at the beginning of the Adventure by rolling on the Major Foe Table. After completing the Treks and Dungeon you will meet, fight, and hopefully defeat the Foe. Like all encounters the GM will have to provide the details on the Major Foe. Major Foes are listed on a separate Page.

Quests

These are usually Provided to the Player Characters by a meddling Non-player Character. The GM will have to Flesh these out. Quests are listed on a separate Page.

Geopolitical

For Higher Level Characters with Holdings. Defend your Kingdom, Start Wars, Manage your resources, build your Empire.

Ottoman Empire

Introduction

Drafting and Bidding Game for 4 Players. Modified rules for other numbers of players. Historical Theme: The Ottoman Empire.

Game Structure

The game has 2 main parts. The first part is a Draft to allocate Stacks of Cards for Bidding. The second part is a series of 7 sequential Bidding Rounds.

Each Round scores Victory Points for the winner of that Round. Each Round represents a period of History.

Victory

The player with the most Victory Points (VP) at the end of the 7 Bidding Rounds is the winner.

Number:	Title:	VP
I	Rise	11
II	Expansion	12
III	Apogee	13
IV	Revolts & Revival	10

Draft Setup

Distribute the Dummy Decks. Shuffle the Bidding Deck Divide the Bidding Deck into 16 Draft Stacks. Each Draft Stack will have 5 Cards.

The remaining 4 unused cards are returned to the box. The Draft stacks are placed face-up in the middle of the table. All 16 stacks can be inspected by each player. (allow 10-15 minutes total for this)

The Draft

Assign each player a Rank. (Draw high from the Randomizer Deck) The Available Ranks are A, B, C, and D. In the following sequence each player takes any 1 remaining Draft Stack:

Abcddcbaabccddcba

Each player will be in possession of 4 Draft Stacks (20 cards)

Making The Bid

Each player will now have 27 cards with which to bid with (20 Draft & 7 Dummy Bid cards) Each player

Dummy Decks Card List

The Draft Deck

This is a common deck composed of 84 Cards. Each has a Bid Value of 2-13. Lower value cards (2-8) can be used in any Bid Round.

Higher Value cards (9-13) are limited to use in only one specific Bid Round.

Dummy Decks

Each player gets his own personal 7 card Deck of Dummy cards. Each player must include exactly 1 Dummy card in each of his 7 Bids.

The Bidding Rounds

There are 10 Bidding Rounds:

V	Stagnation & Reform	9
VI	Decline & Modernization	8
VII	Dissolution	7

Players will try to assign all their 27 Bid cards into piles. If unable to do this, unused cards should be tossed into the box.

Reveal The Bids

The Bids are revealed one at a time. All players flip over their Bid Round I pile. The player with the highest Total Bid value wins the Bid and earns 11 VP (per Chart) for winning Bid I. Now proceed to Bid Round II and so on.

If 2 or more players Tie on a bid, each gets the full VP award. After each Bid Round, all cards from that Bid are returned to the Box.

Overlords

Introduction

Abstract strategy game for 2 players. Fantasy theme.

Victory

Capture your opponents Overlord and become the one true overlord. Or control all 9 Source Features.

Features, Pieces, Markers, Rune Stones, And Fate Stones

Features are terrain types on the board. Pieces are the units that move around and fight on the board. Markers show ownership of Source Features.

Rune Stones are used in conjunction with Fate Stones to move and recruit pieces.

The Board

Use a 8 X 8 square grid. Most spaces are empty. Some spaces contain features.

There are 5 types of features:

- Castles (Source: recruit Heroes)
- Towers (Source: recruit Wizards)
- Dragon Lairs (Source: recruit Dragons)
- Bottomless Pits (Barrier)
- Mountains (Barrier)

The board should contain 3 of each feature randomly distributed. Use 2D8 to determine the X & Y axis & reroll if space occupied.

Rune Stone List

#	Description
1	Move one figure like a King in Chess (Never on Dragon)
2	Move one figure like a Bishop in Chess
3	Move one figure like a Rook in Chess (Never on Wizard)
4	Move one figure like a Knight in Chess (Never on Hero)
5	Move one figure to any empty space on the board
6	Recruit a figure onto an empty Source space you control
7	Move one figure like a Pawn in Chess (Never on Overlord)

Fate Stone List

- 2 Hero Stones
- 2 Wizard Stones
- 2 Dragon Stones
- 1 Overlord Stone

The Pieces

Each player has a set of figures of a unique color. A set includes: 1 Overlord 3 Wizards 2 Dragons 4 Heroes

Control Markers

Each player has a set of markers of a unique color. These are used to denote control of Castles, Towers & Lairs.

Rune Stones

Each player has a set of 7 Rune Stones and 7 Fate Stones.

Setup

Each player starts with one Overlord, one Dragon, one Wizard, and one Hero. Place these on your back row in any order. White goes first.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Play a Rune stone and a Fate Stone to move the indicated Piece in the indicated way. Once a Stone is played you cannot play it again until after your next Reckoning.

When you have played all 14 Stones, place them all back in your hand. This event is known as the reckoning.

Moving

Only one figure per space ever maximum. No unit may ever move into a Barrier space. Dragon Pieces may move through Barriers (but not end their move on one).

The "Knight" Rune stone allows Wizards and Overlords to "jump" over barriers. You must move if possible. If no move is possible, discard a Rune Stone and a Fate Stone. When using the Recruit Stone the Fate Stone you use with it determines the Unit type you get.

Capturing

You capture an enemy figure by moving onto it with one of your figures. Dragons cannot capture Heroes. Wizards cannot capture Dragons.

Heroes cannot capture Wizards. Overlords can capture any type of piece.

Controlling Source Spaces

Castles, Towers, and Dragon Lairs are collectively referred to as Source spaces. Every time you land on a Source space with one of your figures, remove any opponents control markers and put down one of your control markers on the space.

Recruiting

Place a figure on an empty source space you control.

- Castles can only recruit Heroes.
- Towers can only recruit Wizards.
- Lairs can only recruit Dragons.

Notes

The Oz series includes 40 books. I would love to read these and add material to the card lists. The above card list is based on the first book and tidbits From some of the other books.

Feedback & Corrections

I only bothered because you clearly mentioned that your sources were from the books and not the 1936 MGM Film, so please allow me:

Glinda (not Glenda, thats from MGM)

Winged Monkeys (not Flying (MGM))

Silver Shoes!! (not Ruby Slippers!!! (mgm))

No Lotus flowers in the Oz series... definitely poppies though.

Pacific Potlatch

Introduction

Potlatch is a ceremony of Native American Indian tribes of the Pacific Northwest. The Host of the Potlatch would gain status by how much he could give away. This showed he was wealthy. The celebration could last for days and would Include feasting, singing, dancing, and story-telling.

Victory

The first player to have 20 or more Status points is the winner.

Status Points

Use tokens to keep track of status points.

The Deck

Players share a common deck. There are 5 Suites: Ceremony, Carving & Crafts, Food, Spiritual, and Performances Each card also has a Status Level (SL) from 3 to 7.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 4 Phases:

Pacific Rim Match Up

Introduction

Card Game for 2+ players. Based on The Pacific Rim Movie. Kaiju vs Jaeger Combat.

Disclaimer

Pacific Rim is a licensed, copyrighted property. This is merely a fan site.

Victory

Destroy all enemy units. Units are destroyed when they are reduced to zero or less Hits.

Hits

Each unit (Kaiju and Jaeger) start with 20 Hits. Use Tokens to keep track of hits.

The Deck

Players share a common 52 card deck.

Face Cards

Each Face card has a unique ability for each unit. These are described in each Units unique Face card list.

Number Cards

Number cards are used the same way by all units depending on their Suite.

Heart Suite — Attack Cards

Numbered cards of the Heart Suite are Attack cards. In order for your unit to attack during a turn, it must play an Attack card (or Play a Face card that provides an attack bonus).

Diamond Suite — Dodge Cards

Numbered cards of the Diamond Suite are Dodge cards. If your opponent plays an Attack card, you may dodge it, if you play a Dodge card of equal or higher value. (Or a Face card that provides a Dodge bonus)

Club Suite — Damage Cards

Numbered cards of the Club Suite are Damage cards. If you made an attack that was not dodged by your opponent, you may play a Damage card to determine how many Hits worth of damage the Attack will cause. (You may play a Face card that provides a Damage bonus instead)

Spade Cards — Armor Cards

Numbered cards of the Spade Suite are Armor cards. If you were hit by an attack and damaged, you may play an Armor card to Reduce the damage by that amount. (You may play a face card that provides an Armor bonus instead)

Hand Size

All players have a Base Hand Size of 7 Cards. This may be decreased by Critical Hits.

Setup

Each player picks one Kaiju or Jaeger to control. There should be equal numbers of each if possible. Players may play 2 units, but must have a separate hand for each.

Shuffle the deck. Each player draws 1 card. High card goes first (Aces High). Play proceeds clockwise.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 8 Phases:

1. Draw Phase
2. Tactics Phase
3. Attack Phase
4. Dodge Phase
5. Damage Phase
6. Armor Phase
7. Combo Counter Phase
8. End Phase

Draw Phase

Each player fills their card hand to their base Hand size. Seven is the base hand size of all units. Hand size can be decreased If the deck ever runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Tactics Phase

The current player may discard up to 4 cards and draw replacements.

Attack Phase

The current player (the attacker) picks a target enemy unit to attack (the defender). The attacker plays an Attack (Heart) card. The attacker may play 1 or more Face cards to increase his Attack Score.

Dodge Phase

The Defender may play a Dodge (Diamond) card. The Defender may play 1 or more Face cards to increase his Dodge Score. If the Dodge Score is equal to or greater than the Attack score, the Attack misses: Skip Damage and armor phases.

Damage Phase

If the Attack Hit (was not Dodged), the Attacker plays a Damage (Club) card. The attacker may play 1 or more Face cards to increase his Damage Score.

Armor Phase

The Defender may play an Armor (Spade) card. The Defender may play 1 or more Face cards to increase his Armor Score. If the Armor Score is equal to or greater than the Damage score, the Attack does no damage. If the Damage score is higher, the Defender takes Hits equal to the difference.

Combo Counter Phase

The Attacker may play a Face card with the Combo ability to attack an additional Time this turn. This attack may be against a different opposing unit. After this, the Defender may play a Face card with the Counter trait to Also make an attack this turn (against the current player). Note: All played cards are discarded after their effect takes place.

End Phase

All players may discard up to 2 cards.

Face Card Traits

Some face cards will enable special abilities such as: Critical, Combo, Incapacitate, Acid, Pilot, etc. These abilities are referred to as traits.

Pacific Voyagers

Introduction

Card game for 2-4+ players. Early Colonization of the Pacific Islands circa 25 thousand years ago to 900 AD.

Victory

Control the most islands at the end of the game.

Game End

The game ends when there are no cards left in the Deck at the beginning of any players turn.

The Deck

Players share a common deck. There are 7 card types:

- Islands
- Canoes
- Warriors
- Stockades
- Food
- Navigation
- Events
- Specials

Setup

- Shuffle the deck.
- Each player is dealt 4 cards.
- The best Swimmer goes first.
- Play proceeds clockwise.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 5 phases:

1. Growth Phase
2. Event Phase
3. Colonize Phase
4. Raid Phase
5. Settlement Phase

Growth Phase

Draw 3 cards from the deck and put them in your hand. Discard any 1 card from your hand.

Event Phase

You may play (discard) 1 Event card from your hand. Island Option: Instead of playing an event card, you may shuffle an Island card from your hand back into the deck and draw 1 replacement card. Settlement

Option: Instead of playing an Event card, you may discard a stockade card from your hand to draw 2 cards.

Colonize Phase

You may attempt a Voyage of Discovery. To do this, play (discard) 1 canoe card and any number of different food cards (at least 1) and Navigation cards (at least 1) from your hand. The total number of cards you play is the Voyage Number.

Next flip over the top card of the deck. If it is an Island, you have successfully settled it. Place the newly Settled Island card face up in front of you on the Table. You now control this Island. If the card you flipped over was not an island, flip over the next top card of the deck. Continue doing this until you have either settled an island or flipped a number of cards equal to your Voyage number. If you don't find an island the expedition was a failure and they all perished at sea. Note that there are 2 copies of every Island in the deck. If on your Voyage, you flip over an Island that is already settled by somebody else, the voyage immediately becomes a Raid: Resolve the Raid in Raid Phase.

Raid Phase

Skip this phase if you attempted a voyage of discovery in colonize phase and it did not result in a Raid. If you did not attempt a voyage of discovery, you may attempt in this phase a deliberate Raid. To do this play (discard) an Island card from your hand that matches an Island in play controlled by another player.

The Attacked player (the Defender) may immediately draw 2 cards. You (the attacker) may play (discard) Warrior cards. The Defender may play (discard) Warrior and Stockade cards.

The player who plays the most cards wins control of the Island. The Defender wins ties.

Settlement Phase

Palace Of The Silver Princess

A Warp Quest Module

Introduction

This Warp Quest Adventure is adapted from the D&D Basic Adventure Module Palace of the Silver Princess. Dungeons and Dragons and Palace of the Silver Princess are copyright (C) Wizards of the Coast and are included here under the Fair Use copyright laws.

A PDF of Adventure Module is available free from WotC.

The adventures and special combat resolution rules are modified from the D20 System Reference Document under the Open Gaming License.

Dice And Miniatures

You will need a twenty sided die (d20) and a six sided die (d6). You can use Fantasy miniatures or counters to keep track of your characters progress on the board. If the players of this module wish to expand it into a more traditional miniature game, they can assign characters and medium sized miniatures a 6" movement and large creatures a 12" movement, and play out combat on a small battlefield.

Decks

There are two module decks that are listed below. The player draws one card from the deck corresponding to the module they are on and then react to the challenge given.

Board

The standard Warp Quest map with two modules is used.

Adventurers

Each Player chooses 1 character to play. The winner is the player who manages to get his character to the end of module 2 first. If more than one character lands on the same space they may or may not choose to battle.

Level Race Class	AC	HP	Att	Dmg	Save	Spells and Abilities
1st Level Human Paladin	19	2	+3	2	+4	Cure Wounds 1
1st Level Dwarf Fighter	20	3	+3	2	+3	-
1st Level Aasimar Cleric	16	2	+2	1	+3	Command 13 (x2); Cure Wounds 1 (x2)
1st Level Human Wizard	17	1	-2	1	+2	Magic Missile 1; Sleep 13
1st Level Elf Bard	14	1	3	1	+2	Charm 16

Spells

(each spell is usable once per adventure; ergo, Command (x2) means two Command spells available)

- Cure Wounds 1- Heals 1HP
- Command 13, Fear 16, Sleep 13, Charm 16, Fear 16- Target must roll 1d20 + Save (+2 for monsters). If the modified roll is less than the number stated, that character or monster is defeated.
- Magic Missile 1- Automatically deals 1 Dmg to Target.

Special Abilities

Hide 13- Character or monster must roll 1d20 and add their Save score (+2 for monsters) to the roll. If the modified roll is less than 13, then the character successfully hiding automatically wins initiative and gets Att+2 and Dmg+2 for the duration of that round of combat. Extra Attack- This is the number of additional attacks the character or monster receives each combat round.

Turn Sequence

- Players take turns.
- Each turn consists of 3 phases: 1. Move Phase 2. Draw Phase 3. Challenge Phase

Move Phase

- Roll 1D6. Move that number of spaces towards the end space.
- You automatically stop when you enter the end space.
- If you are the first to land on the end space your party acquires the Objective.
- Once a party has acquired the Objective then all other players may move their parties in either direction on the path.
- The party with the Objective must move towards the start space.
- The first party with the Objective to reach the start space wins the game.
- Draw Phase
- If you land on an empty space in spaces 2-15 draw a card from the Module 1 deck.
- If you land on an empty space in spaces 16-29

draw a card from the Module 2 deck.

Challenges

Monsters

1. Roll for 1d20 for initiative. Highest number goes first. Reroll ties.
2. Roll 1d20 to hit for character or monster and add its Att score to the roll (Roll for extra attacks as well, if applicable).
3. If the Modified Roll is greater than the target's AC, then the attack hit. The target subtracts the attackers Dmg score from its HP.
 - For Characters- If HP is lowered to 0 or less, than the character is defeated and that player is out of the game. If the Dmg is "Poison Gas", "Venom" or "Paralysis", then the player must roll 1d20 + the character's Save. If the modified roll is less than the number given, than the character is defeated and the player is out of the game.

- For Monsters- If the Monster's HP is reduced to 0 or less, than the monster is defeated and the player ends his turn.
- After completing the Attack round for the character who won initiative, then #2 and 3 above is repeated for the character who lost initiative.

Traps

If a trap card is drawn, then the player must roll for 1d20 and add that character's Save score to the roll. If the modified roll is less than the number stated, than that character receives the penalty/ damage of that trap.

Treasure

If a magic item is drawn, than the player may attach that item to their character, providing it meets the criteria listed.

Free Move Phase

You may move (or just change the facing) of up to 3 of your Light or Medium tanks. They may move up to their maximum range. You may change the facing of a tank at the end of its move.

Artillery pieces can be transported by truck: A Gun cannot attack the turn it moves or the turn after it moves by truck.

Opportunity Move Phase

Play (discard) a Move card to move one of your Tanks. The move card has a number. This is the max number of spaces the Tank moves.

Shoot Phase

Any Player may discard an Attack card to have a Tank attack. (Your opponent may make his attacks first) The attack card has a number. This is the maximum range of the attack.

Attacks can be diagonal or orthogonal. Roll 1D6. This is the Attack Roll. Subtract the Distance to the Target Subtract the Armor Factor of the Target (Full from Front & 1/2 from side or rear) Add the Penetration Factor of the attacking unit.

Attack Modifier cards can be played (by both players) to further modify the Attack Roll. If the final value is 1 or more the attack destroys the target. Your opponent may play a defense card to negate your attack.

Heavy ATG's & Tank Killers with no turrets can only attack out of the direction they are facing. If you attacked a unit but did not kill it, you may play a Damage card on it. Penetration Rule: A tank with a penetration Factor less than the Armor factor of the tank it is attacking cannot kill it with a Frontal shot (This does not apply to at Point Blank Range)

- Evil Leader Deck: For the Evil player
- Recruit Deck: Common deck shared by both players
- Action Deck: Common deck shared by both players

Hands

Each player will have 3 Hands of cards:

- An Action Hand

Each hand can have up to 7 cards.

Leader Cards

These are found in the Leader Decks. Leader cards represent the main characters in the game. There are 2 types of Leaders: Generals & Sorcerers.

- Generals can use Tactics Action cards.
- Sorcerers can use Spell Action cards.

Each Leader has a numerical Force score. Many leaders have a special Ability. Each Leader can attach one Troop card.

Units

A Leader & an attached Troop card. A Leader cannot be in play without a Troop card attached. A Troop card cannot be in play unless it is attached to a Leader.

There are 3 types of cards in this deck: Troops, Modifiers, and Specials.

Troop Cards

These represent Soldiers. Each Troop has a numerical Force score. Each Troop will have 1 or more descriptors: Infantry, Cavalry, Missile, Female, etc.

Troop cards when played are attached to Leaders.

Modifier Cards

These are attached to Leaders or to troops. They give Force bonuses & special abilities. Some Mods have special requirements as to when they be attached: Example: After a winning battle in which the leader did not retreat.

Mods can be attached in Deploy phase or after battles whenever appropriate. There are some Modifier cards found in the Leader decks specific to each side.

Rounds, Phases, Turns, & Segments

Play proceeds in Rounds. Each round is divided into Phases. Battle phase is further divided into Turns (or Engagements). Each Engagement is divided into Segments.

Setup

Determine who is the Good player & who is the Evil player. The Good player starts with Lu Bei in play and 2 other random Good Leaders. The Evil player starts with Cao Cao in play and 3 other random Evil Leaders.

Each player starts with a randomly drawn full recruit Hand.

Liu Bei

Great Leader of the Good side. Actually not that great, but he is the main character. If attacked any friendly Unit may intercept the Attack & become the defender.

Liu Bei can never be discarded or controlled by opponent.

Cao Cao

Great Leader of the Evil Side. He can only fight in Battle if one side has just won 2 Consecutive Battles. Cao Cao is both a General & a Sorcerer.

Cao Cao can never be discarded or controlled by opponent.

Round Sequence

Each Round is divided into 5 phases:

1. Leader Phase
2. Recruit Phase
3. Deploy Phase
4. Battle Phase
5. End Phase

Leader Phase

Each player Draws 1 Leader from their Leader deck.

Recruit Phase

Each player Draws 3 cards from the Recruit deck.

Deploy Phase

Form new units: A Unit must have 1 Leader & 1 Troop played from your hands. Some Modifier & Special cards are played in this phase.

Battle Phase

There will be a Battle. All Units of both players will be engaged except for Cao Cao most of the time and Other units affected by certain event & special cards. Players take turns.

Flip a coin to see who goes first. Each Turn is called a Battle Turn or an Engagement. Each Battle Turn is divided into 4 Segments:

1. Action Segment
2. Strategy Segment
3. Tactics Segment
4. Resolution Segment
5. End Segment

In each turn 2 opposing units will fight. The losing unit retreats. This process repeats until all engaged units on one side have retreated.

The other side wins the battle.

Action Segment

Each player draws cards to fill their Action hand to 7 cards.

Strategy Segment

The player whose turn it is, is the Attacker. The other player is the Defender. The attacker picks 2 Units to fight: One of his own and an opponent's Unit.

Units that have already retreated or that are not in the battle cannot be picked. Strategy cards can be played (by the defender usually) to change 1 or both of the Units picked.

Tactics Segment

Players take turns, Defender first, playing Formation, Tactics, Spell, & Event cards from their hands.

Resolution Segment

Add up the Force Total for each of the 2 units. The Unit with the higher Force total wins. (In case of a tie flip a coin) The loser retreats.

The winning unit can fight again this phase.

End Segment

Players discard their action card hands down to 4 or less cards.

End Phase

Players discard their Recruit hands down to 7 or less cards. Players discard their Leader card hands down to 4 or less cards.

Game Designers Notes

This is based on Kessen II for PS2 of which I've played a couple of battles. Quite Interesting. I recommend trying it. Some Learning curve needed. The first Kessen I see is placed in Japan not China.

Note: I did not put in the Neutral Leaders but I may if the Leader decks are unbalanced. I'll take a closer look at the walkthroughs to get more card ideas. Have not seen all the special weapon & troop types.

This would also be good in a Warp Empires game format.

Paper Rails Usa

Introduction

Rail Road Building Theme. Pen and Paper Game: No cards or dice needed. This is a modified PnP version of Railroad Dispatch Usa: Railbuilding Game Railroad Dispatch USA

Materials Required

Each player needs a pen with a different color ink. One Coin for flipping. A copy of the Map is needed (Black and White will work).

A copy of the Scoring Tables are needed.

Victory

The player with the most Victory Points (VP) at the end of the game wins.

End Of Game

The game ends at the end of the turn when the last possible Rail Connection is made. Immediately proceed to End of Game Scoring.

Points

There are several types of points each player needs to keep track of:

VP Victory Points

IP Income Points

RP Research Points

SP Stock Points

Setup

The player who brought the components goes first. Play proceeds clockwise. Players must start from an eastern seaboard city.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. On your turn you may take 3 Actions (out of 5 available): You can take the same action up to 2 times in the same turn.

1. Build Action
2. Event Action
3. Stock Option Action
4. Operate Action
5. Research Action

Build Action

This Costs 1 IP. The second time you take it in the same turn costs 2 IP. Build 1 connection: Using your pen, initial one rail connection between 2 cities.

You have built that connection, you own it, no other player may initial it. You must connect to 1 city you are already connected to. If you cannot, you may build anywhere, but you must pay 1 extra IP.

Event Action

This costs 1 RP. The second time you take it in the same turn costs 2 RP. Gain control of the next unclaimed Event on the Event Scoring Table.

With your pen initial the Event.

Stock Option Action

This costs 1 IP. The second time you take it in the same turn costs 2 IP. Gain 1 SP.

Operate Action

Gain 2 IP.

Research Action

End Of Game Scoring

This proceeds in 3 Phases:

1. Commodity Scoring Phase
2. Railroad Scoring Phase
3. Stock Scoring Phase

Commodity Scoring Phase

Consult the Commodity Scoring Table. For each commodity determine which player is connected to the most cities that produce it; That player gets 2 VP. If there is a tie, each tied player gets 1 VP.

Railroad Scoring Phase

Consult the Railroad Scoring Table. For each Railroad determine if any player is connected to all the cities in it. That player scores VP equal to the number of cities connected to that RR.

If more than 1 player is completely connected, determine which player was fully connected first; only that player scores for that RR.

Stock Scoring Phase

The Player with the most SP gets 20 VP. The second place player gets 10 VP. Third place gets 5 VP.

Paranoia: Troubleshooters

Introduction

Card game based on the Paranoia RPG. Each player represents 1 Clone that is part of a Troubleshooter team. Players try to survive while killing off their opponent's clones.

Objective

Be the last one alive. Kill off all your opponent's clones.

Clone Families

Each player has a family of 6 clones. Every time your clone is killed, one of your remaining clones takes his place. When all six have been killed you lose and are out of the game.

Background

You live underground in a giant complex controlled by a paranoid computer. This complex is called Alpha Complex. The Computer is your friend.

Traitors are executed. Good Citizens help root out Traitors. Mutants are traitors.

Secret Society members are traitors. You are a Mutant and a Secret Society Member. You know very little because of your (Red) low security clearance.

You have been assigned to a team of Troubleshooters. Troubleshooters shoot trouble. Stay Alert! Trust No One! Keep your Laser Handy!

The Decks

There are 2 decks:

1. The Mission Deck
2. The Paranoia Deck

If a deck ever runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Setup

Players take turns. Roll 1D6 to determine who goes first. Play proceeds clockwise.

Turn Sequence

Each turn has 4 Phases:

1. Requisition Phase
2. Mission Phase
3. Action Phase
4. Debriefing Phase

Requisition Phase

Each player fills their hand to 5 Cards from the Paranoia Deck.

Mission Phase

Flip over the top card of the Mission Deck. This describes an encounter all players must face. The encounter will be one of three types: Combat, Comprehension, or Communication.

Each player must play (discard) one Paranoia card of a matching type to survive. If a player cannot play a matching card his Clone is killed.

Action Phase

The current player may initiate one or more actions. Actions require the expenditure of Paranoia cards. He may continue doing this until he has no cards left in his hand.

The Actions include:

1. Situational Awareness: Discard 2 Comprehension cards to draw 3 Paranoia Cards and put them in your hand.
2. Accusations: Play one or more Treason cards onto an opponent.

The opponent may play Communication cards to discard Treason cards on a One to one basis. If a player has 3 or more Treason cards and no way to Discard them, that clone is immediately terminated by the computer.

3. Shoot the Traitor: The player picks a target opposing player who has at least one Treason card. Both play Combat cards from their hands. The player who plays more combat cards kills the opposing player. If both play an equal number of cards then roll 1D6: The higher roll wins.

If still tied, both are killed.

4. Special Actions: Some cards allow for special actions when played.

These special actions (SA) are described on the individual cards. All played cards from Action Phase are discarded.

Debriefing Phase

Max hand size is 5 cards. Discard any excess cards.

These cards form the Board. They are claimed by players and are worth Gag Points. In order to be claimed they require the player to move his pawn onto that card and discard 2 Kid cards of the indicated type.

The Kid Deck

There are 2 basic types of Kid Cards:

1. Main Characters
2. Peanut Gallery

There are 4 Suites of Main Characters:

1. Charlie Brown
2. Snoopy
3. Linus
4. Lucy

Each suite has 10 cards (All identical). There are 12 Peanut Gallery cards each listing one supporting Character.

Pawns

Each player gets a unique pawn. Ideally each pawn is miniature statue of one of the Peanuts characters (especially the Main Characters).

Dice

Six sided dice are needed.

The Board

The board is a 6 X 6 Grid. Each space will contain 1 face-up Gag card. As Gag cards are claimed during play they will be immediately replenished by the Gag Deck.

Setup

Each player chooses a pawn. Shuffle the Decks. Place 1 Gag card face-up onto each of the 36 spaces on the Board.

Each player is dealt 2 Kid cards. Players roll high on 1D6 to see who goes first. Reroll ties. Players place their Pawns in separate corner spaces.

If playing with 5 or more players, use the 4 center spaces as allowable starting spaces also.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 5 Phases:

1. Draw Phase
2. Roll Phase
3. Move Phase
4. Claim Phase
5. End Phase

Draw Phase

Draw 2 Kid Cards from the top of the Kid Deck and put them in your hand. If the Kid deck ever runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it. Next if your pawn is adjacent to any opponent's pawns, you may trade Kid cards from your hands. Trades must be agreeable to both parties.

Roll Phase

Roll one die.

Move Phase

You may move your pawn a number of spaces equal to the number you rolled in Roll Phase OR Less. Moves may be orthogonal or diagonal. You may not land in the same space occupied by another pawn.

You may move through (past, over) other player's pawns. You must move if you are at all able. If somehow you cannot move (blocked), reroll the die.

Claim Phase

You may claim the Gag card in the space your pawn currently occupies. Each Gag card lists 2 Kid cards that must be discarded in order to claim it. Place the claimed card into your Gag pile.

Next, replace the gag card you just claimed with the top card of the Gag deck. If there are no Gag cards left, the game ends.

End Phase

Max hand size is 7 cards. Discard excess cards.

Peanut Gallery Cards

The Secondary Character cards in the Kid Deck have a variety of extra uses:

Peloponnesian War

Introduction

Card game for 2 Players. One player is the Athenians. One player is the Spartans.

Victory

The first player to accumulate 20 Victory Points (VP) wins.

Victory Tokens

Players share a set of Victory Tokens (VT). 1 VT is equal to 1 VP.

The Deck

Players share a common deck

Setup

Shuffle the deck.

Turn Sequence

Each turn has 4 phases:

- 1. Fate Phase
- 2. Strategy Phase
- 3. Action Phase
- 4. Victory Phase

Fate Phase

Each player is dealt 10 cards. If the deck ever runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Strategy Phase

Players may discard up to 5 cards and draw replacements.

Action Phase

Players take turns playing one card from their hand face-up to the table. The player with the most VP goes first. If tied the Athenian player goes first.

Some cards have a special ability that takes place when the card is played. Some special abilities require a target; if there is none, the card can still be played. Some cards can only be played by the Spartan or the Athenian player.

When a player has no more cards he can or wants to play he passes. A player who passes can play no more cards this phase. When both players have passed they calculate their Force Totals.

Each card has a Force Rating. Some cards can modify the Force Ratings of other cards. The higher total Force wins. The Athenian player wins ties.

Victory Phase

The winner of the action phase gets one Victory Token and all Event cards with a Victory point value played by both players. The winner places the VT and the VP cards in his Victory pile. All other played cards are discarded.

All cards remaining in the players hands are discarded.

Periplus

Introduction

Board & card game for 2 players. Battle between two Fleets of Greek Warships. Abstract skirmish level combat.
Each figure represents a single Ship (unit).

Victory

You win if you Destroy the opposing Quinquereme.

The Map

Use an 8x8 chessboard.

The Ships

Use chits or miniatures to represent Ships. There are 4 types of Ships: Biremes, Triremes, Quadriremes & Quinqueremes

Ship Table

#	Type	Hits
2	Bireme	2
3	Trireme	3
2	Quadrireme	4
1	Quinquereme	5

Number of that type of Ship you start the game with.
Hits Number of Hits that type of Ship has.

Setup

Each player places one Ship on each square of his back rows. Ships may not stack.

The Cards

Players share a common deck.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 3 phases: Orders Phase Maneuver Phase Fire Phase

Card List

Card Name:	#	Range	Type	Notes:
Row	5	1	M

Orders Phase

Draw 3 cards. Max hand size = 5 cards. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.
Discard excess cards.

Maneuver Phase

Play (discard) a Move card to move one of your Ships. The move card has a number. This is the number of spaces the Ship moves.
Moves can be diagonal or orthogonal. "Knight" type move cards allow a Ship to move like a knight in chess. Instead of moving just one Ship in any direction, you have the option of moving one or more Ships forward the indicated number of spaces using a single move card.

Fire Phase

Play (discard) an Attack card to have a Ship attack. The attack card has a number. This is the range of the attack.
Attacks can be diagonal or orthogonal. "Knight" type attack cards produce an attack with a range like a knight in chess. Each attack inflicts one point of damage.
Use Chits or coins to record damage. A ship reduced to 0 Hits is destroyed and removed from the board. Your opponent may play (discard) Defense cards to negate your attack.
In order to ram, a ship must move first in the same turn. A Shear Oars does no damage but the target ship can no longer ram or move.

Peter The Great

Introduction

Card and Bidding Game for 3-6+ Players.

Victory

Have the most Victory Points (VP) at the end of the game. The Game ends when a turn starts and there are no cards left in the Deck.

Victory Chips

Use poker chips to keep track of Victory Points.

Bidding Cubes

There are 5 different colors of bidding cubes in equal amounts. These are kept in a pouch for random drawing.

The Deck

The Deck has 7 Suites. There are 10 cards for each suite. The Suites are:

1. Peter the Great
2. Baltic Sea Ports
3. Crushed Rebellions
4. Black Sea Ports
5. Western Influences
6. Social Modernizations
7. Saint Petersburg

Setup

The most Russian Player goes first. Each player draws 5 Random Cubes.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Play proceeds clockwise. Each turn has 5 Phases.

1. Cube Phase
2. Draw Phase
3. Bid Phase
4. Action Phase
5. Score Phase

Cube Phase

Draw 3 Random Cubes from the Pouch.

Draw Phase

Flip over the top card of the deck. This is a Bid card. Place it face up on the table in line with Bid cards from previous turns.

Bid Phase

- If there are 2 or less Bid cards in Line you must Pass.
- If there are at least 3 Bid Card in Line you may Pass or Call a Bid.
- If there are 7 or more Bid cards in Line you must Call a Bid.
- In a Bid each player secretly bids either zero cubes or 1 or more cubes of the same color.
- The player who bid the most cubes wins.
- The winner returns all of his bid cubes to the pouch.

The losers keep their cubes. The winner takes possession of all of the Bid Cards. They now cease being bid cards and are placed in the winners Victory Card pile. All Victory cards in all piles are to be kept visible to all players.

If there is a tie in the Bidding the current player wins ties going clockwise. Note: If there are no cards left in the deck, you must Call a Bid.

Action Phase

You may discard 1 Peter the Great card to produce one of the following effects:

1. Gain 3 Victory Points.
2. Draw 3 extra Cubes.
3. Draw 5 Cubes and discard any 4 of your Cubes.
4. Opponent must give you 1 card from his Victory Pile of his choice.
5. Opponent must give you 2 of his Cubes of his choice.
6. Take any 1 card from the Bid Card line up and put it in your Victory Pile.
7. Draw 3 cards from the top of deck and place them in your Victory Pile. Next Place any 3 cards from your Victory Pile on the bottom of the deck.

Score Phase

Gain VP equal to the number of cards in the Suite you have the fewest cards of in your Victory Pile (Not including the Peter the Great Suite).

For Example: You have cards in your Victory Pile = Peter the Great = 0, Baltic Sea Ports = 1, Crushed Rebellions = 2, Black Sea Ports = 3, Western Influences = 1, Social Modernizations = 4, Saint Petersburg = 3.

In this scenario you would get 1 VP because you have the fewest number of Western Influences and Baltic Sea Port cards.

Phoenician Sea Trader

Introduction

Card & Board game for 2+ players. Ancient Mediterranean Sea Trade Theme. Each player controls a trading vessel.

Victory

Be the first to have 25 gold.

Trade Center:	Commodity:	Most Desires:
Rome	Wine	Silk
Egypt	Grain	Obsidian
Greece	Oil	Grain

Ships may enter trade center spaces (they must stop upon entering). Try to separate Trade centers by at least 1 or 2 spaces. Do not completely block trade centers in by land spaces.

In 2 randomly scattered spaces put Pirate ships. Land & Trade centers cannot move, however Pirate ships can. Indicate the directions of North, South, East, and West on the Board.

Setup

Use pawns to represent player's ships. Each player is dealt 5 cards. Randomly determine turn order.

Each player's ship starts on any one Trade center of their choice. (Players must start on different Trade centers) Each player starts with 10 Gold Use coins to represent gold.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 5 phases Wind Phase Sail Phase Trade Phase Piracy Phase Storm Phase

Wind Phase

Draw 3 cards. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard & draw from it.

Sail Phase

Play Wind & Row cards from your hand to move your ship. You may play more than one such card in succession (no limit). A Row card allows you to move in any direction one space.

Wind cards allow you to move 1 or 2 spaces, but only in the direction indicated. You cannot enter spaces containing land, storms, or pirates.

The Board

Use an 8x8 square grid. Empty spaces are sea spaces. Use markers for Land, Trade centers, and Pirate ships.

In 10 randomly scattered spaces put land. Land spaces are obstacles, you cannot move into or through them. In 6 randomly scattered spaces put trade centers.

Trade Center:	Commodity:	Most Desires:
Persia	Silk	Oil
Carthage	Spices	Wine
Crete	Obsidian	Spices

Trade Phase

If your ship is adjacent to another players ship, you may freely trade commodity cards from your hands & your holds. If you are in a trade center you may buy and sell commodity cards. Each trade center sells only one commodity.

To buy a commodity card from that trade center you must have that type of Commodity card in your hand, and you must pay 1 gold for each such card. Commodity cards you buy go into your ships hold. To represent this, place these cards face up in front of you (This is your hold) You may have a maximum of 6 commodity cards in your hold.

When at a trade center you may sell cards in your hold. A trade center will not buy back the commodity it produces, however it will Buy all other commodities at 2 gold each (per card). A trade center will purchase the commodity it most desires for 3 gold per card.

Sold cards are shuffled into the discard pile.

Piracy Phase

You may use Wind cards to move Pirate ships. Pirate ships cannot enter spaces containing trade centers, land, or other Pirate ships If you move a pirate into a space occupied by an opponents ship, your opponent is Robbed and must discard all the cards in his hold.

Storm Phase

You may discard a Storm card to place a storm counter onto any empty space on the board. Remove from play any Storm counters you played on previous turns. Ships cannot enter spaces containing storms.

(Use storms to block pirates & other players ships.)

Trade & Sail Rule

You may combine the Sail & Trade phases together. This allows players to move, trade & then continue moving (and other combinations of such).

Optional Rule: 2-3 players can also use the Island(#24).

Turn Sequence

Players take turns placing one 1 Ready Pawn or Disk on one Action Space. When you place a Pawn or Disk resolve the effects of the space immediately. Pawns are placed in P type spaces.

Disks are placed in D type spaces. A space may contain a max of 1 pawn or disk. (If someone else has a pawn or disk there you are shut out) When all players have placed all their pawns and disks and all effects are resolved, players take back their pawns and disks and the turn ends. Max hand size is 7 cards. At the end of the turn discard excess cards.

IMPORTANT: The Turn ends when no one has any pawns or disks left OR there are no available spaces left on the board.

Pirate War

Introduction

Players control Pirate ships in search of plunder & adventure.

Victory

The first player to accumulate 7 Treasures and have them stored in their home port is the winner.

Pirate Ships

Pirate ships have a hull rating of 12 and a cargo space of 12 (unless noted). A player can only control one ship at a time. A new ship costs 20 Gold. This includes one crew & one cannon

Empire Ship Move either 4 or 6 hexes (oars or sail) Start with 3 crew and one cannon facing forward Cannon can be placed forward or midships (broadside) Can perform a ramming move.

Brettonian ship Move 9 hexes (sail). Start with 3 crew and one cannon Cannon can only be place midships (broadside)

Elves Move 9 hexes (sail) and ignore turning into wind restriction Start 2 crew and one bolt thrower Bolt thrower can fire in a 1800 arc to forward Only 10 hull points (extra sail)

Dwarves Move 5 hexes (steam) ignore wind restrictions Start 2 crew and one cannon Cannon can fire in a 1800 arc to forward Can perform ramming move Only 10 hull points (extra armour), no movement restrictions

Orcs Move 4 or 6 hexes (oars or sail) Start 4 crew, one catapult facing forward Catapults can be placed either forward or midships (broadside) Orc ships have grappling hooks for boarding

Chaos Move 4 or 6 hexes (oars or sail) Start 3 crew and one cannon to forward Cannon can be placed forward or midships (broadside) Can perform ramming move

Setup

Players start with one ship All ships start in their home port. Determine turn order by rolling dice. High roll goes first and so on down.

Hull Rating

Ships start out with a hull rating of 12. If a ships hull rating is reduced to 0, it sinks and the player will have to buy a new ship. If a ship sinks or is lost all cargo is also lost.

If a ships hull rating is reduced to half or less, all movement is halved Elven and Dwarf ships have a hull rating of 10

Cargo Space

Ships have cargo space equaling the number of hull points they currently have Each crew, cannon/bolt thrower/catapult or treasure takes up one cargo space

Crew

If the number of crew is reduced to 0, the ship is lost, and the player will have to buy a new ship. Additional crew can be hired at Port for 2 Gold each.

Cannons

See Battles section. Additional cannons can be purchased at Port for 2 Gold each. You can't use more cannons then you have crew.

Free Ports

Ships automatically stop on the port space. The port is a safe harbor: Players cannot attack each other here. Treasure can be traded for an equal number of gold at port.

Damaged hulls can be repaired for two gold per point of damage. Crew can be hired for 4 gold per counter Cannons can be bought for 4 gold per cannon Trading can be undertaken at the Free Port by rolling on the following table:

1D6	Event
1	Lose 1 crew, D6 gold, and miss next turn
2	Lose D6 gold and miss next turn
3	Gain D6 gold and miss next turn

1D6	Event
4	Gain D6 gold and miss next turn
5	Gain D6 gold
6	Gain D6 gold

Treasure

Each treasure occupies one cargo space. Each home port and Treasure Island holds 5 specific trea-asures as follows:

Empire	rum and tobacco
Brettonian	wine and spices
Elves	gems
Dwarves	mithral

Empire	rum and tobacco
Orcs	artifacts
Chaos	hostages
Treasure island	treasure chests

Once the 5 treasures have gone, the home port no longer has treasure to plunder. It can still be traded with. Treasures are acquired by plundering home ports or visiting Treasure Island When plundering home ports, roll on the plunder table You cannot plunder or trade with your home port

Gold

Gold does not occupy cargo space.

The Board

The map board is attached. The 3 grey hexes on each long side of the board are Free Ports. Ships are at a Free Port if they are anchored in a hex that touches any hex side of the grey hexes.

The Home ports are two grey hexes together by a three hex harbour protected by two further grey hexes (the shore forts). Ships are considered in the harbour in any of the three sea hexes, and are anchored at the home port for trading, plundering or repairs if they occupy the one hex that touches the two joined grey hexes.

1. raw Card
2. ovement Phase
3. attle Phase

Determine Wind Direction

Roll one dice for the initial wind direction at the start of the game and place arrow facing the number of the hex side rolled. For subsequent rounds, roll two dice. The wind direction changes if a double is rolled.

It moves one hex side clockwise if an even double is rolled, and one hex side counter-clockwise if an off double is rolled.

Draw Phase

Draw 1 card. Play that card face up unless otherwise stated. The card immediately takes effect.

Movement Phase

Movement rates are noted under ships Cannot combine oars and sail in one movement turn Can turn one hex side for free, subsequent sides reduce the movement total by one Note, can turn max 2 hex sides Must move forward one hex before turning Must stop immediately if turn directly into wind if using sail movement. Get free one side move next turn without having to move forward first. Gain an extra 2 hex movement if moving straight down wind for entire move Can turn freely in port hex (ie do not have to move forward first) Can move backwards up to 2 hexes under oars Can spin on spot under oars, but each hex side costs one movement

Ramming

Ships that can ram do so in the movement phase They must move at least 2 hexes in a straight line to ram Roll on the following table

5	Inflict 2 hull points of damage
6	Inflict 3 hull points of damage

Battle Phase

Cannon have 2 hex range Bolt throwers and dwarf cannon have 3 hex range Catapults have 3 hex range, but cannot target the first hex Roll one dice for each cannon firing Hits on 4,5 or 6 Defender "saves" against damage by rolling a 6 If the defender doesn't "save", the ship takes one hull point of damage Anything in the hull space is immediately lost If the attacker rolls "doubles" to hit (eg two 4s, or three 5s) the defender can only "save" if the previous "save" did not fail. Otherwise, an automatic loss of a hull point Play any battle cards before rolling the dice Dwarves save at +1 due to heavy armour on the ships wins Winner takes one treasure, or 10 gold Loser loses a crew counter Use any boarding cards before the dice are rolled Orc grappling hooks The non-orc player must roll 4,5 or 6 at the end of the boarding phase, or suffer another round of boarding from the orc player

Home Ports

Ships can be attacked in their home port Home ports are defended by two shore forts at the entrance of the harbour These forts are armed with 2 cannon each, and will attack any plundering or attacking ship within range. This attack happens immediately the ship decides to plunder or attack, and before any roll on the plunder table. Players can either trade with or plunder other players Home ports Ships can be repaired at 1 gold per hull point Crew can be hired at 2 gold per crew Cannon/bolt throwers/catapults can be bought for 2 gold each

Pirates Backgammon

Introduction

Backgammon variant with Pirate Theme.

Victory

The first player to accumulate 25 Gold Coins in his Treasure Chest is the winner.

Pieces

There are 3 types of Pieces: Pirates, Merchants and Man-o-Wars. Each player has a Unique Pirate Ship Figure. Merchant Ships are represented by a Stack of Coins.

Man-o-War Ships should be represented by figures.

Dice

Each player should have 2 six-sided dice.

Gold

Use Coins to Represent Gold Treasures

Holds & Chests

Gold aboard your Pirate Ship is said to be in your hold and is Subject to being lost or plundered. When you bear off your gold is put into your Treasure Chest where it is safe.

The Board

Use a regular Backgammon Board. The 4 quadrants of the Board are referred to as:

- Outer Sea (points 1-6)
- Great Sea (points 7-12)
- Middle Sea (points 13 -18)
- Inner Sea (points 19-24)

Setup

Each player rolls 1D6 and places their ship on that point in the Outer Sea.

Turn Sequence

Each turn has 3 Phases:

- Travel Phase
- Luck Phase
- Wind Phase

Travel Phase

Roll 1D6 individually for each Man-o-War and Merchant ship. Those ships move forward that many spaces. Man-o-War and Merchants move from the Inner to the Outer Sea.

Any roll that moves them past the Outer Sea causes them to be removed from the board. If a Man-o-War lands on a Pirate, that Pirate is sunk and goes to the Sand Bar. A Pirate Sunk by a Man-o-War loses all the Gold in its Hold.

If a Merchant lands on a Pirate, that Pirate captures it and all its gold. The Gold is put in the Pirate Ships Hold. Captured Merchants are removed from the board.

Luck Phase

One player rolls 1D6: If he rolls a 1 a Man-o-War appears on the Board. If he rolls a 2-6 a Merchant ship appears with that many gold pieces aboard. That player rolls a second 1D6: The new ship is placed on a point on the Inner Sea corresponding to the second roll.

Wind Phase

Each Player rolls 1D6 to determine turn order: High roll goes first. Each player (not on the Sand Bar) in turn rolls 2D6 and Moves his ship. Ships must move using both dice.

Moves can be in either direction. Pirates may not move onto Man-o-Wars. If a Pirate lands on a Merchant, that Pirate captures it and all its gold.

The Gold is put in the Pirate Ships Hold. Captured Merchants are removed from the board. If there are 2 or more merchants on a point, and a Pirate lands on it, he captures them all.

If a Pirate lands on a Pirate, that Pirate is sunk and goes to the Sand Bar and the Pirate that did the sinking gets all the gold in the other players hold. Pirates cannot sink each other in the Outer Sea; they simply stack there instead. If a Pirate started his turn on the Sand Bar, he only rolls 1D6 and then Places his ship on that point in the Outer Sea.

A Pirate may Bear-off from the Inner or Outer Sea. When a Pirate bears-off, all the Gold in his Hold goes to his Treasure Chest and the Ship is then placed on the Sand Bar.

Question & Answer Section

> 1) The gold coins representing "treasure" are the same as the merchant ships? That is, each merchant ship is that stack of two-six coins which a pirate will get if he captures the ship?

YES, unless you have little merchant ship models you can stack coins on.

> 2) At the set-up, there are no merchants or men-o'-war on the board yet? If that is correct, then there's no Travel Phase first turn?

yes on both accounts

> 3) The sandbar is the division where the backgammon board folds up?

this is called the bar in backgammon i call it the "sandbar" to give it a nautical flavor.

> 4) When a new ship appears in the Luck Phase, the second D6 roll indicates what point on the Inner Sea it starts on. But, those points are numbered 19-24. Does 1=19 or 1=24?

go with 1=24

> 5) What does "bear-off" mean in terms of the board? The pirate's die roll is sufficient to move it past the last point on that end of the board? «< YES

»> You then automatically go to the sandbar, coins in the "hold" pile go to the "treasure chest" pile to count toward victory, and the next turn that pirate ship is placed on one of the points in the Outer Sea?

Yes to all

> 6) I move the ship at once for the sum which has dropped on dices, or I do two moves for each dice separately (as in usual backgammons)? I.e.

Two Moves As In Regular Backgammon

> 7) Can I capture two merchant ships on two different lines in one turn?

Yes

> 8) If a merchant and men-o-war on the same line, I can't capture that merchant?

no, the mow protects the merchant

> 9) If the player does not have other choice, it should go to line with man-o-war?

Yes, If You Can't Move, Go To The Sandbar (& Discard The Gold In Your Hold)

Rules Variant

In Luck Phase roll 1D10:

#	=	Result
1-2	=	Man-O-War
3-9	=	Merchants
10	=	Typhoon

The Typhoon behaves just like a Man-O-War except that it destroys any and all ships it lands on.

Stats

1. Sailing
2. Gunnery
3. Boarding
4. Toughness
5. Wits

Setup

Each player draws 4 cards from the Pirates Own Deck.

Turn Sequence

Each turn has 9 Phases:

1. Fate Phase
2. Treasure Phase
3. Recruit Phase
4. Event Phase
5. Sailing Phase
6. Spanish Main Battle Phase
7. Barbary Coast Battle Phase
8. Seven Seas Battle Phase
9. Captains Phase

Fate Phase

Each player draws 3 cards from the Pirates Own Deck and 2 from the Event Deck. If a deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Treasure Phase

For each of the Three Seas, draw the top card from the Plunder deck and place it face-up on top of that Sea. If a Sea already has a Plunder card still there from the previous turn, do not Add another Plunder card.

Recruit Phase

Players may put Ships into play in front of them. Each Ship put into play must have 1 Crew and 1 Captain card attached. (A ship may have a maximum of 1 Captain and 1 Crew attached)

Event Phase

Certain Event cards are played in this Phase. A Ship with the Undead Trait automatically removes 1 Damage counter. Roll once on the Magic Table if you control any Undamaged Magical Ships:

Magic Table

1D6	Effect:	Notes:
1	Curses	Target Ship is Lost
2	Storm	Target Ship is affected by a Storm
3	Destiny	Draw 1 Event Card
4	Visions	Look at Opponents Hand
5	Heal	Remove all Damage Counters from 1 Ship
6	Call Aid	Draw 1 Pirates Own Card

Sailing Phase

Players pick which of the 3 Seas they want their Ships to sail to this turn. Determine the Sailing Rating of each Ship in play. The Ship with the lowest rating is moved first.

The Ship with the highest rating is moved last. In case of ties players roll high on 1D6 to determine turn order. You may send each of your Ships to any of the Three Seas.

You may Choose not to send a Ship and leave it at Port.

Battle Phase

There is a Battle Phase for each of the Three Seas. Only ships assigned to a Sea in Sailing Phase may partake in a Battle. Each Battle has 3 Segments:

- Gunnery Segment
- Boarding Segment
- Trickery Segment

Gunnery Segment

For every level of Gunnery a Ship has, it may roll 1 six sided die. For every roll of 6 put a Damage Counter on 1 opposing Ship. Any ship with damage tokens equal to or greater than its Toughness is Sunk.

A Sunk ship and all attached cards are discarded. The ship with the highest Sailing rating attacks first, and so on.

Boarding Segment

For every level of Boarding a Ship has, it may roll 1 six sided die. For every roll of 6 put a Damage Counter on 1 opposing Ship. Any ship with damage tokens equal to or greater than its Toughness is Sunk.

A Sunk ship and all attached cards are discarded. All attacks are simultaneous.

Trickery Segment

Of those remaining, the Ship with the highest Wit Rating gets the Plunder card. If it is Treasure, place it in your Buried Treasure Pile. If it is an Object attach it to one of your Ships at the Battle.

If Wits are tied, highest Sailing Stat wins. If still tied, Roll high on 1D6.

Captains Phase

A Ship that spent the Turn in Port may remove all Damage Tokens.

Piratical

Piratical

Players control Pirate ships in search of plunder & adventure.

Victory

The first player to accumulate 100 Gold is the winner.

Pirate Ships

Pirate ships have a hull rating of 12 and a cargo space of 12. A player can only control one ship at a time. A new ship costs 20 Gold. This includes one crew & one cannon

Setup

Players start with one Pirate ship, three crew, and one cannon. All ships start in the Port Royal space. Determine turn order by rolling dice. High roll goes first.

Hull Rating

Ships start out with a hull rating of 12. If a ships hull rating is reduced to 0, it sinks and the player will have to buy a new ship. If a ship sinks or is lost all cargo is also lost.

Cargo Space

This is how many goods the ship can carry. Ships have a cargo capacity of 12 spaces. Each crew occupies one cargo space.

Each gun occupies one cargo space.

Crew

If the number of crew is reduced to 0, the ship is lost, and the player will have to buy a new ship. Additional crew can be hired at Port for 2 Gold each.

Cannons

See Battles section. Additional cannons can be purchased at Port for 2 Gold each. You can't use more cannons then you have crew.

Port Royal

Ships automatically stop on the port space. The port is a safe harbor: Players cannot attack each other here. Goods can be traded for an equal number of gold at port.

Damaged hulls can be repaired for one gold per point of damage.

Goods

Each good occupies one cargo space. Goods represent tobacco, rum, artwork, furniture, and other valuables. Goods are acquired by plundering merchant ships and towns.

Gold

Gold does not occupy cargo space.

The Board

The board is a circular ring of 48 connected spaces. Pick one space to be Port Royal. (Space 1) The space to the clockwise of that is space 2, and so on. The other spaces include:

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 3 phases:

1. Movement Phase
2. Draw Phase
3. Battle Phase

Movement Phase

Ships move clockwise. A player on his turn rolls 1D6 and moves his ship that many spaces.

Draw Phase

Skip this phase if you land on an opponents ship. Draw 1 card. Play that card face up. The card immediately takes effect.

Battle Phase

Battles occur between opponents ships in the same space. First, all ships roll one die for each cannon they have. Rolls of 4-5 on 1D6 inflict 1 hull damage.

Rolls of 6+ on 1D6 inflict 1 hull damage & kill 1 crew. Discard a Cannon Card before rolling to get +2 to one such roll. After this exchange roll on the following table:

1D6:	Battle Action:
1-3	Conduct another round of cannon fire.
4	Boarding action.
5-6	The battle ends and the current player moves back 1D6 spaces.

Boarding Actions

Each player rolls one die for each Crew they have. Rolls of 5-6 on 1D6 result in an enemy Crew being killed. Discard a Boarding card before rolling to get a +2 to a roll.

Continue doing this until all but one side is eliminated.

Final Notes

"Avast ye scurvey mates, prepare to be boarded!"
Be sure to play in character.

Currently available decks include:

- Githyanki
- Githzerai
- Mind Flayer
- Beholder
- Modron
- Slaadi
- Daemon
- Deva

Disclaimer

AD&D material is licensed, copyrighted, trademarked property. This is merely a fan site.

Victory

Defeat a Player by reducing him to zero Morale points.

The Decks

Each player uses his own Primary and Secondary deck. Each deck is specific to a single race. Players also share a common Spell Deck & Psionics Deck.

Morale

Each player starts with 50 Morale points.

Tokens

Use Coins to keep track of Recruitment points. Use Tokens to Indicate Immobilization.

Units & Actions

Units include Monsters, Fighters, & Wizards. A unit can make only one action before being immobilized. Actions include Attacking, Blocking, and using certain Traits.

Denote Immobilization by putting an Immobilization Token on the unit.

Setup

Each player draws a hand of 7 cards. The Funniest looking player goes first.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 5 phases:

1. Cycle Phase
2. Plane Phase
3. Gate Phase
4. Spell Phase
5. Raid Phase

Cycle Phase

Remove one Immobilization token from each of your units. Max hand is 7 cards. Discard excess cards.

Plane Phase

Draw 2 cards in any combination from your Primary deck or Secondary deck or the Spell Deck or the Psionics Deck. If a deck runs out, shuffle the discard & draw from it. You may pay 5 Recruit points to draw an extra card.

Gate Phase

Gain 10 Recruitment Points (RP). Keep a running total. You may accumulate them from turn to turn. To put a Unit into play pay RP equal to the Units Base Force.

Weapon, Object, & Armor cards may be attached for free in this phase. A Unit may attach a max of one Armor & one Weapon card.

Spell Phase

Play spell & Event cards that are not appropriate in other phases. Spells & Events produce their effect for a phase (or a turn) & are then discarded. To play a Spell or Event card, you must have a unit in play that can cast the Spell or produce the Event.

Raid Phase

You may attack your opponent with one or more of your units. Each Unit card has a Force point value. If unblocked, the Unit does damage equal to its total Force.

Certain Spells and Events will increase a Units Force. This damage is subtracted from the opponents Morale total. Your opponent may block with his Units.

The Unit with the lower total Force is destroyed (discarded). Units may combine in Attack & Defense. If a Unit has a higher initiative, it does its damage first.

Planet Busters

Introduction

Space Genocide.

Victory

Destroy your opponents Homeworld or all of his Planets of the same resource type.

The Map

Use a large Hex map.

Counter Sets

There is a common set of "Planet Buster" counters.

- Each player has a set of numbered "Fleet Markers" of a unique identifying color.
- Each player has numbered "Fleet Mats" corresponding to each of his fleet Markers.
- Each player gets a screen to hide his Fleet Mats.
- Each player has a set of 10 "Planet" Hex Tiles of a unique color.
- Each player has a set of 10 "Planet Type" thin counters.

There is a common set of 84 "Ship" counters. The ship counter set contains 4 of each of the 21 ship types described on the Ship List Table.

Notes On Fleet Mats And Markers

Fleet Markers represent the position of your fleets on the Map. A Fleet Mat (not on the map) is where you store/display the ship counters that compose that fleet. If a Fleet has no ships, the Fleet Marker is removed from the board.

Multiple Fleets can be in the Same space. Ships in the same space can join or separate to make fewer bigger fleets or more smaller fleets at the will of the controlling player. A Fleet may have any number of ships.

Each player has a Maximum of 10 Fleets.

Setup

Each player distributes his planets randomly in one section of the map. (Planets should be 1D6+2 spaces apart) Players place one of their Planet Type thin counters under each one of their Planets however they like. Each player draws 20 random ships from the Ship counter pile.

You may place 0-5 ships (you choose from your 20; not random) on each of your Fleet Mats. Place PB counters with ships that carry Planet Busters. For each Fleet Mat that has ships on it, place the corresponding Fleet Marker on one of your Planets. A Planet at start may have a maximum of 1 Fleet on it.

Planet Types

Each player has a set of 10 "Planet Type" thin counters. Each set is composed of 4 Planet types:

- 1 Homeworld
- 3 Population Resource Worlds
- 3 Metal Resource Worlds
- 3 Radioactives Resource Worlds

In setup a player places 1 thin counter under each of his 10 Planets exactly how he wants to. If a Player's Homeworld is destroyed he loses the game. If a player loses all 3 Worlds of a single Resource type, he loses the game.

When a planet is destroyed, it's thin counter must be revealed to all.

The Scouting Rule

If you have a ship in the same space as an enemy planet, and your opponent has no ship there, you may look at that planet's thin counter.

Ship Ratings

All ships have numerical scores in 6 categories: Movement, Attack, Defense, Planet Busters, Fighter Bays, and Cost. Movement (Move)- How far the ship can go in a turn. Ships with a Move = 0 are static defenses around the planet they orbit.

Attack (Atk)- Number of Attack dice rolled in engagement phase if attacking. Defense (Def)- Number of Defense dice rolled in engagement phase if attacked. Planet Busters (PB)- Number of PBs that can be carried.

Fighter Bays (Bays)- The number of fighter groups that can be carried. Cost- The number of Resources needed to buy this Ship.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 4 phases:

1. Transport Phase
2. Engagement Phase
3. Mass Destruction Phase
4. Production Phase

Transport Phase

All of your ships(Fleets) may move. A ship may move a number of spaces equal to its Movement Rating. Ships with a move rating of 0 cannot move. They defend the planet they're based on.

Fighter squads can be carried around by "carrier" ships with bays. A Fleet moves at the speed of its slowest ship. Fleets in the same space can be joined or seperated at any time.

Place a "Move Counter" on fleets that have finished their move for the turn.

Engagement Phase

If opposing Fleets occupy the same space, there will be combat. Place a "Battle Counter" on the Current space being resolved. Players reveal their Fleet Mats of the involved ships.

Each ship present with an attack rating of 1 or more may attack a target ship. All attacks by both sides are simultaneous. All of a carrier's fighter squads must be destroyed before the carrier can be attacked.

Ships may combine their attack dice against a single target ship. The attackers roll a number of 6 sided dice equal to their combined Attack Rating. The defending ship rolls a number of 6 sided dice equal to its Defense Rating.

If the Attack total is higher than the Defense total, the ship is destroyed. If the defense total is equal or higher, nothing happens. Place a "Destroyed Counter" on a ship that is destroyed but has not gotten to make its attack yet.

In an engagement each ship gets to attack once and then the phase ends.

Mass Destruction Phase

If you have a ship with Planet Busters located at an opponents planet, you may launch one or more of these weapons. Only 1 Launch order is allowed per ship per phase. Discard all PB counters used.

For each attack, on a roll of 1-3 on D6 the Planet is destroyed. Remove the Planet counter from the board.

Production Phase

Gain 4 new ships per turn. You can have a max of 20 ships. Gain fewer ships if you will go over the max.

(For example, If you have 17 ships, only gain 3 new ones) The ships are drawn randomly from the Ship counter pile. Place the newly built ship in the same space as any of your planets. Newly built ships come with the appropriate number of PB counters.

If a ship has used up some or all of its PBs, it may, at a friendly planet have them replaced. Note: Building a ship at a Planet with no ships will cause you to use a Fleet Counter and Mat for it.

Ship List Table

Ship Type:	MOVE	ATK	DEF	PB	BAYS
Fighter Squads	0	5	4	1	F
Interceptor Squads	0	3	7	0	F
Bomber Squads	0	6	2	2	F

Corvettes	4	3	2	1	-

Planetary Defense Rule

Decommission Rule

You may discard one ship you do not want at the beginning of Production Phase.

Faq

THE MAP: "Use a large Hex map." Q: How many hexes wide and long would you recommend? A: Planets should be 1D6+2 spaces distant from each other, so that in itself can serve as a rough guide.

Ship Type:	MOVE	ATK	DEF	PB	BAYS
Escorts	4	3	3	0	-
Battle Station	0	5	5	0	-
Defense Satellites	0	4	6	0	-
Battle Drone	4	5	1	0	-
Cruiser	2	3	4	1	-
Battler	2	5	2	1	-
Shield Ship	1	4	5	0	-
Assault Transport	2	2	2	3	1
Attack Scout	7	0	2	1	-
Carrier	3	1	2	0	4

SETUP: "Each player distributes his planets randomly in one section of the map." Q: How big a section? Half the map? Top and bottom quarters of the map? A: Each player should get a proportion equal to the number of players, so half the map for 2 players, or a third of the map for 3 players, etc.

Fleets

Q: Can the owning player freely create or combine fleets at will? A: Yes. No stacking limits in the "Basic" rules, however, you may decide you want some limits to fleet sizes and establish this as a house rule.

ENGAGEMENT PHASE: "If opposing ships occupy the same space, there will be combat." Q: When there is combat, is the combat sequence repeated until one side is destroyed? Or is there only a single round of combat? A: Single round of combat.

MASS DESTRUCTION PHASE: "you may launch one or more of these weapons" Q: Does the attacker choose the number of Busters he will use and then roll for all of them at once? Or does he make one attempt, view the results, and then have the option of attacking again if he failed to blow up the planet on the preceding attempt? A: One attempt only per turn.

Space Burst Phase Optional Rule

This occurs before Engagement Phase. You may declare that a Ship is launching one or more of its Planet Busters as a Space Attack against the Enemy Fleet. For each PB launched, roll 1D6 for each enemy ship: On a roll of "6" the ship is destroyed.

Note that Fighters without transport (and not on a Friendly planet) are destroyed at the end of the turn. All Space Burst attacks are simultaneous.

Space Terrain

Star Gates: Go in one gate and come out any other. Nebula: A Ship must end its Movement upon entering one. Super Nova: No Ships may enter this space.

Alien Ruins: Gain a free Random ship once per game to first player to reach it. Asteroid Field: All Ships in this space get +1 Defense. Ion Cloud: All Ships in this space get +1 Attack.

Gravitic Anomaly: Entering this space does not use up a Movement Point. Neutral Planet: The first player to reach this planet gains control of it. At that time randomly determine its type: Roll 1D6:

1-2 Population, 3-4 = Metal, 5-6 = Radioactive.

Black Hole: Any ship in this space must at the beginning of its owners turn roll 1D6: On a roll of 1, it is sucked in and destroyed. Dark Matter: Fleets moving into this space do not have to stop if the space is occupied by an enemy Fleet, they may keep moving. Temporal Nexus: Once per Game the first player to reach it gets to draw 2 cards.

Pick Phase

Players take turns picking one Plantation card each. The Master picks the first card. The player to his left picks the next card and so on.

It is called a Round when all Players have selected a card. If there are Plantation cards remaining, a new round starts. This continues until all Plantation cards have been claimed, ending the phase.

When a card is selected, it is immediately played. Events take their effect and are then discarded. Permanents are placed face up in front of their owners and represent the Buildings/farms that are on that players Plantation.

End Of Game Scoring

Each permanent has a basic point value. Cards you own will get or give bonuses to/from other cards on your Plantation. (If you own more than one copy of a card that benefits from another card, both Copies get the bonus.) Additional Scoring Bonuses/Penalties:

Title:	Score	Notes:
Modest Means	-10	Having no Big House
Harshest Master	-10	Having the Most Slave Quarters
King Cotton	+10	Most Cotton Fields
King Tobacco	+10	Most Tobacco Fields
King Sugar	+10	Most Sugar Fields
King Rice	+10	Most Rice Fields
King Indigo	+10	Most Indigo Fields

Cash Crop Cards

The player who picks this card chooses one type of Crop. All players get 2 points for each Field they have of that Crop type. This is the only type of scoring that occurs mid-game.

Support

Each Slave Quarters will Support 5 Fields or Buildings. In end scoring unsupported Fields & Buildings score no points.

Event Cards

If you draw an event card that causes a loss, you must randomly discard one of your Own permanents of the indicated type. To randomize the lost card, pick up all cards of the type you own, shuffle them and Draw one at random. Some buildings make you immune to this type of loss.

An Anglo-Indian Force of 3,000 men defeated a Bengal Army of 50,000 men.

Victory

The first player to acquire all 5 Territory Markers wins.

The Decks

Each player has a unique deck. Each deck has 5 types of cards: Leader, Unit, Artillery, Defense, Special

Setup

The British get 2 Territory Markers. The Bengali get 3 Territory Markers. The Bengali player starts the game as the Attacker.

The Attacker Rule

The player who won the previous turn is the Attacker. The other player is the Defender.

Turn Sequence

- Each turn has 4 Phases:
1. Orders Phase
 2. Maneuver Phase
 3. Attack Phase

4. Resolution Phase

Orders Phase

Each player draws 9 cards from his own deck. If a deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Maneuver Phase

Each player may discard up to 5 cards and draw replacements.

Attack Players

Both players reveal a Meld from their hand. A Meld may contain up to: 1 Leader card 2 Unit cards (3 if Attacker) 2 Artillery cards 2 Defense cards (Play only if you are the Defender) 3 Special Cards

Resolution Phase

Each card has a Force value. The meld with the highest total value wins the turn. The Winner takes a Terrain Marker from his opponent.

Play Ground Skirmish

Introduction

Board & card game for 2 players. Fight between two groups of kids on the playground.

Victory

Drive the opposing gang off the playground.

The Map

Use an 8x8 chessboard. Make 8-10 spaces obstacle spaces. These include: Jungle Gyms, Monkey Bars, Teeter Tooters, Swings, Slides, etc.

Gangs

Each player has a gang of 8 kids. Use chits or miniatures to represent kids. Designate 2 kids to have skates, 2 to have skateboards, and 2 to be on bikes.

Setup

Each player places one kid on each square of his back two rows. Units may not stack.

The Cards

Players share a common deck.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 3 phases: Draw Phase Move Phase Fight Phase

Draw Phase

Draw 3 cards. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it. Max hand size = 5 cards. Discard excess cards.

Move Phase

Play (discard) a Move card to move one of your kids. Kids cannot move through other kids except. The move card has a number.

This is the number of spaces the kid moves. Moves are diagonal or orthogonal. A Kid must end his move upon entering an Obstacle space.

Fight Phase

Play (discard) an Attack card to have a kid attack. The attack card has a number. This is the range of the attack.

Attacks are diagonal or orthogonal. The kid that is the target of the attack is removed from the playground. (Runs home crying to his Mama.) Play a defense card to negate an attack.

Play Sets

Introduction

Activity for an adult and one or more small children (age 3+).

Materials

Large pieces of white paper. Markers, pens, pencils, crayons. Safety scissors.

Concept

Draw and cutout pictures of your favorite action figures. Draw background scenery on separate pages. Play with the picture cutouts out on the scenery.

I do this with my four year-old. Some 'play-sets' we have created include: Star Wars, Buzz Lightyear, Power Rangers, and Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles. It's a lot of fun, it's quality time.

The kids really get into it. You get to improve your Art Skills.

Players & Playwrights

Introduction

Board game for 2-4+ players. Each player is a Theatre Troupe during the English Renaissance.

Victory

The player with the most Gold at the end of the game wins. The game ends when the players have gone through the deck twice. (The start of the English Civil War)

Dice

Six sided dice are needed.

Gold

Use Coins to represent Gold

Pawns

Each player has a unique pawn to represent his Troupe. (Use Chess pieces)

The Deck

Players share a common deck. There are 7 Suites (card types): Playwrights (Dramatists: The Men who wrote the plays) Actors (Players: The men who acted the plays) Troupes (Companies of Actors) Theatres (Playhouses: Where plays were performed) Dramatic Devices (How the plays were written) Stage Props (Special effects used to enhance the plays) Plays (Comedies, Histories, and Tragedies)

Point Of No Return

"S.O.S. This is the Prescott. Maximum Burn. Repeat. We are out of Fuel. Velocity is Mark 5. Current Position 90.5-42-6.3. Bearing 34.7-78.9-69.2. We've reached the point of no return. Someone come & get us..." —Commander Randal F. Graves, Last Transmission—

Introduction

Spaceship combat using simple vector movement & inertia.

Map

Use a Hex map with a star field background.

Chits

Chits or counters are used to indicate the position of planets, ships, and other objects on the map. Players may want to use chits to indicate velocity, fuel, missiles, and damage.

Ship Record Sheets

Each ship should have its own record sheet with the following data: Ship Name, Captains Name, Allegiance, History. Crew number, experience, and morale. Hull Points, Cost, List of all systems.

Number of Fuel Tanks & Missiles carried. Velocity, Systems damaged. The records will be altered during play as the ship uses up fuel & missiles, and sustains damage.

Turn Sequence

1. Navigation Phase
2. Launch Missiles Phase
3. Gun Phase
4. Missile Strike Phase
5. Damage Control Phase
6. Resupply & Repair Phase
7. Docking Phase
8. Victory Phase

Notes

All sides act in each phase. All actions in a phase are considered simultaneous except for Navigation Phase.

Gun Attack Table

1-navigation Phase

Start with the fleet with the fewest ships. Players take turns moving one ship at a time. Move larger ships before moving smaller ships.

A ship can burn one fuel tank per engine per turn. The Burn can be used for 3 things: Acceleration, Deceleration, or Turning. (De)Acceleration changes velocity by one hex/turn per burn.

If used for Turning, the ships facing is turned 60 degrees per burn. Turns can take place at any point during the move. A ships velocity can be indicated by a marker chit.

A ship must always move(not including turns) a number of hexes equal to its velocity. Movement is always in the direction the ship is facing. Ships at 0 velocity may change their facing for free.

Ships that leave the map are lost from the scenario forever.

2-launch Missiles Phase

A ship can launch one missile per launcher per turn. Missiles have a range of up to two hexes. Declare launches & Targets.

Only one target per computer system is allowed. Multiple missiles may have the same target. They all make separate attack rolls.

3-gun Phase

Guns include beam & projectile weapons such as: Lasers, Particle Accelerators, Rail Guns, & Plasma Generators. Lasers can fire at ships or incoming missiles in the same hex (Range = 0). Particle Accelerators, Plasma Generators, & Rail Guns cannot target missiles.

Particle Accelerators have a range of 1 Hex. Rail Guns have a range of 2 Hexes. Rail guns are forward facing, they can only fire into the 2 hexes in front of the ship.

Plasma Generators have a range of 0. They use up a fuel tank when they fire. Only one target ship (or missile) per computer is allowed. Multiple guns may have the same target. They all make separate attack rolls.

All attack declarations for all guns are made before any resolutions are made.

D6	RESULT
1	Miss
2	Reflected
3	Surface Damage
4	Noncritical Puncture
5-6	Target Hit- Use Damage Table (Target Missile destroyed).

Modifiers

+1 to roll if target stationary.
 -1 to roll if target velocity is 3 or greater.
 -2 to roll if target velocity is 5 or greater.
 Plasma Generators get a +3 to rolls on this table.
 Treat a 'noncritical puncture' result as a 'Target Hit' result against converted or nonmilitary targets.

4-missile Strike Phase

Roll on the missile attack table for all missiles not shot down by lasers.

Missile Attack Table

D10	RESULT
1-3	Miss
4-5	Near Miss
6	Launch Abort- Targeting computers Hesitate. Missile Did not launch.
7+	Target Hit- Use Damage Table.

Notes

Smart missiles have a +1 to rolls on the Missile Attack Table +2 to roll if target stationary. -1 to roll if target velocity is 3 or greater. -2 to roll if target velocity is 5 or greater.

Damage Table

D6	RESULT
1-3	1D6 Cargo bays Destroyed (or half as much Armor, rounded up).
4-5	1D10 Cargo bays Destroyed (or half as much Armor, rounded up).
6	Critical damage or 1 Superstructure point destroyed.

Notes

Armor is destroyed before cargo bays. Empty cargo bays are destroyed before others. Cargo bays containing missiles are destroyed before those containing fuel tanks.

If no Cargo Bays are left, roll on the critical damage table. (Cargo Bays will of course be carrying cargo on transport ships.) (On other nonmilitary vessels replace the cargo bay results with scilabs, crew quarters, luxury pods, or whatever is most common). Only spaces-tations & ground installations have Superstructure points.

1 Superstructure point is equivalent to 100 Cargo bays or Hull points. If a Nuclear missile hits roll 1D10 times on the Damage Table. If a Railgun hits roll 2 times on the Damage Table.

Critical Damage Table

D10	RESULT
1	Engine Damaged
2	Computer Damaged
3	Living Quarters Damaged- Automatically Kills crew or passengers.
4	Launcher Damaged
5	Sensor Suite Damaged (-1 to Attack rolls).
6	Nonessential System Damaged- Lifeboat, SciLab.
7	Gun Damaged- Laser, Particle Accelerator, Rail Gun, Plasma Generator.
8	Power Grid Damaged- Ship can take no actions until this system repaired.
9	Directional Thrusters Damaged- Ship cannot turn.

D10 RESULT

10 Ship destroyed in a spectacular explosion.

Notes

Reroll if target system has already been damaged.
Damaged systems do not function.

5-damage Control Phase

If a ship did not burn or attack this turn a crew may attempt to repair one damaged engine, computer, launcher, lifeboat, laser, sensor suite, or scilab.

Damage Control TableD6 RESULT

1-2 Total Loss. The system must be replaced at a port with shipbuilding facilities (Repay MC cost)

3 Extensive Damage. System can only be fixed at port.

4 Too soon to tell. Try again next turn.

5 System requires two turns to fix.

6 Minor Damage. System repaired.

6-resupply & Repair Phase

Ships docked at a station may replenish their supplies of fuel & missiles in this phase. Pay in megacredits for these items from the facilities supply surplus. They may also make repairs at this time if repair crews are available.

Roll on Damage Control table to determine if the damage is a total loss. Recalculate Supply totals of Repair facilities. Ships docked with each other may also trade cargos & crews in this phase

Repair Facilities

Space stations, bases, and colonies have the following stats: Docking Bays- The number of ships that may dock with the base at one time. Repair Crews- The number of damaged systems that can be replaced or repaired per turn. Superstructure Points- Units of Damage. Each point lost is a whole section of the structure destroyed.

Supply Surplus- Megacredits available that can be spent on replacing Fuel tanks, Missiles, Crews, and Systems. Resupply- Megacredits generated or recieved per turn. Defenses- Numbers of guns, missiles, launchers, computers, and sensors.

Laserarcs- Number of lasers that can be used against targets in any one 60 degree arc. Ground targets can only attack or be attacked from 3 arcs (The planet shields their other arcs).

7-docking Phase

Ships may automatically dock with satellites, space stations, and friendly ships in the same hex, only if both vessels are at the same velocity and facing. Space stations and satellites face all directions. Undocking also occurs in this phase.

Enemy ships with no ability to move or fight may also be boarded and will automatically surrender. Disabled ships may be towed at no detriment to the tower. A ship may make up to 2 docking connections, one per airlock it has.

If two or more ships are docked together only 1 of them may use their weapons. Ships docked to space stations may not fire their weapons.

8-victory Phase

Each scenario will specify victory conditions.

Lifeboats

These are launched in Navigation Phase. They can carry 1 crew to safety. If hit they are automatically destroyed.

They carry no weapons. They have one small engine and enough fuel for 3 burns.

Scenarios

Use the following rules for designing ships

Designing & Building Ships

Luxury Pod	1	2	—	These are always destroyed before crew quarters.

Notes

Cost is in monetary units called Megacredits. The Hull column indicates how many Hull spaces the system occupies. A ship must have at least 1 hull point per system.

Hull points not occupied by systems are automatically considered to be cargo spaces. The Cargo column indicates how many cargo bays the material occupies. All ships must have (The Basic System Package): 1 crew quarters, 1 computer, 1 engine, 1 sensor suite, 1 power grid, 1 directional thrusters, 1 airlock.

Every ship also needs several cargo bays for holding fuel tanks. Building extra basic systems gives the added advantage that if a system is damaged there is a backup. Ships of hull size 100-199 must burn 2 fuel tanks to (de)accelerate (or turn) once.

Ships of hull size 200-299 must burn 3 fuel tanks to (de)accelerate (or turn) once. Large warships are known as dreadnaughts. Ships cannot be built or upgraded during battles.

Scenario: The Tycho Imperative

Background- Political prisoners from a detention center on the moon have gained control of Tycho Base, a European Commonwealth mining colony and have demanded sovereignty. Negotiations lasting several months have failed. The New Tycho leadership has gained support from various African & South American Nations.

War ships from several commonwealth countries have been gathering at the L5 colony. The Europeans are split on the decision whether to attack. Either side will quickly give up if the war starts going against them.

Use the following victory conditions:

ACTION	VICTORY POINTS	NOTES
Destroy enemy Warship	1	-
Damage colony	2	Per 1 Superstructure point
Any Colony 50% damaged	Automatic Win

One side will surrender if the other leads by 4+ Victory points or destroys all their Warships.

Setup: The Tycho Imperative

Map: The Moon should be in the middle. Tycho may be attacked from the 3 bottom hex arcs. L4 & L5 should be at opposite ends of the Map. Earth is not on the map. New Tycho will not directly attack Earth.

Ships start at their colonies. All ships automatically have: 1 crew, 1 launcher, & The Basic System package. All remaining Hull spaces are empty cargo bays that may be loaded with a mix of missiles and/or fuel tanks during setup using the spacestation starting supplies.

Introduction

Card and Dice Game for 2-6 players. Greek City State Theme.

Victory And Game End

The first player to accumulate 100+ Victory Tokens wins. The first player to control 4 cities at the beginning of his turn wins.

Components

Components include: Population Marker Sets, Gold Coins, Victory Tokens, Growth Card Decks, Action Card Decks, City Counters, Dice, City State Mats, Greek Wonder Counters

Population Markers

Each player has a set of 60 Markers of a unique color. Unused PM are kept in each players store.

Gold Coins

Players share a common set of Coins. These are unlimited and can come in different denominations.

Victory Tokens

Players share a common set of Victory Tokens. These are unlimited and can come in different denominations.

Growth Card Decks

Each player has his own set of Growth Cards.

Action Card Decks

Each player has his own set of Action Cards.

City Counters

Players share a common set of City Counters. Counters are of 3 types: Improvements, Leaders, Events. Most of the Counters are kept in a cup.

Always keep 5 random Counters out of the cup face-up. These are called the Ready Counters. Improvements can be of 3 types: Military, Gold, or Victory.

Leaders provide the same effect as 2 Improvements.

Dice

Six and Ten sided dice are needed.

City State Mats

There are 10 City State Mats. City State Mats can hold up to 20 Population Markers, 8 Improvement Counters, 1 Greek Wonder Counter, and 1 Leader Counter. Each city also generates a bonus in 1 category as do improvements.

Greek Wonder Counters

Players share a common set of Greek Wonder Counters. These are kept face up. A Wonder costs 10 Gold to build.

You must control the City to build it. The city must have at least 3 other improvement already. You immediately gain 5 VT for building it.

A Wonder also provides a bonus just like a regular Improvement. A City may contain a maximum of 1 Wonder.

Setup

Each player selects 1 City State Mat (CSM). Each player selects a set of Population Markers (PM). A player puts 10 of his PM on his own CSM.

Each player starts with 2 Gold and 5 VT. Roll Dice to see who goes first. Players then take turns placing 1 PM on the CSM of 1 other player until each player has placed 5 PM in such a manner.

Control Of City States

The player who has the most PM in a City controls it. It is possible for a player to control many cities, or none.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 6 Phases:

1. Growth Phase
2. Expenditure Phase
3. Action Phase
4. Culture Phase
5. Revenue Phase
6. End Phase

Growth Phase

You must play 1 Growth Card from your hand. Each growth card provides you with some combination of Extra Population Markers, Gold, and/or City Counters. Place the PM (your color) on any city in play.

(Remember the max PM in any city is 20. If you cannot place them, they are discarded) Keep the Gold. City Counters are chosen from the Ready Counters or randomly from a common cup. A Growth deck has 6

Cards. The Six cards include:

#	PM	Gold	City Counters	Notes
1	0	1	1	-
2	1	-	1	-
3	2	2	-	-
4	3	1	-	-
5	4	-	-	-
6	2+3	-	-	2 PM in one city and 3 in another

When you play a Growth Card, place it face down in front of you. When all of your Growth cards have been used, place them all back in your hand.

Using City Counters

When you draw a city counter, they must be used immediately: Improvements: These may be placed in any city in which you have 1 or more PM. (Put them back in the cup if there is no where you can put them) A City may not have more Military counters than it has Gold Counters. Leaders: Place the Leader in any city of your choice that does not have one first.

If all cities have Leaders, replace any target Leader with the new one. The old Leader is put back in the cup. Events: Resolve and then place back in the cup when it is finished.

If you chose a Ready Counter, immediately draw another one from the cup to replace it.

Expenditure Phase

You may spend or save your Gold Coins as you like. Spend 1 Gold to move 1 or 2 of your PM from one city to another. Spend 2 Gold to gain 1 VT Spend 3 Gold to gain 1 PM in any City.

Spend 5 Gold to gain 1 City Counter. Spend 7 Gold to put your Face down Action cards back in your hand. Spend 10 Gold to gain a Greek Wonder.

Action Phase

You must play 1 Action Card from your hand. Each action card has 2 possible actions on it. You must choose 1 of the 2. An Action deck has 6 Cards. The Six cards include:

1. War or Peace
2. Colonize or Trade
3. Revolt or Civilization
4. Oratory or Diplomacy
5. Intrigue or Improve
6. Raid or Migrate

When you play a Action Card, place it face down in front of you. When all of your Action Cards have been used, place them all back in your hand.

The War Action

You can only declare war if you control a city state. Pick a city state you control (with at least 10 PM) and a City state you don't control. The controller of the target city may immediately offer a Tribute of Gold.

If the attacker does not accept the Tribute continue: The attacker must pay 5 Gold to attack. Each side rolls 1D6 and adds 1 per Military Bonus the City has. The opposing city loses that many random Population Markers.

(A city may have zero population: no one controls it) The player with the higher modified roll gets 2 VP. If the modified rolls are within 4 the war is said to be a draw. If one side is 5+ more than the other, it is said to be the Winner.

The winner steals 3 VT from the Loser. (If the loser has less than 3 VT, none may be stolen) The Winner takes half of the Losers Gold. The Winner may destroy 1 Improvement or Wonder in the losing city.

The Winner may put to the sword (kill) none, some, or all of the PM in the losing city. The Winner may enslave none, some, or all of the PM in the losing city. Place enslaved PM in the Winners city and gain 1 Gold for each.

A player may not kill or enslave his own PM.

The Peace Action

Gain 2 PM in any city.

The Colonize Action

You can only Colonize if you control a city state containing a full 20 PM. Pay 5 Gold. Put a new City State Map into play. Move any 6 PM from the Old City into the new Colony.

The Trade Action

Gain 3 Gold.

Revolt Action

Target a City with a least 15 PM that you do not control. That city loses a random 1D6 PM.

Civilization Action

Gain 2 VT.

Oratory Action

Pick a city that you have at least 1 PM in. Convert 2 opponents PM in that city into your PM.

Diplomacy Action

Pick a city you have a PM in and any other target city. Those cities cannot raid or go to war with each other for 3 turns.

Intrigue Action

Pick 2 Cities you do not control and that are controlled by 2 different players. Those cities must go to war with each other as described in the War Action.

Improve Action

Gain 1 City Counter. Then Discard all the Ready Counters and replace with new ones from the cup.

Raid Action

Steal 2 Gold from target player.

Migrate Action

Move up to 4 of your PM from 1 city to any other.

A Solo Game Of Warfare And Intrigue In The Roman Empire

inspired by Lloyd Krassner's March On Rome: The Work Of Caesar Is Never DoneMARCH ON ROME by Steven Cranmer scranner@cfa.harvard.edu)

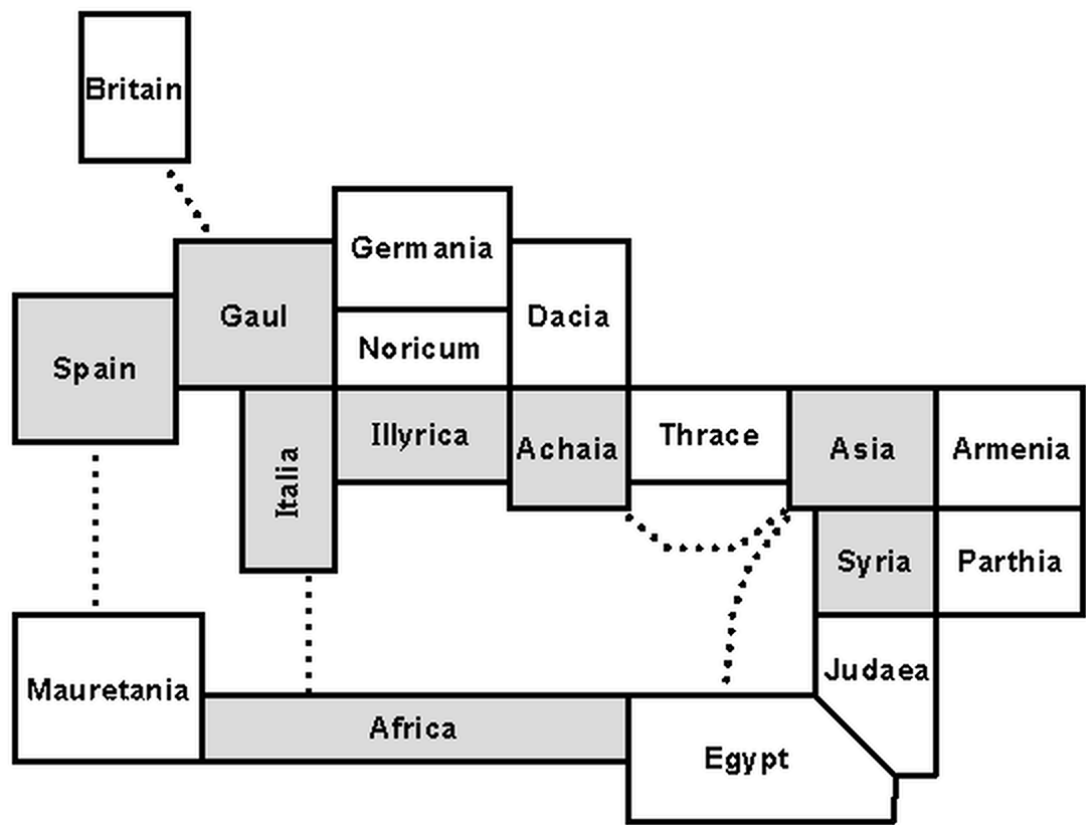

This game is Copyright Steven Cranmer, 2001. The author (me) grants the right to copy and distribute this file, provided it remains unmodified, original authorship is retained, and it not be republished for any commercial purpose.

Premise

The time frame is somewhere between 50 and 150 AD. An emperor of long standing has just died. You happen to know with certainty that you are his intended successor, but he died before announcing this to the Senate. Your job: defeat the other powerful contenders to the throne and claim your rightful place as Imperator!

This paper-and-pencil game is a one-player variant on Lloyd Krassner's March On Rome: The Work Of Caesar Is Never DoneMarch on Rome There are some aspects of the game that were inspired by several other of Krassner's WarpGames as well. The scope of the player's choices in the game is somewhat limited, possibly making this more of a simulation than a strategy game. However, it was my intent to construct something that can be played as a simple pastime rather than with a great deal of advanced forethought. Some suggestions for extensions are listed at the end of this document, and the reader is encouraged to make whatever changes seem appropriate.

Map

There are 8 “core” provinces (gray) and 10 “frontier” provinces (white). At the start of the game, the Roman Empire consists only of the core provinces, and all others are considered “lost.” Imperial provinces are either controlled by generals or by procurators. A province is considered adjacent to another only if they touch on all or part of a side, or are connected by a sea route (dotted lines on map). Provinces touching corners only are not adjacent.

#	Province
1	Spain (core)
2	Gaul (core)
3	Italy (core)
4	Illyrica (core)
5	Achaia (core)
6	Asia (core)
7	Syria (core)
8	Africa (core)
9	Britannia
10	Germania

#	Province
11	Noricum
12	Dacia
13	Thrace
14	Armenia
15	Parthia
16	Judaea
17	Egypt
18	Mauretania
19	(roll again)
20	(roll again)

Set-up

The player is denoted as a 'PC' (Player Character), and the main opponents are denoted as 'NPC' (Non-Player Character) generals. The PC starts in a random core province (roll 1d8) with 2 + 1d6 legions.

There are 1 to 4 opposing NPC generals, all starting in other core provinces, determined randomly. The number of NPC generals and their legions are determined by rolling 1d12. Once the number of generals is determined, roll individually for each to obtain their legions and their starting core province. (If an occupied province is selected, roll again.)

1d12	no. of NPCs	legions per general
1-3	1	3 + 2d6
4-8	2	2 + 1d8
9-11	3	1 + 1d6
12	4	1 + 1d4

The legions belonging to PC and NPC generals do not go on the map; only markers of ownership go on the map. Legions are considered "instantly movable," because 1 turn equals 1 year, so they are accounted for as numbers, off the map.

All unoccupied core provinces are considered to be "senatorial provinces," and are governed by unambitious procurators. For each of these provinces, roll 1d6 to see if they have a legion garrisoned there or not:

1d6	no. of legions
1-4	0
5-6	1

Put white markers on senatorial provinces, and put markers for their legions on the map (to avoid off-board record-keeping for the procurators).

At the start of the game, all frontier provinces are not part of the Empire, and their military strengths are unknown.

Turn Sequence

#	Turn
I.	PC ACTIVITY
II.	NPC ACTIVITY
III.	RECRUITMENT PHASE
IV.	EVENT PHASE

I. Pc Activity

The PC can choose one of three options:

- Do nothing and wait,
- Attack a province adjacent to any province controlled by the PC (whether it is part of the Empire or not), or
- Approach a province adjacent to any province controlled by the PC with an offer of alliance. If alliance negotiations break down, a battle occurs.

II. Npc Activity

NPC generals have the same options as players, but their actions are determined randomly. The NPCs act in random order, re-determined every turn, by having each roll 1d20 and acting in ascending order of their rolls. Their actions are determined by rolling 1d6:

1d6	action
1	nothing
2-3	try for an alliance
4-6	attack

If an NPC is supposed to try for an alliance or attack a neighbor, first choose a random "home base" for the NPC out of that general's provinces (use whatever die spans the appropriate number). Then choose a random neighbor by rolling 1d6 and counting neighbors clockwise from due north.

Examples: Starting in Africa, a 3 is rolled. The chosen neighbor is Mauretania. Starting in Gaul, a 2 is rolled. The chosen neighbor is Germania.

Battles

When a battle occurs, each side must first roll 1d6 for initiative. (The higher roll has the initiative, rolling again at ties.) The side without initiative first determines how many legions to devote to the battle (see below). The side with initiative then gets to decide how many legions to devote. For PCs, it is obvious that having the initiative allows a more intelligent choice. For NPCs and barbarians, having the initiative means that one adds 2 legions to the randomly determined value, if they are available.

If one side in the battle is a barbarian nation, their total number of armies (equivalent to Roman legions) available this turn, all of which will be devoted to the battle, is $2 + 1d6$. If left unconquered at the end of the turn, the remaining barbarian armies will disperse and they will raise $2 + 1d6$ fresh armies next turn, if attacked again. If a barbarian nation is involved with more than one battle in a turn, they only roll $2 + 1d6$ one time per turn.

1d6	opponent stronger	opponent equal	opponent weaker
1	40%	30%	20%
2	50%	40%	30%
3-4	70%	50%	40%
5	85%	75%	70%
6	100%	100%	90%

The NPC thus devotes this percentage of the total number of legions owned to the battle, rounding up.

The battle is resolved by fighting 1d6 “segments,” similar to Culture & Conquest: Dice Game. Civilization Building; Published In The Academic Gaming Review! Culture and Conquest. In each segment, each side rolls 3d6 (the side with initiative goes first). Each time a 1 comes up, the opponent loses X legions, where X is determined by the total number of legions on both sides of the battle:

total	X
2-13	1
14-26	2
27-39	3
40-52	4

and so on. If a battle ends in an equal number of legions on both sides, keep adding segments until the tie is broken. The winner is the side with more

1d6	NPC will be dominant	NPC won't be dominant
1-2	YES	YES
3-6	YES	NO

Procurator and barbarian responses are determined by rolling 1d6 on the following table:

1d6	Procurator	Barbarian
1	YES	YES
2-5	YES	NO
6	NO	NO

Any response of “NO” leads to a battle between the two sides. A response of “YES” leads to the dominant party obtaining all legions owned by the other party. (A barbarian nation has $2 + 1d6$ legions to provide in

1d20	Event
1	Assassination
2-3	New general arises

The PC decides freely how many legions, out of the total number owned, to devote to any one battle. NPC generals decide by rolling 1d6 on the following table. Every party's total legion ownership is “public knowledge,” so the NPC's decision depends on whether his or her opponent is stronger, weaker, or equal in total legions:

legions at the end, and the winner takes the province at stake. If a general has lost his or her last province, the remaining legions disappear.

Alliances

Alliances are effectively “mergers” between the two sides. Once an offer is made, two things must be determined: (1) the response to the offer, and (2) which side will be dominant when the merger is completed. (The side not dominant effectively disappears from the game.)

Dominance is decided between PC generals and NPC generals by which side has more total legions. This same criterion applies when two NPC generals decide to ally. However, when any general allies with either a procurator or a barbarian nation, the general will always be dominant.

PCs can of course turn down any offer where they will not end up dominant. NPC general responses are determined by rolling 1d6 on the following table:

an alliance.)

iii. Recruitment Phase

Each PC and NPC general gains 1 legion per province controlled.

Iv. Event Phase

1d6 events occur throughout the known world each turn. For each event, roll 1d20 on the following table. Events are resolved immediately.

1d20	Event
8-12	Prosperity
13-16	Local rebellion

1d20	Event
4-7	Epidemic

Assassination: A random general is killed. Both the PC and NPCs are liable (not procurators). If the PC general is chosen, the game is over.

New general arises: This only occurs if the total number of generals (PC + NPC) is 2 or less, and there exists at least 1 lost or senatorial province. If a new general can indeed arise, set up the new NPC like at the start of the game, with 2 + 1d6 legions. First roll 1d8 if there are core provinces open (keep rolling if provinces occupied by generals are chosen). If the new NPC arises in a senatorial province, and that procurator has a legion, then it can be added to the new general's total. If all core provinces are occupied by generals, roll 1d20 for all provinces.

Epidemic: Roll 1d20 for a random province. The general or procurator in control loses 1 legion, but does

1d20	Event
17-20	Barbarian invasion

not lose control of the province if the total number of legions goes to zero. Lost provinces are not affected.

Prosperity: Same as epidemic, but it is a gain of 1 legion for the general or procurator in control.

Local rebellion: Same as epidemic (with a loss of 1 legion), but if the owner's total goes to zero, consider the province lost and no longer part of the Empire.

Barbarian invasion: Roll 1d8 on the table below to determine which invader invades. Follow the "invasion route" in the table. The first province that is a part of the Empire is the one that is hit by 2 + 1d6 legions of barbarians. If the barbarians win, the province is lost and all remaining Roman legions (that were devoted to the battle) are killed. If the barbarians lose, all remaining barbarian legions are killed.

1d8	Invader	Route
1	Picts	Brit - Gaul
2	Celts	Germ - Gaul - Italy
3	Huns	Dacia - Noric - Gaul - Italy - Illy - Achaia - Thrace
4	Vandals	Dacia - Noric - Gaul - Spain - Mauret
5	Ostrogoths	Dacia - Achaia - Asia
6	Visigoths	Thrace - Achaia - Illy - Italy - Gaul - Spain
7	Armenians	Armen - Asia - Thrace - Achaia
8	Parthians	Parthia - Syria - Asia - Thrace

Victory Conditions

At the end of any turn, if the PC general controls at least 3 provinces and there are no other surviving NPC generals, the PC wins. If the PC (or any NPC) loses all owned provinces or is assassinated, he or she is out of the game.

Possible Extensions

- In battles, include the possibility for either side to surrender, or to have the attacker give up for any other reason.
- Include character traits and abilities, such as military skill, charisma, political ambition, and superstition. These can add flavor and affect the outcomes of battles and alliance negotiations, and possibly give generals the chance to avoid assassination.

- Create random tables for generals' ages, ancestries (patrician, plebs, freed slave, etc.) and names (praenomina, nomina, cognomina).
- Allow generals to devote resources to non-military areas, but without introducing the added complexity of money (or "tribute"), which would probably be too time-consuming to keep track of for the NPCs. Generals could curry favor with the populace or make improvements in cities (like the Wonders of Culture and Conquest).
- Add more political backstabbing (see March on Rome).

Introduction

Important note: this a variant of the "Attrition" Game in the WWI section. Two player Card game simulating the stagnant Warfare of the Korean War's later phase.

Objective

Us:

Reduce Chinese inf. to zero. and hold the hill!

Supplies

The six territories on the hill must be taken:

Setup

US Player starts with all Territory Markers US Play-ers forces are weakend by the rotation of units out of Korea, Thus he only gets 50 squads. The Chinese are desperate to get the hill to use for leverage at the Pammajon Talks. They Get 100 Squads.

ARTILLERY BARRAGE Phase During the Korean War the Chinese forces are utterly lacking. They only roll a 1d2 during this phase. The US however had plenty of artillery. The US player rolls 1d6 for artillery bombardment and 1d6 for air support. To determine how many Chinese squads are killed.

Orders Phase

The US player is never ordered by the brass to charge.

	Active player plays in Logistics Phase

Look at opponents hand and discard one of opponents cards Notes: Yes these are the same cards as the original game but; hey look on the bright side now you can still use a 52 card deck! Assign each card a corresponding number 1 through 14 and there you go. Some cards only effect the Chinese. Watch Pork Chop

Hill by Gregory Peck for mood. I plan a second edition after I read the book the movie is based on.

SOLO-VARIANT: Play as US, the Chinese play all the cards they draw as soon as possible. Chinese Player always charges.

3. Scoring Stage

Prepping Stage

2. Option Phase

Availability Phase

Flip over the top card of the Stockpile deck. Skip this phase if there are no cards left in the deck.

Option Phase

Scenario Stage

Players take turns. Pick one of the face-up Scenario cards and put it face-down in the Scenario Discard pile. If there is only one Scenario left, it becomes the End of the World Scenario (EOTWS).

Once the EOTWS is determined, continue to the Scoring Stage.

Scoring Stage

The EOTWS will list categories that receive a bonus card value multiplier. For example: if it is the Zombie Apocalypse, all your Weapons cards are worth 3 times as much, and Your Vehicle cards are worth double (Run Away!) Your final score is equal to the total point value of all your stockpile cards. For every category you have zero cards in, get -5 points.

Presidential Race

Introduction

Board game for 2 players. Race for the US Presidency. One player is the Democratic Nominee. The other is the Republican Nominee.

Dice

Six-sided dice are needed.

Tokens

There are two types of Tokens: Money Tokens and Vote Tokens.

Vote Tokens

There are exactly 100 Vote Tokens (or just Votes). Each player starts the game with 37+1D6 Votes. The remaining un-owned votes are in the center: These are the Undecided Votes.

Money Tokens

Each token represents one million dollars. There is no limit to the number of money tokens. Each player starts with 2D6 Money Tokens.

Pawns

Each player has a pawn representing his candidate and campaign efforts.

The Board

The board is a square track with 11 spaces on a side. (Like a Monopoly Board) Pawns travel clockwise. The Board has the following spaces:

If there are no undecided votes, take votes from your opponent. When losing votes, the lost votes go into the undecided pile. If a space or card asks you to spend money you don't have, you do not gain the indicated votes.

Extra Money

On your turn, you may convert 2 Money Tokens into 1 Vote.

Primea

Introduction

Roleplaying campaign set on an alternate Earth. Magic exists in many forms. Pantheons of Gods walk the land. Pangea, the super-continent, never fully broke apart.

In some areas Dinosaurs still exist and have evolved into many new forms. Sub-races of humans and other non-human intelligent races exist. Civilizations that were separated by time & space on our own earth live side by side on Primea.

A Plethora Of Pantheons

Some groups are monotheistic, others are polytheistic, others spirit worshiping. All religious spellcasters are able to draw "magical" power from their focus of worship. Each Pantheon exists on its own alternate dimension.

The gods & spirits can only travel to this Earth in areas where there are many worshippers of that Pantheon. Since this Earth has access to so many pantheons, it has been declared a neutral zone. The gods avoid conflict with each other on this world.

The people of Atlantis have a pantheon similar to the Greeks and Romans. The Hyborians have a pantheon similar to that of the Norse. The Christians include the Anglosaxons, Franks, Germans, Gothics, Renaissance, Scotts, Byzantines and Spaniards.

The Gothics are steeped in necromancy, and undead powers. The Moslems include the Arabs and Beduins. The Lemurians and Troglodytes worship ancient, evil, alien gods.

Abilities

Abilities are also referred to as skills, traits, stats, attributes, characteristics, knowledges, and bonuses. One experience point buys the first level in an ability. Two experience points buys the second level in an ability.

Three xps buys the 3rd level, and so on.

NOTES: Rolls on this table are known as damage rolls. Each damage point reduces level of the Stamina Ability by one. If the combatant has negative Stamina left then that number serves as a wound penalty to all actions until healed.

Damage and wounds heal at a natural rate of 1 per day. Attacks to immobilize, disarm or knock unconscious do no damage. They are successful on damage rolls of 5+.

Once immobilized a wrestler automatically 'hits' every turn doing damage. A hold can be broken using the action resolution table modified by the strength of both combatants. Getting up from a prone position counts as one's action for the round.

Magic

A new character can only start with spells associated with his culture. Each 'type' of magic has a list of available spells. Each level of a spell costs one experience point.

For example to learn a 4th level spell costs 4 xp.

For each spell at a certain level learned in a type of magic, the character must know at least one spell of the next lower level.

To learn a 2nd level spell, a character must know a 1st level spell.

To learn a 4th level spell, a character must know one 3rd level spell, one 2nd level spell, and one 1st level spell.

A spell can be cast once per day.

Each level of the Raw Manna ability lets the character cast an extra two levels of spells per day. Spell store spells imbed a known spell into a physical object.

Progression

Introduction

Math themed Card game for 2-4+ players.

The Deck

- Cards are numbered zero to nine (0-9).
- There are 6 copies of each card.
- The Deck is composed of 60 cards.

Winning

The first player to make 5 Progressions wins. Keep track on a piece of paper.

Setup

Players cut the deck: The player with the highest cut goes first Shuffle the deck. The Deck is kept face down in the middle of the table. Each player is dealt 7 cards.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 3 Phases: Draw Phase Progression Phase End Phase

Draw Phase

Draw 1 card from the top of the deck and put it in your hand. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Progression Phase

You may play one progression from your hand. A Progression consists of 3 related numbers. A List of possible Progressions follows the Turn Sequence.

Note: To make an individual number greater than 9 requires 2 or more cards:

- Example 1: The number "3" requires only a 3 card.
- Example 2: The number "81" requires both an 8 card and a 1 card.
- Example 3: The number "125" requires a 1, a 2, and a 5 card.

Note a zero by itself may not be a number in a Pattern. A Progression must contain at least 4 cards.

End Phase

If you made a progression this turn, draw 1 card. Max hand size is 8 cards. Discard excess cards.

Progression List

There 7 types of Progressions currently available: Basic, Algebraic, Prime, Exponential, Pythagorean, Fibonacci, Geometric

Basic Progression

The numbers must be related by an addition or multiplication pattern: Examples:

- $88 + 90 + 92$ ($88 + 2 + 2$)
- $15 + 20 + 25$ ($15 + 5 + 5$)
- $83 + 84 + 85$ ($83 + 1 + 1$)
- $79 + 83 + 87$ ($79 + 4 + 4$)
- $23 + 34 + 45$ ($23 + 11 + 11$)
- $15 + 30 + 45$ ($(15 \times 1) + (15 \times 2) + (15 \times 3)$)
- $18 + 27 + 36$ ($(9 \times 2) + (9 \times 3) + (9 \times 4)$)
- $33 + 44 + 55$ ($(11 \times 3) + (11 \times 4) + (11 \times 5)$)

Algebraic Progression

The numbers must be related by an algebraic equality: Examples:

- $7 + 9 + 16$ ($9 + 7 = 16$)
- $7 + 9 + 63$ ($9 \times 7 = 63$)

Prime Progression

These are sets of sequential Prime Numbers: Examples:

- $13 + 17 + 19$
- $29 + 31 + 33$

Exponential Progression

A sequence of: Number + Number Squared + Number Cubed. Examples:

- $3 + 9 + 27$
- $4 + 16 + 48$
- $5 + 25 + 125$

Pythagorean Progression

The Squares of 3 sequential numbers. Examples:

- $4 + 9 + 16$
- $9 + 16 + 25$

Fibonacci Progression

3 Sequential numbers of the Fibonacci Sequence. Examples:

- $5 + 8 + 13$
- $55 + 89 + 144$

Geometric Progression

A sequence of: Number + Number x Coefficient + ((Number x Coef) x Coef) Examples:

- $2 + 16 + 18$ ($2 + (2 \times 3) + ((2 \times 3) \times 3)$)
- $5 + 10 + 20$ ($5 + (5 \times 2) + ((5 \times 2) \times 2)$)

Game Designers Notes

If any mathematicians out there would like to add some more Progressions, Please let me know.

Protecting The Skies

Introduction

Solo Dice Game. Simulation of an Air War between USA and an imaginary Middle Eastern Nation.

Materials

Paper, pencil, 1-2 six sided dice & 1 ten sider, nobody to play with.

Goal

The player plays the commander of Anti-Aircraft troops of an imaginary Middle Eastern Nation. The goal is to bring down ten American war planes to create anti-war sentiment in the USA and halt the American assault.

Map

Draw a map of your nation with ten provinces and the capital city. Number the provinces with numbers from 1 to 10, 1 being the capital city. Place the 12 possible American bombing targets to provinces according to 1d10 rolls.

American Bombing Targets

Aa Troops And Weapons

#	Description
1d6	Long Range Missile Systems
	Against High Flying Bombers (B-52)
2d6	Short Range Missiles
	Against Low Flying Assault Planes (F15, Tornado(RAF), A10)
3d6	Units with Stinger Missiles
	Against Low Flying Assault Planes (F15, Tornado (RAF), A10)
3d6	Units with AA-guns
	Against Low Flying Assault Planes (F15, Tornado (RAF), A10)

PHASE 1: Deployment

Deploy your troops and units into provinces. The Units cannot be transferred from Province to Province after the American Assault has begun. Units can be deployed either as active or hidden. An active unit can fire against attacking troops but has a greater risk of being detected and attacked. A hidden unit cannot attack but the risk of being discovered is smaller. Once a hidden unit has changed to active status, it cannot be hidden again.

PHASE 2: American Assault

Roll Target Province Roll with 1d10. That's the Province the Americans are attacking. Then Roll d6 to determine, whether the Americans are attacking the AA units or the Targets in the province. On 1-3 on d6, the Americans are attacking the AA units, on 4-6 on d6, another target in the province. If there is no targets in the province, Americans have bad intelligence and they attack targets with no value. During the first five turns, the Americans attack only with 1d6-1 B-52's, aftern that the Americans attack with 1d6-1 B-52's, 1d6-1 F-15's, 1d6-1 Tornados (RAF) and 1d6-1 A10's.

PHASE 3: Intercept

Against B-52's you can fire 1d6 Long Range Missiles if you have such unit active in a province. A Long Range Missile destroys a B-52 with 6 on d6.

A low flying bomber will kill an active AA unit with 4-6 on d6 and destroy another target with 5-6 on d6. A hidden AA- unit is killed with 6 on d6. The AA units will be attacked in order: 1. Long Range Missile Unit, 2. Short Range Missile unit, 3. AA-gun, 4. Stinger Unit.

Psych Ward

Introduction

Card game for 2 or more players. Players are medical professionals working in a hospital psych ward. Match drugs to diagnoses to score points.

Objective

The game ends when all patients have been successfully treated. The player, at the end of the game, with the most patients in his file is the winner.

The Decks

Players share two common decks: The Patient Deck, and the Treatment Deck. The decks contain one of each card described in the lists.

The Patient Deck

Each card represents a patient. The card describes the patient's diagnosis and treatment requirements.

The Treatment Deck

The treatment deck has two types of cards: Drug Cards (used to treat) and Contraindication Cards (used to negate treatments) Note: A few Drug cards describe non-pharmacological treatment options. Contraindication cards represent ADR's (Adverse Drug Reactions), Side effects, Co-morbid disease states, Drug interactions, Kinetics, Dynamics, Dosing, and Administration errors that would result in therapeutic failure.

Setup

Each player starts with a hand of 5 random treatment cards. Determine Turn order (the player with the longest name goes first).

Patient Deck Card List

Patient Disorder:	Notes (Treatment Requirements)
Paranoid Schizophrenia	Treat with 1 drug for SZ
Catatonic Schizophrenia	Treat with 1 drug for SZ
Disorganized Schizophrenia	Treat with 1 drug for SZ
Undifferentiated Schizophrenia	Treat with 1 drug for SZ
Residual Schizophrenia	Treat with 1 drug for SZ

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 3 Phases: Admissions Phase Pharmacopoeia Phase Treatment Phase

Admissions Phase

The center of the table is referred to as the Ward. Take the top card of the Patient deck and place it face up in the Ward. (This is the newest admission) Note: As the game proceeds, there will be more and more admits.

Maximum patient population in the ward is 8 patients. If there are already 8 patients in the Ward, skip this phase.

Pharmacopoeia Phase

Draw 3 cards from the Treatment deck and put them in your hand. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it. Max hand size is 8 cards. Discard excess cards.

Treatment Phase

Discard any Treatment cards from your hand you don't want. You may attempt to treat a patient by playing an appropriate Drug card from your hand onto that Patient. Your opponents may play (discard) an appropriate Contraindication Card to cause a target Drug card to be discarded.

If you meet all the treatment requirements of a patient, put that patient Card into your File (A pile next to you). Some patients require 2-3 Drug cards for successful treatment; It is possible That a patient may be partially treated. In this case, the Drug cards remain On the patient from turn to turn. The player who finishes the treatment gets to keep the Patient for his or her file. One a patient goes to a File, discard all Drug cards on the patient.

During your turn you may play multiple Drug cards and treat multiple patients.

Dice

Six sided dice are needed.

Setup

Each player gets 1 Random Therapist card. Each player gets 2 Random Patient cards. Each player picks 1 Office to be their Home (starting) Office.

(If more than 4 players, players will have to share office space) Each player gets a set of pawns. (Pawn set color does not have to be the same as office color) A player's location pawns start in his office The least mentally stable player goes first.

Pawns

Therapists and Patients are collectively referred to as pawns. Pawns can be in the form of chits, counters, markers, etc.

Pawn Sets

Each player has a set of pawns of a unique color. All Pawns are numbered. For each number there are two pawns with that number.

(For example: two red #1's, two red #2's, two red #3's, two red #4's etc.) The #1 Pawns are used for a player's Therapist: Put one (the Identity pawn) on the player's Therapist card to indicate ownership. Put the other (the Location pawn) on the Board to show the therapists location. The other pawns are used in the same way for a player's patients.

Direction Of Movement

Pawns always move clockwise unless otherwise directed by a card or space.

Neurosis Points

Each pawn starts play with 2D6 Neurosis Points (NP). Use coins or tokens to represent NP. Stack these NP Tokens on the Therapist/Patient cards.

If a Patient is ever rid of all of his NP he is completely cured. The cured patient is removed from play and counts as positive VP for the owning player. If a patient ever has over 20 NP he is considered to be a failed patient and Is removed from play and counts as negative VP for the owner.

If a Therapist pawn has over 20 NP, he can no longer gain new Patients and Any patient he lands on gains 1 NP. The term cure is also used to mean the removal or loss of NP.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. On your turn get a number of dice equal to the number of pawns you control. Each of your pawns must move exactly once on your turn.

Roll one or two dice at a time. These are referred to as "Progress" rolls. Assign each roll to one of your pawns and move the pawn that number of spaces clockwise. When a pawn lands on a space it must obey the instructions on the space, but Only after it interacts with any pawns already there.

Landing On Other Pawns

If the space contains multiple pawns pick just 1 to interact with. If your therapist lands on another therapist: Send that therapist to his office, but he cannot recruit a new patient. If your therapist lands on an opponent's patient: You may gain control of that patient on a roll of 5 or better on 1D6 (Steal roll).

If your therapist lands on one of his own patients: That patient is cured 1 NP. If one of your patients lands on an opposing therapist: He may try to gain control of the patient on a roll of 5 or better on 1D6 (Steal roll). If one of your patients lands on an opposing patient: The opposing patient gains 1 NP.

If one of your patients lands on your therapist: The patient is cured 1 NP. If one of your patients lands on one of your other patients nothing happens.

Office Spaces

If one of your patients lands on your office, it is cured 1 NP. If your therapist lands on your office you may recruit a new Patient on a roll of 4 or better on 1D6 (Recruit Roll). If successful, draw a new patient card. The pawn for the new patient starts in the Office.

If your pawn lands on an opposing office, nothing happens.

Patient Limit

Scutarii	1	1	3	-/2	2 Pila
African Infantry	1	1	4	-/2
Celts	1	1	3	3/-	Charge
Elephant	4	1	3	3/-

Unit Special Abilities

All friendly units adjacent to the General get Defense +1 Skirmish units may attack at any point during their move. Units with Pila (javelins) may use them to attack with a range = 3. Keep track of how many Pila each unit has remaining.

Once per game a Celt unit may Charge. A charging Celt gets Move = 2 and does 2 Damage for that turn. Elephants do 2 Damage.

If forced to retreat, an Elephant is automatically destroyed. The Onager (catapult) cannot move & attack in the same turn.

Units

Use chits or miniatures to represent units. There are separate lists for Roman and Carthaginian units.

Unit Attributes

Each unit has 3 Attributes or Traits: *Move: the number of spaces the unit can move per turn. *Range: the maximum number of spaces distant the unit can apply damage. *Defense: the amount of damage the unit can take at one time before having to retreat.

Some units have additional special abilities.

Army Creation

Each player designs an army before play starts. An army is composed of 16 units. The Master List gives the maximum & minimum numbers for each unit type

Setup

Each player places one unit on each square of his back four rows. Units may not stack. Players take turns placing their units.

Determine who goes first in a non-random manner.

Facings

Units have facings: front, sides, and rear. A unit may change it's facing at the end of it's move. A unit may only attack in the direction it is facing (forward & diagonally forward) A non-skirmish/non-artillery unit attacking directly into the side of an adjacent unit does 2 damage.

A non-skirmish/non-artillery unit attacking directly into the rear of an adjacent unit does 3 damage.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 2 phases: Move Phase Attack Phase

Move Phase

You can move some, none, or all of your units in move phase. Units can move orthogonally or diagonally. Units can move up to a number of spaces equal to their Move Trait.

Units cannot move through other units except for skirmishers who may Move through friendly units.

Attack Phase

Each of your units can attack one target enemy unit in Fire Phase. Different units may attack different targets. Each unit has a Range Trait (number of spaces out it can attack into) A unit can only attack a target that is within its range.

Units with ranges 2+ can attack over other units. An attack does 1 point of damage. As soon as a unit takes damage in a turn equal to its Defense Trait, it must retreat.

(Combined Arms: you must concentrate force & combine attacks) A retreating unit must move laterally or back towards its side of the board 1 space. A retreating unit unable to move is destroyed and is removed from the board. Units that retreat off the board are destroyed.

A unit cannot move laterally if it will come in contact with an enemy unit. A unit that retreats must face away from its nearest attackers.

Double Whammy Rule

If you can force a unit to retreat a second time in the same phase, it is automatically destroyed.

Optional Rules

Terrain

Distribute Hills & Plateaus. Units occupying Hills have a Defense bonus of +1. Units cannot move into or through Plateaus.

Veteran Units

Each player may make 2 of his units Veterans. Veteran units get +1 to Defense & always do 2 Damage instead of 1.

Experienced Units

A unit that helps destroy 4 enemy units becomes a Veteran unit.

Campaign

Use a Larger map with bigger armies. Use all the other optional rules.

Push

Introduction

Board game for 2-4 players. Each player controls a Faction of Psychic Operatives. Based on the Movie of the same Name

Disclaimer

Push is a licensed, copyrighted property. This is merely a fan site.

Victory

You win if at the end of your turn you control the center of the board. Control of the center represents the fulfillment of your own Master Plot and the foiling of the plots of the opposing Factions. The center space of the board cannot be entered by any counters.

To control the center space you must occupy with your own operatives the 4 spaces orthogonal or the 4 spaces diagonal adjacent to the Center square.

The Board

The Board is an 11 x 11 Square grid. The 4 spaces in each corner are called Faction Boxes. The Center square is key to winning as described in the "Victory" rules section.

Operatives, represented by counters, occupy squares. No stacking: Max one Operative per space.

The Factions

There are 6 possible Factions players can pick from:

1. Division (Government Agencies)
2. Rebel (Usually Division Escapees)
3. Triad (Mafias, Organized Crime Syndicates, Cartels)
4. Company (Multinational Corporations)
5. Mercenary (Freelance Paramilitaries)
6. Religion (Brain Washing Cult)

Faction Special Abilities

The Action Deck contains 5 Faction Cards. Each of the 6 Factions can use a Faction Card in a different way:

Faction:	Faction Card Use:	Notes:
Divisions	Arrogant	Draw 2 Action Cards
Rebels	Desperate	Reroll any Target Die roll
Triads	Ruthless	Move Operative Diagonally
Companies	Ambitious	Recruit an Operative
Mercenaries	Adventurous	Roll an extra Die roll in Move Phase
Religion	Fanatic	Make a Kill attack

Operative Type List

There are 13 types of Operatives:

Type:	Basic Abilities:
Watchers	Precognition; Can see the Future
Sniffers	ESP; Locate Hidden Things, People
Pushers	Mind Control by Eye Contact
Movers	Telekinesis; Levitate/Repel Objects
Shifters	Illusion; Change Appearance of Objects
Shadows	Hide People/Objects from Psychic Detection
Bleeders	Sonic Vocalizations Rupture Blood Vessels
Stitchers	Healing or Harming by Touch
Wipers	Partial or Complete Amnesia by Touch
Porter	Teleportation of Self only
Phaser	Able to Walk through Walls/Barriers
Changer	Alter Appearance of Self
Squads	Non-Psychic, Heavily Armed, Foot Soldiers

Operative Special Ability List

- 1. Watchers: Change the Future: Reroll 1 or more dice in Move Phase once only each turn. For example: You roll your 3 Movement Dice. You have one watcher and you decide to Reroll 2 of your dice (you could have picked 0, 1, or even all 3). You must keep the results of your Reroll. If you had a second Watcher, you could then repeat the process and Reroll some, all, or none of the dice and so on. For each Watcher you have in play your max hand size increases by 1.
- 2. Sniffers: Zero In: Get +1 or -1 to one Move Roll. This modification only applies if the Sniffer himself is using the Dieroll to move.
- 3. Pushers: Pushers have a lot of powerful Action cards dedicated to them.
- 4. Movers: Repulsion: When moving, they get to push any operatives in their way. Those operatives move in the same direction the Mover is going. More than one Operative at a time may be pushed along in line in this fashion. An Operative pushed off the board may reenter in the owning players Faction Box. If the Faction Box is full the operative is discarded.
- 5. Shifters: Bag of Tricks: Can move Diagonally.
- 6. Shadows: Protection: All attacks against the Shadow or friendly operatives adjacent to the Shadow are at -1 to the Diceroll. Enemy Sniffers cannot use their special +1/-1 Move ability

- to move adjacent to the Shadow or any friendly operative adjacent to the Shadow.
- 7. Bleeders: Run Away: They can chase enemy operatives away with their screams. Use a Move Roll to move an enemy operative that is adjacent to the Bleeder. The operative cannot use any special ability moves when fleeing (for example a Mover cannot Repulse). Sound Carries: Bleeders can attack operatives that are diagonally adjacent.
 - 8. Stitches: Healing Hands: The Stitcher may remove a Incapacitation counter from one adjacent friendly operative in your Move Phase.
 - 9. Wipers: Forgetfulness: Enemy operatives orthogonally adjacent to a Wiper cannot move.
 - 10. Porter: Port: Use a Move Roll of 6 to move a Porter you control to any empty space.
 - 11. Phaser: Jump: A Phaser can move through other operatives. They must end their move in an empty space.
 - 12. Changer: Switch: Use a Move Roll of 6 to have the switcher change places with any target Operative.
 - 13. Squads: Martyrs: If an enemy operative is adjacent to your squad, the only target they can attack is a squad.

Operative Counter Pool

Operatives are represented by Counters. Players share a common set of operative counters

Type:	Counters in Set:
Watchers	6
Sniffers	5
Pushers	5
Movers	4
Shifters	3
Shadows	3
Bleeders	4

Type:	Counters in Set:
Stitches	2
Wipers	2
Porter	2
Phaser	2
Changer	2
Squads	6

Player Control Marker Sets

Each player has a set of control Markers of a unique color. These are stacked with an Operative Counter on the Map to show ownership.

Dice

Six sided dice are needed.

Action Deck

Players share a common deck. There is one copy of each card in the list. Each card describes an operative type and an attack or special function or self-defense that that operative type can perform.

If the Operative type is "Any" then the card can be used by any Operative.

Compromise Effect Tokens

There are several types. These are stacked with Operatives to show:

- 1. Incapacitated
- 2. Neutralized
- 3. Captured

Operatives with one or more Tokens are said to be Compromised.

Setup

- Shuffle the Action Deck.
- Place the Operative Counters in a cup.
- Set the Compromise Tokens near the Mapboard.
- Each player picks a set of Control Markers.
- Each player picks one of the 6 Faction Types.
- Each player picks one faction box on the Map.
- Each player picks 4 random Operatives and places them in the 4 squares of
- his faction Box. Place a Control Marker under each of your Operatives.

- Roll high on 1D6 to see who goes first. Play proceeds clockwise.
- Each player is dealt a hand of 5 Action cards.
- The player who goes first only gets 3 cards.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 4 Phases:

1. Fate Phase
2. Recovery Phase
3. Move Phase
4. End Phase

Fate Phase

Draw 3 Action Cards and put them in your hand. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Recovery Phase

- Roll 1D6 for each Incapacitated Operative. On a roll of 4+ remove the Effect Token.
- Roll 1D6 for each Captured Operative. On a roll of 5+ remove the Effect Token.
- Roll 1D6 for each Neutralized Operative. On a roll of 6+ remove the Effect Token.
- Get +1 to the roll if the Operative is in your faction Box.

Move Phase

Roll 3 Dice: These are your Move Rolls. You may assign each die to one of your operatives. You may chose not to assign some, none, or all of the dice.

A single operative may be assigned a max of one die.

The operative must move exactly that many spaces orthogonally on the Map equal to the value rolled on the move die assigned to him. If he cannot, then the die cannot be assigned to him. Operatives cannot move off the map or into the center space or into opposing Faction Boxes. You cannot move or attack with Compromised Operatives. Neutralized and Incapacitated Operatives may still be Attacked.

You may choose not to use a Move Roll.

* One Move Roll of 6 may be used to Recruit a new Operative: Draw a random Operative Counter from the Pool and place it in an empty square of your Faction Box. If the Box is Full you may not take this option.

* A Move Roll of 5 may be used to Move any Non-Captured, Compromised Operative you control to an empty space into your Faction Box.

* A Move Roll of 2 may be used to Move any Neutralized Operative you do not control to an empty space into your Faction Box. The Operative then comes under your control. Replace its control marker with one of your own.

* A Move Roll of 1 may be used to steal a random card from an opponent if you have at least one of his Operatives in the captured stste.

* A Move Roll may be used to move enemies you have captured in addition to your own Operatives.

At any time during the Phase the current player may play Action cards from his hand. Cards are discarded as soon as they are played. Some cards call for an attack to Kill: Make sure the Attacking Operative is of the right type to use the card then Roll 1D6:

D6	Result
1-2	No Effect
3-4	Target Incapacitated
5-6+	Target Killed (Discarded)

Attacks are against orthogonally adjacent enemy Operatives. The defending player may play a Defense card (Negate Kill) if he has one and if it applies to the target Attacking and/or Defending Operatives. An Operative incapacitated twice is immediately sent to your Faction Box.

If there is no room in the Box, the Operative is discarded. When Making an Incapacitation Attack roll 1D6:

D6	Result
1	No Effect; 2+ Target gets Incapacitation Effect Token.
	When Making an Neutralization Attack roll 1D6:
1-2	No Effect; 3+ Target gets Neutralized Effect Token.
	When Making an Capture Attack roll 1D6:
1-3	No Effect; 4+ Target gets Captured Effect Token.
	When Making a Control Attack roll 1D6:
1-4	No Effect; 5+ Replace Targets Control Marker with one of your own.

End Phase

Max hand size is 6 cards. Discard excess cards.

Adjacency Terminology & Rules

A space is considered to be adjacent to all other spaces it shares a side or a corner with. Unless otherwise specified Attacks and Moves can only be orthogonal or diagonal.

Action Card List Notations

- ATK Attack to Kill
- RC Random Card(s)
- FAO Friendly Adjacent Operative

Examples Of Action Card Usage

- To play the Trackers card you must have a Sniffer you control in play.

- To play the Disorientation card you must control a Bleeder who is being attacked. The card must be played before the Attack roll is made.
- To play the Know Destination card you must control a Porter and then move that Porter (not another Operative you control). This card gives you a powerful move that is in addition to your 3 Move Rolls.
- To play the Disappear card you must control a Porter who is being attacked. The card must be played before the Attack roll is made. The Porter must then move 1D6 spaces. If he cannot, the Attack is not averted and the Disappear card is discarded.
- To use the Disguise card you must have a Changer you control in Play. Move that changer a number of spaces from 1 to 5 of your choice (distance and direction).
- To play the Visitation card you must move a Porter you control 1-5 Spaces. If then there is an enemy operative adjacent you may Attack to kill it.
- To use the Kill Order Card you must have a Pusher you control in play. An Enemy Operative adjacent to that pusher will perform an attack to kill on a target Operative of your choice adjacent to it.

Pieces & Materials

Index cards (or Parchment or Clay Tablets) for unit stats and orders. Writing Implements. Six sided Dice.

The Egyptians get 5 red labeled tokens, one for each army. The Hittites get 5 blue labeled tokens, one for each army. Make up a Master index card for each army Tokens for fatigue, casualties, routing, scattered, and looting.

Place tokens directly onto Master index cards.

Playing Pieces

Each token or pawn on the board represents one army. Armies are also referred to as: Units, Divisions, Corps, Columns, Entourages, Contingents, etc. Each player has 5 armies.

Historical Notes

Most of the Egyptian Infantry was armed with composite bows. Close combat troops used Bronze Khopesh (Sickle) swords, Axes, Spears, Shields and Daggers.

Armor used by both sides was Bronze Scale Mail. Light Egyptian Chariots had a Driver and Armored Archer and were equipped with Javelins. The Egyptians also employed Libyan & Nubian Archers.

The Map

Use a Chessboard.

Row	Spaces
5	33,34,35,36,37,38,39,40
6	41,42,43,44,45,46,47,48
7	49,50,51,52,53,54,55,56
8	57,58,59,60,61,62,63,64

The Hittite Heavy Chariots had a Driver, Shieldman & Armored Warrior, all with long Spears. In mixed forces Infantry are able to hitch rides with the Chariots.

Egyptian Armies

All Units are composed of 4000 Infantry and 500 Light Chariots. Their base movement rate is 2 spaces per turn. Attacks are by Shock and Missile.

- ... P'Re (The Sun God of Heliopolis) Corps. ...
- Setup in one of the following: 26,27,28
- ... Amun (The God of Thebes) Division. ...

This unit has the Egyptian Leader Pharaoh Rameses II so it gets a leader Force bonus of +2. Sets up in or adjacent to the Egyptian Camp.

Hittite Army

The attacks of all Hittite units are by Shock only. ... Reconnaissance in Force Column. ... This unit is composed entirely of 2,500 Heavy Chariots. Its base movement rate is 3 spaces per turn.

This is a numerically large chariot unit so it has a Force bonus of +1.

... Entourage of Muwatallish. ... This unit is composed entirely of 1,200 Heavy Chariots. Its base movement rate is 3 spaces per turn. This unit has the Hittite Leader of King Muwatallish so it gets a leader Force bonus of +2.

Setup in one of the following: 44,45,46,52,53,54

... Hatti Main Body. ... Same as Allied Host.

... Vassal State Cohorts. ... Same as Allied Host.

Victory

Destroy the enemy unit containing the opposing Leader, or Occupy his camp and remove any 2 of his armies from play.

Turn Sequence

1. Scribe Orders
2. Resolve First Moves Phase
3. Resolve Second Moves Phase
4. Resolve Third Moves Phase
5. Resolve Fourth Moves Phase

Scribe Orders

Both players write down on an index card how they want each of their armies to move. Write down the path, space by space, that the army will attempt to move through. Examples: Amun Division (start space 30) à 22 à 14 Entourage of Muwatallish (start 46) à 45 à 44 à 36 An army may be ordered to move a number of spaces up to its base movement rate.

Units may not move diagonally. Two friendly units may not occupy the same space at the same time. A unit may be ordered to move one additional space but at the end of that phase gets a fatigue token on a roll of 1-3 on 1D6.

An army next to or in an enemy camp begins to loot on a roll of 1-3 on 1D6.

Resolve First Moves Phase

Every army of both players moves the first space of their order. (Unless an army was ordered not to move) All moves are simultaneous.

- If two opposing armies are in the same space there will be a Shock Battle.
- If two opposing armies are adjacent there will be a Missile Skirmish.

Defeat Table

1D6	Result:	Notes:
1	Stand Ground	Nothing
2	Bloodbath	Gain 1 additional Casualty Token
3	Scattered	Check morale to regroup on following phases
4-5	Routed	Immediately move 1 space away.
6	Decimated	Army destroyed: removed from play

The results of this table replace earlier results. For example: A unit was looting but you rolled a 5 so it is now routing.

Missile Skirmish Resolution

If you are Egyptian and adjacent to a Hittite unit roll:

- If a unit does not move or fight in a phase it may remove one fatigue token.

Fail To Move Roll

Every time a unit is about to make a normal move roll 1D6. On a roll of 6 the unit does not move.

- Add 1 if you are entering rough ground.
- Add 1 if you are crossing the river.
- Add 1 for every fatigue token you have.
- Add 1 if you are in the same space as an opposing army.

Resolve Later Moves Phase

Continue with the next written move on the order for every army just like in First Phase. Note that a unit must continue to move according to its orders. This may disengage the unit from combat.

Shock Battle Resolution

Occurs when 2 opposing armies occupy the same space. First determine if there is surprise. Each side rolls 1D6. The lower roll by 3 or more is surprised.

Next both sides roll 2D6. This is the battle roll.

- Get -1 for every Fatigue token your army has.
- Get -1 for every Casualty token your army has.
- Get +1 if you are the Hittite Player.
- Get -2 if you are Surprised.
- Get -2 if you are Looting.
- Get -2 if you are Scattered.
- Get -2 if you are Routing.
- Get +2 for having a Leader
- Get -1 if you the enemy has 1 or more additional armies adjacent to you.

The side with the highest modified roll is the winner. The loser gets 1 Casualty token and must roll on the Defeat Table.

1D6	Result:
1-2	Nothing
3-4	Hittites gain 1 Casualty Token
5-6	Hittites gain 1 Casualty Token and Rout

Get -1 for every Fatigue token your army has. Get -1 for every Casualty token your army has. Get +1 if Hittites are Looting.

Get -1 if Hittites are Scattered. Get -1 if Skirmishers or Hittites are in Rough Ground Get +1 for having a Leader. Get +1 if Hittites are Routing.

Get -1 if you the Hittites has 1 or more additional armies adjacent to you. An Egyptian unit in the same space as a Hittite unit cannot skirmish. A Scattered, Routing, or Looting unit cannot skirmish.

Morale

Applies to units that are scattered, looting or routing. Scattered and Looting units do not move. Instead of moving in a phase, a scattered or Looting unit may try to rally.

To Rally, roll 1D6. On a roll of 4-6 you rally and are no longer scattered. Routing units instead of doing their normal move will move directly away from enemy armies. If unable (Fails) to move the routing army is destroyed.

If the army moves off the board it is gone forever.

And the end of the phase, the routing unit may try to rally. To Rally, roll 1D6. On a roll of 4-6 you rally and are no longer routing.

Synopsis Of The Actual Battle

Turn 1: RFC crosses the river and surprises P'Re. P'Re is scattered. RFC swings wide, west of Rameses camp.

Turn 2: RFC attacks Amun in camp and begins to loot.

Turn 3: Amun skirmishes and routs RFC.

Turn 4: EOM crosses the river and is skirmished by Ne'arin. EOM routs. EOM is skirmished by Amun and is destroyed when unable to cross the river

Collector Phase

Baryons, Mesons, and Score cards score points when played. Calculate what you scored this turn and add it to your running total. Discard cards in your hand in excess of 7.

Quest For Iscandar

Synopsis

(Referenced from Teklords site) In the year 2199, Earth is under attack from an alien race called the Gamilons. Gamilon planet bombs covered the earth with a deadly radioactive pollution and the surface of the earth is now unlivable. All life on Earth has moved underground. But even there, far below the earth's surface, the deadly radiation poisoning is beginning to reach them. Now all life on Earth has just one year left to live.

But there is hope. On the planet Iscandar, there is a machine called the Cosmo DNA which can remove the radioactivity and restore Earth to it's natural state. The Star Force must travel 148,000 light years and back in just one earth year or all life on Earth will become extinct. But the Gamilons are determined to stop the Star Force at all costs.

Introduction

Star Blazers Card game for two players. One player uses the Star Force Deck. The other player uses the Gamilon Deck.

Disclaimer

Star Blazers is a Trademarked, Liscenced property. This is merely a Fan site.

Level	Ship Condition:	Parsecs traveled this turn:
0	Undamaged	4D6
1	Minor Damage	3D6
2	Moderate Damage	2D6
3	Major Damaged	1D6
4	Crippled	0
5+	Destroyed	Game over: Star Force loses automatically

If the ship is undamaged or has only minor damage, the Star Force player may use cards that Allow him to travel extra Parsecs. Instead of moving the Argo may conduct repairs: Either discard a card that produces an automatic repair or roll 1D6: On a roll of 1-3 reduce the ship damage level by one to a minimum of zero.

Encounter Phase

The Gamilon Player may attack the Argo by playing cards from his hand. The attack may be either a Space attack or a Planet attack. You cannot use Space cards in a Planet attack.

Victory

If the Star Force player has traveled 148 Parsecs they automatically win. The Gamilon player automatically wins on the start of turn 21.

Turn Sequence

Each turn has 4 phases:

1. Countdown Phase
2. Strategy Phase
3. Warp Phase
4. Encounter Phase

Countdown Phase

Record the turn number.

Strategy Phase

Both players draw 3 cards from their respective decks. If a deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it. Players may discard recon cards to look at each others hands.

Max hand size is 7 cards. Discard excess cards at end of phase.

Warp Phase

The Argo travels X number of Parsecs this turn. X depends on the level of damage sustained by the ship:

You cannot use Planet cards in a Space attack. Cards of the "Any" type may be used in either type of attack. An attack may only use one Unique card.

An attack can use a maximum of 2 Leader cards. Add up the Force value of all the attacking cards. The Space Force player may play cards from his hand in response.

The Space force player cannot use Space cards in a Planet attack and visa versa. The Space Force player may play any number of Hero Cards. If the Space Force Total is higher nothing happens.

If the Gamilon Total is higher roll 1D6:

Roll:	Argo Damage:	Space Force must discard X random cards:
1	0	1
2	+1	1
3	+1	2
4	+1	3
5	+1	4
6	+2 Levels	4 Cards

All cards played are discarded.

Quest For The Old Ones

Introduction

Card game based on the Elf Quest Universe. Elf Quest is a copyrighted trademarked property. This is merely a Fan site.

Starting Tribes

Tribes are composed of elves. There are 2 types of elves: Non-character Members: Strength +0 and represented by tokens. Character Members: Represented by cards.

A Member card or token represents the Elf and its Bond Beast if it has one. Each player starts with a tribe of 20 Non-character Members. Decide what type of tribe you have: Wolf Riders, Sun Folk, Blue Mountain Gliders, or Go-Backs.

The Deck

Players share a common deck and discard pile. Shuffle the deck before play begins. If the deck ever runs out shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 5 phases:

1. Fate Phase
2. Travel Phase
3. Encounter Phase
4. Recruit Phase
5. Replenish Phase

Fate Phase

Draw 1 card from the deck and put it in your hand. Max hand size is 7 cards. If after drawing you have 8 or more cards discard one of them.

Travel Phase

You may play a Land card. Play the card face up on top of your previously played Land card. You cannot play a Desert card if your last card was a Tundra card.

You cannot play a Tundra card if your last card was a Desert card.

Encounter Phase

If you just played a land this turn, the opponent to your right may play an Encounter card. The Encounter Card must match the Land type the active player played this turn. The opponent may attach a Weapon card to a combat encounter if the creatures can use it.

For Example: The opponent plays Sleep Dust with a Troll encounter.

Resolving Combat Encounters

The active player may play Aid Cards from his hand. Aid cards include Weapon Cards, Magic cards, and Ally cards. You may only play an Ally card if you have elves of a type that can ally with it.

For Example: Wolves will only ally if you have Wolf riders in your tribe. You may only play a Magic card if you have an Elf that can use it. You may only play a Weapon card if you have an Elf or ally that can use it.

Played Aid cards add to your combat total every round of the combat. Each round has 5 Segments:

1. Combat Roll Segment:

Roll 1D20. This is the combat roll.

2. Modifier Segment:

Add Character and Aid card bonuses to the Total. Subtract the Encounter Card Strength (and any attached Weapons) from the Total.

3. Casualty Segment:

Roll 1D6. This is the Casualty roll. On a roll of 1-3 you suffer one casualty. If you have suffered a casualty discard one Ally card you played if there are any.

If there are no ally cards roll 1D6: On a roll of 1-3 a Character (card) Member is killed. On a roll of 4-6 a non-Character (token) Member is killed.

4. Decision Segment:

If the Total is 11 or greater your Elves win the Combat: Combat phase is now over. If the Total is 10 or less you lose the round. Roll 1D6: On a roll of 1-4 the combat continues another round. On a roll of 5-6 your band of elves escapes and combat ends.

Aid cards and Encounter cards are discarded at the end of the encounter.

Healers

If you have a Character that is a healer roll 1D6 at the end of an encounter in which you lost a Tribe member. On a roll of 1-3 one casualty (Characters first) is negated.

Recruit Phase

If you traveled to a new Land this turn you may add Character cards to your tribe. Play the card(s) face up to the table in front of you. The Character cards must match the Land type.

For example you must be in the Desert to recruit Sun Folk Character Cards.

Replenish Phase

Unless otherwise stated on the card, Event cards are played during this phase. If you have a Food card you may discard it to take another turn. You may have a maximum of two turns in a row.

Victory

You automatically lose if there are no elves left alive in your tribe. To win you must awaken the Old one. To do this you must travel a distance of 15 land cards.

The last land you place must be a Mountain or Tundra (The Frozen Mountains). The last land you place is considered to be an entrance to the "Palace". Once there you automatically face a combat encounter of Guardian trolls of Strength +17.

To defeat them you must win 3 Combat rolls during Combat Phase. During combat you may not retreat, you must either win or die trying.

Randomly place one of the 4 coins face-up on each

Fearsome

Blackbeard is one Rough Customer. He gets to draw 1 extra card at the beginning of his turn.

Never Land

Captian Hook as his move may go to any Port Space. Note that Never Land is somewhere in the Seven Seas.

Mutiny

Long John Silver may as his move go to any Deserted Island Space occupied by another Pirate.

Steal

If Sinbad lands on an Enemy Ship, instead of fighting it, he steals either a Coin or a random Card.

No Prisoners

If you are Sunk in a fight by the Dread Pirate Roberts, you must discard your hand plus you miss an extra turn: Miss 2 turns (not 1 turn as normal)

Map

If Yellowbeard is in play, he starts with the Hidden Map. Note that Yellowbeard's real Port is "St. Victim's Prison for the Extremely Naughty" which we have relocated to Pirates Island.

Ram

When attacking, Nemo may ram instead of Fighting. The rammed ship is automatically Sunk and any coins on it go to random Deserted Islands. The Nautilus gets +1 to Escape Rolls. The Nautilus is immune to Wind & Storm Event Cards.

Curses

Mama Lola can use her Voodoo Magic to Curse her Opponents. On her Turn she may pick one Opponent, and roll once on the Curse Table:

of the 4 Deserted Island Spaces. (The identity of the coins are hidden) Players roll high on 1D6 to see who goes first.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. At the beginning of your turn, draw 1 Card from the deck and put it in your hand. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard, and draw from it.

Roll 1 die and move the indicated number of spaces in either direction. If you land on a Face down coin, flip it over to reveal its identity. If you land on an Enemy ship you must fight it.

At the end of your turn discard down to 5 cards.

The Map

If you land on the Hidden Map (1 of the 4 Coins) you take possession of it. It is needed to find the Chest.

The Key

If you land on the Hidden Key (1 of the 4 Coins) you take possession of it. It is needed to find the Chest.

The Chest

If you land on the Hidden Chest (1 of the 4 Coins) you take possession of it only if You already have possession of the Key and the Map. If you have possession of the Chest and you make it to your Port, you win.

The Magic Compass

If you land on the Hidden Compass (1 of the 4 Coins) you take possession of it. The Ship with the Magic Compass gets 1 extra Move per turn.

Quest For The Princess Bride

Introduction

Card game for 2 players. Based on the Princess Bride Story. One player takes the role of Westly.

The other player takes the role of Prince Humperdink.

Disclaimer

The Princess Bride is a copyrighted property. This is merely a fan site.

Victory

Any player able to control the Buttercup token for 4+ consecutive turns wins. Any player who loses his Main Character (Westly or Humperdink) in a fight automatically loses. If the deck runs out, the player in control of the Buttercup Token wins.

Buttercup

The Princess Bride, Buttercup, is represented by a Token.

Setup

Decide amicably who is Westly and who is Humperdink. Humperdink starts in control of the Buttercup Token. Humperdink gets to go first.

Both players start with a hand of 7 randomly drawn cards. Both players start with their main Character card in play face up in front of them. (There is a Character card for both Westly and Humperdink)

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. The current player is known as the active player. Each turn has 5 phases:

- Fate Phase
- Recruit Phase
- Chase Phase
- Contest Phase
- End Phase

Fate Phase

Draw 3 cards. If you are in possession of the Buttercup Token, skip the next 2 Phases.

Recruit Phase

You may put Character cards into play from your hand face up in front of you. You may attach Modifier cards from your hand to your Characters.

Chase Phase

The Active player may go seeking for Buttercup, if he does not already control her. The Active player rolls 2D6 and adds any Chase Bonuses from any of his Characters, attached cards, and any Event cards he discards. (This is the Chase Roll) The Other player rolls 2D6 and adds any Escape Bonuses from any of his Characters, attached cards, and any Event cards he discards. (This is the Escape Roll) If the Chase roll does not exceed the escape roll, skip next phase. If the Chase roll exceeds the Escape roll go on to contest phase.

Contest Phase

There will be a fight if the active player won in chase phase. Roll 1D6 to determine the type of Fight:

1D6	Fight Type:
1-2	Wits
3-4	Strength
5-6	Sword

Each player selects a Character. The Active player must select a Human Character. Both players roll 2D6 and add any appropriate Fight Bonuses from his selected Character, attached cards, and any Event cards he discards. (This is the Fight Roll) If you played an animal, you may not play any Event cards unless they specify Animal. The player with the higher Fight Roll wins (Flip for ties).

The Loser must discard the selected Character card. The winner gains or maintains control of the Buttercup token.

End Phase

Discard down to 7 cards in your hand.

Obstacles

Card type. This can be selected (played) instead of a Character in Contest Phase if You are the non-active player, and it is not a Sword test. The Obstacle is discarded at the end of the Phase, win or lose. If you play an Obstacle, you may not play any Event cards unless they specify Obstacle.

1. Fate Phase
2. Initiative Phase
3. Adventure Phase
4. Action Phase
5. Meld Phase
6. End Phase

Fate Phase

Roll 1D6 and add the number of players. This is the Fate number. Flip over that many cards from the Action deck. These are the Fate cards.

Initiative Phase

Each player rolls 1D6. These are the Initiative Rolls. The highest roll is the Initiative Leader. A player may discard a Companion card to cause a target die roll to be re-rolled.

Once the Prize is claimed, no further Melds can be made this turn. If the prize is claimed, flip over the top card of the Artifact deck to be the new Prize. Discard all Meld cards.

End Phase

Max hand size is 10 cards. Players discard excess cards.

Notes On Artifact Card Special Abilities

Some artifacts have the Flip ability: As an action in Action phase (once only per each Action phase) flip over the top card of the action deck: If it matches the card type Described by the card, you may put it in your hand, otherwise, discard it. For any artifact with the "Action:" notation, its ability is used as an action in Action phase (only once per each Action phase). The Bonus ability means, that the card is worth 2 Artifacts for determining Victory, if you control at least 1 more Artifact of the type indicated.

Limited Meld means the card counts like an Action card in meld phase. However, this can only be done once per game. It is not discarded when so used.

Quickie Figs

Introduction

Very simple Miniatures rules. Ranges, distances, and movement abstracted. No record keeping, charts, or tables.

Games resolved in under 10 minutes. Make up the rules as you go.

Anecdotal Preface

The idea for this game came after meeting a friend carrying a box of 14 "finely painted" (Happy now Ray?) miniatures. The Figs were a mix of Superhero and Sci-Fi (WH40K, Necromunda, etc). I immediately sorted them out into two sides of 7 each: A good and bad side.

We then determined by looking at the figs which could attack at long range, then at medium range, short range, and finally at point blank. This took about 5 minutes. We "roleplayed" out the results. This whole exercise was strangely satisfying...

We got to play with the figs, make armies, debate the relative strengths of the units, and explore how a confrontation might have played out, without actually playing out a game with cumbersome rules.

Figures

These rules are based on Sci-Fi figures, but other types will work just as well.

Randomizers

Six sided dice are useful.

Setup

Somebody brings a small number of figs, say 10 - 20+. Players divide the figs into 2 opposing forces, based on aesthetic reasons.

Turn Sequence

The game proceeds in turns in the following order: Extreme Range Turn Long Range Turn Medium Range Turn Short Range Turn Hand-to-Hand Combat Turns

Extreme Range Turn

Look at the figs. Determine which ones have weapons that can attack at extreme ranges. Missile Launchers, Auto-cannons, and other heavy weapons are good candidates.

For each Fig that can attack roll 1D6. On a roll of 1 an opposing Fig of the attacker choice is killed. All attacks are simultaneous.

Long Range Turn

Look at the figs. Determine which ones have weapons that can attack at long ranges. Rifles of all types and Heavy weapons are good candidates.

For each Fig that can attack roll 1D6. On a roll of 1 an opposing Fig of the attacker choice is killed. All attacks are simultaneous.

Medium Range Turn

Look at the figs. Determine which ones have weapons that can attack at medium ranges. Rifles and Pistols are good candidates.

For each Fig that can attack roll 1D6. On a roll of 1 an opposing Fig of the attacker choice is killed. All attacks are simultaneous.

Short Range Turn

Look at the figs. Determine which ones have weapons that can attack at short ranges. Pistols of all types and Thrown weapons are good candidates.

For each Fig that can attack roll 1D6. On a roll of 1 an opposing Fig of the attacker choice is killed. All attacks are simultaneous.

HTH Combat Turns

Look at the figs. Figs kill on a roll of 1 on 1D6. Figs with a HTH weapon (Sword, Bayonet) kill on a roll of 1-2 on 1D6.

Figs with HTH weapons in both hands (HTH Specialists) kill on a roll of 1-3 on 1D6. All attacks are simultaneous. The HTH turn is repeated until one side is completely killed off.

Optional Rules:

Armor

If a Fig is hit roll 1D6: Light armor negates the hit on a roll of 1. Medium armor negates the hit on a roll of 1-2. Heavy armor negates the hit on a roll of 1-3.

Magic & Psychic Powers

Some figs may be imbued with psionic attack ability. Treat this as the ability to make a regular attack roll during all turns.

Casualties

If an attack roll hits roll 1D6: 1-3 The attacking player picks the target. 4-6 The defending player picks the target.

Stay At Range

When a turn is over roll 1D6: 1-3 Combat continues at the same range. 4-6 Combat is at the next closer range.

Fantasy Conversion

Extreme range: Magic Long range: Long Bows, Crossbows Medium Range: Short Bows, Javelins, Slings Short Range: Thrown weapons

Race To Messina

Introduction

Card Game for 2-3 Players. Theme: Invasion of Sicily 1943 starting after the capture of Palermo. There are 3 Versions of the Game:

1. Invasion Variant: 2 Player: Allies vs. Axis
2. Race Variant: 2 Player: British vs. Americans
3. Sicily Variant: 3 Player: British, American, and Axis

The Deck

Cards are of 2 main types:

1. Ally Cards (British & American)
2. Axis Cards (German & Italian)

— In the Sicily and Invasion Variants the Ally cards form one deck and the Axis cards form a second deck.

— In the Race Variant the Axis and Ally cards are mixed together to form a single deck. Cards are further described by:

1. Traits (Tank, Infantry, Air, Leader, etc.)
2. Force (A single Numerical Value between 1 and 10)
3. Special Abilities (Usually the discarding of a target card with a certain trait)

Progress Tokens

Players share a common set of Progress Tokens (PT).

Invasion Variant Victory

2 Player: Allies vs. Axis. The Axis tries to evacuate before the Allies take Messina. Only one player can win each hand.

The Ally player gets 1 PT every time he wins a hand. The Axis player gets 1 PT at the end of every turn no matter what. When the Ally player gets 10 PT, he has reached Messina and the game ends.

If the Axis player gets 20 PT the Evacuation is complete and the Game ends. If the Axis player has 15 or less PT at the end of the game, the Ally player wins. If the Axis player has 16 or more PT at the end of the game, the Axis player wins.

In case of ties the Axis player wins.

Race Variant Victory

2 Player: British vs. Americans. The Brits and Yanks are in a race to see who takes Messina first. It is possible in this variant for both players to win or lose the same hand (turn).

The first player to get 10 PT reaches Messina first and wins.

Sicily Variant Victory

3 Player: British, American, and Axis. The Americans and British race to Messina while the Axis tries to evacuate before either arrive. The Axis player plays hands against both the British and American players.

It is possible for both Allied players to win or lose during the same turn. The game ends when:

1. The Axis player gets 16 PT: The Axis player wins. (Evacuation complete)
2. The American player wins with 10 PT. (Patton gets there first)
3. The British player wins with 10 PT. (Monty gets there first)

In case of ties the Axis player wins.

Setup

Decide which Variant you are playing and assign Identities. Shuffle the cards.

Turn Sequence

Each turn has 6 Phases:

1. Logistics
2. Strategy
3. Deployment
4. Action
5. Resolution
6. Recovery

Note: If a deck ever runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Invasion Variant Logistics Phase

Each player fills their hand to 10 cards.

- The Axis player from the Axis deck.
- The Ally player from the Ally deck.

Invasion Variant Strategy Phase

Each player may discard up to 5 cards and draw replacements.

Invasion Variant Deployment Phase

Both Players reveal all cards they want to play from their hands. Player keep cards they don't want to play or can't play in their hands. These cards are played face-up in front of you.

Revealed cards are also called Deployed cards.

Invasion Variant Action Phase

Players take turns activating the special abilities of their cards. The Axis player goes first. Note that not all cards have a Special ability.

Players activate 1 card at a time. A single card can only be activated once. This continues until both players pass.

Most Special Abilities cause a target opponent's card with a specific trait to be discarded.

Invasion Variant Resolution Phase

Every card has a Force Value. Total the Force Value of all your deployed cards still in play. If your Total Force Value is greater than your opponents, you win the turn.

If tied, the Axis player wins. The Ally player gets 1 PT if he wins the hand.

Invasion Variant Recovery Phase

You must discard down to 2 cards or less. The Axis player gets 1 PT at the end of every turn no matter what.

Race Variant Logistics Phase

Note: All cards are combined into a single deck. Each player fills their hand to 12 cards. One player is the Americans, the other is the British.

Race Variant Strategy Phase

Each player may discard up to 4 cards and draw replacements.

Race Variant Deployment Phase

Both Players reveal all cards they want to play from their hands. Player keep cards the don't want to play or can't play in their hands. These cards are played face-up in front of you.

Revealed cards are also called Deployed cards. Note that players are revealing both Ally cards and Axis cards.

Race Variant Action Phase

Players take turns activating the special abilities of their cards. The American player goes first. Note that not all cards have a Special ability.

Players activate 1 card at a time. A single card can only be activated once. This continues until both players pass.

Most Special Abilities cause a target opponent's card with a specific trait to be discarded. Use your Ally cards only to target your opponents revealed Axis cards. Use your Axis cards only to target your opponents revealed Ally cards.

Race Variant Resolution Phase

Every card has a Force Value. Total the Force Value of all your Ally deployed cards still in play. Total the Force Value of all your Axis deployed cards still in play.

If your Total Ally Force Value is greater than your opponents Axis Total, you win the turn and you get 1 PT. If your Opponent's Total Ally Force Value is greater than your Axis Total, he wins the turn and gets 1 PT. Note: it is possible for both players to win the turn (and get a PT)

Race Variant Recovery Phase

You must discard down to 2 cards or less. The Axis player gets 1 PT at the end of every turn no matter what.

Sicily Variant Logistics Phase

3 Player: British, American, and Axis The Axis player draws 14 cards from the Axis deck. The American player draws 7 cards from the Ally deck. The British player draws 7 cards from the Ally deck.

Sicily Variant Strategy Phase

Each player may discard up to 3 cards and draw replacements.

Sicily Variant Deployment Phase

Players reveal all cards they want to play from their hands. Player keep cards the don't want to play or can't play in their hands. These cards are played face-up in front of you.

Revealed cards are also called Deployed cards. The Axis player must deploy 2 Sets of cards; one opposing the Americans, and one opposing the British. A Set can have a max of 7 cards.

Sicily Variant Action Phase

Players take turns activating the special abilities of their cards. The Axis player goes first against the Americans. The Americans go next.

The Axis player goes again, this time against the British. The British go last. The Axis player can only use cards in a Set against the opponent that that set is facing (The cards you deployed against the American cannot target the Brit players cards) Note that not all cards have a Special ability.

Players activate 1 card at a time. A single card can only be activated (use its special ability) once. This continues until all players pass (The Axis player must pass twice: Once vs. each opponent) Most Special Abilities cause a target opponent's card with a specific trait to be discarded.

Sicily Variant Resolution Phase

Every card has a Force Value. Total the Force Value of all your deployed cards still in play. If your Total Force Value is greater than your opponents, you win the turn.

If tied, the Axis player wins. Each of the 2 Axis Sets will have its own Force Total to be used against their respective opponents. Each time an Ally player wins a Hand he gets 1 PT.

Sicily Variant Recovery Phase

All players must discard down to 2 cards or less. The Axis player gets 1 PT at the end of every turn no matter what.

Racing To The North Pole

Introduction

Dice and board game for 2-4+ players Theme: The Race to the North Pole undertaken by various explorers in the early 1900's. Players move their pawn from the Start space to the North Pole and back again.

Victory

Get the most Victory Points (VP). 1 VP for reaching the North Pole. An extra 2 VP for being first to reach the North Pole.

1 VP for getting back (Surviving). 1 VP for being the first to get back. 1 VP for never failing a Morale Check.

Pawns

Each player has a Pawn of a unique color. The Pawn represents their expedition.

Dice

Six sided and Ten sided dice are needed.

The Board

The board is a track 30 spaces long including a start space at one end and The North Pole space at the other end.

The Deck

Players share a 50 card common Travel Deck. If the Deck ever runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Stats

Each player has 9 stats: Men, Dogs, Food, Gear, Skill, Will, Ship, Time, and Hoax.

Men

This is how many men are on the expedition. Each point of Manpower can represent 1 or several men. If an expedition is ever reduced to zero men, that players game ends immediately (They all perished).

The Base number of Men is 5.

Dogs

This is how many dog teams are on the expedition. If there are more Dogs than Men you get +1 to Movement Totals. If there are less Dogs than Men you get -1 to Movement Totals.

If there are no Dogs remaining you get -2 to Movement Totals. The Base number of Dogs is 7.

Food

This is how much food is being carried by the expedition. At the end of every turn, your expedition uses up 1 Food. If there is no Food left, roll once on the Casualty Table instead.

The Base number of Food is 10.

Gear

This represents supplies other than food. It is used in tests against cold weather. The Base number of Gear is 5.

Skill

This represents the knowledge needed to make the journey. It is used in tests involving navigation and assailing rough terrain. The Base number of Skill is 5.

Will

This represents the courage and determination needed to make the journey. It is used in tests involving morale and leadership. The Base number of Will is 5.

Ship

This represents how close your ship is to the North Pole. For every point of Ship move your pawns starting space forward by 2 Spaces. The Base number for Ship is 0.

Time

This is how much sooner your expedition starts than your opponents. For every point of Time start 1 turn earlier than your opponents. The Base number for Time is 0.

Hoax

Historians believe your claim is a Hoax. For every point of Hoax you have, you may reroll one die-roll on your turn or Get an extra round of discarding and redrawing during Travel Phase. The Base number for Hoax is 0.

Stat Table

1D10	Stat:	Base:
1	Men	5
2	Dogs	7
3	Food	10
4	Gear	5
5	Skill	5

1D10	Stat:	Base:
6	Will	5
7	Base	0
8	Time	0
9	Hoax	0
10	Choice	Pick One

Creating Your Expedition

Either choose one of the 6 Expeditions listed at the end or use the random method. To do the random method, roll a ten sided die 5 times on the Stat Table. When you roll on a Stat it increases from its base by 1.

For example: if you roll Skill, your skill score is increased from Base 5 to 6. If you roll Time, your Time score is increased from Base 0 to 1. Food is increased by 2 not 1, so if you roll Food, your Food score is increased from 10 to 12.

Setup

Create your expedition (Pick one or use the random Method). Place your pawn on its starting spot according to its Ship score. Roll high on 1D10 to see who goes first. Play proceeds clockwise.

Remember that players with a positive Time score get 1 or more extra turns of Movement before their opponents.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 3 Phases:

1. Event Phase
2. Travel Phase
3. End Phase

Event Phase

Roll once on the Event Table. Except for the Blizzard result, all other results will require you to make a Test against either Gear, Will, or Skill. Resolve a Test by rolling 1D10. If the number rolled is equal to or less Than the value of the Stat, you pass the Test.

If it is less, you fail the test. Failed tests will usually result in a permanent loss of a stat or a penalty to your Move Total in Travel phase.

Travel Phase

Draw 5 Travel Cards. You may discard up to 2 cards and draw replacements. Add up the Move values of all 5 cards. This is your Move Total. Move that many spaces forward.

You must stop upon reaching the North Pole. If you land on an opponent's pawn that is not on its starting space, move it back 1 Space. If you have 2 or more Dog cards move an extra +1.

Max number of Dog cards you can play is equal to your Dog Stat. If you have 4 or more Trek cards move an extra +1.

End Phase

Consume 1 Food Point. If there is no Food left then -1 Dog. If there is no Food or Dogs roll on the Casualty Table.

Keep track of changing Stat scores.

Morale Checks

Every time you fail a test make an additional test against Will: If you fail by 4 or more points, your expedition immediately Gives up and starts heading back to your starting space.

Terms

Strength- Value used for attack and defense. Range- The distance in hexes an attack will reach. If greater than 1, it is considered a ranged attack. Berserk-Nongod units adjacent to the god get +1 Strength.

Magic- Once on your turn pick one: +2 to Move or Strength or Range. Charm- Target adjacent unit cannot attack. Heal- Adjacent units get +1 Strength when defending.

Death Aura- When activated (up to once per turn) All adjacent nonundead units receive a Strength =2 attack. Aura of Light- All adjacent undead receive a Strength =1 attack. Pool of Poison- The Midgard Serpent cannot be killed by a ranged attack.

When killed all adjacent units receive a Strength =5 attack. The chit represents the Serpents head. Song of Calm- When activated (up to once per turn) All adjacent units cannot attack. Vidar's Boot- Target adjacent unit cannot move

Turn Sequence

A "round" is when each player has had a turn. THE FATES- Roll high on D6 to determine who goes first each round. Players take turns. Each turn has 2 phases:

1. MOVEMENT PHASE
2. BATTLE PHASE

Movement Phase

Each unit can move once per turn, a number of spaces up to its Move score. Only one unit per hex.

There is no stacking.

Battle Phase

Each unit can make one attack per turn against a unit in its attack range. For each attack roll a number of D6 equal to the attackers strength. Also roll a number of D6 equal to the defenders strength.

If the Attacker's Strength Total is higher, the Defender is slain. Slain units are removed from play. Attacks are not combined.

The Map

Use a hex grid. Use counters to represent units. The giants are coming from the land of Jotunheim. They are invading Asgard. Terrain features of Asgard include forests, mountains, seas, and the strongholds of the Gods. The main holding will be Valhalla, the court of Odin.

Setup

The Giant forces will be lined up on one side of the map. The forces of good will be clustered around Valhalla.

ODIN'S RULE (optional) If Odin & the Midgard Serpent are ever adjacent, they will automatically destroy each other.

Victory Conditions

Everybody dies.

Raid On Cadiz

Introduction

Solo Dice and Card Game. The year is 1587. You are the famous English Privateer Francis Drake. You are about to lead a mission to disrupt the preparations for the Spanish Armada.

Victory

If you get 20 or more Victory points you succeed in delaying the Armada by 1 year.

Record Keeping

You need to keep track of Victory Points and Fleet Damage. Use paper and pencil to keep a running total of each. You start the game with zero of each.

Victory Points

These represent damage done to the Armada: Loss of Ships and Provisions.

Fleet Damage Points

This represents damage to the English Fleet: Ships, Men, Provisions, Time, Opportunities, and Leadership.

Dice

A twenty sided die is needed.

The Deck

Cards are used to modify or reroll dice rolls.

Event Track

This is a map/timeline. Your fleet moves from 1 Event to the next, starting with Elizabeth, and Ending with the Portuguese Treasure Ship.

Events

There are 3 types of Events: Hazards, Opportunities, and Challenges.

Hazard Events

If you lose a Hazard Event, you accumulate 1 point of Fleet Damage. If you win nothing happens.

Opportunity Events

If you win an Opportunity Event, you gain the indicated number of Victory Points. If you lose nothing happens.

Challenge Events

If you win a Challenge Event, you gain the indicated number of Victory Points. If you lose a Challenge Event, you gain the indicated number Fleet Damage Points.

Turn Sequence

Each turn First draw 1 card and add it to your hand. Second, move to the next Event and resolve it. Third, if your hand has more than 5 cards, discard the excess cards.

If the deck ever runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Resolving Events

To resolve an event roll the D20 twice. The first roll is the Event Roll. The Second roll is the Fleet Roll.

If the Fleet Roll is equal to or greater than the Event roll, you win the Event. If it is less, you lose. You must subtract your Fleet Damage Point total from your Fleet Roll.

You may play (discard) cards from your hand to reroll your Fleet Roll or To add to your Fleet Roll.

Battle Events

Some Events are designated as Battle Events. Some cards can only be used during a Battle Event.

Special Events

Counter Command: Elizabeth sends a Message boat to tell you to call off the Expedition. If you lose this Event the game ends immediately. Start Over.

Dutch Spy Ship: If you win also remove 1 Fleet Damage Point.

Sand Banks: If you lose this, you automatically lose the Small Boats Event.

Capture Ships: If you win also remove 1 Fleet Damage Point.

Seize Provisions: If you win also remove 1 Fleet Damage Point.

Resupply at Sagres: If you win also remove 1 Fleet Damage Point.

Railroad Dispatch Usa

Introduction

Game for 2-4+ players. Theme: Railroad Building on the Continental USA.

Victory

Have the most Income and Victory Counters at the end of the game. The game ends at the end of the turn when all the rails have been built on, or the last level on the Tech Track has been bought.

The Board

The board is a map of the Continental US showing cities (green dots) and the Rails (red lines) that connect them. Rails are also called Lines, Rail Lines, Links, and Connections.

The Research & Development Chart

This chart depicts a sequence of improvements in railroad technology and policy. Advances are gained in strict order, and an advance only benefits the player who paid for it.

Rail Markers

Each player has a set of rail markers of a unique color. These are placed on rail Lines to show ownership. They are also used on the R&D Chart.

Sets have no size limit.

Income Counters

Players share a common set of Income Counters. Use denominations of $1, $5, and $10.

Wealth Tokens

Players share a common set of Wealth Tokens (WT). Use denominations of $1, $5, and $10.

Victory Counters

Players share a common set of Victory Counters. These count towards winning.

Loan Receipts

Bank Loans are for 10 Wealth tokens each. You may have a maximum of 2 Loans out at a time. Interest must be paid on Loans.

Stock Shares

Each player can issue up to 10 Stock Shares. Stocks are sold to the general public. Other players may then buy your Stocks from the General Public.

Dividends must be paid out on Stocks. If another player ever controls more than 50% of your stocks, he gains control of your railroad, and you are out of the game, unless you can immediately buy 1 or more of them back from him at their regular value (Each share = your current Income Total)

The Deck

Players share a common deck. There is one copy of each card described in the card list. There are 5 types of cards: City Cards Commodity Cards Railroad Cards Location Cards Special Cards

Setup

Each player chooses a set of Rail Markers. Each player starts with 5 Income Counters. Shuffle the Deck.

Players flip a coin to see who goes first. Play proceeds clockwise. Each player is dealt a hand of 7 cards.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 8 Phases:

1. Opportunity Phase
2. Income Phase
3. Finances Phase
4. Maintenance Phase
5. R & D Phase
6. Build Phase
7. Contract Phase
8. End Phase

Opportunity Phase

Draw 2 cards and put them in your hand. If the deck ever runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it. You may purchase additional draws for 5 WT each.

Income Phase

Gain 1 Wealth Token (WT) for every Income Counter you own.

Finances Phase

Loans may be paid off for 10 WT each. You may sell up to 3 Income Counters (discard them) to get 5 Wealth for each. You may sell Stocks Shares to the General Public: You may Issue 1 Stock Share of your company to gain Wealth equal to your current Income Total.

You may sell a Stock Share you own from another company. It is sold to the General Public. Gain WT equal to the current income of that company. You may buy Stock Shares from the General Public. These cost WT equal to the current income of that company.

Maintenance Phase

You must pay 1 WT for every Rail Line you control Interest on Loans must be paid: 1 WT per Loan Receipt. Dividends on Shares must be paid: 1 WT per Share to the owner of the Stock.

R & D Phase

You may pay WT to advance the Research Track to the next Level (Advance). The cost (in WT) to get to the next Level (Working your way down) is listed on the Track. You alone gain the benefit/Protection prescribed by that level.

Place a Rail Marker on that Level to show that you are the one who made it. You may buy up to 1 extra level at the same time, but it costs triple.

Build Phase

You may place 1 of your Rail Markers onto a Rail Line. The new Rail Line must be connected to your Rail Network. If it is your first Build of the game, place the Marker on any line extending from any East Coast City.

The first Line you build each turn costs 5 Wealth. The second Line you build each turn costs 10 Wealth. The third Line you build each turn costs 20 Wealth.

City and Location cards can be used as either Origins or Destinations. Commodity cards are used as Origins only. Railroad cards are used as Destinations only.

Trace a route on the map from the origin to the destination. This must be the shortest route possible. If 2 or more shortest routes are available, pick which one you want to use.

Each Rail Line on the Route earns its owner 1 IC and 1 VC. The route may use Lines owned by different players. Discard the Origin and Destination cards used.

Note that in order for a route to be valid, all lines on it must be built. When playing a Commodity card, the Destination card cannot be one of the Cities listed on the Commodity card.

End Phase

Obsolescence Rule: On a roll of 5+ on 1D6 Lose 1 Income Counter in End Phase. Max hand size is 7 cards. If you did not complete a Contract this turn, you may discard your hand and draw 5 new cards.

You may spend a minute to Trade cards with other players. You may take out 1 Loan in this Phase if you wish.

If you get blocked off (you have no where else you can build rail to), you may build on any unclaimed line adjacent to an opponents network or you may discard a city card from your hand and build on a line connecting to it.

Victory

The first player to 50+ Income Points is the winner.

Income Tokens

Use coins, poker chips, or tokens to keep track of Income Points. As you make Melds, your total, cumulative Income Score increases. Lowest possible income is zero (no negatives).

Share Markers

Each player has a set of 5 markers of a unique color. These represent shares owned in other players Railroads. The Most total Share Tokens that you can have at a time given to you by other players is 5.

Upgrade Counters

Players share a common set of Upgrade Markers. These represent improvements to your Engine Technology. Each counter you gain increases your max hand size by 1.

The Deck

Players share a common deck. There are 7 types of cards: Train cards Rail cards City cards Town cards Industry cards Bonus cards Event cards

Setup

Give each player 1 Train card. Shuffle the deck. Each player is dealt 4 more random cards.

Each player starts with 5 Income Tokens. A randomly determined player goes first. Play proceeds clockwise.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 4 Phases:

1. Income Phase
2. Event Phase
3. Operations Phase
4. Accounting Phase

Income Phase

Draw cards from the deck according to the Income Chart. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard.

Income Chart

Income Points:	Draw:
10 or less	2
11-20	3
21-35	4
36+	5

Event Phase

You may play (discard) 1 or 2 Event cards from your Hand. Options (such as upgrading) count as Events. You may trade cards with other players in this phase.

Operations Phase

You may play a Meld from your hand. It is revealed to all players, scored, and then discarded. A Meld must contain:

1. Exactly 1 Train card
2. At least 1 Rail card
3. At least 2 City and/or Town cards (But not more than number of Rail cards played +1)
4. Zero or more Industry cards (Not more than number of City/Town cards played)
5. Zero to 2 Bonus cards

Each card has an Income Point (IP) value. Add up the total IP for the Meld. Add this to your Income Score. (To make this easy place IP Tokens directly onto the scoring cards and then just keep those Tokens) For every Share Token you have that an opponent has given to you, you must give that player 1 of your Income Tokens every time you make a Meld.

Accounting Phase

Max hand is 7 cards. Each Upgrade counter you have increases your hand size limit by 1. Discard excess cards.

Upgrade Option

To upgrade discard a Train card from your hand in Event Phase. Discard an additional 5 cards from your hand. Gain 1 Upgrade Counter.

Contracts Option

To take this option, discard a Train card from your hand in Event Phase. Gain 2 IP.

Dividends Option

To take this option, discard a City card from your hand in Event Phase. One Random opponent that has one of your Share Tokens must give you 1 IP.

Town Options

To take a town option, discard a Town card from your hand in Event Phase. There are several options available with Towns. Pick one:

1. Water Tower Option: Draw 2 cards and put them in your hand.
2. Coal Chute Option: Draw 3 cards, keep 1, discard the others.

Go West Young Man Option

To take this option, discard an Industry card from your hand in Event Phase. Draw 3 cards. Keep any City or Town cards you draw and discard the others.

Range War

Introduction

Wargame of the American West circa 1840-1900. Players are rival Land Barons trying to gain complete control of the same territory.

Victory

Control all Settlements on the Board. Players are eliminated if their Baron is killed.

Money & Dice

Six siders are needed. Use Monopoly money.

Maps, Counters, & Setup

First each player declares which Ranch they want to control. The are 4 Ranches: The OK Corral, The Lazy B, The Graham Ranch, and The Johnson Ranch. There is a location counter for each ranch.

Each ranch has a location counter of a unique color. Each player has a set of Control Markers of the same color as their Ranch. Players will have to make a map.

Use a Hex map. Designate 30 random spots on the map to be "Settlement Spaces". Each player places their Ranch on a different Settlement space.

Ranches should be placed far apart. For each remaining Settlement space draw one random Settlement counter. Settlement counters are of a different color than the control markers.

Each player starts with a Baron Unit Counter and 2 Regulator Unit Counters. These are located, stacked, on your Ranch

Settlement Counter List

Type:	Number	Base Revenue
Farms	10	10
Coal Mine	6	20
Gold Mine	4	30

Type:	Number	Base Revenue
Town	6	10
Trading Post	4	10

Turn Sequence

Each Turn has 6 Phases:

1. Revenue Phase
2. Pay Phase
3. Recruit Phase
4. Build Phase
5. Raid Phase
6. Control Phase

Revenue Phase

Collect Revenue from each settlement you control. Revenue is in 'Dollars'. Ranches have a revenue of 20 Dollars per turn.

Pay Phase

Pay each of your units 2 Dollars. Discard unpaid units on a roll of 4+ on 1D6. Baron units do not have to be paid.

Recruit Phase

Draw N + 1 random Recruit counters from the Recruit Pile.

N Number of Players.

Players bid on each these Counters separately with their Dollars. Players bid secretly and then simultaneously reveal all their bids. If you loose a bid you keep your money.

If you win, you pay your bid to the bank, and gain control of the Counter. In case of a tie, no one wins, and the counter remains to be bid on again. Only one player at a time can control a Governor Counter.

If a Governor Counter is drawn, discard all other Governor Counters. Only one player at a time can control a Government Contracts (GC) Counter. If a GC is drawn, discard all other GC's.

Build Phase

In this phase you deploy Counters you just won in Recruit Phase. Place Units on Trading Posts or Towns you Control. At a cost of 10 Dollars you may automatically recruit a Regulator Unit.

A player can recruit a max of one Regulator per turn. A player places a Cowboy unit on his Ranch. Town Improvement Counters are placed on a Town you control.

A Town can only have one of each type of Improvement. Trading Post Improvement Counters are placed on Posts you control. A Post can only have one of each type of Improvement.

Farm Improvement Counters are placed on a Farm you control. A Farm can only have one Improvement. Mine Improvement Counters are placed on a Mine you control.

If you cannot deploy a unit you must discard it. Place your control Markers under your units to show ownership.

Ready Aim Fire

Introduction

Two player Card game depicting Napoleonic era warfare.

The Decks

There are 3 decks:

- The Battalion decks cards as noted in the list.
- The Tactics deck.
- The Commander Deck as noted.
- The Tactics deck has 1 of each card in the list, and 2 of each Terrain card

Stack:	Start Max	Card Limit	Game Max Card Limit
Left Flank	2	5
Left Centre	3	6
Centre	3	6
Right Centre	3	6
Right Flank	2	5

Place Battalion cards up to the starting maximum card limit face down in each stack. Line Infantry and Artillery may be placed in Centre stacks. Cavalry, Light Infantry and Horse Artillery may be placed in any stacks.

Shuffle the appropriate Commander Deck, deal yourself 6 cards, and add them to your Reserve deck. Shuffle your Reserve Deck, and deal yourself a hand of 5 cards. Once both players have completed above, turn cards in your stacks face up.

They will remain face up for the first turn only. After the first turn, all cards are played face down, representing the "Fog of War".

Victory Conditions

The first player to be routed from 3 of his 5 forward positions loses. Or (Optional) The Army Morale point is reached.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 6 phases: Draw Phase Terrain Phase

3. Reinforce Phase
4. Attack Phase
5. Morale Phase
6. Discard and Redraw Phase

Draw Phase

Thoth - Draw 2 Cards from either your Reserve Deck or the Tactics Deck or a combination of the two.

Setup

Optional Thoth setup: Deal 13 (Thoth deals automatically, open the external hand window) cards and place in starting positions as noted below. Guard and Heavy Cavalry cards can be discarded and alternate cards drawn. Any cards that cannot be used are discarded.

Reshuffle the deck and draw 5 cards. Commence play. Each player chooses a Battalion deck.

Each player forms a line of 5 stacks of cards, starting maximum as noted. The opposing lines face each other. These stacks are called:

Draw 2 cards from your Reserve Deck. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

The maximum hand size is 7. Cards in your hand over the maximum do not have to be discarded until the Discard/Redraw Phase.

Terrain Phase

You may play a Terrain card onto an appropriate stack. Terrain cards remain in effect for the entire game

Reinforce Phase

You may move any or all battalions from your hand to any of your stacks. All reinforcements from your hand go to the bottom of the stack they reinforce. Prior to the above, you may reorganise one stack, and move one card from a stack to an adjacent stack.

You may move any card in a stack (You are not limited to the top one)

Attack Phase

You may make up to 3 attacks per turn.(or, each stack attacks, with one extra attack from any stack except the reserve) Your battalions are the attackers. Your opponent's battalions are the defenders. To attack, flip the top card of one of your stacks face up.

Your opponent flips the card in his line opposite to it over. Both players roll one die. These are called the Attack rolls. Add troop modifier to die roll and compare the difference between the 2 rolls.

Apply the result as follows: (Attacker to Defender)

Difference:	Result:
+4 or greater	Defender eliminated, morale check for other battalions in stack
+3	Defender eliminated, morale check for other battalions in stack. EXCEPT Austrian Line & 2nd Rate, and Prussian 2nd Rate Rout
+2	Defender Routs
+1	Defender Shaken
0	Both Battalion cards take immediate morale check. Battalion Shaken if test failed
-1	Attacker Shaken
-2	Attacker Routs
-3	Attacker eliminated, morale check for other battalions in stack. EXCEPT Austrian Line & 2nd Rate, and Prussian 2nd Rate Rout
-4 or worse	Attacker eliminated, morale check for other battalions in stack

Notes

Card eliminated - remove card from play Thoth - place Morale Check above stack. Card Routs - place card in discard pile Card Shaken - turn card through 900 Card now fights with -1 modifier Thoth - add Shaken marker to card.

Support

One battalion in the same stack as the attacker/defender can provide support to the battling card. Add +1 to the respective die roll. If the supported card is eliminated, the supporter routs. If the supported card is routed, the supporter is shaken. A Shaken card cannot offer support.

Infantry Vs Cavalry

Infantry cannot attack cavalry. Both cards are placed at the bottom of their stacks, and the attack counts against the number of attacks that turn.

Forming Square

When cavalry attack infantry, before the combat is resolved, the infantry must attempt to form square. This is accomplished by the infantry rolling less than their morale value (e.g. for a line infantry card to form square, it must roll a 7 or less.). If the infantry form square, they fight the combat at +3. If they fail to form square, the cavalry fight the combat at +3. The cavalry have a chance to abort the attack if the infantry from square by rolling less than their morale value (e.g. for a Lt. Cav Regiment to abort an attack on a square, it must roll a 7 or less). If this roll is achieved, they can "ride around" the square and not attack it. This counts against the number of attacks that can be made that turn. If the cavalry fail this roll, they must attack the square.

Cavalry

Cavalry are considered Blown following an attack, or after defence against opposing Cavalry. Place a Blown marker on the card (Thoth). The Blown status remains until removed by a successful Morale Check.

The first opportunity for a Morale Check to remove Blown status is the Morale Phase in your next turn, i.e. not your current turn

Artillery

Infantry and Cavalry cannot use any positive modifiers in combat with artillery batteries. This includes Terrain modifiers and Tactic cards EXCEPT when flanking, or defending a hill (+1 for "reverse slope") Artillery cannot be eliminated, routed, or shaken when ATTACKING Infantry and Cavalry, ie, ignore all -ve combat results.

Horse Artillery

As artillery EXCEPT attacking Lt Cav, Lancer, and 2nd Rate Cav can use positive combat modifiers against Horse Artillery.

Light Infantry

Light Infantry ignore Terrain modifiers for Hills, Woods, and River.

Notes

Destroyed battalions are removed from play. Surviving battalions are placed face down on the bottom of their stack. Tactics cards that modify the Attack roll are played before the roll is made.

Tactics cards are discarded immediately when played (to the discard pile).

Flank Attacks

If you destroy all the cards in one of your opponents stacks, the battalions in your stack facing the empty stack get to flank attack the enemy stacks adjacent to the empty stack. Battalions making Flank attacks are +2 to their Attack roll and may attack the enemy reserve stack. Cavalry battalions making Flank attacks are +3 to their Attack roll and may attack any enemy stack.

Artillery cards do not gain the +2 bonus, although they may Flank Attack.

Morale Phase

(Simultaneous) Every time you destroy an opposing battalion all other Battalion cards in the stack must take a morale check by rolling 2D6. Normal moral is 8 plus any Battalion card modifier, e.g. the Guard have a moral value of 10, while Second Rate units have a moral value of 7. To pass a moral check, the player must roll the units moral value or less. Any card that routs is placed in the Discard Pile. Any card that routs as a consequence of a failed moral check results in a further +1 to the moral check of any remaining cards in the stack who have yet to test. This modifier is cumulative. Morale checks are done in stack order, ie top card first, then next down, etc, etc.

If the Guard are eliminated, any adjacent stack (in addition to the normal moral check for the elimination of a unit), must take a moral check. If the Guard are routed, the stack from which they routed must take a moral check. Shaken cards can be "revived" by a successful morale check (turn them back through 900). All shaken cards can test in this phase. Optional: a Shaken card can only be "revived" in the presence of a Commander card.

Discard And Redraw Phase

One card in the players hand can be discarded. The Players hand is then either made back up to 7 cards by drawing from the deck, or reduced to 7 by discarding cards.

Battalion Card List

Troop Type (Value):	France	Britain	Austria	Prussia	Russia
Guard (+2)	1	2	-	1	1
Elite (+1)	3	3	4	3	3
Line	9	9	8	6	7
Light	3	3	3	3	3
Second Rate (-1)	2	3	3	6	3
Heavy Cavalry (+2)	1	1	1	1	1
Dragoon (+1)	1	1	1	1	1
Light Cavalry	2	2	2	1	1
Second Rate Cav (-1)	-	1	-	1	1
Lancer (+1 vs Infantry)	1	-	1	1	1
Artillery	4	2	4	3	5
Horse Artillery	1	1	1	1	1

Note: Austrian and Prussian Second Rate need a result of +4 or greater to be killed; Austrian Line need a result of +4 or greater to be killed.

Commander Card List

There are 11 commanders available to each army as follows: (Att/Def)

Value	French	British	Austria	Prus.	Russian
0/1	1	0	2	1	1
1/0	1	1	2	1	2
1/1	4	4	3	5	3
1/2	1	4	3	3	2
1/3	0	1	0	0	0
2/1	3	1	1	1	3
2/2	1	0	0	0	0

The 11 cards are shuffled and 6 drawn for the commanders of the army at that particular battle. The player assigns his Army Commander and Divisional Generals, or you can live dangerously and do it randomly.

Divisional Generals

Each General is assigned 2 numbers relating to attacking phase or defending phase. These numbers relate to the number of re-rolls the general can make in the corresponding combat or morale phases. E.g. a general with a value of 2/1 can make 2 combat re-rolls, or 1 combat and 1 morale re-roll, or 2 morale re-rolls on his players turn, and 1 re-roll either in the combat or morale phase during his opponents turn. These re-rolls can be made for any card in the stack the general is placed. Generals are always played face up, and to the side of the stack they relate to.

Each re-roll made endangers the general. If he makes one re-roll, he is eliminated on a die roll of 6, two re-rolls, he is eliminated on a roll of 5-6, 3 re-rolls 4-6 and so on. This roll is made after each re-roll in either the combat or morale phase. If the general is the only card in a stack, he is eliminated automatically if attacked. If the Divisional General is killed, the stack he is with takes a morale check.

Army Commander

The Army Commander is placed behind the front stacks. He has 2 numbers assigned like the Divisional General, but uses them in the morale phase only after all re-rolls have been completed by the Divisional Generals. He doesn't have to roll to see if he is killed as a consequence of these rolls. The Army Commander can take over a stack if the Divisional General is killed. He is then subject to all the rules pertaining to Divisional Generals.

The Army Commander moves onto a stack in the reinforcement phase. This move does not count against the number of reinforcements the player may make. If the Army Commander is killed, the entire army takes a morale check against their morale -1. Any cards in the front line that fail, are eliminated (they quit the battlefield) rather than go to the reserve stack.

Any further morale checks for the remainder of the battle are checked against the card morale -1.

Guard	4	Guard	4
Elite	3	Dragoon	3
Line	2	Lt. Cav	2
Light	2	Lancer	2
Second Rate	1	Second Rate Cav	1
Heavy Cav	4	Artillery Battery	2

When a card is eliminated, note down its Breakpoint value. When an Army passes its National Breakpoint value, it is defeated, and the opposition wins the battle. Cards in the discard pile count towards this value until they are removed from the discard pile by either the discards being shuffled when the Reserve Deck runs out, or by an individual card being removed from the discard pile as a consequence of a Tactic card. National Break Point Values:

Nationality	Army Breakpoint	Nationality	Army Breakpoint
France	31	Prussia	29
Great Britain	31	Russia	30
Austria	30

(the above Breakpoint value is the total Breakpoint value of the Battalion cards times 50% This can be adjusted as required) force his opponent to eliminate a Battalion card in his discard pile (opponents choice).

Attacking Empty Stacks

If an empty stack is attacked, the attacker has the option to either flank attack the adjacent stack, or to

Ready Fence

Introduction

Card game for 2 players. Simulation of a Fencing Match.

Victory

The first player to score 5 (or 15) points wins the bout.

The Deck

Players share a common deck.

Setup

Choose whether the match is to 5 or 15 points. Choose which of the 3 weapons both Fencers will be using: Foil, Epee, or Sabre. Each player starts with a hand of 2 cards.

Flip a coin to see who goes first.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns (Right of Way). Each turn has 3 phases:

1. Draw Phase
2. Attack Phase
3. Defense Phase

Draw Phase

The current player draws the top X cards from the deck. Foil Bout X = 2 (Midway between Epee & Sabre)

Epee Bout X = 1 (Cautious Match) Sabre Bout X = 3 (Animated Match) If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard & draw from it.

Attack Phase

The current player may make one Attack if able. To make an Attack, the current player must play an Attack card plus the indicated number of Movement cards. Instead of Attacking the current player may discard a Feint card to make his Opponent discard 3 random cards.

Defense

The defender may defend if attacked. To defend, the defending player must play a Defend card plus the indicated number of Movement cards. If the current player attacked, and the defender did not Defend, the attacker scores a hit (touch) and earns 1 point.

Max hand size is 7 cards. The current player discards excess cards at the end of his turn.

Real Time Carnage

Introduction

By Matthew McCullough and Ross Heintzkill. The game is called Real-Time Role-Playing Game (RTRPG). It is a system that can be used for any shoot-em-up game, like UT or BF or CS or what have you.

It is played on graph paper, and requires two six-sided dice.

Okay, so you start out by sketching whatever environment you like on the graph paper. What's really fun is playing it at a friend's house and then drawing the house and playing there. It doesn't have to be too detailed a drawing, but you should put in furniture and doors and poles and what have you.

Then each player picks their weapons. You arbitrarily pick a point count, and each player gets that many points to spend on weapons. Now, I have a system set up for counting points that's not perfect, but it'll do.

Each weapon has Damage, ToHit, Refire, Range, Clip and Use stats. More on this later.

The objective of the game is to blow the bajesus out of your enemies. You take turns moving and shooting. Each turn, you get two actions. Actions are usually either moving, shooting, aiming or reloading.

Each of these usually cost one action.

Move: Depending on the size of the arena chosen, usually you can move 5 squares. Running allows you to move twice that, but you get -2 penalty to firing a weapon.

D6	Result
1	Left Leg
2	Right Leg
3	Left Arm

A leg shot decreases your speed to half, rounded down. Both legs hit decreases your speed to 1 square per move action. One arm hit gives you a -4 penalty when using a weapon that requires both hands, and you can't use a one-handed weapon in that hand.

Both arms hit means you're powerless, and out of the game (with your life, at least). All limbs shot means it's too painful to move, and you're out of the game (with your life, at least, but crippled completely). If you get hit in the torso twice, you die.

If you get hit in the head once, you die.

Now, range is generally: Short (10 squares or less), Medium (20-11 squares), or Long (40-21 squares). When using a weapon at ranges greater than intended, it's a -2 penalty at one range increment too many, and a -4 penalty at two range increments too many. When using a weapon at ranges lesser than intended, if the weapon is Cumbersome, it's a -2 penalty at one

Shoot: Depending on the weapon, a Shoot action fires a certain amount of shots at a target. If you hit a target, roll for damage. Note that if you have less bullets in your clip than you are allowed to fire per Shoot action, that sucks for you.

You can't Reload for free to get the rest of your money's worth.

Now, you generally roll 2d6 to fire a weapon, and it takes a 7 or greater to hit. Since there are all sorts of interesting things to do with an environment, most conditions won't be listed here. The rule of thumb is that a favorable condition is +1 ToHit and an unfavorable condition is -1 ToHit. Cover of varrying degrees prevents damage: if a person is completely behind a wall, no dice.

If a person is half behind a wall, the limbs of that half of the body can be hit. If a person is standing at a waist-high wall, their torso, arms and head can be hit. A damage roll indicating a leg hit is no good.

Aim: The Aim action gives you a +2 bonus to firing a weapon (1 shot, the recoil makes your aim go bad).

Reload: Once you run out of bullets, you gotta switch guns or reload. That's it. Each player is considered to have infinite ammo. Or you can play with limited amounts, it doesn't matter.

If you're using two weapons, you must reload both of them to continue to use both.

Damage: When you damage an enemy, roll a d6.

D6	Result
4	Right Arm
5	Torso
6	Head

range increment too little and a -4 penalty at two range increments too little.

Weapons: Generally, the worst weapon in the game has no Damage or ToHit bonuses, Short range, a low clip, a normal refire rate, and no Use statistics.

The Damage bonuses/penalties are obvious. They change your roll for damage. Now, a damage penalty of -2 means you can't actually kill a person with the gun, but you can knock them out of the running by hitting all four limbs.

Note that roll totals above 6 still count as 6.

ToHit bonuses/penalties are also obvious. They change your roll when attempting to hit someone. So a roll of 6 with a +1 ToHit bonus gives you 7.

Refire is basically how many shots you can fire with a Shoot action. You roll ToHit (and damage for hits) that many times.

Range is the distance a weapon is best used at.

Clip is the amount of bullets that the gun can fire before you need to reload.

Use is a special category. There a certain Use effects. Refire Penalty: When using this weapon, there is a subsequent (and stacking) -2 penalty ToHit for each additional shot fired by the weapon. This means that the first shot fired has no penalty, the next shot has a -2 penalty and the third shot has a -4 penalty.

Cumbersome: See Shoot. This normally applies to rifles and such. Double: You can use two of these, one in each hand. This normally applies to pistols, and can be mix-and-matched (1 Uzi and 1 Pistol).

Slow Reload: This weapon takes longer to fire than just a slap-in-the-clip action. It takes two actions to reload this weapon.

Well I think that's it, but if you uncover all the gory rules you get a pretty simple shoot-em-up game. I've enclosed the stats for a few modern weapons. Realize that I didn't go to the trouble to label various types of each weapons (M-16, Desert Eagle).

The differences in those weapons are slight.

Name	Damage	ToHit	Refire	Clip	Range	Use	Cost
Pistol	0	0	1,	10	S	Double	320
Uzi	0	-1	5,	20	S	Double & Refire Penalty	640
Rifle	+1	+1	1,	10	L	Cumbersome	470
Machine Gun	+1	0	5,	20	M	Cumbersome & Refire Penalty	1500
Sniper Rifle	+2	+1	1,	1	L	Cumbersome & Slow Reload	510
Shotgun	0	+2	1,	5	M	Cumbersome	295
Sawed-Off Shotgun	-1	+3	1,	5	S	Double	330

Here is the "calculator" I used to come up with the prices.

Start at 100. Add or subtract (accordingly) 100 for damage bonuses/penalties. Add or subtract 50 for to hit bonuses/penalties.

Multiply this by the refire. Multiply this by 1.2 for short range, 1.4 for medium range and 1.6 for long range. Add 10 for each bullet in the clip minus the refire (for the Machine Gun, you'd add 150).

Subtract 25 for Refire Penalty, Cumbersome of Slow Reload. Multiply by 1.5 for Double. Round the number to the nearest tenth.

Rebel Space

Introduction

Sci-Fi Card Game. Two Players.

Cards

The Rebel and Imperial players have their own unique decks of 65 cards.

Object

Reduce your opponents deck to 0 cards.

Setup

Each player draws 5 cards from their own deck.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. The Rebel player goes first. Each turn has 5 phases: Draw Phase Activation Phase Attack Phase Deploy Phase End Phase

Draw Phase

Draw 1 or 2 cards from your deck. If you have no cards left in your deck, you lose.

Activation Phase

Move all your units in your Inactive Zone into your Active Zone.

Attack Phase

Declare whether or not you are attacking. If you are not attacking skip this phase. You may attack with some or all of your units.

Units include Heroes, ground units, and space units. Units may be combined into battle groups. Battle groups contain one or more units.

Battle groups are of 2 kinds: Ground groups, and Space groups. A ground battle group may consist of ground units and heroes. A space battle group consists of space units and (pilot/captain) heroes.

Some space units are fighters, others are ships. For each Fighter one Pilot hero may also attack in the same space battle group. For each Ship one Captain hero may also attack in the same space battle group.

Items and companions are attached to heroes. Active defender units may block attacking units. Inactive units cannot block. The above rules also apply to how the defender can form defending battle groups.

The defending player may let attackers through, or block attacking battle groups. Only ground units can block ground units. Only space units can block space units. The exception: The rebel ion cannon and shields are ground units that affect attacking ships.

Attacking unblocked units do damage equal to the damage ratings of the attacking cards. For each point of damage that gets through, one card from the top of the defenders deck is discarded. If blocked, compare the battle value of the attacking group and the defending group that blocked it.

The battle values are the ground ratings in a ground attack, or space ratings in a space attack. The side with the lowest battle value is destroyed and discarded. The winning side always keeps at least one surviving unit but loses extra units with a combined value = or > than the battle value of the losing side.

The loser picks which of the winners units are destroyed. Heroes must be picked last. For example: An attacking ground rebel group has the Princess (3), two soldiers (1,1), a cycle (2), and a speeder (3). The defending imperial group is a Battle-Walker (4).

The Walker is destroyed. The Imperial player chooses whether the rebel loses a speeder and a soldier, or the cycle and both soldiers. Attacking cards are inactivated.

If unblocked, attacking units, instead of doing damage to the deck, may target an opposing unit in play, which must block. Space units can only target space units. Ground units may target ground units, or heroes.

Deploy Phase

You may deploy 3 points worth of cards. Notice that all units have a cost of 1 to 3 points. Points cannot be saved from turn to turn.

Deployed units are placed face up on the table in front of the controlling player. Units are placed into the player's Inactive Zone. Items and companions when deployed must be attached to a hero.

Units stay in play until destroyed in battle or by some card action.

End Phase

If you have more than 12 cards in your hand, discard the excess cards. Convert and Treason cards are played in end phase. Shuttle and Cybernetic cards are played in end phase.

Recruit and Medi-bot cards are played in end phase. Saboteur and Spy cards are played in end phase. Surprise attack, Multiple targets, and Trap cards are played in attack phase.

Psion Cards

Psion cards are played during battles to increase battle or damage ratings. They are attached to heroes with the Psionic attribute. They are discarded at the end of the battle.

FAQ's

1. Do the attacking units tap (turned sideways) to show they attacked? A: Use the Inactive Zone/Active Zone concept. This is important because it brings up another question:
2. Can units that attacked be used to defend on the oppents turn? A: Attacking units are inactivated. Inactivated units cannot block. Inactivated units are reactivated in the Activation Phase.

3. When attacking, do all your units attack or can you decide which units to use? (Linked to question 1 for tactical play.)A: Attack with some, none, or all.
4. Can you attack with both ground and space units or with ground OR space?A: In a single attack phase you may attack with: zero, one, or more ground battle groups AND zero, one, or more space battle groups. Remember, a battle group consists of one or more units.

Reds & Whites

Introduction

Two player card game depicting the Russian Civil War of 1918-1922. One player is the Reds (communists), the other is the Whites (monarchists).

Victory

There are 2 ways to win: – Each player starts the game with 20 Morale points.

1. If you reduce your opponent to zero Morale points, you win the game.
- There are 3 Fronts. – Each player starts the game with 3 Territory Markers for each front.
2. If you ever have all 6 Territory Markers on any 2 Fronts you win.

The Decks

Each player has their own unique deck.

Dice

Six sided dice are needed.

Fronts

There are 3 Fronts:

1. North-Western
2. South
3. East

Territory Markers

There are 6 Markers for each Front. Each player starts with 3 Markers for each Front. If either player accumulates 6 Markers at a Front, the Front is decided; there will be no more fighting at that Front.

When a Front is claimed discard all units stationed at that Front.

Morale Points

Use counters to keep track of Morale. Max Morale is 20.

Setup

Each player starts the game with 20 Morale points. Each player starts with 3 Markers for each Front. Each player starts with a hand of 5 cards.

Mulligan: Discard & Redraw if you drew no Leaders. The Red player goes first.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 6 phases:

1. Rally Phase
2. Propaganda Phase
3. Event Phase
4. Attack Phase
5. Recruitment Phase
6. Reserve Phase

Rally Phase

Max hand size is 7 cards. Discard excess cards. Put a Rally token on one of your Leader cards that does not have one. You may move Units in this phase: The White player may only reattach Troops from one Leader to another Leader within the same Front.

The Red player in addition to reattaching troops may move up to 3 Units from one Front to another Front (Internal Lines of Communication).

Propaganda Phase

Draw 2 cards from your deck. If your deck runs out, shuffle your discard & draw from it. Gain 1 Morale Point if you did unblocked damage to your opponent on your last turn.

Event Phase

Play Event cards that do not apply to other phases: Epidemic, Sacked, Execution, Red Terrorism, Internal Lines, Railroads, Any card that allows you to draw cards, or your opponent to discard cards, White Terrorism, Purge, Assassination, Subversive Attack You may play a max of one event card in this phase that allows you draw extra cards.

Attack Event Card Rulings

Some event cards are meant to be played during Attack Phase: Subversive Attack, Confused & Divided, National Defense, Death Penalty, Counter Attack, Peasant Insurrection, Munitions & Supplies, Allied Firepower, Tanks & Artillery These can be played during yours or your opponents attack phase. Note: the card Confused & Divided causes the attacker to lose the Rally Marker he used to start the negated attack. This is done before blocking.

Loss Of Leaders Rulings

If one of your Leaders is discarded you may move his troops to a different Leader. If there is no other Leader put the troop cards in your hand. If you are to discard a random Leader roll a die to determine which.

Attack Phase

Players may not attack on their first turn of the game. You may attack your opponent with one or more of your armies. An army must attack in the Front it is stationed.

Remove the Rally token from its Leader to have an Army attack. (Each activated Army requires the expenditure of a Rally Point) If the attackers are unblocked, take a Territory Marker from that Front from the defender who did not block. Your opponent may block with his Armies.

Remove the Rally token from its Leader to have an Army block. Each Troop & Leader card has a Force point value. The side with the higher total Force must discard 1 committed Troop card.

The side with the lower total Force must discard all units in 1 committed army. The loser must give the winner 1D6 Morale Points. A max of 2 White player Armies may combine to attack or block at one time.

A max of 3 Red player Armies may combine to attack or block at one time. A Leader may defend (but not attack) by himself without attached troops.

Reinforcement Rule

You may discard Leader and Troop cards from your hand in Attack Phase to increase the Force of a target Army by 1. Note that cards used for this purpose give the +1 Force Bonus and are then discarded.

Reformation

Introduction

Card game for 2 players. Theme: European Protestant Reformation. One player represents the Protestants.

The other player is the Catholic Church.

Game End

The game ends when all the Territory cards have been captured.

Victory

The player with the most Population Points from Territory cards in his Victory pile at the end of the game wins.

The Decks

There are 3 decks:

1. Territory Deck
2. Protestant Deck
3. Catholic Deck

The Protestant and Catholic Decks are collectively called Faith decks. The cards from Faith decks are called Faith cards.

Territory Deck

This is a common deck. Players bid to win these cards. Each Territory card has a Population Point value.

Population Points (PP) determine the winner at the end of the game. A player keeps Territories he's captured in his victory pile (VP). If a player ever has to discard a card from his victory pile, it is immediately shuffled back into the Territory deck.

Protestant Deck

This deck is used by the Protestant player. These cards are used to bid on Territory cards. Each card has an Influence Value.

The player keeps these cards in his hand.

Catholic Deck

This deck is used by the Catholic player. These cards are used to bid on Territory cards. Each card has an Influence Value.

The player keeps these cards in his hand.

Setup

Shuffle the decks.

Turn Sequence

Each turn is divided into 9 Phases:

1. Reveal Phase
2. Draw Phase
3. Protestant Event Phase
4. Catholic Event Phase
5. First Bid Phase
6. Second Bid Phase
7. Third Bid Phase
8. Fourth Bid Phase
9. End Phase

Reveal Phase

Turn over the top 3 cards of the Territory deck. These are placed face up in the middle of the table. These are referred to as the Bid cards.

They are numbered in the order they were revealed, 1, 2, and 3.

Draw Phase

Each player fills their hand to 8 cards from their respective Faith decks. If a Faith deck runs out of cards, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Protestant Event Phase

The Protestant player may play (discard) up to one faith card to produce The Event described on that card.

Catholic Event Phase

The Catholic player may play (discard) up to one faith card to produce The Event described on that card.

First Bid Phase

Players Bid for the first Bid card. Bids are made using Faith cards. A Bid can be zero, one, or more cards from a players hand.

Bids are secret. When both players have Bid, the Faith cards are simultaneously revealed. The player whose cards have the highest combined Influence value wins the Bid. The Winner captures the Bid card and puts it in his Victory pile.

All Faith cards bid by both players are discarded. If there is a tie, shuffle the Bid card back into the Territory deck.

Second Bid Phase

Players Bid for the second Bid card.

Third Bid Phase

Players Bid for the third Bid card.

End Phase

Players discard their unused faith cards.

Fourth Bid Phase

Players Bid for the fourth Bid card if there is one, as a result of an Event played in Event phase.

Regimental Risk

Introduction

Napoleonic Wargame. This game uses Risk pieces but at a tactical level.

Battalions

Use Risk pieces: Infantry, Artillery, and Cavalry. Each figure represent 1 Battalion (Squadron, Battery).

Regiments

All the units in a single space (even if of different types) are collectively called a Regiment.

The Map

The map is divided into irregular shaped spaces. Each space has a Terrain Type and possibly 1 or more Terrain Features.

Terrain Types

- Clear- No special rules.
- Shallow Water- Units in Shallow water can only move on a roll of 3+ on 1D6. Units in Shallow water are +1 to be hit.
- Deep Water- Units cannot enter.
- Hill- Artillery on a hill can shoot +1 space (not into another hill).
- Ravine- Units in a Ravine are +1 to be hit and -1 to attack.
- Forest- Units in a Forest are -1 to be hit
- Only 3 units max may attack out of a Forest space.

Fortification Level 1- Units in a Level 1 Fort are -1 to be hit.

Fortification Level 2- Units in a Level 2 Fort are -2 to be hit.

Fortification Level 3- Units in a Level 3 Fort are -3 to be hit.

Terrain Features

- Road- Doubles Unit movement in the direction of the road.
- Fence- Units crossing a Fence can only move on a roll of 3+ on 1D6. Units crossing a Fence or charging over one are +1 to be hit.
- Ridge- Units behind a ridge are -1 to be hit.
- Wall- Units behind a wall are -1 to be hit.
- Trench- Units in a trench are -1 to be hit.
- Units crossing a wall can only move on a roll of 3+ on 1D6. Units crossing a wall or charging over one are +1 to be hit.

- Bridge- Units crossing a Bridge or charging over one are +1 to be hit.

Crowding

A space with more than 6 Units is said to be crowded. A max of 6 Units can attack out of a space. Units in a crowded space are +1 to be hit.

If there are 13+ units in a space, they are +2 to be hit. If 19+ they are +3 to be hit.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 3 phases:

- Attack Phase
- Movement Phase
- End Phase

Attack Phase

Each of your units may make 1 Attack. Attacks are into an adjacent space. Roll 3D6 to attack with a unit.

Attacks are directed at a specific unit. Units attack one at a time A Unit that Breaks is removed from play. Cavalry and Bayonet attacks are considered to be Charges.

Retreats

A defending unit that is forced to retreat must move to an adjacent empty or friendly uncrowded space not adjacent to an enemy occupied space. If it cannot, it breaks. A unit forced to retreat twice in 1 turn breaks automatically.

Cavalry Attacks

Cavalry cannot attack a space with a Fortification. If a cavalry unit attacks a space containing Infantry, all infantry units in that space go into squares for the rest of the turn. Roll 3D6: On a roll of 12-13 one target enemy unit Retreats.

On a roll of 14+ one target enemy unit Breaks. If the roll is 7 or less the cavalry unit Breaks.

Overrun Rule

If a Cavalry unit breaks a defender, it may make a second attack in the same turn against the same regiment.

Cavalry Voluntary Retreat Rules

A Defending Cavalry unit may choose, once a turn, to avoid an attack by retreating. The unit moves to an adjacent empty or friendly uncrowded space not adjacent to an enemy occupied space.

Artillery Attacks

Roll 3D6: On a roll of 14-15 one target enemy unit Retreats. On a roll of 16+ one target enemy unit Breaks. If the target is an infantry square get +1 to the attack roll.

Artillery may attack at targets 2 spaces away, however they get -1 to the attack roll.

Infantry Attack

Infantry can attack by 3 methods: Skirmish, Volley or Bayonet.

Infantry Skirmish Attack

Roll 3D6: On a roll of 15-16 one target enemy unit Retreats. On a roll of 17+ one target enemy unit Breaks.

Infantry Volley Attack

Roll 3D6: On a roll of 13-14 one target enemy unit Retreats. On a roll of 15+ one target enemy unit Breaks. If the roll is 6 or less the infantry unit Breaks.

Infantry attack Fortifications at -1.

Infantry Bayonet Attack

Roll 3D6: On a roll of 11-12 one target enemy unit Retreats. On a roll of 13+ one target enemy unit Breaks. If the roll is 8 or less the infantry unit Breaks.

Infantry attack Fortifications at -1.

Movement Phase

Each of your units may move 1 space. Cavalry can move up to 2 spaces. Artillery cannot move if they attacked this turn.

Special Units

Figures can be marked to indicate that they are special units. Special units include: Leaders, Elite Units, Inferior Units, Light Cavalry, Light Infantry, Siege Guns.

Elite Units

Imperial Guard and such. They get +1 to their Attack rolls.

Inferior Units

Leaders

Leaders are Cavalry that cannot attack. All other Units in the same space as a Leader are -1 to be attacked. The scenario will determine how many Leaders are present.

One type of attack the Regiment makes each turn will get +1 to its Attack roll. Leaders cannot be targeted directly for attack, however if their regiment is destroyed, they are removed from play.

Heavy Cavalry

Big Men. Big Horses. Heavy Breastplates. Heavy Cavalry get +1 to their attack rolls.

Dragoons

These Cavalrymen carried muskets/carbines and could skirmish like Infantry.

Light Cavalry

They can move 1 extra space per turn.

Light Infantry

Light Infantry cannot make Volley or Bayonet Attacks. They can voluntarily retreat like Cavalry. Artillery attack them at -1.

They are +1 to Skirmish.

Siege Guns

These require 2 turns to move 1 space. They have a range +1. They are +2 vs. Fortifications.

End Phase

If a Regiment containing a Leader has been attacked this turn roll 3D6. On a roll of 17 the Leader is wounded and out of the Battle. On a roll of 18 the Leader is killed.

Flanking Rule

Attacks vs. a regiment in contact with 3 or more enemy held spaces are at +1. If the Regiment is also not in contact with a friendly held space it will automatically surrender in End phase.

Breakthrough Rule

If a Regiment is completely broken/retreated, all adjacent friendly Regiments are +1 to be hit.

Regiments & Roundshot

Introduction

Simple Napoleonic Miniatures Rules System. Uses Dry Erase Board, Markers, Dice, Risk Figures, and Regular Playing cards.

Scale: Men

- Each Infantry Figure represents a Battalion (Roughly 500-800+ men: around 6 Companies)
- Each Cavalry Figure represents a Regiment (Roughly 400-500+ men: around 4 Squadrons)
- Each Artillery Figure represents a Division (Roughly 20-30 guns: around 3 Batteries)
- Each Figure is also referred to as a Unit.

Scale: Distance

Each Inch = $\frac{1}{2}$ Mile (880 yards).

- Musket Fire is effective out 150 yards, so opposing
- Infantry/Cavalry must be touching (in Contact) to fight.
- Artillery is at Short range when touching an enemy unit (Canister).
- Artillery is at Effective range up to $\frac{1}{2}$ Inch (Round-shot).
- Artillery is at Long range up to 1 Inch (Round-shot/Spherical Case).
- Artillery is at Maximum range up to $1\frac{1}{2}$ Inch (Spherical Case).

Scale: Time

One Turn = $\frac{1}{2}$ Hour.

- Infantry can march up to 2 Inches in a turn.
- Cavalry can "walk" up to 5 Inches in a turn. (Cavalry only galloped when Charging & within Musket range)
- Artillery can move up to 1 Inch in a turn.

The Map

Use a white Dry Erase board. (I got a 2" x 3") Quickly Draw Bird-Eye View Terrain Features directly onto the board. Green Patches for Woods. Blue for Water. Red Lines for Roads Black Dots for Hamlets and Important Buildings Irregular shaded areas for larger Urban Areas.

Black Lines for Walls & Fortifications. Brown dotted lines for Hills.

Figures

Use plastic figures from a Risk Game. This will include: Infantry, Cavalry, and Artillery. Each player also needs an HQ figure to represent the General.

Treat the HQ as a Cavalry Unit.

The Orders Deck

Players share a regular 52 card deck plus Jokers.

Dice

Six sided dice are needed.

Rulers

Rulers are needed. Inches are the common unit used.

Victory

The first side to lose 20% of it's Units (Routed or Destroyed) retires the Field. Loss of the HQ is an automatic loss.

Formations

All friendly units of the same type that are touching belong to the same Formation. A Formation will be one of several types: Column Formation: All Units facing towards the Front of the Line. Units in column Formation move at +1 Inch per turn Line Formation: All Units Facing perpendicular to the direction of the line.

Irregular Formation: Anything else.

Basic Setup

This will vary for Specific Historical Scenarios. Each player divides his army into 4-5 Equal Strategic Columns. Players will start with only 1 Strategic Column in Play.

Players start on opposite ends of the Map. Place Units anywhere on your Half of the Map. Units must be touching, in Column or Line Formations.

Infantry Formations must have a minimum of 5 Units. Cavalry & Artillery Formations must have a minimum of 3 Units. All Formations must be within 1 Inch of another Formation.

The remaining Strategic Columns will arrive during the course of the battle.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 8 Phases:

- Reinforcement Phase
- Strategy Phase
- Grand Maneuver Phase
- Bombardment Phase
- Volley Phase
- Charge Phase
- Rally Phase
- Logistics Phase

Reinforcement Phase

Regional Rails

Introduction

Board Game for 2-6+ players. Railroad Building Theme. Each player takes the role of 1 Railroad Company.

Victory

The game ends when one of the following happens:

1. All Cities on the map are built to.
2. Any player uses up all of his Rail Markers.

At this point the player with the most Victory Points wins. Players keep their VP hidden until the end.

The Map

This is a Hex Map. There are several Terrain Types/Features: Sea spaces: Blue Waves. Adjacent Land spaces are referred to as Coastal.

- Mountain spaces: Orange Angles
- Forest spaces: Green filled in Triangles
- Plains: Open/Blank Spaces
- Town Spaces: Open Circles. May be in Forests & Mountains
- City Spaces: Solid Circles
- Starting Cities: Solid circle surrounded by an open Circle. In the Corners. Rivers: Blue Lines on the Hex edges/sides

The individual Hexes on the map must be large enough to allow the easy un-stacked placement of up to 3 RM on each Hexside and 6 markers (4 RM, 1 SM, 1 DM) in the Interior while allowing the terrain features to still be visible.

Victory Points

Use Tokens to keep track of Victory Points (VP). Players share a common set.

Rail Markers

Each player has a set of 50 Rail Markers (RM) of a unique color.

Railroad Company List

Station Markers

Each player has 5 Station Markers (SM) the same color as their RM. You may build a SM in a city you are connected to. That city earns you 1 extra MB per turn.

A city may have a max of 1 Station.

Money Bags

Use poker chips to keep track of Money Bags (MB).

Train Level

Use Tickets to keep track of Train Levels. This is an abstract measure of the number of trains you have as well as how technologically advanced they are and the efficiency with which they are run. You may not build to cities and towns that are farther from your starting city than is your Train Level.

Obsolescence Tokens

These represent revenue losses due to changes in transportation and businesses models.

Dice

Six sided dice are needed.

Setup

- Each player picks one of the Railroads on the Railroad Company List.
- Roll high on dice to determine order for picking railroads.
- Each player places one of their RM in one of the Starting Cities.
- Roll high on dice to determine order for picking Starting Cities.
- All cities must be occupied before players start doubling up.
- Each player gets two secret random DM.
- Each player starts with a Train Level of 1.
- Each player starts with 5 MB and 10 VP.
- Finally players roll high on dice to determine Turn Order.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 7 Phases:

1. Build Phase
2. Income Phase
3. Event Phase
4. Upkeep Phase
5. Dividend Phase
6. Upgrade Phase
7. End Phase

Build Phase

A player pays for and places rail markers (RM) in this Phase. A Hex has six sides and one Interior region. RM are placed both on Hex Sides and the interior of Hexes.

In order for a railroad to connect from 1 hex to an adjacent hex you must build a RM on the hex side shared by both. To build on a Hexside/Border you must have a RM already built in the interior of one of the 2 connecting Hexes. To have a link to a town or city inside a Hex, you must build a RM in the interior of that hex.

All RM you build must be continuously connecting from interior to hex side to interior to hex side and so on beginning from your Start City. A Max of 3 RM may be built on a Hexside. If it is a River Hexside it is a max of 2 RM.

A Hexside of a Mountain space may contain a max of 2 RM. The Interior of a Hex may contain a max of 4 RM. The Interior may contain a max 3 if it is a Town and/or Forest and/or Coastal.

The Interior may contain a max of 2 RM if it is a Mountain. The player must pay MB for the RM he builds according to the Building Cost Charts. You may also build 1 Station in a city you are connected to (interior RM) that does not already have a station. This costs 5 MB.

The third RM you build in a turn costs +1 MB. The fourth RM you build in a turn costs +2 MB. The max number of RM you can build in a turn is 4.

Income Phase

Gain Money Bags (MB) from towns and Cities you are connected to. To be connected you must have a RM in the interior of the Hex containing that city or town. A City earns 2 MB A Town earns 1 MB A Development marker earns 1 extra MB A Station you own earns 1 extra MB For every additional starting City you connect to (not including your own) earn an extra 2

MB.

Gain 1 less MB for each Obsolescence Token you have. (On their first turn of the game each player will make 2 MB from being connected to their Start city)

Event Phase

Roll once on the Event Table:

Event Table

1D6	Event:	Notes:
1	Lost Contracts	Gain 1 Obsolescence Token
2	Trucks & Roads	Gain 1 Obsolescence Token
3	Train Wreck	Roll 2D6: If < your Train Level lose 1D6 VP
4	Mail	Gain 1 VP
5	Passengers	Gain 1 VP and 1 MB
6+	Freight	Gain 1 MB

Notes: Add +2 to your rolls for the first 3 Turns of the game.

Upkeep Phase

Pay MB equal to your Train Level for maintenance and overhead. Lose 3 VP for every MB you do not pay. VP levels can be negative!

Dividends Phase

You may buy Victory Points in this Phase. The first 1D6 MB you spend earn 3 VP each. (First Dividends Roll) The next 1D6 MB you spend earn 2 VP each. (Second Dividends Roll) After that every MB you spend earns 1 VP each.

Upgrade Phase

You may upgrade your Train Level by one and one only. This costs MB equal to twice the level you are buying. For example: you are at level 3 and you want to go to level 4. That would cost you 8 MB. (2 X 4)

End Phase

Check for end Game conditions.

Shutout Rule

You may build up to 2 RM on a Hexside or in an interior to prevent other players from accessing the hex.

Loans

You may borrow MB in Income Phase. For each MB you borrow lose 3 VP. You may borrow up to 2D6 MB

Tycoons List

You may buy up to 2D6 Stocks on your turn. (Investment Roll)

Regional Development

In Upgrade Phase you may pay 5 MB to draw 1 random unused DM.

End Game Scoring

Gain VP equal to your Train Level x 7 (multiplied by seven). Gain 2 VP for every town or city you are the only player with a connection to. Cash in: 1 VP costs 2 MB.

Optional Rule: Tycoons

Each player picks one Tycoon at the beginning of the Game. High Die roll picks first.

game. Keep its money and VP separate. (Combine your VP at end of game) Do not gain the 2 DM you normally get at start. It does get the starting 5 MB and 10 VP These extra railroads can have a max of 4 Stations and 40 RM.

If playing with Tycoons, you do not get an extra Tycoon; Your original and only Tycoon special ability applies to all the companies you own. (If you have Uncle Monebags the new company starts with an extra 7 MB)

The Cards

Players share a common deck.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 3 phases:
 1. Orders Phase

2. Move Phase
3. Battle Phase

Orders Phase

Draw 5 cards. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it. Max hand size = 7 cards.

Discard excess cards.

Move Phase

Play (discard) a Move card to move one of your units. Units may move through other friendly units. The move card has a number: This is the number of spaces the unit moves.

You may move fewer than the indicated number of spaces. Some moves are diagonal, some orthogonal, and some can be either. "Knight" type move cards allow a man to move like a knight in chess.

Terrain List

Terrain:	Enter	Defense	Notes:
Clear	N	N	Fields
Road	H	N	Bridge
Rough	S	N	Grove, Crops, Dunes, Stream, Woods, Pass
Impassible	X	-	River, Lake, Swamp, Peaks
Difficult	N	2	Buildings, Sconces, Hills, Ruins
Defensible	S	2	Mountainous, Trenches, Walls, Ridge
Fortifications	S	3	Bastion, Redoubt

2 Attacker must play 2 Attack cards to kill unit in this space

3 Attacker must play 3 Attack cards to kill unit in this space

N Normal Movement/Defense

X Unit cannot enter this space

S Unit must stop upon entering this space

H Space counts as half a space for movement

Push Of Pike Rules

Pikes and Tercios may use any Movement card as an attack card to attack an adjacent unit.

Men-at-arms Special Rules

MAA and Gendarmes may use any Attack card to attack any adjacent non-melee unit that is not in a Defensive, Difficult, or Fortification Terrain. They cannot Attack Tercios or Pike Units with more than 1 Hit unless it is a flank Attack.

Light Cavalry Special Rules

Light Cavalry may use any Defense card. This represents their high mobility and ability to escape. Stradiots cannot Attack Tercios or Pike Units with more than 1 Hit unless it is a flank Attack.

Instead of moving just one unit in any direction, you have the option of moving one or more units forward the indicated number of spaces using a single move card.

Battle Phase

Play (discard) an Attack card to have a unit attack. A unit must use an attack card that is the same as his weapon. The attack card has a number.

This is the range of the attack. Some attacks are diagonal, some orthogonal, and some can be either. "Knight" type attack cards produce an attack with a range like a knight in chess.

The enemy unit that is the target of the attack loses 1 Hit. A Unit reduced to zero hits is Killed/Routed and removed from the map. Units cannot attack through other units.

Your opponent may play Defense cards to negate your attack cards.

Crossbowmen Special Rules

Crossbows were still in use early in the period, but were quickly being replaced by guns. A crossbow unit can use any attack card used by an Arquebus unit.

Heavy Artillery

3 Hits by Heavy Artillery on a Fortification space will breach the walls and reduce it to a Defensible space. 3 Hits by Heavy Artillery on a Defensible space will reduce it to a Difficult space.

Gustav Regiments

A Gustav Regiment has Pikes but only for defense. A GR is considered like a Pike unit when being attacked by Cavalry. A GR cannot use Melee Attack cards.

Flank (& Rear) Attacks

If a unit is orthogonally adjacent to 2+ enemy units, it is susceptible to Flank attacks: The orthogonally adjacent Units may use any attack card against the Flanked unit.

Fickle Allies

Some units may be designated as Fickle Allies. If one Fickle Ally is destroyed all similar allies will retreat.

Brilliant Commander Rule

Superior commanders can be given various advantages, such as a larger hand size, or increased drawing or discarding ability.

COMMENTARY by Ron Always a good topic for a game. Like the slight change from other Warpskirmishes, in that each side has an immobile target as well as a mobile one, it isn't just "kill all the other side's troops." While allowing players to mix'n'match troops and terrain is a unique twist also, most of us could use a little guidance. For example, an army made up of all firearm-carrying troops might appeal, and for some terrains, might have tactical advantage, but historically that simply didn't happen in this time period. Similarly, the sorts of terrain people might like to defend may not be what was historically available. So, maybe something like (and this is purely speculation, don't have any historical references in front of me as I'm writing this): "you must have at least twice as many pike as arquebusiers, and no more than 1/2 pike can be elite"; "you cannot have more than 1 fortification per side if on a standard chessboard"; you cannot have more defensible squares than number of foot troop companies."

Thanks Ron!!!

Remember The Alamo

Introduction

Simulates the siege of the Alamo in 1836. This is a variation of Lloyd Krasner's Alamo Game. Originally published on Warp Spawn 12/26/2000.

Variation written by Brian Peterson.

Game Information

Card game (no dice required). For 1 (Solo) or 2 players. Average playing time: 30 minutes.

Ages: 8 and up. The Texians and Mexicans have their own unique decks.

Special Cards

The doubler card is a special card. During an attack it has a force value of 0. It doubles the Force value of every other card in a player's hand.

If discarded the doubler card has a Force value of 5.

Turn Sequence

- Draw Phase
- Bombardment Phase
- Discard Phase
- Mexican Attack Phase
- Texian Fire Phase
- Mexican Reinforcement Phase

Draw Phase

If any player is out of cards both sides draw 4 cards from their respective decks. Otherwise each player draws 1 card.

Bombardment Phase

Players may elect to play & discard 1 or more Artillery cards. For each Artillery card randomly select & discard a card from the opponents hand. Continue until the sum of discarded Forces is greater than or equal to the the Artillery Force.

If your opponent is out of cards begin discarding from the top card of their deck. Continue the bombardment phase as long as players desire to use artillery.

Discard Phase

The Mexican player is limited to 8 cards in hand, select & discard excess cards. The Texian player is limited to 7 cards in hand, select & shuffle excess cards into deck.

Mexican Attack Phase

If the Mexican player elects not to attack the turn is over. All Mexican attacks in this phase require a Leader card. The Mexican player may attack with any number of non-Reserve Troops, up to 2 Reserve Troops, and only 1 of each of the following card types: Leader, Artillery, Tactics, and Equipment.

The Mexican attack is limited to 7 cards unless an equipment card is used as the 8th card. The Texian player may defend with any number of troops, up to 2 artillery cards, 2 equipment cards, and only 1 of each of the following card types: Leader, Tactics, Morale, and Defense. All Troop cards get a bonus of +1 Force if they are played with their matching Leader.

Add Force values on each side, multiply by 2 if a doubler card is played. The winner is the side with the highest total. If tied both sides discard all battle cards and end turn.

The Victory total is determined by subtracting the loser's Force total from the winner's. The winner selects survivors with a combined Force less than or equal to the Victory total. Discard all other battle cards from both sides.

The loser must also discard from their hand or draw & discard from the top of their deck a combined Force equal to or greater than the Victory total. Doubler cards are considered to be Force 5 for this purpose.

Texian Fire Phase

If the Texians did not lose the battle this turn skip this phase. If the Texian player has fewer cards than Mexican battle survivors, draw to match. The Texian player may elect to counter-attack all survivors with cards in hand.

The Mexican player may supplement survivors with cards in hand. A leader is not required in this phase. All other combat rules apply (see Mexican Attack Phase).

Mexican Reinforcements

If the Mexicans either won the battle or the Texian Fire Phase end turn. If no battle was fought or there are no survivors end turn. Same as Texian Fire Phase, except replace the word Texian with Mexican and vise-versa.

Goto to Texian Fire Phase and repeat until instructed to end turn.

Mexican Victory

Texian player goes to draw and there are no cards left in their deck.

Texian Victory

Mexican player goes to draw and there are no cards left in their deck.

Rules For Solo Play

You'll find that Remember the Alamo makes an excellent solo game. You play the Texians. Whenever the Mexicans have a Leader and can play a full set of 7 or 8 cards they attack.

Whenever the Mexicans have an Artillery card & exceed 8 cards use it in bombardment phase. Use common sense when playing the Mexicans. When selecting a card from a player, shuffle the cards and pick the top card on the stack.

Game Designers Notes

This makes the game more suitable for solo play while enhancing the 2 player game. I've made significant changes to the artillery system, the force numbering system, Mexican leadership requirements, and added two extra phases Texian Fire & Mexican Reinforcements which really help keep the game balanced so that one player doesn't run away the game.

Remnant Of The Daleks

by SIR GERARD LUFT, KDM

The last of the Daleks have invaded the TARDIS Console Room. And it's up to the Eighth Doctor, Romana and K9 to stop them from taking over the TARDIS. Whoever controls the TARDIS controls all of Causality. Introduction This game is played with two players. Each player begins with three characters cards and there own deck, as detailed below.

Set Up

The Doctor Character Cards

Character	Power	Toughness	Tap
The Doctor	2	1	-
Romana	1	2	+2 Attack Draws to Doctor if in the same area
K9	2	2	+1 Attack Draw to Doctor if in same area

The Dalek Character Cards

Character	Power	Toughness	Tap
Dalek	2	2	+1 Attack Draw to any Dalek in the same area
Dalek	2	2	+1 Attack Draw to any Dalek in the same area
Dalek	2	2	+1 Attack Draw to any Dalek in the same area

Deck

Area	Power	# in Deck
TARDIS Console Room	1	8
TARDIS Library	0	8
TARDIS Clock Garden	0	8
TARDIS Altar Room	0	8

Miniatures And Map

If you have any problem keeping track of who is in what area each turn, draw up a map of the TARDIS and pull out your Doctor Who actions figures or minia- tures! (As a matter of fact, these game rules were modified from a D20 Time Lord conversion we did. We created this system to better capture the fact that the Doctor's "attacks" are usually not combative per say. Additionally, the card system was created to better streamline an already streamlined system (i.e., D20))

The Turn

1. Each player lays his character cards (and minia- tures) out face up before him. Then they draw a card from their deck for each of their charac- ters, going right to left. The cards drawn indicate which area of the Console Room each individ- ual character is that turn (If random location seems unrealistic, one merely needs to watch a few episodes of Doctor Who, Star Wars Episode IV,

- or any early seasons of Star Trek: the Next Gen- eration, to see the heroes running "like chickens with their heads off" trying to save their derrières; it's just the fun of true space operas!).
2. If any character is in the same area with an op- ponent character, they may attack that opponent. (e.g., The Doctor, K9 and two Daleks are in the Library.
3. Before a conflict occurs, players must decide if they wish to Tap (rotate 90 degrees/ AKA siding) a character to Support another character in the same area (e.g., K9 taps to support the Doctor, and one Dalek taps to support the other Dalek. Characters tapped due to damage taken in previ- ous turns can not be tapped to support.
4. The attacking characters must choose their tar- gets. A character that is tapped to support can not be targeted. If there is a character that is tapped due to damage, then that character can be targeted. Only characters tapping to support are exempted from being targeted.
5. Players should take turn attacking. However all attacks are considered to be simultaneous.
6. A player draws one card from their deck for each character attacking. The character can draw more than one card if any other characters are tapped to support him or her (e.g., Tapping Ro- mana when in the same area as the Doctor allows the Doctor to draw two additional Attack Draws when he enters into a Conflict). Each card in the deck has a Power score (either 0 or 1). Take the character's Power score and add that number of +1's that he or she received from their attack draw(s). If the modified Power of the character attacking is greater than the Toughness score of their target, then that character has been injured. The first time a character is injured, that character card is tapped. For the remainder of the game, that injured character can not tap to support another card in the same area. Also, if that tapped character is successfully hit again, then it is removed from the game.

7. After all conflicts have been resolved, characters that were tapped to support are untapped. The cards drawn for character location and Attack Draws are discarded. One does not need to reshuffle the discard pile each turn. But if one does, the probability balance will be much more accurate (this we found after doing some serious play testing with this game).

8. The turn sequence repeats until all characters on one side are defeated. The player with the last "man" standing is the winner.

Renaissance Inventors At War

Introduction

Card and Board Skirmish Scale Game for 2 players.
Fantasy Theme: Renaissance Warfare with Leonardo Da Vinci style Inventions.

Basic Scenario

Italian City States at War circa 1490. The Fivizzano are invading the Piombino.

Basic Scenario Victory Conditions

The Fivizzano win if they occupy 4 of the spaces of the city. The Piombinos win if they destroy 20 or more Units.

Basic Scenario Map Board

Use a 16 x 16 square grid Map. This is equivalent to 4 Chessboards arranged into a square. Each 8 x 8 section is referred to as a Quadrant.

The 2 eastern quadrants are land. The 2 western quadrants are water. 6 Squares of the NE corner of the SW Quadrant shall contain City Squares.

This is the Port City Commune of Piombino. Most of the Land spaces are Flat Land with a few clumps of Forests and Mountains and a few solitary Hills, Villages, and Swamps. One Road connects the City to a Village or two and then goes off the map.

A few Islands dot the Tyrrhenian Sea.

Terrain Types

Type:	Notes:
Flat Land/Islands	No rules Modifications. Water units are Prohibited.
Water/River/Lakes	No rules Mods. Land units are Prohibited.
Road/Bridge	Land units get Move +1 if any of their move is along the road

Forest	Land Units get Move -1 if any of their move is thru Forest. Min of 1.
Desert	Units must stop when entering.
Hills	Units get range +1 to their Missile Attacks.
Mountain	All Units and attacks are Blocked.
Swamp	Only Infantry can move into or through. Must stop when entering.

Players share a common set of Damage Counters. Bridge Counters are also needed.

Stacking, Moving, & Attacking Limits

Basic rule of thumb is one Unit per space with many exceptions: Land Units in Transports or carried by other Units. Note if a transporting unit is destroyed, the Units it carries are also destroyed. Up to 2 Forts can be in 1 Space.

Up to 1 Land Unit can be stacked with Fortifications. A Fort must be destroyed before any Land Units stacked with it can be attacked. Friendly Units can move through each other.

FM can stack with Friendly and Hostile Land & Sea Units, but not other FM. Attacks vs. FM are at range -1. For instance: An Engineer can only attack an enemy FM if it is in the same square. Note: Cavalry in this game are considered to be equipped with Missile weapons and explosives and are as versatile as Infantry & Engineers in the targets they can engage.

Note: Forts come with integral garrisons equipped with Artillery pieces. Note: Ships come with fighting crews, marines, & Artillery pieces. FM are not improved or hampered by any terrain except Mountains.

Mine Field: Units can enter spaces occupied by Mine Fields: Non-FM & Non-Engineer Units entering a Minefield lose a Hit on a roll of 7+ on 1D10. You can be destroyed by your own mines! If a Fort is reduced to 2 or less hits its range is reduced to 2.

Engineers: Special Rules

Engineer Units are Attack +2 vs. Fortifications and Bridges. Engineer Units may build pontoon Bridges across rivers: this uses up a full move: Place a Bridge Marker on an adjacent River space. Units may move on it as if it were Flatland. The Pontoon Bridge is considered to have 1 Hit. Engineers are immune to Minefields. Instead of moving, on a roll of 6+ on 1D10 they can clear a Minefield they occupy: Remove the Minefield Unit.

No other Unit can attack or remove a Mine Field. Repairs: Instead of Moving an engineer on a roll of 9+ on 1D10 can restore 1 lost Hit to a WM, Ship, or Fort it shares a space with.

Capture Rules

Boarding Actions: When a ship is damaged by another adjacent ship roll 1D10: (Capture Roll) On a roll of 7+ the ship does not lose a hit but is instead captured (it changes sides). If the Attacking ship was carrying Infantry get +1 to the roll. Get -1 if the defender is carrying Infantry.

Castle Storming: When a space containing a single Fort and no other land units is damaged by attacking adjacent infantry roll 1D10: (Capture Roll) On a roll of 7+ the Fort does not lose a hit but is instead captured (it changes sides). Attacker gets +1 if a friendly Engineer unit is also adjacent to the Fort.

Dice

10 sided Dice are needed.

Inventions & Leaders

These give advantages that last the duration of the entire battle.

Tactics Deck

These cards mostly give short duration benefits. These cards are discarded when played.

Fivizzano Attacking Army List

The Attackers have: 8 Flying Machines 6 War Machines 8 Infantry 4 Cavalry 6 Artillery 4 Engineers 6 Small ships 2 Large Ships 2 Transports 1 Roll on the Leader Table 6 Rolls on the Invention Table Units start in the bottom half of the Southern Quadrants.

Piombino Defending Army List

The 6 city spaces each hold 1 Fortification. They also have: 4 More Forts occupying Villages and/or Islands. 4 Infantry 3 Artillery 2 Cavalry 1 Engineer 2 War Machines 6 Flying Machines 6 Small Ships 6 Mine Fields (Land & Sea in any combination) 1 Roll on the Leader Table 4 Rolls on the Invention Table Units start scattered in the Northern Quadrants

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 4 Phases:

1. Draw Phase
2. Move Phase
3. Attack Phase
4. End Phase

Draw Phase

Draw 2 Tactics Cards. If the deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Move Phase

Each of your Units may be Moved once. A Unit can move up to a number of spaces equal to its Move Rating.

Attack Phase

Each of your units may make 1 Attack vs. a target within its range. When attacking roll 1D10: (Attack Roll) On a roll of 7 or higher the attack is successful and the target loses 1 Hit. Use counters to keep track of lost hits.

A Unit with zero hits is destroyed.

End Phase

Max Hand size is 5 cards. Discard excess cards.

Inventions Detailed Explanations

Minelayer: The ship may lay the MF Unit into any sea space they moved out this turn. This does not count as an attack. Mine Sweeper: The Ship functions as if it were an Engineer (on Water Only). A ship with an Engineer Unit aboard can clear mines exactly as if the ship itself were an engineer.

Parachutes: The Infantry can be dropped directly onto enemy units. If so roll an unmodified 1D10: on 1-7 the Parachute troops are killed. On 8+ the enemy unit(s) are destroyed... or in the case of a Fort or Ship are captured!

Reserve Chess

<body>

Introduction

Chess Variant.

MATERIALS, SETUP, and OBJECTIVE Same as in normal chess.

Variations

Every time you capture an enemy piece, you may take any one of your captured pieces, and put it into your reserve. On your turn, instead of moving, you may take any piece from your reserve, and put it on any empty space on the board, except checkmate. When your pawns reach your opponents back row, instead of promoting them, you may put them into your reserve.

Resident Evil Quest

Introduction

Based on the Resident Evil Franchise. Quest style game using track, cards, and Dice. Each player is a team of Operatives, Mercs, and/or Survivors that have Infiltrated a Top Secret Underground Umbrella Corporation Research Facility With the intent to destroy it.

The teams will fight Zombies, mutants, Umbrella employees, and Facility Defenses. They will be aided by cards representing Weapons, Alice, and new recruits.

Disclaimer

Resident Evil is a licensed copyrighted property. This is merely a fan site.

Victory

Make it to the end of the Track and destroy the Boss Monster you encounter there. Be the first player to do this.

Losing

If all your Agents are killed. Build a new team and start over from square one.

Decks

There are 4 Common Decks: Agent Deck: Contains Agents you can recruit for your team. Aid Deck: Helpful events and things you find along the way. Encounter Deck: Foes and unfavorable events.

Boss Deck: Big Monsters Each deck will have its own Discard. If any decks run out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Dice

Six and ten sided dice are required.

The Track

The Facility is represented by a track that is 40 spaces long. The first space is the Entrance. The end space is the Final Encounter.

Pawns

Each player will have 1 Pawn to represent their team's location on the Track. This is also called the Team Marker.

Setup

Shuffle the Deck. Players roll high to see who goes first. Place pawns on the start space.

Each player draws 3 Aid cards.

Building A Team

Each player draws 7 cards from the Team Deck and Discards one.

Unit And Attack Stats

Friends (Agents, Mercs, Survivors) and Foes Zombies, Monsters, etc.) are called Units. Units have 3 Stats: Life: How many hits are required to kill the Unit. Evade: Chance of avoiding all Damage if successfully hit by a Foe Attacks: Each unit gets 1 or more attacks per turn.

Each attack has the following stats: Initiative: Determines attack turn order. Higher scores attack sooner. Aim: Chance of hitting an enemy. (On a 10 sided die) Strength: Damage inflicted by a successful hit. (Usually 1 point)

Regeneration

Some Monsters have this ability. If not killed during a turn, the remove 1 point of damage at the end of the turn.

Contamination

Many Monsters and Zombies have this ability. If an Agent is damaged but not killed, there is a 50% they will turn into a Zombie At the end of the turn which must be fought immediately by the team: Transformed Agent Zombie stats: Life = 2 Evasion = 3 One Attack: Bite: Initiative = 8 Aim = 5 Strength = 1 Contamination

Alice

Alice, the kick-ass superhuman agent and the star of the series is Part of all teams, but not always around. She comes and she goes. Powerful Aid cards represent her presence. Save one for the final Boss. Note: Alice is immune to contamination.

When an Alice card is played, she will stay for the entire turn. Then discard her.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 6 Phases: Aid Phase Recruit Phase Move Phase Encounter Phase Fight Phase End Phase

Aid Phase

Draw 1 Aid Card and add it to your hand.

Recruit Phase

Some Action Aid cards are played in this phase.

Move Phase

Roll 1D6 and move your Team Marker (Pawn) forward that many spaces.

Encounter Phase

If you land on another player's pawn immediately move forward 1 space. Draw 1 card from the Encounter Deck. This will be something you have to fight this turn. If you reached the Final Space draw a card from the Boss deck instead of the Encounter deck.

Fight Phase

Units make attacks in order of Initiative. Let an opposing player control the Monsters and Zombies. If playing solo determine the targets of monsters randomly.

Attacks with the same Initiative are considered to be simultaneous. When making an attack roll 1D10: If this equal to or less than the Aim score of The Attack then the Attack hits. The Defending Unit then rolls 1D10. If this equal to or less than the Evade score of The Unit then the Attack is negated.

Attacks that hit and are not evaded do Damage. Usually just 1 point of damage. A Unit that has more Damage than Life is killed. Discard killed Unit cards.

Some Foes give a reward when they are killed. During a fight Phase turn all Units get to attack (usually just once) Repeat the Fight Phase sequence until one side is completely killed off or an Aid card allows you to escape.

End Phase

Make Contamination Checks. Max hand size is 6 cards. Discard excess cards.

Resident Evil Relived

Introduction

Meld Making Card game for 2-4+ players. Based on the Resident Evil Franchise.

Disclaimer

Resident Evil is a licensed copyrighted property. This is merely a fan site.

Victory

Be the first to score 70 Meld Points.

The Deck

Players share a common Deck. There are 10 card types: Alice Cards (Friend) Ally Cards (Friend) Team Cards (Friend) Weapon Cards (Friend) Mission Cards (Friend) Villain Cards (Foe) Umbrella Cards (Foe) Experiment Cards (Foe) Zombie Cards (Foe) Event Cards (Foe) Every card has a point value between 1 and 5.

Setup

Shuffle the Deck. Randomly determine who gets to go first in the first turn. Randomly determine who the Dealer is.

Turn Sequence

Each turn has 5 phases: Deploy Phase Recruit Phase Action Phase Meld Phase End Phase

Deploy Phase

First Deal 2 Cards face down to each player. Next Deal 3X Stacks of 2 Cards each to the center of the table.

X number of players.
All stack cards are visible to all players.

Recruit Phase

Players take turns taking 1 stack of cards and putting it into their hand. This continues until all stacks are taken (each should get 3 stacks). The First player to go in the first turn is determined randomly. Play proceeds clockwise. On each consecutive turn, the player to the left of the player who Went first last time now gets to go first.

Action Phase

Players take turns taking 1 action each, in the same order as in Recruit phase. When taking an action, discard 1 card from your hand. This produces a result That depends on the type of card you discard:

Card:	Result:
Alice Cards (Friend)	Draw 3 cards and keep 1
Ally Cards (Friend)	Draw 2 cards and keep both
Team Cards (Friend)	Gain 1 Meld Point
Weapon Cards (Friend)	You go first next turn. (Play proceeds clockwise)
Mission Cards (Friend)	Draw 5 cards and discard any 5 cards from your hand
Villain Cards (Foe)	Steal 1 Random card from Opponents hand
Umbrella Cards (Foe)	Put 1 card from discard into your hand
Experiment Cards (Foe)	Opponent must discard 1 random card
Zombie Cards (Foe)	Draw 1 card. Opponent discards 1 card of his choice
Event Cards (Foe)	Draw 1 card. Look at opponent's hand

Note: If you play a Weapon card, no one else may play one. Each player only gets one action per turn. A player may choose not to take an action (not play a card).

Meld Phase

To make a Meld, a player needs to have 1 card of each of the 10 Types. Play your meld face up so everyone can see. Gain Meld points = to the total point value of all cards in your Meld.

If the total of your friend cards is greater than the total of your Foe Cards, gain an extra 5 Meld points. All Meld cards are discarded after scoring.

End Phase

Max hand size is 10 cards. Discard excess cards.

- 2. All restaurants of a single Type are built.
- 3. Players go through the Deck twice.

The Board

The board represents the city. Use an 8x8 grid chessboard. There are 8 horizontal rows and 8 vertical columns.

Rows are marked 1 through 8. Columns are marked 1 through 8. A space on the board may only ever contain 1 District or 1 Restaurant.

Dice

Use eight sided dice (D8). One roll of such die is referred to as a 1D8 Two rolls as 2D8. Two such dice are needed. They should be of different colors.

Random Row Or Column

Roll 1D8 to determine a random Row. Roll 1D8 to determine a random Column.

Determining A Random Restaurant Type

1D8	Type:
1	Italian Restaurants
2	Chinese Restaurants
3	Burger Joints
4	Mexican Restaurants

Random Space On The Board

Roll 2D8. The first die indicates row. The second die indicates column.

Random Space On Given Row Or Column Method

The row or column is determined by a non-random method. Roll 1D8 to determine a space along its length.

Location Counter Set

There is a set of 64 Counters to be placed on the spaces of the board: 6 Italian Restaurants 6 Chinese Restaurants 6 Burger Joints 6 Mexican Restaurants 6 Coffee Bars 6 Bar and Grills 6 Sushi Restaurants 6 Bar-B-Que Restaurants 2 Government Districts 2 Commercial Districts 2 Industrial Districts 2 Parks & Recreation Districts 4 Wealthy Residential Districts 4 Poor Residential Districts

Token Sets

Each player receives a set of 20 Tokens of a unique color. Tokens are used to represent ownership. There are mostly placed on top of Counters.

Coins

Coins are used to represent money. Players share a common set of coins. Coins not owned by any player are kept in the bank.

A player's personal collection of coins is known as his Bank account.

The Deck

Players share a common Deck.

1D8	Type:
5	Coffee Bars
6	Bar and Grills
7	Sushi Restaurants
8	Bar-B-Que Restaurants

Determining A Random District

1D8	Type:
1	Government Districts
2	Commercial Districts
3	Industrial Districts

1D8	Type:
4	Parks & Recreation Districts
5-6	Wealthy Residential Districts
7-8	Poor Residential Districts

Board Setup

Distribute the 16 Districts to the board. Each row gets 2 random Districts randomly placed. (Use the Random space on a given row method) If 2 Districts would occupy the same space reroll.

All Coins are in a pile called the Bank. All Restaurant counters are in a pile called the Build Pile. The Deck is shuffled and is kept face down.

Flip over one card face up to start the discard pile.

Player Setup

Each player gets a set of Tokens. Each player gets 10 Coins in their Bank Account. Players roll high on 1D8 to see who goes first.

Each player gets 4 Random Restaurant Counters. Place these face down in front of the player. The owning player may look but the other players may not.

This is known as their Restaurant Pool. Each player is dealt a hand of 4 Cards also kept secret.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 6 Phases: Investment Phase Recruit Phase Build Phase Improvement Phase Income Phase End Phase

Investment Phase

The active player receives 1 Coin. If you have the most restaurants of a given type (for each type) get one extra coin.

Recruit Phase

The active player draws 1 card and puts it in his hand. The first time the deck runs out shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Build Phase

You may build one restaurant. Building a restaurant costs 10 Coins. The restaurant must come from your Restaurant Pool.

When a restaurant is built, draw a replacement counter from the Build Pool. Place the restaurant counter on an open space on the board with one of your Tokens on top of it. When building a restaurant you must also discard a number card.

The restaurant must be placed on a row or column matching that number. You may not build a Restaurant adjacent to another of the same type.

The Common Deck Card List

Improvement Phase

You may play one Improvement card. An improvement card costs 5 Coins. Place improvements face up on the table in front of you.

You can have a maximum of 5 Improvements.

Income Phase

You must either play an income card or initiate a random Income sequence.

Playing Income Cards

When playing a Restaurant income card all restaurants of that type earn income. They gain 1 coin for every adjacent (Orthogonal or diagonal) district. When playing a District income card all restaurants adjacent to that type of District earn 1 coin each.

All players earn income, not just the active player.

Random Income Sequence

Roll 2D8 (row and Column) to get a random space on the board. If that space is a restaurant, that restaurant earns income for each adjacent District. If that space is a District, each adjacent restaurant earns 1 coin.

Monopoly Income Bonus

If you have the only restaurants of a given type on the board they gain 1 Star.

End Phase

Discard cards in your hand in excess of 4.

Star Ratings

All restaurants start with a base rating of 1 Star. Certain Improvements and bonuses increase the number of Stars. When a restaurant receives income multiply by its Star Rating to get the number of coins it earns.

Note: a restaurant cannot get extra stars from multiple copies of the same improvement.

Party Size Limit

The total Base Force of all Characters in your Adventuring Party cannot exceed 40. Party size cannot exceed 8 Characters.

Setup

Shuffle the Decks. Each player draws 2 Characters. For each Character draw 2 cards. These can be from the Equipment, Psionic, or Magic Decks.

Players roll high on 1D20 to see who goes first.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 2 Acts:

1. Decision Act
2. End Act

Decision Act

You must decide what your party will do this turn:

1. Heal & Repair - Go to Recuperate Phase
2. Travel to new Location - Go to Travel Phase
3. Look for nearby Adventure - Go to Mission Phase
4. Resupply - Go to Supply Phase

You only get 1 Phase per turn. The others will be forfeit.

Recuperate Phase

Make 1 Healing roll for each Wounded Character. Roll 1D20. On a roll of 16+ the Character is fully Healed. Skills, Magic, Psionics, and Equipment can give extra Heal rolls.

Each player draws and discards cards from the Adventure deck until they draw a location card. Keep it. This is that Parties starting locale. Likewise, if you have damaged Equipment, you can attempt to repair it. However unlike wounded Characters, Equipment cards do not get automatic Repair rolls. Repair rolls must come from non-wounded Character Abilities, Magic, or Psionic card plays.

Travel Phase

Travel Phase is divided into 3 Stages:

For each Character with the Survival Ability get +1 to the Survival Roll. If at a Wilderness Locale each character with the Wilderness Ability adds +2 to the Survival roll. If at a Urban Locale each character with the Urban Ability adds +2 to the Survival roll.

Get +1 to the roll for each player with the knowledge Ability If all Characters are on non-damaged Vehicles get +1 to the Survival roll. If all Characters are flying get a further +1 to the Survival roll. After completing Travel Phase go on to Encounter Phase and then Destination Phase.

1 card from the top of any Aid Deck except the Equipment deck. Ex: If you are at Tolkeen, you get 2 cards but must pick from the Character or Magic Deck. If you pick from the Character deck and it is not a Mage then discard it and draw again from the Magic deck. Ex: If you are at Chi-Town, you get 2 cards from any Aid deck except the Magic deck. When you get an Aid card either put it in your hand or attach it to a Character.

Usage Rule

Every time a Character uses a Magic or Psionic card for its Force Bonus or one of its Abilities make a 1D6 Use Roll: On a roll of 5+ the Aid card provides this one last benefit but is then used up and discarded.

Experience

Every Time you fight Foes and win, roll 1D10 for each Character. On 6+ the Character gets 1 Experience Token. Each Experience Token increases the Force of a Character by 1.

Combat Resolution

Combat occurs between Characters and the revealed Foe Card. This may take place as a result of Encounter Phase or Mission Phase. Each Foe card lists a number of Tokens and the Force of each Token.

Combat proceeds in Rounds. Each Round has 5 Segments:

1. Escape Segment
2. Character Attack Segment
3. Action Segment
4. Foe Attack Segment
5. Morale Segment

Rounds will continue until the party escapes or all units of one side are eliminated. Some Foes get to draw Aid cards at the beginning of the Combat. Each Aid Card drawn will give its Force bonus to one of the Tokens.

Distribute these evenly. A token can get more than 1 card if there are more cards than tokens. For example: Psionic 3 means draw 3 cards from the Psionic Deck. Tech 1 means draw 1 card from the Equipment Deck.

Escape Segment

The Party may attempt to escape or evade combat. Make an escape roll: Roll 1D20. On 16+ the party escapes, otherwise they must fight. If at a Wilderness Locale each character with the Wilderness Ability adds +2 to the Escape roll.

If all Characters are Flying get a further +1 to the Escape roll.

Character Attack Segment

For every 10 Force a Character has rounding down, a Character gets 1 Attack roll: To make an Attack roll 1D6: On a roll of 4+ one random Foe Token loses 1D10 Force. A Token reduced to zero or less Force is destroyed (discarded).

Action Segment

The Characters may use abilities that affect Combat. This includes: Chaos, Control, Summon, Immobilize

Foe Attack Segment

For every 10 Force a Token has rounding down, it gets 1 Attack roll: To make an Attack roll 1D6. A roll of 4+ is a hit. (The Protect Ability may be used at this point to possibly negate the attack) Determine Randomly which Character is hit. For each hit roll 1D10 once on the Hit Result Table: If Character has Tough Ability add 1 to the Hit Result Roll.

Hit Result Table

1D10	Result:
1 or less	3 Wounds: Character is Killed (discarded)

Ring War

Introduction

Two player card game simulating the struggle between the forces of good and evil in Tolkein's "The Hobbit" and "The Lord of the Rings".

The Decks

There are two decks. One player uses the Forces of Light Deck. The other player uses the Dark Powers Deck.

Each deck contains one of each of the cards described in its list.

Victory

The first player to have 10 Quest tokens or 10 War tokens wins. If at the end of a turn one player has 10 Quest tokens and the other Player has 10 War tokens the player with the 10 Quest tokens wins.

Setup

Each player starts with 5 Quest tokens and 5 War tokens.

Turn Sequence

- Draw Phase
- Aid Phase
- Scout Phase
- Action Phase
- Resolution Phase

Draw Phase

Each player fills his hand to 9 cards. If a deck runs out shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Aid Phase

Each player may discard up to 3 cards and draw replacements.

Scout Phase

Reveal a card with the Scout property to look at your opponents hand. The revealed card may not be your reserve card this turn.

Action Phase

Each player puts 4 cards face down in 2 piles: The War Pile and the Quest pile. (Each pile will contain 3 cards) When both players have made 2 piles, the piles are revealed (flipped face up) This will leave each player with one card in their hand. The remaining card is called the reserve card.

Resolution Phase

Each card has a Quest value and a War value. Each player adds up the Quest values of the cards in his Quest pile. The player with the highest total value wins the Quest Contest.

The winner of the Quest contest takes one Quest token from his opponent. In ties, no tokens are exchanged. If one player's total value is twice his opponents, he may take 2 tokens.

Each player adds up the War values of the cards in his War pile. The player with the highest total value wins the War Contest. The winner of the War contest takes one War token from his opponent.

In ties, no tokens are exchanged. If one player's total value is twice his opponents, he may take 2 tokens. A pile may only contain one location card.

The player with the most armies in his war pile gets +3 to his War total. The player with the most cavalry armies in his war pile gets +1 to his War total.

- If 2 cards in a pile share the same alliance the pile gets +1.
- If 3 cards in a pile share the same alliance the pile gets +3.
- If 4 cards in a pile share the same alliance the pile gets +5.

A single card may belong to more than one alliance at a time.

If you have Trusts on both spaces of a Great Industry, you have a Great Monopoly.

Setup

Each player starts with $10 Million Dollars. Each Player selects his Pawn and his Control Tokens All Pawns begin on the Start space. Players roll high on 1D6 to see who goes first.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 2 Phases: Revenue Phase Speculation Phase

Revenue Phase

Gain $1 Million for each Control Marker you have on the Board. Gain $1 Million for each Trust you control. Gain $3 Million for each Monopoly you control.

Gain $5 Million for each Great Monopoly you control.

Speculation Phase

Choose 1, 2, or 3 Dice: Roll that many dice. Get a Total and move your Pawn clockwise that many spaces.

Fleecing Your Opponents

If you land on an opponent's pawn steal $1 Million from him and Immediately move forward another 1D6 spaces.

Investments

If you land on an Industry Space you may pay $1 Million to: Option 1 = Put 1 of your Control Markers (CM) on it or you may pay $2 Million for Option 2 = Put 1 of your CM's on it and remove 1 CM of an Opponent's. Option 3 = Do Nothing All Money paid goes to the Bank. Note that a single space may have multiple Control Markers.

You may repeat Option 2 multiple times.

Start Space

If you land on or go past the Start Space gain $1 Million or draw 1 card from the Legacy Deck. If you land on a Legacy Space draw 1 card from the Legacy Deck.

Legacy Cards

If you land on a Legacy Space draw & reveal 1 card from the Legacy Deck. When you draw a card from the Legacy Deck, you must either buy it or Put it on the bottom of the Legacy deck. The cost of a Legacy card is equal to its Legacy Value in Millions.

Place the Legacy card you bought into your Legacy pile.

Business Spaces

If you land on a Business Space draw & Reveal 1 card from the Business Deck. If the Business deck runs out, shuffle the discard and draw from it.

Bankruptcy

Before going Bankrupt you must sell off your Control Markers to the Bank for 1$ Million per Marker. Sold Markers are removed from the board. If you ever run out of money, you are out of the game: Shuffle your Legacy cards back into the Legacy deck.

You may reenter the game on a later turn just as if you were starting a new game.

4. Imperials Attack

Stacking Units One unit per space. The exception is when a unit is being carried. A rebel flying unit may carry Flash or Dale but cannot attack while doing so. The rebel unit carrying Flash or Dale gets save=4.

Movement Units in the sky use their Fly stat for their movement rate. Units onboard the Rocket use their Leg stat for their movement rate.

Hand to Hand These attacks are made by units against adjacent units. Both combatants roll dice equal to their HTH value. The unit with the lower total is destroyed.

Ranged Attacks The range stat is the distance in hexes the weapons will reach. Roll 1D6. If this is equal to or less than the tohit stat the target has been hit and killed. The Imperials use heavy energy beam weapons. The hawkmen carry lighter versions with less range. The Forest Rebels use bows that fire arrows with explosive tips. The archers have the least range but are the most accurate. Morgo and Flash have energy pistols.

Saves Some powerful or heroic units get saves. If they are killed by an attack roll 1D6. If the roll is equal to or less than the save stat the unit survives unharmed.

Clouds A unit gets -1 to his tohit stat to hit units in clouds. Units can move into, out of, or through clouds at no penalty.

The Catwalk & Turrets Units inside the hull of the rocket cannot attack or be attacked by those outside. Units on the catwalk can attack or be attacked by other flyers. Units on the catwalks have some cover, they get an extra save=2 when hit by ranged attacks from other flyers. Units manning the turret guns get save=4 when hit by ranged attacks from other flyers. The turret guns can only attack in a 90 degree arc.

Bombs One rebel unit can carry one bomb. Instead of attacking, a unit may detonate a bomb in an unoccupied adjacent space, wall, or door. Bombs can be used to destroy doors or blow open walls. If detonated in the control room or the engine room the rocket will crash at the end of 4 turns, killing all on board. Bombs can be used to destroy an adjacent turret and any crew inside.

Rescuing Dale Dale cannot be attacked while in the brig. She cannot be moved by the Imperial player. She cannot leave the brig until someone opens the door from the outside or a bomb is used to demolish a cell wall.

Jet Scooter The scooter can carry 2 units. It starts the game with Flash. It can land on the catwalk. It cannot be destroyed, but it can be stolen by imperial units.

Rebel Victory Conditions Rebels lose 10 points for each rebel hero killed. They get 10 points for Dale if she escapes. They get 10 points for destroying the Rocket.

Imperial Victory Conditions Imperials get 10 points for each rebel hero killed except Dale. They get 10 points for Dale if she remains prisoner. They lose 10 points if the rocket is destroyed.

The Map

The map is of the one major continent on Mongo. There are about 5 Regions on the continent. The Emperor controls the Central and Southern Regions.

The Rebels control the North, East, and West Regions. Each Region is divided into 10 Territories. 1-3 of these territories of each region are Major Cities One city in the Central region is Ming's Palace.

Include several Impassable Mountain Territories. Each Region produces 10 Support Points divided amongst its Territories. (Each territory produces 0-2+ Support Points) The Central Region produces 20 Support Points. Indicate certain Territories as being Defensible.

The continent is surrounded by water territories.

Setup

Each side should start in control of an equal number of territories. Each side starts with all of their Personality type Leaders. Ming starts with 50 support points worth of units.

The Rebels start with 25 support points worth of units. Units start on cities.

Stacking

Up to 5 troops and any number of Leaders may be in one territory at the end of Move Phase. Flying units may fly over stacks of other units

Victory

The Rebels win if Ming is killed. The Imperials win if all Rebel Leaders are killed.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. The Rebels go first. Each turn has 4 Phases:

1. Move
2. Attack

3. Support
4. Recruitment

Move Phase

Each unit gets one move on their players turn.

Attack Phase

Opposing units fight when they occupy the same territory. Each unit gets one attack per Battle phase. Units from both sides get to attack.

Units with higher initiative attack first. Leaders can be targeted only if they are stacked with no troops. Units in Cities or Defensible Territories get +1 to their Save Stat.

This save bonus goes to the side that most recently controlled the territory.

Leader Bonus

Leaders give their Damage bonus to the Damage Stat of one Troop units they are stacked with. Leaders give their Initiative bonus to the Initiative Stat of one Troop units they are stacked with. A Troop can receive bonuses from only one Leader at a time.

Support Phase

Every Territory you control generates a certain number of support points. To control a territory you must have one unit in it. Hexes that contain units from both sides produce no support points.

Recruitment Phase

Purchase units with support points. Units start in Cities.

Rolling Thunder

Introduction

Solo Dice Game. Simulation of an American Rolling Thunder Bombing Mission during the Vietnam War circa 1966.

Materials

Paper, pencil, 1-2 six sided dice, nobody to play with.

Rolling Thunder Strike Force Composition

#	Descr
16	F-105 Bombers (Thuds)
8	F-105 Wild Weasels
10	F-4 Phantoms (Fighters)
2	EB-66 EW Aircraft (Jamming)

Fuel Limit

After 12 turns the planes begin to run low on fuel and start turning back. All remaining Bombing targets (Turns 13-24) are considered to be on the way back.

If 2 or more bombers get 'Damaged' results the target is destroyed.

Contact

On every turn you are not bombing roll 1D6. On a roll of 1 on 1D6 the strike force encounters hostile forces. Roll 1D6 again: On a roll of 1-3 on 1D6 a SAM site is encountered. On a roll of 4-6 on 1D6 a flight of Mig-21's are encountered.

Sam Site

1D6 Missiles are launched at the Strike Force. For each Missile make a Jamming Roll of 1D6: On a roll of 4-6 the missile is jammed and misses. Get a -1 for each EB-66 EW Aircraft destroyed.

For each missile not jammed roll 1D6 to see which kind of plane it attacks:

1D6	Result:
1-4	Wild Weasel
5-6	Thud

The Planes have returned and the mission is over on turn 25.

Acquiring Targets

The first target will be in range on turn 1D6. After a target has been bombed, the next target will appear in another 1D6 turns.

Target Types

Roll to see what the target is:

1D6	Type:	Objective Points:
1-3	Ho Chi Minh Trail	2
4-5	Strongpoint	3
6	Staging Area	4

Bombing Runs

Each bomber can make only one bombing run per game. When reaching a target decide how many of your Thuds will drop their loads. For each plane that bombs roll:

1D6	Result:
1-2	Target missed or Minor Damage (No Objective points)
3	Moderate Damage (-2 Objective points)
4	Major Damage (-1 Objective points)
5-6	Target Destroyed (Gain Full Objective points)

An attacked plane may try to evade. Wild Weasels evade on a roll of 1-4 on 1D6. Thuds evade on a roll of 1-3 on 1D6.

Planes that do not evade are destroyed. After this barrage the Weasels will destroy the SAM site with Shrike Missiles on a roll of 1-5 on 1D6. If the Weasel attack misses repeat the process.

Mig-21 Flight

1D6 Migs will make a single pass. 1D6 of the Phantoms will get to make Intercept Rolls. To Intercept roll 1D6: On each roll of 5-6 on 1D6 one Mig is shot down. Next the surviving Migs get to attack. For each roll 1D6: On a roll of 4-6 on 1D6 one American plane is destroyed.

Roll 1D6 to see which type:

1D6	Result:
1-3	Thud
4-5	Phantom
6	Weasel (or EB-66 EW if no Weasels remain)

An attacked plane may try to evade. Phantoms evade on a roll of 1-4 on 1D6. Wild Weasels evade on a roll of 1-3 on 1D6.

Thuds evade on a roll of 1-2 on 1D6. Finally 1D6 of the Phantoms will get to make Pursuit Rolls. To Pursue roll 1D6: On each roll of 5-6 on 1D6 one Mig is shot down. You can't intercept or pursue with more phantoms than you have.

Scoring

Keep a running tally of points while you play. Start with 10 Objective points. Each Target bombed adds its listed Objective points.

Each SAM site destroyed is worth 2 Objective points. Each Mig shot down is worth 1 Objective point. Every American plane lost is -2 points.

THOTH MODULE by Zak The new Thoth module for Rolling Thunder is now available (while not yet in the CardSets page).

The desktop has been completely redesigned by Mike Marinos and is really worth a look. Please note that you need the latest Thoth release (1.5.0) to use the "buttons" on the desktop - key "1" rolls a D6 while key "2" determine the target type. The rules are also available in PDF format with the usual "F2" key.

Roman Invasion Of Britain

Introduction

Board Game for 2-4+ players. Roman Expansion into the British isles circa 43-84 AD. Players take turns capturing Regions.

Victory

The player with the most VT at the end of the game wins.

Game End

The game ends when all Regions have been captured.

The Map

Britain is divided into Native Tribal Regions. Each Region has a Resistance Level of 2 to 5.

Tokens

Players share a common set of Victory Tokens (VT) and Capture Tokens (CT).

Deck is kept Face up, the topmost card is always visible. Keep a separate discard for each.

Dice

Six sided dice are needed for the Revolt Phase.

The Decks

There are 2 Common Decks:

1. The Roman Deck
2. The Briton Tribe Deck

The Roman Deck is kept face Down. The Briton

- Each card has a Strength from 3-7

The Briton Deck

Each card has a Strength from 3-7

First Attack

The first attack(s) of the game must be against Cantiaci (Most South Eastern Region). No other Regions may be attacked until Cantiaci is Captured.

Setup

Each player starts with 3 VT. Each player draws 1 card from the Roman deck and puts it in their Hand. Flip over 6 pairs of cards from the Roman Deck.

These are placed face up in the middle of the Table. These are called Resource Pairs. The player with the most knowledge of Roman History goes first.

Play proceeds clockwise.

Turn Sequence

Players take turns. Each turn has 6 Phases:

- Resource Phase
- Muster Phase
- Campaign Phase
- Occupation Phase
- Revolt Phase
- Fortify Phase

Resource Phase

If there are less than 6 Resource Pairs available, flip over pairs from the Roman Deck until there are six.

Resistance	VT gain:
R	G

If you tried and failed to capture a Region this turn lose 1 VT (for each failure). If you required the help of another player, you must share the VT award: You get half the VT rounded up. The helper gets half the VT rounded Down. If you still have cards in your hand and you so desire, you may attack an additional Region:

1D6	Region:
1	Icenii
2	Silures
3	Cornovii

Ignore this if the region does not have a CT. If you recapture a Region that has revolted gain an extra 2 VT.

— Clarification- A Resource pair is just 2 cards from the top of the Roman deck placed face up to the center of the table.

Muster Phase

Take Resource pairs of your choice until you have 6 or 7 cards in your hand.

— Clarification- There are 6 pairs available from resource phase. If you have 5 or less cards in your hand pick one of these pairs and put them in your hand (you have to take both cards in the pair). If you still have less than 5 cards pick another pair and so on.

Campaign Phase

You may attack an adjacent uncaptured Region. (The Target Region must share a border with a Captured Region) Commit as many Roman cards as you want from your hand. (This is called the Commitment Action).

Flip over a number of Briton cards equal to the Resistance Level of the Region. (This is called the Briton Draw) If the total Strength of the Roman cards is greater than that of the total Strength of the Briton cards, the Region is captured. Place a Capture Token (CT) on a captured Region.

If the total Strength of the Britons was equal or greater, the player with the least VT (if tied, the player to your left) may play up to 1 Roman card from his hand to complete the capture. (This is called a Reserve Play).

Occupation Phase

If you captured a Region gain VT according to the Resistance Level of the Region:

Resistance	VT gain:
4	7
5	9

Repeat the Campaign and Occupation Phases.

Revolt Phase

Roll 1D6 (Revolt Roll): On a Roll of 6 there is a Revolt: Remove a Capture Token from a Region as determined by a second roll:

1D6	Region:
4	Atrebates
5	North Most Brigantes
6	North Most Caledonii

Fortify Phase

Max hand size is 5 cards. Discard excess cards.

Special Scoring Regions

Triovantes is worth an extra 2 VT because it contains the towns of Camulodunum and Londinium. South most Dobunni is worth an extra VT because it has the town of Verulamium. Ordovices is worth an extra VT because it has the town of Viroconium.

East Brigantes is worth an extra VT because it has the town of Eboracum. Silures is worth an extra VT because it has the town of Caerleon. Cornovii is worth an extra VT because it has the town of Deva.

Briton Tribe Card Notation & Discussion

Luck Discard in Fortify Phase if Topmost card of deck.

A Briton Draw that contains 2 different card types gets +1 Strength. A Briton Draw that contains 3 different card types gets +2 Strength. A Briton Draw that contains all 4 card types gets +3 Strength.
